NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR OCTOBER, 1938.

General.—Though mild the weather in October until about the 20th was dry with a prevalence of westerly winds, which were often strong. Thereafter, it was more humid and good rains fell, especially in the South Island. At the end of the month, however, there was still a considerable shortage of moisture in most districts and the growth of pasture was distinctly backward. These conditions have favoured sheep, especially lambs, which have done very well. There has also been a good start of shearing in many districts. For cattle, although the animals are in good condition, the situation was less favourable and the milk yield is below average. Apart from pastures, vegetation has flourished and the spring, though late, has been a very active one.

Rainfall.—At North Island stations the rainfall was, with few exceptions, much below average. The same is true of Marlborough and much of Nelson and North Canterbury. On the west of the South Island and in the Southern Alps, though the totals were again below normal, the deficits were generally slight. On most of the Canterbury Plains and in Otago and Southland, owing mainly to one or two heavy falls, the average was exceeded. The rains in Canterbury came at an opportune time for the wheat crop, while those in Southern Otago and Southland were particularly valuable owing to the previous protracted shortage.

Temperatures.—The month, as has been said, was a mild one. Frosts were few in number and light. There were light falls of snow on the ranges in the first part of the month but none extended to very low levels or was very widespread. Mean temperatures were above normal except at a few places on the west coast. The departures were not large, averaging about one degree.

Sunshine.—The amount of bright sunshine was much above average at most places, but on parts of the west coast it was cloudy as well as cool and less than the normal sunshine was recorded. Napier had 266.9 hours, Gisborne 261.4, and Tauranga 250.9.

Pressure Systems.—During the first eight days high pressure prevailed in the north, and although several westerly depressions crossed the South Island, bringing strong winds from between north-west and south-west, there was little rain.

On the 9th a depression approached which had a better northward extension and the high pressure regime to the north was broken. On this day there were some severe northerly and north-westerly gales, particularly in Wellington and Canterbury. Heavy rain was recorded over much of the South Island. Cool southerly gales followed on the 11th, and snow fell on the Banks Peninsula hills. A somewhat similar depression passed during the 15th to 17th and brought valuable rains to North Auckland, but less elsewhere than its predecessor.

During the next three days anti-cyclonic conditions and fine weather again set in. From thence onward, however, the atmosphere was more humid and the weather became less settled. From the 21st to the 24th, which included the Labour Day week-end, a rather complex series of depressions traversed the Dominion. General rain fell, with many rather heavy falls, and thunder and hail in places.

After another spell of anti-cyclonic weather, conditions were disturbed once more from the 27th to the 30th. A depression crossed the central portion of the country, causing further widespread rain. On the night of the 29th there was a sharp southerly change, and thunder and hail storms occurred in many places.

The improvement after this depression was very brief and rain was again falling in western and central districts on the 31st.

Notice to Persons in whom is vested Ecclesiastical Authority over Religious Bodies.

Office of the Registrar-General,
Wellington, 22nd November, 1938.

THE attention of the persons or person within the Dominion of New Zealand in whom is vested ecclesiastical authority over any of the religious bodies enumerated in the Third Schedule annexed to an Act of the General Assembly of New Zealand intituled the Marriage Act, 1908, and of all other persons concerned, is directed to the 11th section of the above-mentioned Act, requiring the several ecclesiastical authorities as aforesaid to send in to the Registrar-General, in the month of December in every year, a correct list of their Officiating Ministers within the meaning of the Marriage Act, 1908, of each of the said religious bodies.

The following are the religious bodies above referred to:—
The Church of the Province of New Zealand, commonly called the Church of England.

The Presbyterian Church of New Zealand.

The Roman Catholic Church.

The Methodist Church of New Zealand.

All Congregational Independents.

Baptists.

The Lutheran Church.

All Hebrew Congregations.

The Society of Friends.

The Salvation Army.

In default of any person having ecclesiastical authority over any of the religious bodies named above, the name of the Officiating Minister of any congregation of such religious body may be certified to by two recognized office-bearers thereof.

A minister of religion not connected with any of the foregoing bodies must send to the Registrar-General in the month of December in each year a certificate signed—

- (a) By the recognized head in New Zealand of the religious body to which he belongs; or
- (b) By two duly recognized ministers of such religious body; or
- (c) By ten adult members thereof, who append to their signatures their description as being such members, declaring that such minister is their Officiating Minister, the said signatures and descriptions being attested by some person who shall verify the signatures to the certificate as the genuine signatures of the persons whose they purport to be, by a statutory declaration signed by such person and appended to the certificate.

In each case enumerated under paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) above, the Minister of Justice must be satisfied that the body of persons named in the certificate is a religious body, and that the applicant is a minister of religion and is a person of good character and otherwise qualified to act as an Officiating Minister. In the case of the religious body known as "Brethren" a special form of certificate will be supplied on application.

Neglect in sending the certificate will deprive the minister of his status as an Officiating Minister under the Marriage Act.

A woman shall not be disqualified by reason of her sex from being an Officiating Minister within the meaning of the Marriage Act, or from having her name entered upon the List of Officiating Ministers compiled for the purposes of that Act.

(N.B.—It is requested that the Christian names and the addresses of the several ministers may be specified in the lists sent in to the Registrar-General.)

In order to obviate the necessity for further inquiry, it is also requested that the reason for omitting the name of any minister be stated (such as on account of death, absence from New Zealand, or as the case may be).

G. G. HODGKINS, Deputy Registrar-General.
