Notice of Request to amend Specification.

Patent Office,

Wellington, 28th September, 1893.

A REQUEST to be allowed to amend the under-mentioned specification for Letters Patent has been received, and is open to public inspection at this office. Any person may, at any time within one month from the date of this Gazette, give me notice in writing, in duplicate, of opposition to the amendment, stating in such notice the particular grounds of objection. A fee of 10s. is payable with such notice:—

No. 1893.—WILLIAM ANDREWS and ARTHUR WARD BEAVEN, carrying on business as co-partners as Engineers, of Christchurch, New Zealand. An invention for improvements in chaff-cutters.

The nature of the proposed amendments is as follows, viz.:—

1. By inserting the words "bagging apparatus for" between the words "improvements in" and "chaff-cutters," forming the title.

2. By inserting the words "turnover or" immediately before the words "slide is therefore automatic," in line 23 of the Schedule.

3. By inserting the following words, figures, &c., between the descriptive portion of the specification and the claim, viz.:—

"The ordinary method of bagging chaff by machinery is well known, and therefore needs no explanation, but in order that our invention may be more easily understood we will refer to the accompanying sheet of drawings, on which—

"Similar letters refer to similar parts in all the figures: a^1 and a^2 are the cylinders; b^1 and b^2 are the screws, which are driven in any suitable manner; c^1 and c^2 are the bags to receive the chaff; e is the elevator to conduct the chaff from the cutter or bin to the feeding-hopper e^1 ; f is the turnover plate oscillating on a spindle f^1 , and actuated (by preference) by a lever f^2 and chains or cords g^1 and g^2 , which chains are themselves actuated by the descent of the bags c^1 and c^2 alternately; h are bevel wheels fixed to the spindles of the screws b^1 and b^2 to drive the same; h^1 are bevel wheels working loosely on the shaft h^2 ; h^3 is a clutch working on a feather formed on the shaft h^2 ; l is a disengaging-lever.

"It will be evident from this description of the several parts that our invention consists in providing an apparatus whereby one sack can be filled whilst the other is at rest, and that this operation can be performed either by hand or automatically; and the principle can be extended to more than two sacks if desired."

4. By striking out the present claims, and inserting instead, after the words "What we claim as new and novel is," the following, viz.:—

"1st. In bagging apparatus for chaff-cutters, the combination of two presses, such as a^1 and a^2 , with turnover plate f and rocking lever f^2 , as and for the purpose substantially as described herein and illustrated on the accompanying drawings.

"2nd. In bagging apparatus for chaff-cutters, the combination of two presses, such as a^1 and a^2 , with turnover plate f , rocking lever f^2 , and chains g^1 and g^2 , or mechanical equivalents of the same, as and for the purposes substantially as described herein and illustrated on accompanying drawings.

"3rd. In bagging apparatus for chaff-cutters, the combination of the clutch h with bevel-wheels h^1 and h^2 and disengaging-lever l , or mechanical equivalents of the same, substantially as described herein, and illustrated on the accompanying drawings."

5. By lodging one sheet of drawings, containing three figures, numbered and lettered in usual manner.

The applicants state as their reason for the request, "We are advised to more fully describe and ascertain the nature of our invention, and illustrate the same by drawings, the application having been made in the year 1885, when patent practice was not well understood in New Zealand."
