NOTE.—At stations where departures from normal are in parentheses, the temperature record has been maintained for less than ten years, the rainfall record for less than twenty years. Rainfall normals have been revised and now refer to the standard period 1921-50. Where observations are not available for the whole period, or where the site of the rain gauge has been changed, the normals are partly interpolated.

NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR MARCH 1953

General.—In most districts the weather during March was somewhat more settled than in February. In eastern districts of the North Island sunny conditions with low rainfall allowed considerable drying of the ground, which had been soaked in the wet dull weather of the previous four months.

In most districts growth was good and stock were reported to be doing well. In eastern Northland, however, lack of rain was proving detrimental to growth; in this district and in parts of the Waikato, dairying production was falling off. The excessive rainfall in Canterbury was having an adverse effect on wheat crops.

A whirlwind near Waitara in North Taranaki, on the 28th caused some local damage.

Rainfall.—Rainfalls were above average in all districts of the South Island except Westland. The greatest excess was recorded in Canterbury and North Otago. Over the greater part of these districts more than double the average rainfall was recorded; about three-quarters of the total rainfall fell from the 26th to the 29th.

In the North Island small surpluses were recorded in North Taranaki, and in the Wellington and Lower Wairarapa districts.

The greatest deficiency of rainfall was in the Gisborne-Hawke's Bay area, where less than one-quarter of the average value was recorded. In the Bay of Plenty and eastern Northland rainfalls were between one-quarter and one-half of the average value.

Thunderstorm activity was restricted to the North Island, and was not great. It was most marked on the 28th, when thunderstorms were reported in the Waikato and Bay of Plenty districts.

Temperature.—Temperatures were close to average over the whole country. Positive departures of 1°-2°F. were recorded about Auckland City and about Nelson City. Over Central Otago the temperature was 1°-2°F. below normal.

Sunshine.—The pattern of the previous four months was almost completely reversed. Greatest surpluses were recorded in the Gisborne-Hawke's Bay area; Gisborne itself recorded more than an hour a day sunshine above average. Westland was less sunny than usual, but the greatest deficits were recorded in Taranaki and in Otago; in both provinces many stations received more than an hour per day less sunshine than usual.

Weather Sequence.—At the beginning of the month an anticyclone extended over the country from the east and south. From the 2nd to the 4th several depressions passed far to the south of the country, causing scattered rain, mainly in western districts, with some moderate falls in Westland and Fiordland. An anticyclone moved on to the country on the 5th near Cook Strait and brought three days of settled weather in most districts; some scattered rain occurred, however, in Northland, the Gisborne district, and along the Southland coast.

On the 8th, 9th, and 10th shallow depressions passed to the south of the country, and moderate rain resulted in Fiordland and South Westland, with isolated falls in other western districts. A deeper depression passed far to the south late on the 10th, and the associated cold front moved over the country on the 11th and 12th, bringing a period of rain in all districts; there were some considerable falls in the western and southern districts of the South Island and about Cook Strait. In parts of Otago the rain broke a prolonged dry spell.

South-westerly conditions prevailed on the 13th, and gales were reported on the coasts of Otago and Southland. Rain or showers persisted in most districts, but a clearance occurred in Central Otago and in the Nelson Province. For the next four days south-westerly conditions persisted; there was scattered rain still in western and southern districts of the South Island and in Northland, but elsewhere the weather was mainly fair or fine.

A trough of low pressure which moved on to the South Island from the west on the 19th became stationary over the North Island on the 20th. The passage of the trough caused rain in Otago and Southland, and in western districts as far north as Auckland Province. An anticyclone brought settled weather to most districts on the 21st, but a moist north-easterly current caused showery conditions near Auckland City. Extensive sea fog was reported on the 21st over the west coast of the North Island, in Cook Strait, and on the east coast of the South Island.

Westerly conditions developed again over the South Island on the 22nd, and moderate falls resulted in Fiordland, with some rain also in Westland and in coastal districts of Otago and Southland. An anticyclone over the eastern Tasman Sea brought fair weather to all districts on the 23rd, but a cold front commenced moving slowly eastward from Tasmania on the 24th, and a series of depressions formed on it. In the strong north-westerly current there was general rain on the west coast of the South Island on the 25th, with some particularly heavy falls in Fiordland. As the front moved slowly over New Zealand shallow depressions continued to form on it, and on the 28th two of the depressions deepened near Cook Strait. The rain area spread slowly northward and eastward, and from the 26th to the 29th all districts received some rain. There was some flooding in Southland, South Westland, Canterbury, and Marlborough.

The depressions moved away to the south-east rather slowly, and on the 30th and 31st there was still scattered rain in eastern districts of the South Island and in western districts of the North Island.

1. This Order may be cited as Price Order No. 1462, and shall come into force on the 24th day of April 1953.
2. The Board of Trade (Raw Tobacco Price) Regulations 1943/59* are thereby revoked.
3. In this Order—

APPLICATION OF THIS ORDER

4. This Order applies with respect to all raw-leaf tobacco grown in New Zealand during the 1952-53 season: Provided that the Tribunal may, in any case where it considers it proper to do so and subject to such conditions (if any) as it thinks fit, exempt any such tobacco from the operation of this Order.

FIXING AVERAGE PRICES OF RAW-LEAF TOBACCO TO WHICH THIS ORDER APPLIES

6. No raw tobacco shall be sold by the grower thereof or purchased from him at less than 1s. 6d. per pound free on board ship Motueka or Nelson in the case of tobacco grown in the Nelson Provincial District, and in the case of tobacco grown in any other district at less than 1s. 6d. per pound free on board ship or free on rail at the port or railway-station which is nearest to the place at which such tobacco is grown.

8. Notwithstanding anything in the provisions of clauses 6 and 7 hereof, the Tribunal may, in any case where it considers it proper so to do, authorize the sale and purchase of tobacco at a price less than the price fixed by either of those clauses.
