ADMIRALTY PUBLICATIONS.

ALTERATIONS IN CLASSIFICATION OF CHARACTERISTICS OF LIGHTS.

Former notice hereby cancelled.

The following alterations, mentioned in the former notice, have been made in describing the characteristics of the types of lights indicated below:—

(a.) The definition "revolving" has been abolished, and this type of light is now described as "flashing."

(b.) The former definition of "period" as given for alternating lights has been discarded, and the definition of period is now as follows:—

"Period in alternating lights is the time occupied by the exhibition of the entire system of changes included in the same phase."

Remarks.—These alterations appear in the Admiralty List of Lights for the year 1922, and the charts are being corrected as opportunity offers.

Note.—This notice is a publication of the former notice quoted above, amended as necessary.

WIRELESS DIRECTIONAL BEARINGS.—CAUTION WITH REGARD TO FIXING POSITION.

Former notice, No. 952 of 1920.

With reference to section I, paragraph 3, of the former Admiralty notice quoted above, and of the article "Fixing Position by Wireless Directional Bearings," in the Admiralty List of Wireless Signals, 1922, shortly to be issued, further experience in fixing the position of a ship by wireless directional bearings has shown that one or more of several causes may occasionally operate to vitiate the accuracy of the bearings obtained.

Bearings may be unreliable at night and during stormy weather, also when the direction runs approximately parallel with the coast-line or passes alternately over sea and land. Detached fog-banks lying in the line of bearing can occasion divergence, thus giving rise to corresponding errors.

Due caution should therefore be exercised when using this method for determining a ship's position, and the mariner should not neglect to take the usual precautions during thick weather, such as the use of the lead, &c., more particularly when closing the land or navigating in the vicinity of reefs and other isolated submerged dangers.

DESCRIPTION.

The sections are situated some fifty chains from Havelock North and three miles from Hastings, and comprise four allotments until recently used by the New Zealand Government as an experimental station for fruitgrowing, for which purpose it is admirably adapted, situated as it is in a district noted for the commercial value of its fruit and other products.

A number of the trees standing on some of the sections are not considered to be of any commercial value, and do not affect the capital value of the land.

The whole of the block is surrounded by good shelter plantations. The soil generally is of medium quality. The block is ring fenced, and there are internal fences running principally along the plantations and hedges.

2. Intending tenderers are expected to visit the locality and to satisfy themselves in every particular on all matters relative to the sale.

3. The aforementioned quantities, qualities, and kinds as to the said timber shall be taken as sufficiently accurate for the purposes of this sale, and no contract for the purchase shall be voidable, nor shall the successful purchaser be entitled to any abatement in price, by reason of the said timber being of less quantity, quality, or kind than as stated herein or in any advertisement having reference to the said timber.

4. The promissory notes will be presented at intervals as indicated in the terms of payment; but they may be presented for payment at earlier dates if it is found that more than a due proportion of the timber has been cut, or should any breach of the conditions occur, or if in the opinion of the Conservator the interests of the Crown are being jeopardized.

8. The licensee shall take all reasonable precautions by way of providing such safeguards as may be required by the Conservator for the prevention of damage to the adjacent bush by fires caused by sparks from locomotives, log-haulers, or otherwise, and shall be liable for any damage thereto in consequence of any negligence or disregard of these conditions on the part of the licensee or his workmen, such damage to be assessed by the Conservator of State Forests, whose decision shall be final.

11. The settlement of any disputes shall be affected by the Conservator of State Forests, and there will be a right of appeal to the Commissioner of State Forests, whose decision in all cases shall be final. Should the licensee fail to fulfil any and every obligation incumbent upon him the license will be subject to cancellation.

The license will not be extended, and will not be transferable, except with the consent of the Commissioner of State Forests. Cutting operations must commence within twelve months from the date of the license.
