THE following list of awards of the Royal Humane Society of Australasia, granted in New Zealand during the year 1888-89, is published for general information.

T. W. HISLOP.

LIST OF AWARDS FOR THE COLONY OF NEW ZEALAND.

WILLIAM SMITH (aged twenty years), ship's steward on the "Rotomahana," rescued Mrs. Robert Hardy from drowning at Auckland wharf on the 11th August, 1886. A cab and pair of horses, and Mrs. Hardy, of Auckland, having been precipitated off the wharf into the harbour, Mr. William Smith, taking off his coat, went to Mrs. Hardy's assistance. He supported her and assisted her alongside one of the stringers of the wharf until a boat was lowered and took them ashore. Awarded a bronze medal.

EDWARD J. ROBINSON (aged twenty-four years), a clerk in Her Majesty's Customs at Wellington, rescued William Albert Jenkins, a boy, aged nine years, from drowning in the Boat Harbour, Wellington, on the 21st May, 1888. Upon seeing the boy fall into the water Robinson ran to the place where the accident occurred (about 40 yards off), and jumped into the water as he was. The boy was sinking for the third time, when Robinson seized him round the waist and swam with him to the breastwork. He then handed him up to some of the spectators, who pulled him up on the breastwork again. Awarded a bronze medal.

JOHN HARVEY (aged twenty-one years), a butcher, residing at New Plymouth, Taranaki, New Zealand, rescued John McGiven, a child aged three and a half years, from drowning at New Plymouth on the 8th May, 1888. Harvey swam about 30 yards, to where the boy was sinking, caught him by the arm, and swam ashore with him, thereby saving his life. Awarded a certificate of merit.

WILLIAM MCKENZIE COMMONS (aged thirty-two years), a shipping agent, rescued a child named King from drowning at Tauranga Harbour, Auckland, on the 11th July, 1888. Mr. Commons very promptly entered the water without removing his clothes, swam to the place where the boy had twice sunk, and after some little delay managed to catch hold of him. There was a strong current running, so that Mr. Commons could not regain the wharf, and was being swept up the harbour when a rope was thrown from the steam-launch "Result," by means of which he placed the boy on board that vessel. The weather was very cold. Awarded a bronze medal.

HENRY MITCHELL and LAWSON ROBINS, seamen of barque "Cormorant," rescued Robert Percy Graham from drowning at Lyttelton on the 8th November, 1888. Mitchell was on the ship's deck and heard the cries for help, and on looking over saw that Graham was in trouble. He immediately jumped overboard, and, after a great struggle, had to leave Graham to save himself, when Robins jumped into the water and swam to Graham, and swam with him to where a rope was lowered. Each awarded a certificate of merit.

GEORGE S. BULLEN (aged thirteen years), residing at Thames, rescued Gordon Lamb, aged seven years, from drowning in the River Thames. Upon seeing the boy fall off the wharf, Bullen, without any hesitation, jumped after him without removing any of his clothing; when he reached the boy he got him by the arm and held him at arm's length, and swam with him to the nearest landing-steps; a strong ebb tide was running at the time. Awarded a bronze medal.

ARTHUR HOLBERTON MILES BRATHWAITE, of Hastings, Hawke's Bay, New Zealand (aged thirteen years), a school-boy. Mr. W. Rainbow, head-master of the Heretaunga School, near Hastings, having taken a number of boys to bathe at the mouth of a creek running into the Nagaruroro, the largest river in Hawke's Bay, George Cotterill, aged nine years, one of the number, was drawn by the current into the river itself, about 10ft. deep at this place, had sunk once, when Brathwaite swam in to his assistance, but was clutched round the neck by Cotterill; he dived and succeeded in getting clear of the drowning boy, who came to the surface; Brathwaite then seized him by the wrist and swam with him to a snag which was projecting from the water some distance away, and held him upon it until some Natives came with a canoe and took them off. Mr. Rainbow also went in to try and save the boy, but, being unable to swim, was drowned. Awarded a bronze medal.

HERBERT HYAM DE COSTA (aged fourteen years), rescued Hannah Kennedy, aged eight years, from drowning at Gisborne, New Zealand, on the 9th February, 1889. While some little girls were bathing in the river, one Hannah Kennedy got beyond her depth and was carried away by the current. She could not swim, and was in great danger of drowning. Herbert Hyam de Costa, who was about 100 yards away, heard her cries of distress, and immediately ran up to the spot. By this time the girl had gone under two or three times. He plunged in, and after a hard struggle, owing to the girl clinging to him and stopping his progress, he succeeded in bringing her safely to land, both being thoroughly exhausted, especially the boy. Awarded a certificate of merit.

OLE ANTHON BERNTSEN (aged thirty-five years), a seaman, with JOHN ULLANDER, rescued John Ammunson, aged twenty-six years, from drowning, who was clinging to a capsized boat in the breakers at Waitara, New Zealand, on the 10th February, 1889. Awarded a certificate of merit.
