Operational Awards approved by His Majesty the King

Office of the Minister of Defence,
Wellington, 9th October, 1944.

HIS Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve the following immediate awards, in recognition of gallantry and devotion to duty in air operations:—

Distinguished Flying Cross

Flight Lieutenant Ross Stuart McHardy (NZ 402882), Royal New Zealand Air Force, of Auckland.

With a keen wind whipping the sea into broken-topped swells too high to enable rescue launches to operate, this captain of a Catalina flying boat was responsible, on 30th June, 1944, for a masterly rescue of the crew of an Allied dive-bomber aircraft forced down at sea some twenty miles off Guadalcanal. The two survivors, an American pilot and his radio-man, had been located earlier, and an effort was made to rescue them, but the sea was too rough to enable the prospective rescuers to put their flying-boat down, and also prevented small surface craft from operating. Flight Lieutenant McHardy was then detailed to undertake the rescue, and by his skill and courage succeeded in what had seemed a hopeless enterprise. In spite of the real risk of damage to the aircraft, a landing was made along the top of the swell, and the aircraft was allowed to drift back upon the dinghy from which the two men were picked up. Their dinghy was also salvaged, and the Catalina, although damaged by the pounding it had received, was flown back to base after a skilful open-water take off. Flight Lieutenant McHardy's achievement was typical of the cool efficiency that has marked his operational flying, comprising over one hundred missions in Singapore, Sumatra, Ceylon, India, New Hebrides, Tonga, and the Solomons. In over one thousand operational flying hours he has shown exemplary skill and judgment and extreme devotion to duty.

18th October, 1944

Flying Officer Nisbet James Scott (NZ 415425), Royal New Zealand Air Force, of Central Otago.

This officer has shown the greatest enthusiasm and determination in the execution of a large number of air operations, including attacks on shipping, radar buildings, and railway systems. On one occasion he was wounded and his aircraft badly damaged, but he flew to base and made a successful landing.

His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve the following awards in recognition of gallantry and devotion to duty in air operations against the enemy:—

28th October, 1944

Distinguished Flying Cross

Flight Lieutenant James Roy Cullen (NZ 416462), Royal New Zealand Air Force, of Waihi.

Flight Lieutenant Allan Henderson Smith (NZ 411947), Royal New Zealand Air Force, of Auckland.

Flying Officer Douglas Nevill Robinson (NZ 413481), Royal New Zealand Air Force, of Gisborne.

F. JONES, Minister of Defence.

Bar to the Distinguished Flying Cross

Flight Lieutenant Peter Francis Locker Hall, D.F.C. (NZ 413841), Royal New Zealand Air Force, of Gisborne.

This pilot and his observer continue to display the highest standard of skill and gallantry. Recently, within a short period, they destroyed four enemy aircraft to bring their victories to eight.

The Servicemen's Settlement and Land Sales Act, 1943.—Notice declaring Land taken for the Settlement of a Discharged Serviceman

WHEREAS an application has been made for the consent of the Land Sales Court to a transaction which relates to the land described in the Schedule hereto and to which Part III of the Servicemen's Settlement and Land Sales Act, 1943, applies:

And whereas the Land Sales Committee to which the application has been referred is of opinion that the land to which the application relates is farm land suitable for the settlement of a discharged serviceman:

And whereas an appeal from the said order was made within the time prescribed by the said Act:

And whereas the said appeal was subsequently dismissed:

And whereas the said land is not the land of any serviceman who is for the time being serving outside New Zealand in any of His Majesty's Forces or in any British ship:

Now, therefore, the Minister of Lands, acting in pursuance of section 51 of the said Act, doth hereby declare that the said land is taken for the settlement of a discharged serviceman, and hereby specifies the 18th day of December, 1944, as the date on which the said land shall be deemed to be vested in His Majesty the King.

NOTE.—At stations where departures from normal are in parentheses the record has been maintained for less than ten years in the case of temperatures and for less than twenty years in the case of rainfall and the normals are partly interpolated.

NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR OCTOBER, 1944

General.—October was a cool and windy month with very changeable weather conditions. There were no really settled spells, although conditions were fairly pleasant in some of the eastern districts sheltered from the prevailing north-westerly winds. In the main northern dairying districts pastures are showing good growth, but in the South Island growth generally is later than usual and cultivation is rather backward.

Rainfall.—The variations of the month's rainfall totals from normal were complex. The drier part of the North Island extended from the Wairarapa northward, including most of the central high country to Opotiki and beyond Gisborne. Several places near the east coast received less than half the usual October fall. The remainder of the island was wetter than usual, very noticeably so over most of Auckland, Taranaki, and near Wellington City. Near Opunake totals were well over double the average. Nelson and most of Marlborough Provinces, as well as the far south-west corner of the South Island, had excess rain. Other parts of the South Island were drier than usual, the percentage deficiencies being greatest near Timaru and Owaka.

Temperature.—Mean temperatures were slightly above normal between Ashburton and Christchurch, and rather more so in the more northern and eastern portions of the North Island, the departure being about 2° F. near Hastings. Elsewhere, it was cooler than usual, there being departures of over 2° F. in Nelson, Dunedin, and Central Otago.

A good deal of snow fell in the southern ranges, hail showers were not infrequent, and most districts had several frosts. Central Otago orchards suffered frost damage on the 14th.

Sunshine.—Sunshine was exceptionally good at Timaru. Most places lying well to the east of the Alps, as well as in Wairarapa and Gisborne and North Auckland, received slight excesses. Elsewhere there were some poor totals. Amongst those receiving less than the equivalent of an hour a day below the average were New Plymouth, Wellington, Nelson, Hokitika, and Lake Tekapo.

Weather Sequence.—On the 2nd an anticyclone moved eastward off New Zealand and a tropical depression approached Auckland, passing it early on the 3rd and Chatham Islands twenty-four hours later. In northern districts north-easterlies became strong, then backed westerly and decreased. Heavy rain occurred in North Auckland, but to the south amounts became lighter and more scattered. Another depression west of Auckland on the 4th remained in the area, filling up on the 7th, while a weak anticyclone was situated east of the South Island. It was mostly fair in Westland and Southland; but occasional rain occurred elsewhere, being heaviest near Auckland but slowly decreasing.

On the 8th a cold front moved north-eastward over New Zealand. Westland and Southland experienced a short period of moderate rain, but showers elsewhere were mainly light, and conditions improved temporarily as a high-pressure ridge passed.

Westerly depressions soon set in, one associated cold front passed over the South Island during the 9th and 10th, north-westerlies being strong or gale force at times in central and southern districts, with rain in Westland. Another cold front crossed the South Island on the 11th, with some further north-west gales ahead of it. A depression developed on this front and crossed south-eastward across the middle of the South Island on the 12th. Rain occurred in many western districts and was heavy in the ranges. Finally, the cold south-westerly change brought showers up the east coast and snow to the ranges. With an anticyclone advancing on to northern New Zealand on the 13th winds moderated in the evening, causing very sharp frosts overnight in Central Otago.

A very marked pressure trough passed from the west on the 15th accompanied by some heavy showers, north-westerlies being strong at times in many places. A high-pressure wedge following gave a brief improvement on the 16th.

A depression from the Central Tasman Sea deepened on the 18th in the Southland region and then moved rapidly away to the south-east. There were north-westerly gales from Taranaki southward, with rather heavy rain in the southern high country. Another depression from near Lord Howe Island was west of the North Island on the 19th, remaining there until it filled up on the 23rd. Its associated cold front was almost stationary over the centre of the country on the 19th, giving heavy rain, and heavy falls also occurred further to the north where strong north-easterlies prevailed. Apart from some thunderstorms on the 22nd conditions were finally improving in the north on the 22nd and 23rd. On the latter date a cold front began to cross New Zealand, bringing fresh south-westerlies and some showers to most districts, while scattered thunderstorms occurred in the ranges. An anticyclone following intensified over the Dominion, so that settled weather prevailed by the 25th.

By the 27th there was much drizzle and fog in the west, especially between Nelson and the Waikato. Ahead of a cold front associated with a deep depression passing far to the south on the 28th, north-westerlies increased, and overnight there were widespread gales, these being unusually strong in Marlborough, where hundreds of trees were uprooted. The rainfall, except in the more exposed localities, was only light or moderate. During the 29th the weather cleared considerably, winds moderating sufficiently to give moderate frosts in several districts that night. On the 30th an anticyclone was approaching, giving fair weather except for a slight deterioration about Southland on the 31st as westerly depressions passed far to the south.
