Report of Court of Inquiry into Wreck of s.s. "Kangaroo" confirmed.

Marine Department,
Wellington, N.Z., 3rd July, 1884.

HIS Excellency the Governor has been pleased to confirm the following report of the Court of Inquiry into the wreck of the s.s. "Kangaroo," by which the Board of Trade Certificate of Competency No. 92646, held by the master, Joseph Dyball, is suspended for three months from the 31st May last. The "Kangaroo," which was a screw-steamer of 185 tons register, belonging to the Westport Coal Company (Limited), was proceeding from Westport to Lyttelton with a cargo of coal, when she struck on a rock off Cape Campbell, at about 11 a.m. on the 2nd May, and sank shortly afterwards.

R. OLIVER,
(for the Minister having charge of the Marine Department.)

That the evidence put before us has brought my mind to the conclusion that when the "Kangaroo" struck she was much nearer the shore than stated in the evidence of Captain Dyball and the other witnesses who were on board. I am brought to this conclusion by working out on the chart the course steered, as given in the evidence of Captain Dyball, from the moment at which she struck until she sank, which, making allowance for speed and tide, brings her farther from the land than the point at which she struck; and this conclusion is supported by the evidence of Richard Walsh, the boatswain, who says she lies a little farther out, if anything, than where she struck.

Now, as to the position in which she sank, the lighthouse-keeper says, "She lies between Bowler's and the Shepherdess Reefs, with broken water on both sides of her." Again he says, "She is lying on the edge of the broken water, the broken water on the land side being a very little distance from her." The lighthouse-keeper, although not qualified to judge as to distance, is quite competent to describe her position with respect to the broken water, from his point of observation at the lighthouse. Taking her present position as fixed by the lighthouse-keeper with respect to Bowler's and the Shepherdess Reefs, which puts her in 9 fathoms of water, as stated by Captain Dyball, and working back on the course steered, I find that she struck on Bowler's, and not on some unknown danger three miles from land.

The evidence put before us has entirely failed to show (as was suggested on behalf of Captain Dyball) the existence of any dangers in the neighbourhood of Cape Campbell not shown on the chart.

I find that Captain Dyball must be held responsible for the disaster, in that he took his vessel much nearer to the shore than was prudent or justified by the sailing directions, and suspend, subject to confirmation by His Excellency the Governor, his certificate for a period of three months, and order him to pay the costs of this inquiry, amounting to £36 17s.

Given under my hand this thirty-first day of May, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, at Wellington, New Zealand.

H. S. WARDELL,
Resident Magistrate.

We concur in the above report.

In the matter of a Bill to be intituled "An Act to amend 'The Trustees, Executors, and Agency Company Act, 1882.'"

NOTICE is hereby given that application is intended to be made to the General Assembly of New Zealand, at the ensuing session thereof, for leave to bring in a Bill to be intituled "An Act to amend 'The Trustees, Executors, and Agency Company Act, 1882,' " and that the objects of such Bill will be,—

1. To repeal section 5 of "The Trustees, Executors, and Agency Company Act, 1882," and substitute therefor the following clause:—

In all cases in which any Court of justice, or any person or persons, or any company or corporation having authority or power to appoint a trustee or trustees under any deed or will, or a liquidator for any joint-stock company under any law now in force or hereafter to be in force in the colony relating to joint-stock companies, or a guardian, or a trustee, or a receiver, or a committee of the estate under any law now in force or hereafter to be in force in the colony relating to lunatics, or an assignee, or a supervisor, or a trustee or trustees under any law now in force or hereafter to be in force in the colony relating to bankruptcy or to insolvent debtors, shall see fit to appoint the said company as trustee under any such deed or will, or as liquidator under any such law relating to joint-stock companies, or as guardian, or as trustee, or as receiver, or as committee of the estate under any such law relating to lunatics, or as assignee, or as supervisor, or as trustee under any such law relating to bankruptcy or insolvent debtors, it shall be lawful for the said company to be so appointed, and to act until removed from such office as such trustee, liquidator, guardian, receiver, committee, assignee, or supervisor, and to perform and discharge all acts and duties pertaining to the position of trustee (under any such deed or will, or under any such law as aforesaid), liquidator, guardian, receiver, committee, assignee, or supervisor. And the capital of the said company, both paid and unpaid, and all other assets of the company, shall be liable for the proper discharge of the duties committed to the said company; and so soon as the paid-up capital of the company shall amount to the sum of ten thousand pounds, such sum being invested in securities in the colony, to be approved of by and deposited with the Public Trustee, such liability of the capital and other assets of the company shall be deemed sufficient security for the discharge of such duties in place of the bond required from private persons when appointed as trustee, liquidator, receiver, committee, or assignee.

2. To add to and incorporate with "The Trustees, Executors, and Agency Company Act, 1882," the following clause:—

The provisions of sections sixty-five, sixty-six, and sixty-seven of "The Property Law Consolidation Act, 1883," shall extend and apply to every power of attorney by which the said company is appointed attorney by any person, company, or corporation; and a statutory declaration made, at the time prescribed by the sixty-seventh section of the said Act, by the manager and any director, or by any two directors of the said company, that the said company has not, to the best of the knowledge and belief of the persons making such declaration, received any notice or information of the revocation by death or otherwise of any such power of attorney, shall have the same force and effect as the declaration mentioned in the sixty-seventh section of the same Act has when made by a private individual acting under power of attorney.

And notice is hereby given that copies of the said Bill will be deposited in the Examiner's Office within fourteen days after the commencement of the said session.

Dated at Dunedin this 3rd day of July, 1884.
