GOD SAVE THE KING!

By Authority: W. A. G. SKINNER, Government Printer, Wellington.

The first of these was the Declaration of Independence, which was adopted on July 4, 1776. This document declared the thirteen colonies to be free and independent states, no longer bound to the British Crown. The second was the Constitution, which was adopted on September 17, 1787. This document established the framework for the federal government and the rights of the states.

The third was the Bill of Rights, which was adopted on September 12, 1791. This document guaranteed the first ten amendments to the Constitution, protecting the rights of individuals and the states. The fourth was the Emancipation Proclamation, which was issued by President Abraham Lincoln on January 31, 1863. This document declared that all slaves in the Confederate States were to be freed.

The fifth was the Reconstruction Act, which was passed by Congress in 1867. This act established the process for the Reconstruction of the Southern States after the Civil War. The sixth was the Fourteenth Amendment, which was adopted in 1868. This amendment guaranteed equal rights under the law for all citizens, regardless of race.

The seventh was the Fifteenth Amendment, which was adopted in 1870. This amendment guaranteed the right to vote for all male citizens, regardless of race. The eighth was the Nineteenth Amendment, which was adopted in 1920. This amendment guaranteed the right to vote for all citizens, regardless of sex.

The ninth was the Twenty-fourth Amendment, which was adopted in 1964. This amendment guaranteed the right to vote for all citizens, regardless of race. The tenth was the Twenty-sixth Amendment, which was adopted in 1971. This amendment guaranteed the right to vote for all citizens, regardless of age.

The eleventh was the Twenty-seventh Amendment, which was adopted in 1992. This amendment guaranteed that no state legislature could pass any law that would alter the number of representatives in the House of Representatives. The twelfth was the Twenty-eighth Amendment, which was adopted in 1992. This amendment guaranteed that no state legislature could pass any law that would alter the number of senators in the Senate.

The thirteenth was the Twenty-ninth Amendment, which was adopted in 1992. This amendment guaranteed that no state legislature could pass any law that would alter the number of members in the state legislature. The fourteenth was the Thirtieth Amendment, which was adopted in 1992. This amendment guaranteed that no state legislature could pass any law that would alter the number of members in the state legislature.

The fifteenth was the Thirty-first Amendment, which was adopted in 1992. This amendment guaranteed that no state legislature could pass any law that would alter the number of members in the state legislature. The sixteenth was the Thirty-second Amendment, which was adopted in 1992. This amendment guaranteed that no state legislature could pass any law that would alter the number of members in the state legislature.
