VOL. VII. AUCKLAND, FRIDAY, SEPT. 11, 1846. [No. 13.]

---

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Auckland, 10th September, 1846.

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor has directed the publication of the following Despatches, for general information.

By His Excellency's command,
ANDREW SINCLAIR,
Colonial Secretary.

Wellington, 1st September, 1846.

SIR,—I do myself the honor to transmit for the information of His Excellency the Governor, the enclosed Despatches from Major Last, Commanding the Troops, Captain Stanley, R. N., Commanding H. M. S. Calliope, the Inspector of Armed Police, and the Interpreter to the Forces, detailing the proceedings taken against the Rebels under the Chief Rangihaeata, since the departure of His Excellency from the Southern Division; which, I am happy to state, have terminated, after pursuing him from stronghold to stronghold, in the total dispersion of the enemy. This, however, I regret to say, has not been effected without loss on our side. The friendly Natives having been surprised by a party of the Rebels near to the last position they took up on the ridge of hills behind Wainui, by which, and in the subsequent skirmish, three of our Allies were killed and three wounded; but on taking possession of the stockade, (Pouaha), which the enemy shortly after abandoned, two bodies were discovered, one of which was recognised to be Epau, the murderer of Andrew Gillespie. It has since been ascertained that five of the Rebels were killed in that rencontre and two wounded, and that their loss during the war has been more severe than we were led to believe.

Our Native Allies followed in the pursuit from this position to Waikanae, continuing their route along the ridge of the mountains, supported by a force consisting of Captain Stanley, R. N., with part of the crew of H. M. S. Calliope, Captain McDonogh and his company of Militia, and the Inspector (Captain Durie of the Militia), with the Armed Police, which moved along the coast. Beyond Waikanae the tracks of the enemy were lost; and it appearing from the evidence of three of their women, who were made prisoners while in search of food, that the Rebels, wretched and half-starved, were completely broken up and divided into small parties. Further pursuit was abandoned, the Port Nicholson Natives considering they had performed their duty in driving them out of their District, and Wiremu Kingi considering he had fulfilled his promises to His Excellency. Captain Stanley therefore re-embarked his men, and proceeded with the Calliope to Porirua, where he will remain till after the trial of the Prisoners; the Militia marched back to the Taita, where they arrived yesterday; and our Allies of the Ngatiawa tribe, are now on their way to Port Nicholson—leaving the Police Force for the present at Waikanae. Puaha with his followers are, however, still moving on towards the Manawatu River, where he expects to fall in with, or obtain tidings of, the enemy, it being supposed they were making for Rangitiki.

From the Chief Martin, who arrived from the coast this morning, I learn that the Otaki Natives also intend to proceed as far as the Manawatu, to ascertain, if possible, the direction the Rebels have taken, and to prevent any of them establishing themselves in their neighbourhood.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient humble servant,
M. RICHMOND,
Superintendent.
The Hon. the Colonial Secretary.

Wellington, 4th September, 1846.

Sir,—In forwarding the enclosed communication from Major Last, the Officer commanding the Troops, I do myself the honor to state, that from all I can learn, the party which has been discovered on the hills between Waikanae and Otaki, is one of the small bands into which the Rebels are divided, and is moving northwards.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
M. RICHMOND,
Superintendent,
The Hon. the Colonial Secretary.

Porirua, 3rd September, 1846.

Sir,—I have the honor to report for the formation of His Excellency the Governor, that I have just heard from Mr. Strode, Deputy Inspector of Police, in charge of the party at Waikanae, that on Sunday, the 30th ultimo, some of the Rebels had again made their appearance in the hills. That the next morning he proceeded with the Armed Police, in company with the friendly Natives of that place, in pursuit of them; and after going about five miles inland, they only discovered an encampment of the night before.

The friendly Natives then declined going any further, saying it was then out of their District. He also reports that fires were still seen between Waikanae and Otaki, apparently not very far from where they were last seen, and supposes they are supplying themselves with food from the plantations at Otaki.

The Chief Puaha and his party are still at the latter place, and I have every reason to believe will follow them up. About one hundred of the Port Nicholson Natives have not yet left Waikanae, waiting to see further results.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
EDWARD LAST,
Major 99th Regt.,
Commanding the Troops.

His Honor Major Richmond,
Superintendent,
Southern Division, Wellington.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Auckland, 10th September, 1846.

Colonial Secretary.
