Under the first head marks up to a maximum of thirty are to be assigned for fluency, for ability to phrase—that is, to group the words in a suitable manner—for appreciation of the value of emphasis, and for suitability of expression by intonation and by inflexion of the voice. Under the second heading marks up to a maximum of thirty are to be given for pronunciation and articulation. Under the third heading marks up to a maximum of 40 are to be assigned. The placing of the accent, the articulation of the component syllables, and particularly the consonants, should receive the Examiner's careful attention.

“(b) Writing.—Exercises in text hand, half text, and small hand, or of varied form, in such style as the candidate would adopt in setting copies for children. The object or objects must be represented as seen from the point of view at which the candidate may be placed. No mechanical means of measurement or execution will be allowed. The drawing, which should fairly fill the sheet of drawing-paper, should express as clearly as possible the relative proportions and positions of the several objects drawn, as well as their forms, contours, and textures.

As regards the matter, mere length is not required, but rather evidence of observation, clearness of thought, possession of ideas, and general cultivation of mind. A reasonable choice of subjects will be given.

Candidates may be required to express in their own words a passage of moderately difficult English, or to summarize its meaning in a précis. They may also be asked to explain the meaning and use of particular words and idiomatic expressions that are in common use. A knowledge of the elements of English grammar will be expected, and a test in analysis and synthesis may be given.
- “II Literature : This section is intended to be a test not of one year's work of special preparation, but rather of the reading that has been covered during the two or three years preceding the examination. Candidates should remember that the results of their reading will be tested not only under this section, but under all three sections of this syllabus. Candidates will be expected to answer general questions on such plays of Shakespeare and such works of standard authors, including modern novelists and poets, as may from time to time be prescribed. Questions on literary appreciation will be included.

“(2) Theoretical.”

“The following theorems, together with questions upon them, easy deductions from them and arithmetical illustrations :—

“Angles at a Point :—

“If a straight line stands on another straight line, the sum of the two angles so formed is equal to two right angles ; and the converse.

“If two straight lines intersect, the vertically opposite angles are equal.

“Parallel Straight Lines :—

“When a straight line cuts two other straight lines, if—

“(i) A pair of alternate angles are equal ; or

“(ii) A pair of corresponding angles are equal ; or

“(iii) A pair of interior angles on the same side of the cutting-line are together equal to two right angles—then the two straight lines are parallel ; and the converse.

“Straight lines which are parallel to the same straight line are parallel to one another.

“If there are three or more parallel straight lines, and the intercepts made by them on any straight line that cuts them are equal, then the corresponding intercepts on any other straight line that cuts them are also equal.

“Triangles and other Rectilinear Figures :—

“The sum of the angles of a triangle is equal to two right angles.

“If the sides of a convex polygon are produced in order, the sum of the angles so formed is equal to four right angles.

“If two triangles have two sides of the one equal to two sides of the other, each to each, and also the angles contained by those sides equal, the triangles are congruent.

“If two triangles have two angles of the one equal to two angles of the other, each to each, and also one side of the one equal to the corresponding side of the other, the triangles are congruent.

“If two sides of a triangle are equal, the angles opposite to these are equal ; and the converse.

“If two triangles have the three sides of the one equal to the three sides of the other, each to each, the triangles are congruent.

“If two sides of a triangle are unequal, the greater side has the greater angle opposite to it ; and the converse.

“Of all the straight lines that can be drawn to a given straight line from a given point outside it, the perpendicular is the shortest.

“The opposite angles of a parallelogram are equal ; and the converse.

“The opposite sides of a parallelogram are equal and each diagonal bisects the parallelogram ; and the converse of the first part.

“The diagonals of a parallelogram bisect one another ; and the converse.

“If a pair of opposite sides of a quadrilateral are equal and parallel, it is a parallelogram.

“The straight line drawn through the middle point of one side of a triangle parallel to another side bisects the third side.

“The straight line joining the middle points of two sides of a triangle is parallel to the third side and equal to one-half of it.

“Areas :—

“The area of a rectangle is measured by the product of the measures of its sides.

“The area of a parallelogram is equal to the area of a rectangle on the same base and between the same parallels, and is therefore measured by the product of the measures of its base and its altitude.

“Parallelograms on the same or equal bases and of the same altitude are equal in area.

“The area of a triangle is equal to one-half of the area of a rectangle on the same base and between the same parallels, and is therefore measured by one-half of the product of the measures of its base and its altitude.

“Triangles on the same or equal bases and of the same altitude are equal in area.

“Equal triangles on the same or equal bases are of the same altitude.

“The square of the hypotenuse of a right-angled triangle is equal to the sum of the squares on the other two sides ; and the converse.

“ Geometrical proofs of the following algebraic identities :—

$$k(a + b + c) = ka + kb + kc$$

$$(a + b)^2 = a^2 + 2ab + b^2$$

$$(a - b)^2 = a^2 - 2ab + b^2$$

$$a^2 - b^2 = (a + b)(a - b)$$

“ The square on a side of a triangle is greater than or less than the sum of the squares on the other two sides, according as the angle contained by those sides is obtuse or acute. The difference is twice the rectangle contained by one of the two sides and the projection on it of the other.

“ Loci :—

“ The locus of points equidistant from two fixed points is the perpendicular bisector of the line joining the two fixed points.

“ The locus of points equidistant from two intersecting straight lines consists of the pair of straight lines which bisect the angles between the two given lines.

“ The Circle :—

“ A straight line, drawn from the centre of the circle to bisect a chord which is not a diameter, is at right angles to the chord ; conversely, the perpendicular to a chord from the centre bisects the chord.

“ There is one circle, and one only, which passes through three given points not in a straight line.

“ In equal circles (or in the same circle), (i) if two arcs subtend equal angles at the centres, they are equal ; (ii) conversely, if two arcs are equal, they subtend equal angles at the centre.

“ In equal circles (or in the same circle), (i) if two chords are equal, they cut off equal arcs ; (ii) conversely, if two arcs are equal, the chords of the arcs are equal.

“ Equal chords of a circle are equidistant from the centre ; and the converse.

“ The tangent at any point of a circle and the radius through the point are perpendicular to one another.

“ If two circles touch, the point of contact lies on the straight line through the centres.

“ The angle which an arc of a circle subtends at the centre is double that which it subtends at any point on the remaining part of the circumference.

“ Angles in the same segment of a circle are equal ; and, if the line joining two points subtends equal angles at two other points on the same side of it, the four points lie on a circle.

“ The angle in a semicircle is a right angle ; the angle in a segment greater than a semicircle is less than a right angle ; and the angle in a segment less than a semicircle is greater than a right angle.

“ The opposite angles of any quadrilateral inscribed in a circle are supplementary ; and the converse.

“ If a straight line touch a circle, and from the point of contact a chord be drawn, the angles which this chord makes with the tangent are equal to the angles in the alternate segments.

“ If two chords of a circle intersect either inside or outside the circle, the rectangle contained by the parts of the one is equal to the rectangle contained by the parts of the other.

“ Any proof of a proposition will be accepted which appears to the examiners to form part of a systematic treatment of the subject : the order in which the theorems are stated is not imposed as the sequence of their treatment.

“ In the proof of theorems and deductions from them, the use of hypothetical constructions will be permitted. Proofs which are applicable only to commensurable magnitudes will be accepted.

13. By revoking clause 16 and substituting the following :—

“ 16. (1) Every student of Division A, C, or D (if the Minister so requires), and the parent, guardian, or some other person approved by the Minister, shall enter into a bond with His Majesty the King in the sum of £250 conditioned for the due completion by the student of his course of training, whether as a student or a probationary assistant, and also for the completion within the time prescribed of such service as a teacher as is prescribed in a public school, in a secondary or technical school,

(4) For the purposes of these regulations the arrest of any vessel shall be deemed to be complete so soon as any person authorized to execute the warrant of arrest has boarded the vessel and notified to the master or any other officer of the vessel that it is arrested, or so soon as any such person has been resisted or obstructed in his endeavour to board the vessel for that purpose.

5. EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE.

(1) A vessel shall be deemed for the purpose of these regulations to be engaged in whaling if it is during the whaling season then current substantially so engaged or used, and it shall not be necessary to prove that the pursuit or capture of whales or the conversion into commercial products of the carcass of a whale or any part thereof, as the case may be, was actually being undertaken at the time specified in the information.
