NOTICE TO MARINERS.

LEADING LIGHTS AND BEACONS FOR NEWCASTLE.

Office of Superintendent of Pilots, Lights, and Harbours,
Sydney, 10th February, 1866.

In order to increase the facilities for navigating Newcastle Harbour, leading lights for entering, and also leading lights for taking the north channel, will be exhibited on and after Tuesday, the first of May, 1866.

The two fairway lights for entering (red and bright), will be shown from beacons 228 feet apart, in a S. W.  $\frac{1}{2}$ -S., and N. E.  $\frac{1}{2}$ -N. direction, erected on a clear space of ground on the hill at the back of the town, between the Wesleyan and Catholic Churches.

Those for taking the north channel, also red and bright, will be shown from beacons erected on the breakwater in the vicinity of the old Bull beacons, at a distance of a hundred feet apart, in a W. by N. and E. by S. direction.

In both cases, when the lights are in line, the bright will be the uppermost, and the red the lowermost, one of the two. In the day time, however, this order of colour will be reversed, as it is intended to paint the upper beacons red, and lower ones white.

The lower or north-eastern of the two obelisks at present used for the leading mark in, situated on Shepherd's Hill, will be removed, so likewise will be the remnant of the Bull beacons on the breakwater.

The exhibition of these leading lights will not necessitate different sailing directions to those already published, any more than the lights and new beacons being substituted for the obelisks and beacons which are at present in use.

In entering the Port of Newcastle at night great caution will be necessary, in consequence of the strength of the tide, and due allowance will have to be made for ebb or flow, on sighting the north channel lights, and about to alter course from S.W.  $\frac{1}{2}$ -S. with the fairway lights in one, to W. by N., the direction which a vessel will have to steer to keep the north channel lights in line, to gain an anchorage in the north harbour.
