VOL. II. AUCKLAND, FRIDAY, JUNE 15, 1849. No 13.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Auckland, 12th June, 1849.

HIS Excellency the Governor-in-Chief has been pleased to direct that the following Suggestions be published, for general information.

By His Excellency's command,
ANDREW SINCLAIR,
Colonial Secretary.

THE Wardens for the Hundred of Auckland have experienced considerable difficulty in framing any regulations for the depasturing of Cattle within the Hundred of Auckland; and those difficulties have been of such a character as no other of the Wardens have had to contend with, insomuch as they have had to regard the interests of three different descriptions of license-holders—those for town, suburban, and country land: they have had no acquaintance with the working of any similar system, neither could they obtain such information as would afford them the slightest assistance; they have, therefore, come to the conclusion, that in the first instance, it would be preferable to establish broad, general, and simple rules, which could be added to as circumstances might require. They have been the more induced to this course, as they had made several unsuccessful endeavours to affix a stated number of cattle which each license-holder should depasture; but, whether taking into consideration the number of acres held by the licensed persons, or the sums paid by them into the public Treasury, the circumstances were found to be of such a conflicting chaacter, that the Wardens were forced to give up the attempt for the present. They would therefore notify that the holders of depasturing licenses for the Hundred of Auckland, shall be allowed to run cattle to any number they please, provided such cattle are their own bonâ fide property.

The Wardens would also notify that a Common is set apart within the Hundred, for the exclusive use of the cattle belonging to persons holding licenses for town lands. Such Common is situated on the Town side of a line drawn from the mouth of a creek emptying itself into Hobson's bay, to Hobson's bridge, thence to Mr. Vaile's house, and thence to Low and Motion's Mill.

The Wardens have also found that many settlers holding licenses have rented cattle for dairy purposes from persons not holding licenses, and in most such instances agreements have been entered into which cannot be set aside without manifest injustice. The Wardens would therefore notify that such persons shall be allowed to run their leased cattle on the Hundred, being milch cows giving milk, or their unweaned offspring.

The Wardens would also notify that all sheep are prohibited, and cattle landed from ships before being sold shall be also prohibited from depasturing on the lands of the Hundred.

The Wardens do not consider persons who are not occupying or improving the land for which they hold a license, to be entitled to run cattle on the waste lands of the hundred; and the Wardens would suggest that, if possible, a fine be imposed on those parties who may continue to run cattle without improving or cultivating the land for which they have obtained a license.

The Wardens would also suggest that a heavy fine be imposed upon parties who may run at large male entire cattle above one year old.

The Wardens would also suggest that all cattle above six months old be branded, under penalty of a fine, and that such brands be registered at such place as the Government may appoint. The Wardens are aware, that in one of the sister colonies a law exists which compels all cattle intended for slaughter to undergo an inspection by a person appointed for that purpose, who takes a memorandum of the brands, his salary being paid by a small tax on the slaughtered cattle. The Wardens are unanimous in opinion that, if a similar law existed in this colony, compelling cattle intended for slaughter to be put under proper inspection, it would be of material benefit to the settlers and the public generally.
