Bar to the Distinguished Flying Cross

Squadron Leader David Walter Sealy Clark, D.F.C. (NZ 2314), Royal New Zealand Air Force, of Auckland.

20th January, 1945

His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve the following immediate award, in recognition of gallantry and devotion to duty in air operations against the enemy:—

Distinguished Flying Cross

Partly overcome by fumes when petrol flooded the fuselage of his aircraft during an operational patrol in the Bismarck area on 28th October, 1944, this pilot gave a sterling demonstration of devotion to duty by remaining at the controls and making a safe landing in the most difficult circumstances. A breakdown in the fuel jettison system resulted in fumes filling the aircraft, and stupefying the crew and causing partial asphyxiation. One member was fatally poisoned, and the others suffered in varying degrees, but the pilot, by his tenacity, determination, and outstanding devotion to duty, remained at the controls and landed his aircraft without damage before collapsing temporarily. In two tours of operations in the Pacific, Warrant Officer Porter has completed ninety sorties, involving 442 hours' operational flying, and has made eight strikes against enemy positions in the Bougainville, New Britain, and New Ireland areas, mostly in the face of heavy defensive fire. He has at all times displayed courage above the ordinary, and set a fine example to all ranks.
