Appointing a Commission to Inquire Into Certain Matters Affecting the Future Development of Edgecumbe Township

FREYBERG, Governor-General

To all unto whom these presents shall come and to:

ERNEST LESLIE WALTON, of Gisborne, Stipendiary Magistrate;
OWEN NEIL CAMPBELL, of Wellington, retired Land Drainage Engineer; FREDERICK SELWYN DYSON, A.M.I.C.E., of Auckland, Civil Engineer;

GREETING:

WHEREAS it appears necessary to make provision for the extension of the Township of Edgecumbe (hereinafter called the township) which is now situated within the flood plain of the Rangitaiki River (hereinafter called the river):

And whereas doubts exist as to the safety of persons and property in the township from flooding of the river:

And whereas because of the relative levels of the river and the township the drainage system and sewage-disposal from the township may not be satisfactory:

And whereas certain aspects of this matter have previously been investigated by a Committee of Public Servants which recommended—

- (1) That an area of approximately 30 acres (known as Reynolds Block) be acquired for the future residential development of Edgecumbe;
- (2) That this area be stopbanked and, if found necessary, a pump installed to keep the area de-watered during the wet season;
- (3) That all the future residential, commercial, and industrial development of Edgecumbe be confined to the protected area;
- (4) That in consequence of these recommendations the local authority be requested to refuse to issue any further building permits for purely residential purposes outside the protected area:

And whereas the recommendations of this Committee have been partially given effect by the temporary prohibition of subdivision of land adjoining the river, and by the acquisition and subdivision of Reynolds Block for extension of the township:

And whereas the Whakatane County Council and other interested organizations have requested relief from the restrictions on subdivision of land:

And whereas it is desirable that the future welfare of the township be considered in relation to river-control problems:

Now, therefore, in pursuance and exercise of the powers and authorities vested in me by the Commissions of Inquiry Act 1908, and of all other powers and authorities enabling me in this behalf, and acting by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council, and for the purposes herein set forth, I, Bernard Cyril, Baron Freyberg, the Governor-General of New Zealand, hereby appoint you, the said Ernest Leslie Walton, Owen Neil Campbell, and Frederick Selwyn Dyson, to be a Commission to inquire into and report on the following matters:—

- (1) Is it necessary for the effective control of flooding from the river to construct an extensive stop-bank system at Edgecumbe and elsewhere along the river?
- (2) If the answer to the first question is in the affirmative, what minimum width on each bank of the river where it might affect the township should be kept free of buildings or obstructions to facilitate the construction of stop banks and a flood channel, or in the interests of the occupiers of the lands?
- (3) (a) Should further subdivision or building in the present township or its vicinity be permitted—
  - (i) Without the stop-banking of the river, or
  - (ii) Even if stop-banking is completed, or
- (b) Should future residential and commercial development be confined to the Reynolds Block now being developed by the Lands and Survey Department?
- (4) Will stop-banking be required around the Reynolds Block pending the completion of major protective works on the river?
- (5) And generally on such other matters arising thereout as may come to your notice in the course of your inquiries and which you consider should be investigated in connection therewith and upon any matters arising in the course of your investigations which you consider should be brought to the attention of the Government.

And with the like advice and consent I further appoint you the said Ernest Leslie Walton, to be Chairman of the said Commission:

And for the better enabling you to carry these presents into effect you are hereby authorized and empowered to make and conduct any inquiry under these presents at such time and place as you deem expedient, with power to adjourn from time to time and place to place as you think fit, and so that these presents shall continue in force, and the inquiry may at any time and place be resumed although not regularly adjourned from time to time or from place to place:

And you are hereby strictly charged and directed that you shall not at any time publish or otherwise disclose, save to me in pursuance of these presents or by my direction, the contents of any report so made or to be made by you or any evidence or information obtained by you in the exercise of the powers hereby conferred upon you except such evidence or information as is received in the course of a sitting open to the public.

And it is hereby declared that the powers hereby conferred shall be exercisable notwithstanding the absence at any time of any one of the members hereby appointed:

And I further ordain that you have liberty to report your proceedings and findings under this Commission from time to time if you shall judge it expedient so to do:

And, using all due diligence, you are required to report to me in writing under your hands and seals not later than the 30th day of June 1952, your findings and opinions on the matters aforesaid, together with such recommendations as you think fit to make in respect thereof:

And lastly, it is hereby declared that these presents are issued under the authority of and subject to the provisions of the Commissions of Inquiry Act 1908, and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council.

Given under the hand of His Excellency the Governor-General, and issued under the Seal of New Zealand, this 24th day of March 1952.

W. S. GOOSMAN, Minister of Works.

Approved in Council—

T. J. SHERRARD,
Clerk of the Executive Council.

NOTE.—At stations where departures from normal are in parentheses, the temperature record has been maintained for less than ten years, the rainfall record for less than twenty years. Rainfall normals have been revised and now refer to the standard period 1921-1950. Where observations are not available for the whole period, or where the site of the rain gauge has been changed, the normals are partly interpolated.

NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR FEBRUARY 1952

General.—After the long spell of cool westerly weather which persisted throughout the early summer, February's weather, by contrast, was warm though rather dull. Rainfall varied greatly, ranging from record monthly totals in central Northland to almost negligible amounts in North Canterbury. However, conditions on the whole were favourable.

In spite of flood damage to pastures in Northland, the Dominion butterfat production remained very high. Low rainfall in cropping areas provided good harvesting conditions. Though feed was plentiful and stock generally in good condition, sheep in the North Island would have benefited from more sunshine. Lack of sunshine also delayed the tomato crop considerably.

Rainfall.—Rainfall was very unevenly distributed. Whereas North Canterbury had only about a quarter of the normal rainfall, in parts of Northland it was the wettest month for over forty years. Generally, rainfall was appreciably above normal in the Auckland Province, in Hawke's Bay (except near Napier), North Taranaki, Nelson, Westland, and Western Otago. Eastern districts of the South Island and the Wairarapa had only about half the normal rainfall.

For the twenty-four hours up to 9 a.m. on the 16th rainfalls exceeding 6 in. were recorded over a wide area in central Northland—a few falls were as high as 10 in. Serious flooding occurred as a result, and this was further aggravated when thunderstorms produced further falls, of the order of 3 in., early on the 19th. Exceptionally severe thunderstorms were also reported from Fiordland and the Lakes District on the 1st, a fall of 7.74 in. being recorded in eight hours at the Homer Tunnel.

Temperatures.—Temperatures were above normal—by only a fraction of a degree Fahrenheit in the south but by more than 3 degrees in the interior of the North Island. Generally the temperature anomaly increased from south to north and from the coast inland.

Sunshine.—Apart from a slight excess in the south, sunshine totals were well below normal. In few places was the deficiency less than the equivalent of an hour a day; in Northland it exceeded two hours a day.

Weather Sequence.—At the beginning of the month a very deep depression was passing in the far south. The associated cold front moved slowly eastwards across the Dominion accompanied by a broad band of heavy rain and scattered thunderstorms. By the time the front reached East Cape on the morning of the 4th, the weather had cleared over the South Island with the arrival of a ridge of high pressure. Skies cleared later the same day as far northwards as Taranaki and Hawke's Bay. In the north, however, unsettled weather continued due to the influence of a complex low-pressure system which was to remain near Northland for a fortnight. The passage of a weak disturbance caused some brief rain in the south on the night of the 6th.

With the approach of the northern depression and the advance of a cold front from the south, conditions deteriorated over the North Island during the 8th and some substantial rainfalls were subsequently recorded over the Auckland Province.

An anticyclone crossed the South Island during the 9th and 10th. It was followed by a slow-moving trough which for the next few days produced intermittent rain in Westland and a few scattered showers in other South Island districts. Advancing north-eastwards over the North Island, the trough appeared to weaken, but, with the influx of cool air ahead of an intense anticyclone approaching the South Island, a very active disturbance developed on the 15th over Northland where intense rainfall resulted in widespread flooding by the following day.

North-easterlies and warm, rather humid, conditions prevailed after the passage of the anticyclone across the South Island on the 16th. Rain continued intermittently over the Auckland Province and extended to Taranaki, Nelson, and Westland, and briefly to Wellington (on the 17th). The centre of the northern depression had meanwhile travelled westwards into the North Tasman Sea where it slowly dissipated.

By the 19th the centre of the anticyclone had moved away beyond the Chatham Islands. A shallow trough crossing the South Island from the west caused a brief change to cool southerlies on the 20th. On the same day conditions improved over the Auckland Province and, apart from isolated showers, fair warm weather predominated over most of the country until the 24th. An active cold front which advanced slowly north-eastwards over the South Island on the 25th was followed by a temporary change to fresh southerlies. Slowly weakening, the front advanced only as far as Hawke's Bay.

With the approach of a vigorous depression, rain developed over the South Island on the 27th. Next morning the centre travelled rapidly across Nelson and Marlborough, while the associated cold front moved eastwards across the North Island. Moderate easterlies and fair weather prevailed on the 29th except for a few passing showers in the south.
