Metropolitan and Suburban Areas.

FOR various purposes (vital statistics, &c.) metropolitan areas have been created at each of the four chief centres, and suburban areas at nine of the more important secondary centres. Each area includes, in addition to the central borough and suburban boroughs, a considerable non-municipalized area adjacent to and contingent on the centre. Maps of the areas are published herewith for general information.

At the Census of 1916 (15th October) the populations of the various metropolitan and suburban areas were as follows (the figures are still subject to slight revision) :—
