15. SUMMARY FOR THE MONTH OF APRIL, 1919.

In most parts of the Dominion fair weather ruled during April, and the rainfall was once again considerably below the normal.

Along the east coast south of Banks Peninsula, and in Otago, however, the total rainfall was considerably in excess of the average, some Observers remarking that it was the wettest April on record.

Numerous disturbances passed in the south during the month, but as they were apparently of slight intensity they were not responsible for such a widespread rainfall as was desired.

B. V. PEMBERTON, Acting-Director.

Notice to Mariners.—No. 34 of 1919.

Marine Department,
Wellington, 8th July, 1919.

THE following Notices to Mariners, which have been received from the Hydrographic Office, London, are published for general information.

GEORGE ALLPORT,
Secretary.

MINE WARNING TO MARINERS.

1. MARINERS are hereby informed that the South Atlantic, Indian Ocean, Red Sea, and Pacific Zone defined in Mine Warning to Mariners No. 2, paragraph 8, is considered clear of moored mines, with the exception of the mined areas in the vicinity of Three Kings (North Island, New Zealand) and Cape Farewell (South Island, New Zealand), details of which are given below.

Navigation in this zone is unrestricted except as laid down in sections 2 and 3.

2. THREE KINGS (NEW ZEALAND, NORTH ISLAND).—Mines are laid on a line joining lat. 34° 6' S., long. 172° 40' E., and lat. 34° 19½' S., long. 172° 48' E. Vessels are not to approach within ten miles of this line in any direction.

3. CAPE FAREWELL (NEW ZEALAND, SOUTH ISLAND).—Mines are laid on a line between lat. 40° 7' S., long. 172° 42' E., and lat. 40° 28½' S., long. 172° 26' E. Vessels are to avoid the area bounded on the north by the parallel of lat. 39° 55' S., on the east by the meridian of longitude passing through Farewell Spit Lighthouse (long. 173° 1' E.), on the south by the land, and on the west by the meridian of longitude passing through Kahurangi Point (long. 172° 13' E.).

WIRELESS METEOROLOGICAL INFORMATION TO AND FROM SHIPS AT SEA.

GENERAL REMARKS.

1. It is earnestly hoped that all concerned will assist in making the wireless meteorological service a success. Negotiations are now in hand to extend and unify the system of collecting weather data by wireless from ships at sea all over the world, and at the same time to organize the free transmission of weather bulletins from a sufficient number of wireless stations to admit of ships being constantly supplied with reliable weather reports and forecasts wherever they may be.

2. It should be borne in mind that the needs of ships at sea in regard to information regarding the weather will march hand in hand with the requirements of aircraft. The importance of this service will therefore be constantly increasing, and its success or failure will largely depend upon the co-operation of ships at sea in providing the data, without which accurate forecasting is impossible. The matter does not depend solely upon the efforts of the ships selected to furnish the data. The essence of success lies in rapidity in passing such data by wireless from the ship to the coast station, and thence to the central meteorological office. It follows, therefore, that all ships not taking an active part in supplying data should use the greatest care not to interfere with the transmission of the wireless messages to the shore.

3. The following particulars refer to the scheme now being undertaken by the British Meteorological Office. This notice will, however, be subject to revision from time to time, and endeavours will be made to include in each revision all information available to date of the weather bulletins issued by the wireless stations of the world. Earnest endeavours are being made to obtain international agreement as to the form of these weather bulletins, and to the methods and times of transmissions. It is hoped that the messages will eventually all be made in an international code at fixed times, so arranged that a ship with only one wireless operator will be able to read them. A similar scheme for time-signals is being evolved.

COLLECTION OF WEATHER DATA FROM SHIPS.

4. Certain ships are being asked to supply data regularly three times a day whenever they are within a certain distance of any of some six or eight "observation points" in the north-eastern Atlantic.

5. In addition to the regular observations, which are taken at 0100, 0700, and 1300 Greenwich time and sent as soon as possible to Malin Head (GMH) or Valentia (GCK) coast stations, these ships may, on request from either of these coast stations, send special data messages at other times.

6. The procedure for a ship which intends to send a data message will be as follows: As soon as it has been decided to make the data message (i.e., normally at about 0100, 0700, or 1300) the ship makes to "all ships" (CQ) the word "weather,"* followed by a number which indicates the "observation point" (see para. 4 above), near which she is at the time.

* Application is being made to Berne to allot an international three-letter abbreviation to mean: "Am about to make weather data from observation point number ."

7. This warning message will not be answered by any ship or station; it is merely designed—

(a.) To inform all ships within range that a report is about to be made and that they should therefore avoid interfering.

(b.) To inform all other ships supplying weather data, which may be in the vicinity of the same observation point, that, one ship having decided to make a report, it is unnecessary for them to make one also.

8. About five or ten minutes after the ship has made the warning as above, she may be expected to transmit the data message itself. The normal or regular "data message" consists of four groups of five figures each; the special data message is of two groups of five figures each. All data messages bear the one word "weather"† as the address, and conclude with a "time of origin" of four figures. The message will be sent to Malin Head (GMH) or Valentia (GCK), according to the position of the "observation point."

† Application is being made to Berne to allot an international three-letter abbreviation to mean: "Following are normal (or special) weather data."

9. It should be noted that several of the observation points are so far out to sea that the coast stations, although provided with extra sensitive receiving gear, will be unable to read the messages unless all ships help by keeping quiet. In particular, ships working near Malin Head or Valentia should be on the watch for the coast station making "Go on" (K) or "Repeat" (UD) to a ship whose transmission they themselves cannot hear. It is hoped that ships will so co-operate in this matter that it will be unnecessary to arrange international "silent periods" to enable these long-range data messages to be read by the coast stations.

10. The coast stations, on receiving these data messages, will possibly have to forward them to London by wireless. They would use continuous wave for this purpose, and would therefore not be heard by ships not fitted with special receivers. Ships should therefore be prepared to find that Valentia or Malin Head could not attend to calls for a few minutes after receipt of one of these data messages.

11. The "special" data messages referred to in paragraph 5 above are only made when the Meteorological Office finds its information pointing to the existence of peculiar conditions in a certain area. In such cases the office directs Valentia or Malin Head to ask for reports. The shore station then sends to "any British ship supplying weather data"‡ the word "weather"¶ followed, if necessary, by the number of the observation point from which a special data message is desired. This word would not be answered by ships; but ships addressed, which were in the vicinity of any (or of the specified) observation point, would verify their position, make the warning signal to "All ships," take observations, and pass in the special data message as above described for the regular message.

‡ The call letters BVD are being given this signification.

¶ Application is being made to Berne to allot an international three-letter abbreviation to mean: "Please give special weather data (from observation point number .)"

ISSUE OF WEATHER BULLETINS TO SHIPS.

12. A wireless weather bulletin may contain both or either of the following:—

(a.) A weather report, which is an official statement of existing weather conditions; and/or

(b.) A weather forecast, which is an official opinion of probable future weather conditions.

13. The accompanying schedule of wireless weather bulletins is intended to provide, in a form suitable to give all information required by the wireless operator, a complete and up-to-date list of all weather bulletins transmitted at fixed times by wireless stations throughout the world. The same information will be found in detail in the Sailing Directions and in the International List of Radio-telegraph Stations (the Berne List).

14. The times given in the third column of the schedule are expressed in the four-figure notation employed for signalling during the war. The term "G.M.T." here means the civil mean time of the meridian of Greenwich, with the day commencing at midnight and the hours reckoned from 00 to 23.

15. Operators are reminded that Article 45 of the International Service Regulations imposes the general obligation of not interfering with reception of weather bulletins by other ships.

16. Certain other stations not shown in the schedule supply weather bulletins on demand, generally at reduced charges. Particulars will be found in the Berne List.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION.

This estate is situated about five miles distant from the Toko Railway-station by Ohura, Waiwiri, and Makuri Roads all metalled, and about three miles and a half from the Huiroa Railway-station. It is about twelve miles from Stratford. There is a school at Huiroa, about two miles and a half away. A creamery is in operation on the property. The country varies from flat and undulating to hilly. Three of the sections contain a large proportion of land fit for dairying, and on the others a certain number of milking-cows could be grazed if any tenants wished to do so. The land is well watered, and all laid down in English grasses, excepting in the case of a few acres not regrassed after ploughing. Fern requires checking in a few patches, but is not bad anywhere, and on the rougher ground there are very few places unsafe for stock. The soil is a free loam of mixed volcanic and papa origin, on a papa and sandstone subsoil. Shell limestone crops out in a few places. Climate moist and favourable for grass. Right of access to and through Sections 2s, 3s, 4s, and 5s is reserved along the track in the vicinity until the Kota Road is formed. Two quarries for road-metalling purposes are reserved out of Section 2s. The hills rise to about 400 ft. above the flats, and there is more or less ploughable ground on all the sections. Altitude varies from 400 ft. to 900 ft.

Portions of Sections 6s and 7s are subject to a water-right held by the Stratford Farmers' Co-operative Dairy Company, allowing them to take and convey water from the Kaikoura Stream and its tributaries to the factory, under the condition of restoring the surface disturbed.

SPECIAL CONDITION.

The right of access through Section 2s to the quarries at any time, without compensation for surface damage, is reserved to any persons authorized by the Commissioner of Crown Lands, but the Crown disclaims any liability for loss incurred through any accidents to stock straying or falling in such quarries, or for fencing the same.

Sale posters and full particulars may be obtained at this office.
