Description of Land.—These lands are all of good quality, and, from their situation on the Bay of Islands and Hokianga Heads Road, are easily accessible. This road has been cleared and bridged, and cuttings made where required. Boats also can come up either the Whirinaki or Omanaia Rivers, right into the block, from the Hokianga River. The forest on this land is composed of puriri, taraire, rimu, matai, rata, kahikatea, &c. There is a good deal of valuable puriri timber all over it.

The Wairoa Confiscated Block, situated between the Rivers Wairoa and Waiau, is distant from Clyde, the port of the Wairoa, some 4½ miles, and is connected with it by a good dray road. The land open for sale on this block consists of the back portion, and has been subdivided into lots of areas above indicated. The quality of the soil is everywhere good, and is generally covered with a dense growth of fern and tutu on the hills, with deep gullies generally with bush in them, and plentifully supplied with water. The surface is formed of a series of ridges, averaging some 1,200 feet high, with little or no level land. It is, however, well adapted for small sheep runs. The bush found in the gullies is generally light, consisting principally of kowhai, titoki, tawa, and a little totara and rimu here and there. Grass seems to take well where the fern has been burnt off. On adjacent lands near the coast the fern has very generally disappeared from the hills, before the fires and the sheep, and they are now covered with a fine sward of the "native poa" grass, which seems to extend itself immediately the surface is denuded of fern; and these same hills are described as having been a few years since as thickly covered with fern and tutu as the country now open in the Wairoa Block.

"WELLINGTON RESERVES AMENDMENT ACT, 1877."

PURSUANT to the provisions of an Act of the General Assembly of New Zealand passed in the forty-first year of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, and intituled "The Wellington Reserves Amendment Act, 1877," the following regulations and rules regulating the use by the public of the Palmerston North Borough Reserve are published previous to coming into force:—

1. The public shall have access to all portions of the reserve that shall not be, as hereafter provided, declared closed by the Council, at all times, subject however to certain restrictions hereinafter mentioned.

2. The Council shall have power at any time to close any portion or the whole of the reserve, by resolution passed in the ordinary way at any ordinary meeting.

3. The Council may, in their discretion, grant to any committee, appointed by the public or by any recognized society, the right to make a charge for entering on any stated portion or portions of the reserve, on any day or days between December 20 and January 26, inclusive, in any year; and also on Easter Monday, the Queen's Birthday, and Prince of Wales' Birthday: Provided that the power shall not be exercised unless a resolution in accordance with clause 2, closing the portion or portions of the reserve to be so dealt with, shall have been previously passed by the Council.

4. Except during the periods named in preceding clause, no horse or dog shall be admitted, nor any person carrying a gun, unless by permission of the lessee or by his authority. Any person infringing this regulation will be subject to a penalty not exceeding £5.

5. That any person convicted of wilfully damaging or carrying away any plant or tree growing on or in any portion of the reserve, or defacing or otherwise injuring any building, or breaking down or destroying any fence erected on any portion of the reserve, shall be subject to a penalty of £5 for every such offence.

I hereby certify that a resolution adopting the foregoing regulations and rules, regulating the use by the public of the Palmerston North Borough Reserve, was duly passed at an adjourned ordinary meeting of the Borough Council held on Wednesday, March 10, 1880.

Given under my hand, at Wellington, this 18th day of March, 1880.
