PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS by an Act of the General Assembly of New Zealand, intituled "The Diseased Cattle Act Amendment Act, 1865" (section 4), the Governor may, by any Order in Council, from time to time annul, make void, or alter or vary and make anew, any Orders in Council, regulations, appointments, or

And whereas the said Governor hath, with the advice and consent of the Executive Council of New Zealand, delegated to William Rolleston, Esquire, so long as he shall hold the office of Superintendent of the Province of Canterbury, all the powers which by the said fifth section of the said Amendment Act the Governor in Council is authorized so to delegate: And whereas I, the said William Rolleston, by a Proclamation dated the sixth day of November, 1868, and published in the New Zealand Gazette on the eleventh day of November, 1868, did make certain regulations for the destruction of diseased cattle within the districts therein declared to be infected, and for the preventing the further spread of disease: And whereas it is expedient to annul the said regulations, and to make others in lieu thereof:

Now therefore I, the said William Rolleston, do hereby annul the said Regulations, and I do hereby make the following regulations for the destruction of diseased cattle within the said infected districts, and for preventing the further spread of disease:—

I. If any Inspector appointed under "The Diseased Cattle Act, 1861," or "The Diseased Cattle Act Amendment Act, 1865," shall at any time have reasonable grounds to suspect that any cattle within any of the infected districts above referred to are infected with pleuro-pneumonia, it shall be his duty, and he is hereby authorized forthwith, or as soon as he conveniently can, to proceed to and enter into and upon the place, whether enclosed or otherwise, where such cattle are, or are supposed by him to be, and by inspecting such cattle, or in any other manner, shall satisfy himself whether such cattle, or any of them, are infected, or may be reasonably suspected to be infected, with pleuro-pneumonia, or whether the same are free from pleuro-pneumonia.

II. If any such Inspector shall be satisfied that such cattle, or any of them, are actually infected with pleuro-pneumonia, he shall forthwith give to the owner, or to the person having the custody, charge, or possession of the said cattle, notice of which of the said cattle he deems actually infected with such disease; and such owner or person aforesaid shall, within twenty-four hours after such notice, destroy the cattle so deemed infected, and shall forthwith bury four feet under ground, or burn the carcasses of the cattle so destroyed; and if the owner or person having the custody or possession of the cattle deemed by the Inspector to be infected cannot readily be found, or if such owner or person neglect to destroy the cattle deemed to be infected after the receipt of the notice aforesaid, any Inspector for the said infected districts may seize and destroy, or cause to be seized and destroyed, such cattle so deemed infected.

III. If any owner of cattle, or person having the custody or charge of cattle, shall, after having received such notice as aforesaid, neglect or refuse to destroy the same, or any of them, within twenty-four hours after such notice, such owner or person aforesaid shall be liable to a penalty of fifty pounds for every head of cattle which he shall have neglected or refused to destroy.

IV. If any owner of cattle which any such Inspector as aforesaid has notified to be infected, or if any person having the custody, care, or possession of any such cattle shall, after the same or any of them have been destroyed, neglect or refuse to bury four feet under ground, or burn the carcasses thereof, within twenty-four hours after the destruction thereof, such owner or person aforesaid shall be liable to a penalty of ten pounds for every carcass which he shall neglect or refuse to bury or burn.

V. If any Inspector, appointed as aforesaid, shall suspect that any cattle within any of the said infected districts are infected with pleuro-pneumonia, but shall not be satisfied that such cattle are actually infected, he may, if he thinks fit, give to the owner, or the person having custody, charge, or possession of such cattle, notice in writing of what cattle he suspects to be infected with pleuro-pneumonia, and shall, in and by such notice, order and require such owner, or person having the custody, charge, or possession of such cattle, to drive, or cause to be driven, the cattle mentioned in the said notice to such place within the infected district as such Inspector shall think fit, and such Inspector may, in and by such notice, direct and fix by what roads and route the said cattle shall be driven; and if any person, being the owner of any cattle, or having in his custody, care, or possession, any cattle within the said infected districts, shall, after the expiration of forty-eight hours after such last-mentioned notice has been served on him, or left at his usual place of business or residence, neglect or refuse to drive, or cause to be driven, the cattle mentioned in the said notice to the place and by the roads and route directed and fixed on by the said notice, such person shall be liable to a penalty of ten pounds for every head of cattle included in such last-mentioned notice; and after the expiration of the said period of forty-eight hours it shall be lawful for any such Inspector, if such owner or person as aforesaid shall neglect or refuse to obey such order, to seize and take into his possession the cattle included in such notice, and drive, or cause to be driven, the said cattle to the place and by the roads and route mentioned and fixed in the said notice.

VI. The Inspectors of Diseased Cattle under the said Acts shall forthwith cause to be publicly posted or exhibited, at and about all the main thoroughfares leading into the said infected districts, notices that the said infected districts have been proclaimed and declared infected.

VII. If any person shall drive or remove, or cause to be driven or removed, or assist in driving or removing, any cattle out from any of the said infected districts, such person shall be liable to a penalty of fifty pounds for every such head of cattle so driven out or removed from any of the said infected districts; and if any cattle stray out or from any of the said infected districts into a district not proclaimed to be infected, the owner or person having the care or possession of such cattle shall be liable to a penalty of ten pounds for every head of cattle which shall have so strayed out of such district.

VIII. It shall be lawful for any Inspector appointed as aforesaid, or any Police Constable, having any reasonable grounds to suspect that any cattle, or any carcass or carcasses, or any portion of any carcass or carcasses of any cattle, are about to be driven or removed out from any of the said infected districts, to seize the same and take charge thereof until he shall be satisfied that no attempt will be made to drive such cattle out from the said infected district; and it shall be lawful for any Inspector of the said districts, or any Police Constable, to seize any cattle that have strayed or been driven out of or from any of the said infected districts and to take charge of the same, and to drive or cause to be driven the said cattle back into the district from which they had been driven; and, if such Inspector or Constable shall deem it expedient so to do, to keep the said cattle under his control until the owner or the person having the right to the possession thereof shall be found or made known to him.

IX. In case any person shall wilfully impede or obstruct any Inspector or Police Constable, acting under the authority of these Regulations, every person so offending shall be liable to a penalty of fifty pounds.

X. No cattle shall be slaughtered within any of the said infected districts for the purpose of sale or use, except the same shall have been previously inspected by an Inspector appointed as aforesaid, and then only upon a certificate signed by him that such cattle do not appear to be infected; nor shall any carcase or portion of any carcase of any cattle so slaughtered be removed from any of the said infected districts, unless such carcase or portion of such carcase shall have previously been inspected by an Inspector, and a certificate in writing given by such Inspector, stating that such carcase or portion of carcase is free from disease, and fit for human food; providing always that the offal, including horns, hides, hoofs, &c., of any cattle so slaughtered shall be buried by the owner of such cattle four feet deep, within the area of the infected district within which such cattle shall have been slaughtered; and should any such offal, or part thereof, remain unburied as aforesaid for longer than one hour after slaughter, the owner of such slaughtered cattle shall be liable to a penalty of five pounds.

XI. It shall be lawful for any Inspector under the Diseased Cattle Acts, with the consent of the Superintendent of the Province of Canterbury, or, in his absence, of the Provincial Secretary, to give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of any farm or run within any infected district upon which he shall be satisfied that there are infected cattle, or cattle which have mixed with cattle which are actually infected, or suspected to be infected, that no cattle will from the date of such notice or order be permitted to be driven off such farm or run without the written consent of the Superintendent, or, in his absence, of the Provincial Secretary; and any such owner or occupier who shall neglect or disobey such order, or shall suffer any such cattle to stray, and any person driving any cattle from such farm or run, shall be liable to a penalty of fifty pounds for every head of cattle mentioned in the said notice which shall be found outside the limits prescribed by the Inspector.

XII. When any cattle have been ordered to be confined on any farm or run in accordance with the preceding regulation, the Inspector shall have power to order that a brand shall be placed on such cattle by the owner or person having charge or possession of the said cattle.

XIII. When any cattle have been ordered to be confined on any farm or run, in accordance with the preceding regulations, it shall be lawful to the Superintendent or Provincial Secretary, if he shall think fit, to order that the said cattle shall be inoculated for the purpose of preventing pleuro-pneumonia, and the owner or person having the custody, charge, or possession of the said cattle, shall thereupon cause them to be inoculated; and if the said owner or person having the custody, charge, or possession of the said cattle, shall neglect or refuse to cause the said cattle to be inoculated, he shall be liable to a penalty of fifty pounds for every week during which the said cattle shall not be inoculated, from and after a date to be fixed by the Superintendent or Provincial Secretary.

XIV. The Superintendent of Canterbury, or, in his absence, the Provincial Secretary, may give notice in writing that from and after a day to be named by him in such notice, no cattle will be permitted to travel on any road within such district as may be defined by him in the said notice, within an infected district, and such notice shall be published in one or more newspapers of the Province, and be posted in such places within the district as shall be prescribed by an Inspector under the Diseased Cattle Acts.

XV. If any cattle be driven into, or be found straying within, any of the said infected districts, the owner or person having charge of the same shall be liable to a penalty of ten pounds in respect of every head of cattle so driven or straying; and no such cattle shall again be removed from any infected district into which they may have been driven or may have strayed.

XVI. No cattle shall be driven into any sale-yard in any infected district within the Province of Canterbury which has been proclaimed in the New Zealand Gazette, for the purpose of being sold by auction or otherwise, without the written authority of an Inspector under the Diseased Cattle Acts; and any person guilty of any breach of this regulation shall be liable to a penalty of fifty pounds for every head of cattle driven into such sale-yard.

XVII. All owners or persons having the custody, care, or possession, of any cattle within any such infected district as aforesaid, shall, within thirty days after notice shall have been given to that effect, give a notice in writing to the officer in charge of the Police Station nearest the place where such cattle are kept or are, containing the number of such cattle, the particulars as nearly as can be of the place or places where such cattle are kept or are, and the brands with which they are branded; and if such owners or persons shall neglect or refuse to obey this regulation, they shall be liable to a penalty of ten pounds.

XVIII. Every Inspector appointed under "The Diseased Cattle Acts" by the Superintendent, shall make a report in writing to the said Superintendent of all things done by him under these Regulations, and under the said Acts, as and when he shall be required so to do.

XIX. These Regulations shall take effect from and after the day following the date of publication in the New Zealand Gazette.
