And whereas by two Orders in Council made in pursuance of the said Act, and on such joint recommendation as aforesaid, and dated respectively the thirtieth day of December, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, and the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five, certain modifications and additions were made to the said regulations contained in the Schedule to the said recited Order in Council of the eleventh day of August, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, as regards British fishing vessels and boats :

And whereas by the said regulations contained in the Schedule to the said Order in Council of the eleventh day of August, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, it is amongst other things provided as follows, namely :—

"Article 9.—A pilot vessel, when engaged on her station on pilotage duty, shall not carry the lights required for other vessels, but shall carry a white light at the masthead, visible all round the horizon, and shall also exhibit a flare-up light or flare-up lights at short intervals, which shall never exceed fifteen minutes.

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 30th day of January, 1893.

Present :

THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS by an Order in Council made in pursuance of "The Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1862," and dated the eleventh day of August, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, Her Majesty, on the joint recommendation of the Admiralty and the Board of Trade, was pleased to direct that on and after the first day of September, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, the regulations contained in the Schedule thereto should, so far as regards British ships and boats, be substituted for the regulations contained in the First Schedule to an Order in Council made as aforesaid, and dated the fourteenth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine.

And whereas by two Orders in Council made in pursuance of the said Act, and on such joint recommendation as aforesaid, and dated respectively the thirtieth day of December, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, and the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five, certain modifications and additions were made to the said regulations contained in the Schedule to the said recited Order in Council of the eleventh day of August, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, as regards British fishing vessels and boats :

And whereas by another Order in Council made in pursuance of the said Act and on such joint recommendation as aforesaid, and dated the eighteenth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two, certain modifications and additions were made to the said regulations contained in the Schedule to the said recited Order in Council of the eleventh day of August, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, as regards steam pilot-vessels :

And whereas by the said regulations contained in the Schedule to the said Order in Council of the eleventh day of August, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, it is amongst other things provided as follows :—

"Article 3.—A seagoing steamship when under way shall carry—

"(a.) On or in front of the foremast, at a height above the hull of not less than 20ft., and if the breadth of the ship exceeds 20ft., then at a height above the hull not less than such breadth, a bright white light, so constructed as to show a uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 20 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light 10 points on each side of the ship—viz., from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on either side, and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least five miles.

"(b.) On the starboard side, a green light, so constructed as to show a uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the starboard side, and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least two miles.

"(c.) On the port side, a red light, so constructed as to show a uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the port side, and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least two miles,

"(d.) The said green and red side-lights shall be fitted with inboard screens projecting at least 3ft. forward from the light, so as to prevent these lights from being seen across the bow."

"Article 15.—If two ships under steam are meeting end-on, or nearly end-on, so as to involve risk of collision, each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each may pass on the port side of the other. This article only applies to cases where ships are meeting end-on, or nearly end-on, in such a manner as to involve risk of collision, and does not apply to two ships which must, if both keep on their respective courses, pass clear of each other. The only cases to which it does apply are when each of the two ships is end-on, or nearly end-on, to the other—in other words, to cases in which by day each ship sees the masts of the other in a line, or nearly in a line, with her own, and by night to cases in which each ship is in such a position as to see both the side-lights of the other. It does not apply by day to cases in which a ship sees another ahead crossing her own course, or by night to cases where the red light of one ship is opposed to the red light of the other, or where the green light of one ship is opposed to the green light of the other, or where a red light without a green light, or a green light without a red light, is seen ahead, or where both green and red lights are seen anywhere but ahead":

And whereas there has been doubt or misapprehension concerning the effect of the said two articles, and whereas the Admiralty and the Board of Trade have jointly recommended to Her Majesty to make the following additions to the said regulations for the purpose of explaining the said recited articles, and of removing the said doubt or misapprehension:

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by virtue of the powers vested in her by the said Act, and by and with the advice of her Privy Council, is pleased to direct that from the date of this order the regulations contained in the Schedule to the said Order in Council of the eleventh day of August, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, shall be further modified by the addition to the said recited Article 3 of the provisions contained in the Schedule hereto.

HERBERT M. SUFT.

SCHEDULE.

(e.) To insure that the red and green side-lights shall show an uniform light from right ahead of the ship to two points abaft the beam on the port and starboard sides respectively, and shall not show across the bow of the ship itself, the said lights must be fixed and the screens fitted so that the rays from the red and green lights shall cross the line of the ship's keel projected ahead of the ship at a reasonable distance ahead of the ship.

With regard to all vessels whose lights are inspected by the officers of the Board of Trade, the red or green side-light will not be deemed to be fixed and fitted in accordance with the regulations unless it is so fixed and screened that a line drawn from the outside edge of the wick to the foremost end of the inboard screen of such light shall make an angle of 4 degrees, or as near thereto as may be practicable, with a line drawn parallel with the keel of the ship from the outside edge of the wick.

Deaths, occurring at hospitals, of persons not residents of the borough wherein the hospital is situated have been allotted in each case to the borough where the disease was contracted, and not to that in which the death actually took place.

The total births in the above boroughs amounted to 428, against 383 in April, an increase of 45. The deaths in May were 152, a decrease of 42 on the number in April. Of the total deaths, males contributed 99; females, 53. Fifty-five of the deaths were of children under 5 years of age, being 36.18 per cent. of the whole number; 34 of these were under 1 year of age.

THE following Table shows the Causes of the Deaths of Persons of both Sexes under 5 Years of Age and 5 Years and upwards, and the Proportions per Cent. of Deaths from each Cause, in the Boroughs of Auckland, Wellington, Christchurch, and Dunedin, that were registered during the Month of May, 1893.

Totals .. .. .	13	13	6	17	3	6	9	11	78

The following remarks apply to the four principal boroughs only: The births in May were 239, against 173 in April, an increase of 66. The deaths amounted to 78, against 113 in April, a decrease of 35. There were 9 deaths of persons of 65 years and upwards: 3 males of 74, 75, and 79, and one female of 74 died at Auckland; 1 male of 72 at Wellington; 1 male of 75 at Christchurch; 2 males of 65 and 69, and one female of 71, at Dunedin.

The death-rates for May at Auckland, Wellington, and Christchurch were lower than for April, but at Dunedin the rate was somewhat higher for the later month. Of the rates at these towns Dunedin had the highest, 0.86 per 1,000 persons living. At Auckland the rate was 0.83 per 1,000; at Wellington, 0.68; and at Christchurch, 0.54. The rates in May of the year 1892 were all considerably higher, being—Auckland, 1.29; Wellington, 1.22; Christchurch, 1.23; and Dunedin, 1.03.

Specific Febrile and Zymotic Diseases.—The number of deaths in May at the four towns was 19, or 24.36 per cent. of the whole mortality. In April there were 13 deaths, and the proportion of the total was only 11.50 per cent. Ten of the deaths in May were at Auckland, 3 at Wellington, and 6 at Dunedin, while at Christchurch there were no deaths from this class of disease. Measles caused 9 and diphtheria 1 of the 10 deaths at Auckland. Diphtheria was also fatal at Wellington in one case, while the other 2 deaths at this town were from typhoid fever and diarrhoea respectively. Four out of 6 deaths at Dunedin were from measles, the others being from influenza and diarrhoea. From 1887 until the month of May last there were no deaths from measles registered in any of the four principal boroughs. In that year there was 1 death at Auckland and 1 at Dunedin from this cause.

Constitutional Diseases.—The total number of deaths fell from 25 in April to 13 in May. From phthisis the mortality for the two months was 6 deaths in each case, but deaths from cancer fell from 13 in April to 5 in May.

Local Diseases.—The comparison with April shows only 35 deaths in May against 47 in the previous month. Diseases of the respiratory system numbered 8, including 3 from laryngitis and 2 from bronchitis. There were 9 deaths from diseases of the digestive system.

Violent Deaths.—The mortality is unusually small, comprising the accidental death of a child by burning, and the suicide of an adult male by shooting himself with a revolver.

The subjoined table shows the mortality for the last two months at each of these four boroughs from six principal specific febrile or zymotic diseases, and also the deaths from certain inflammatory diseases of the lungs. These causes of death have been distinguished from the others of the classes to which they belong as being the most important special diseases which give rise to sudden increases in the death-rates of towns, and the prevalence of which is closely connected with sanitary condition and climatic influence of the season on health.

THREE scholarships of the yearly value of £35, tenable for two years, are offered for competition. One of these scholarships, to be called the senior scholarship, is open to all Maoris under sixteen years of age at the end of the month preceding the date of the examination; the other two scholarships are junior scholarships, and are open to all Maoris under fifteen years of age at the end of the month preceding the date of the examination who have not been pupils at Te Aute or St. Stephen's, and whose attendance at school during the previous year is considered by the Inspector of Native Schools to have been satisfactory. The senior scholarship is offered for competition among Maori boys on the conditions laid down in the regulations of the Trustees of the Te Makarini Scholarships Fund, as printed in the Native Schools Code, 1893. Candidates for the junior scholarships will be examined in the subjects specified for Standard IV. in the Native Schools Code, 1893.
