SUMMARY FOR THE MONTH OF AUGUST, 1928.

August was, on the whole, a satisfactory month as regards rainfall, especially in view of the distribution during the preceding months. In most of the Auckland Province, where there was little need for it, the rain was below normal. In Nelson and parts of Otago and Southland, too, there was a deficiency, and good rains will be wanted soon in these districts, especially the first, if the season is to commence well. Elsewhere, registrations were mainly above the average, and crops and pastures will benefit greatly.

Most districts experienced remarkably uniform temperatures during the month, and the absence of extreme cold gave an effect of mildness even where the mean temperature was below the average. Growth has, on the whole, been good, and although there is still a slight shortage of feed in some of the parts which experienced a very dry summer, conditions generally are favourable, and stock and crops are doing well.

The month began with a continuance of the fine weather which had prevailed over the greater part of July. The rain-producing disturbances were of slight intensity in the New Zealand area until the 13th. A particularly fine spell was experienced from the 8th to the 11th, during which period the weather was controlled by a very intense anticyclone.

On the 12th the western districts were affected by a depression in the Tasman Sea, which gradually moved eastward. On the 14th the trough of the depression lay across the Dominion, and a cyclone developed in its northern portion. The centre of the cyclone crossed the North Island from northern Taranaki to Hawke's Bay on the 15th, and thence passed away eastward on the 16th. There were north-westerly gales in Cook Strait on the 13th, while on the 15th there were gales, generally from a southerly direction, at many places. At Wellington the southerlies were especially severe and, combined with a high tide, caused much damage to the Kaiwarra to Petone railway, shipping about Cook Strait was delayed, and minor damage of various kinds was done about the city. The period from the morning of the 13th to that of the 16th was a very wet one. The rain was general, and there were many heavy falls.

Another storm of somewhat similar type passed during the 20th. There were northerly gales in Cook Strait during its approach, and fairly general southerly gales over the North Island on the 21st, after the centre had passed. Again there was almost general rain.

Gales and general rains were associated also with an intense southern depression which passed during the 23rd and 24th. At the end of the month occurred the fourth and last of the important disturbances. This was an intense southern depression of the inverted V type. Depressions of this type are usually followed by one or more secondaries, but there were none in this instance. The barometer fell rapidly to a minimum, and then commenced to rise again immediately with even greater rapidity. There were northerly gales during the 30th over much of the South Island, which changed suddenly during the evening to southerlies. The drop in temperature was very marked, and snow fell thickly on all the ranges at least as far as the Wellington Province. In South Canterbury and parts of Otago and Southland the snow reached the low levels, being particularly heavy in South Canterbury. Near Wellington it was low down on the Orongorongo and other nearby hills. The 31st was fortunately a brilliantly fine day over most of the area which received the snowfall, and there was a rapid thaw. Very little loss of stock therefore resulted. Apart from the snow, there was fairly general rain in connection with this storm also.

Snow was reported from the Hermitage on a number of occasions in the course of the month, and the mountains generally are well on the way towards receiving a good covering for the season.

- (2) Fishing banks, with depths of about 20 fathoms, are reported by fishermen in following positions :—
15 miles 327 deg. from Eastern Reef Inlet (Ahuru).
5½ miles 313 deg. " "
3¼ miles 281 deg. " "
6-9 miles 002½ deg. " "

- (6) Cape Young, for a radius of 4 miles from extremity of Cape Young between bearings 037 deg. and 310 deg. from the Cape, is reported foul. (N.Z. Pilot, page 482.)

- (7) Kaingaroa Anchorage: The master of s.s. "Tees" stated that, only the day before he was interviewed, when leaving the anchorage he obtained a depth of  $4\frac{1}{2}$  fathoms when in mid-channel between the eastern and western reefs.
- (8) Waitangi West Bay: The master of s.s. "Tees" stated that foul ground extended about  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles 250 deg. from Mohau Point. Fishermen state that the foul ground on West Reefs extend more to S.W. than charted.
- (9) Young Reef: The master of s.s. "Tees" states he considered this reef extended another  $\frac{1}{2}$  mile further N.W. than charted.
- (10) Pitt Island: Rocks are reported in the following positions:—
 One close to N.E. side of Mangere Island.
 One  $8\frac{1}{2}$  miles 332 deg. from charted position of William Hamilton Reef.
 One 6-7 miles 344 deg. from charted position of William Hamilton Reef.
 One 2-2 miles 023 deg. from charted position of William Hamilton Reef.
- (11) Hanson Bay: Fishermen state (and the master of the s.s. "Tees" confirms this as he constantly steams up the coast about 1 mile from the shore) that the reported reefs do not exist and that the coast is clear.
- (12) Ouwenga (Cape Fournier): A reef, called locally "Old Man Reef," extends for about  $\frac{3}{4}$  mile to 1 mile N.N.E. direction from coast just to the east of Ouwenga Settlement.
 S.s. "Tees" always anchors in 6 fathoms under lee of the reef about  $\frac{3}{4}$  mile from shore, in good holding ground of sand and mud. In westerly winds he has anchored off Te Awapatiki (6 miles 340 deg. from Ouwenga) about 1 mile off shore.
- (13) Taupeka,  $6\frac{1}{2}$  miles 110 deg. from Cape Young, provides good anchorage in west and south-west winds in 6 to 7 fathoms, distant  $\frac{3}{4}$  mile from shore.
- (14) Tangipu (S.W. of Cape Young): Good anchorage 1 mile off shore in 10 fathoms in easterly winds.
- (15) Ocean Bay (N.Z. Pilot, page 481): Stated to be a bad anchorage as it is too rocky.
- (16) Whangaroa (N.Z. Pilot, page 480, Port Hutt): Stated to be full of kelp and not cared for as an anchorage.
- (17) Waihere Bay (N.Z. Pilot, 483-3): Good anchorage in east winds with round rock just shut in by S.W. point of bay.

Remarks: The foregoing information has been obtained from Captain A. Dowell, master s.s. "Tees," who has considerable knowledge of this locality, from his personal observation, and from information given to him by local fishermen.

Though the positions of the new rocks reported above must be regarded as very approximate, yet it is considered there is no doubt as to their existence since they are all known to the local fishermen.

SUMMER TIME.

INFORMATION is hereby given that the time for general purposes in New Zealand shall, during the period of summer time, be thirty minutes in advance of New Zealand standard time.

The use of summer time does not affect the use of New Zealand standard time for purposes of astronomy, meteorology, or navigation, or affect the construction of any document mentioning or referring to a point of time in connection with any of those purposes.

The Summer Time Act, 1928, prescribes the period of summer time shall be taken to be the period beginning at two o'clock, New Zealand standard time, in the morning of the second Sunday in October, 1928, and ending at two o'clock, New Zealand standard time, in the morning of the third Sunday in March, 1929.

The attention of mariners is drawn to the several elements contained in the New Zealand Nautical Almanac and Tide-tables which are given in terms of New Zealand standard time, and to the necessity for adding thirty minutes to all such times if desiring to obtain them in terms of summer time.

Admiralty and other publications for navigational purposes will be similarly affected.
