Regulating Vehicular Traffic on Railway Approach Roads

IN pursuance and exercise of the powers conferred upon me by the Government Railways Act, 1926, and its amendments, and of every other power and authority enabling me in this behalf, I, Robert Semple, Minister of Railways, do hereby make the following by-law, and I do hereby declare that such by-law shall come into force on the 22nd day of December, 1947.

BY-LAW No. 102

1. THIS by-law may be cited as Railway By-law No. 102.
2. For the purpose of regulating vehicular traffic on the approach roads to the Stratford, Wellington, Picton, and Timaru Railway-stations and to the Picton Wharf the following provisions shall apply.
 3. For the purposes of this by-law the words "railway approach road" mean any road, street, or way, and any portion of a road, street, or way constructed on railway land and providing access (a) to the railway-stations at Stratford, Picton, and Timaru, (b) to the easternmost platform of the railway-station at Wellington, and (c) to the Picton Wharf; and the words "authorized officer" mean any railway employee, any Police Officer, and any Traffic Inspector; and the word "Manager" means the District Traffic Officer in charge of any traffic district on the railway.
 4. Every person operating or about to operate any vehicle in or upon any railway approach road shall at all times obey the orders of any authorized officer, and every such person shall immediately remove any such vehicle to such part of the railway as he may be directed, and shall, if so directed, remove any such vehicle altogether from the railway.
 5. Unless otherwise directed by an authorized officer, every person driving or about to operate any vehicle in or upon any railway approach road shall comply with all notices, traffic signs, or markings or signs, maintained or exhibited on or about such approach road for the control or guidance of vehicular traffic, and in particular shall—
 - (a) Where an entrance to any railway approach road is indicated by any such notice, traffic sign, marking or sign, enter upon such railway approach road only by that entrance; and
 - (b) Where an exit from any railway approach road is indicated by any such notice, traffic sign, marking or sign, depart from such railway approach road only by that exit; and
 - (c) Stop, stand, or park such vehicle only upon a stand set apart for the particular class of vehicle, as indicated by any such notice, traffic sign, marking or sign.
 6. Any railway approach road may be closed to vehicular traffic during such period or periods or for such time as may from time to time be determined by the Manager, and no person shall operate any vehicle upon any such approach road during such periods. The fact that notices indicating the periods during which the railway approach road will be closed to vehicular traffic are exhibited at or near the entrance to the railway approach road, or that any authorized officer shall direct the operator of any vehicle not to enter on the railway approach road, shall be sufficient evidence that the railway approach road has been closed to vehicular traffic pursuant to this by-law. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to require the exhibition of any such notice as is mentioned in this paragraph; nor shall the fact that any notice is exhibited be a bar to the closing of the railway approach road during any longer period than is shown on such notice or during any other period or periods.

7. No driver or other person shall importune any person to hire any vehicle to the annoyance of the last-mentioned person, and no driver or other person shall, for the purpose of securing the hiring of any vehicle, endeavour to attract notice by whistling, shouting, or calling, or by means of any horn, syren, bell, or other sound-producing device whatsoever.

8. In any case where more than one vehicle is waiting for hire upon any appointed stand on any railway approach road the first vehicle on such stand shall have the right to the hiring unless the person hailing shall select a particular vehicle.

9. Any person who shall commit a breach of this by-law, or shall fail to do any act in this by-law directed to be done by him, or shall do any act which by this by-law is directed not to be done by him, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds (£10) for each such breach or the failure to do or the doing of each such act as aforesaid respectively.

LATE RETURNS

LATE RETURNS table listing data for stations like Appleby, Nelson, Oct., 1947, Molesworth, Oct., 1947, Akaroa, Oct., 1947, Fairlie, Oct., 1947, Earnsclough, Oct., 1947, including temperature and rainfall details.

NOTE.—All stations where departures from normal are in parentheses the record has been maintained for less than ten years in the case of temperatures and for less than twenty years in the case of rainfall and the normals are partly interpolated.

WEATHER SUMMARY FOR THE MONTH OF NOVEMBER, 1947

General.—For the greater part of New Zealand November was notable for an abundance of sunshine and lack of rainfall. Shearing and haymaking are well advanced, while stock is reported to be in excellent condition.

Rainfall.—The rainfall for the country as a whole was much below average. Highest deficiencies occurred over the southern half of the North Island, where many places, including Dannevirke and Taihape, experienced their driest November for over fifty years.

In the Whangarei District, however, totals were over twice the average, while slight surpluses were recorded about the Bay of Plenty and in the extreme south-west.

Thunderstorms were fairly widespread in Westland, Otago, and Southland on the 7th, and in Canterbury on the 11th.

Temperatures.—Mean temperatures differed little from the average over the Auckland, Marlborough, and Nelson Provinces. Over the remainder of the South Island conditions were appreciably warmer than usual, especially east of the main ranges.

Sunshine.—The duration of bright sunshine was, in general, far in excess of the normal. In New Plymouth and Palmerston North the surplus amounted to the equivalent of three hours a day, while new November records were established in a number of other places.

Weather Sequence.—During the opening days of the month pressures remained relatively high over the North Island, while the centre of an intense anticyclone progressed slowly eastwards from Canterbury.

In the far south-west conditions deteriorated some days before the arrival of an active depression, whose centre crossed Southland on the morning of the 7th. In its passage across the country during the same day the associated cold front was accompanied by a belt of rain which, although very heavy in many places, was of short duration.

Settled weather again became general as an anticyclone moved in from the Tasman Sea, the centre crossing Auckland on the 9th. Light or moderate westerly winds predominated.

During the 10th winds over the South Island freshened from the north-east ahead of a depression which passed rapidly south-eastward across Otago during the night. Temperatures dropped sharply, but the weather rapidly cleared again over most of the country.

With the formation of a new depression near North Cape on the 11th south-easterly winds became temporarily strong, and rain developed in eastern parts of the Auckland Province. Although the depression soon moved away to the east, unsettled easterly weather persisted in this region until the 17th.

On the 17th a deep depression passed far to the south of Stewart Island. Its cold front swept north-eastwards over the country followed by cold south-westerlies. A further drop in temperatures followed the passage of a secondary cold front during the 19th.

An anticyclone which enveloped the Dominion from the 20th to the 23rd gave fine warm weather and light winds.

Although the centre of the anticyclone moved off to the east, a ridge of high pressure persisted over the North Island. Northerlies prevailed, and from Canterbury and Nelson northwards fine weather continued until the 27th. Meanwhile the southern portion of the country had come under the influence of an active frontal system, in which a series of wave depressions developed.

A large but complex disturbance then formed west of Auckland, and rain developed in western and northern districts, becoming heavy over the Auckland Peninsula on the 28th. An eastward-moving anticyclone which was then passing south of the Dominion had appreciably lowered temperatures over the southern half of the South Island.
