*Co-ordination Scheme for Reinforcement Between Fire Brigades and for Rural Fire Protection Established by the Fire Service Council
Pursuant to Section 9 of the Fire Services Act 1949*

FOREWORD

The Fire Services Act requires that the services of brigades shall not be confined to the districts of the Urban Fire Authorities, but shall be made available to provide fire protection in adjacent rural areas and for assistance of other brigades for serious fires, war, or other emergency. The Council has, therefore, pursuant to section 9 of the Act, established the following scheme for operation by all Urban Fire Authorities in terms of section 32 (3) of the Act.

PART I—RURAL FIRE PROTECTION

1. Every Urban Fire Authority shall, subject to the limitations of men, plant, and equipment available, afford fire protection to all property within the limits of category E fire risk classification as defined in the Council's Code of Practices, Part I. This area, which will be within a radius of approximately 5 road miles of a fire station, will be known as the protected area. In certain cases where it is justified by the property at risk and the brigade can be expected to give effective service, the area to be protected may, by agreement between the Urban Fire Authority and the authority controlling the rural area, be extended to the limits of category F fire risk classification so as to provide cover to a distance of approximately 10 road miles from a fire station, in which case the extended area shall be the protected area.

2. Except as provided in clause 3 hereof, the Council approves and recommends under the scheme that fire protection of property in the protected area be carried out pursuant to an agreement in terms of section 44 (1) of the Fire Services Act between the Urban Fire Authority and the territorial local authority controlling the protected area.

3. Where a measure of protection of property is desired in excess of that provided for under the scheme or where protection is desired of property not coming within the protected area, the cost of the protection will be the subject of individual agreements between property owners and the Urban Fire Authority in terms of section 44 (2) of the Fire Services Act. The Council has recommended that, where such agreements are not made, the registration provisions of sections 9 and 84 of the Act shall apply with respect to industrial or commercial property within the protected area and invites Urban Fire Authorities to make appropriate recommendations to the Council in respect of such properties.

4. The service to be afforded by brigades under the scheme shall normally be limited to inspection and advice with respect to protection of rural property and the attendance at fires of one pumping appliance and crew. It will not relieve the Crown or Rural Fire Authorities of their responsibilities with respect to forest and herbage fires under the Forests Act 1949 or the Forest and Rural Fires Act 1947.

5. Where property in rural areas comes within the protected area with respect to two or more districts, the relevant agreements should be made with the concurrence of all Urban Fire Authorities concerned or, in default of agreement, by direction of the Council. See section 9 (2) (e) of the Act.

6. If Urban Fire Authorities find it impossible to make satisfactory agreements covering fire protection of properties within the protected area the brigade shall attend fires in or threatening such property at call without delay, and payment for service will, in that case, be made by the rural local authority as provided in the Fire Services Regulations 1954.

PART II—REINFORCEMENT AT SERIOUS FIRES

7. It is in almost all cases uneconomic and unnecessary for provision to be made for the maintenance within the district of sufficient men and appliances for dealing with the most severe outbreak of fire which might occur. The Council therefore directs that each Urban Fire Authority, if it is itself unable to provide all the necessary appliances, shall, where practicable, make agreements with the Urban Fire Authorities of adjacent districts for the reinforcement of and by the respective brigades at serious fires so that sufficient supporting appliances may be available to comply with the basis suggested under clause 5 of the Council's Code of Practices.

8. The Council recommends that, since this service is likely to be reciprocal and required only infrequently, no charge should be made between Authorities for mutual assistance services. Exceptions to this practice will be necessary:

- (i) Where assistance for a particular fire is required in excess of that laid down in the Code of Practices.
- (ii) Where it is necessary to seek the assistance of more distant brigades to meet the requirements of the Code of Practices, or of a particular fire.
- (iii) Where mutual agreements are not practicable because of the isolation of a particular district.

In these cases the Council recommends the payment of appropriate attendance charges as prescribed by the Fire Services Regulations 1954.

PART III—OPERATIONS AT EMERGENCY FIRES

9. A carefully planned organization is essential for successful operation in emergency and the actual planning and operation of this part of the scheme will require constant review. It is intended, therefore, to advise Urban Fire Authorities individually of the response expected from their brigades on emergency fire call after consultation with local brigade officers. The necessary instructions will be issued by the Chief Fire Service Officer under section 16 (2) of the Act, and the Authority may refer to the Council any objections taken to the operation of this part of the scheme as affecting its district. Subject to this right of appeal the Council directs that Urban Fire Authorities shall make available, upon request by a mobilizing officer, plant, equipment, and manpower up to the limit accepted by the Urban Fire Authorities. The standard manning of each appliance responding to an emergency call will be an officer or sub-officer and five men. The officer-in-charge of any brigade called on for assistance will immediately notify the mobilizing officer if it is unable to supply its allotted quota of men, appliances, and equipment, so that alternative provision may be made if standby duty is required. No volunteer brigade will, except in time of war, be called on for continuous service exceeding twenty-four hours, save at the brigade's option. Charges that may be made for attendance at emergency fires will be those prescribed by the Fire Service Regulations 1954.

10. The emergency contemplated by the Act is the existence or threat of one or more fires arising from enemy action, earthquake, major explosion, or forest fire which cannot be controlled by the local service even when reinforced under the supporting arrangements required under Part II above. Long continued operation or standby duty in a threatened area may be necessary. The officers responsible for the control of operations at the scene may be so heavily engaged that the assembly of further reinforcements may be impracticable from within the emergency area, particularly as the normal system of communications may break down in an emergency or become overloaded. The Chief Fire Officers in the following towns are hereby appointed Regional Officers for the purposes of this part of the scheme:

Whangarei.	Palmerston North.	Greymouth.
Auckland.	Napier.	Christchurch.
Hamilton.	Wellington.	Timaru.
Rotorua.	Masterton.	Dunedin.
Gisborne.	Nelson.	Invercargill.
New Plymouth.

In the event of an emergency arising the brigade officer in charge in the emergency area will immediately notify the nearest mobilization centre with which communication can be established of the nature of the emergency, the number of appliances and any special equipment or personnel required, and the place at which reinforcements are to report. It will be the responsibility of the officer in charge at the mobilization centre to arrange with the brigades conveniently located to send forward the plant, equipment, and men required at the scene of emergency and to replace appliances in towns denuded. He will detail a suitable officer to proceed with all despatch to the reporting point in an emergency area and to act for liaison purposes between the local controlling officer and the reinforcements. He will, at the same time, report the existence of the emergency to the Chief Fire Service Officer who will either himself proceed to the emergency and take control of the reinforcement units, or appoint a senior officer to do so. In the event of the Chief Fire Service Officer (or his deputy) not being available the report should be made to the Chief Fire Officer at Auckland, Wellington, Christchurch, or Dunedin, whichever is appropriate, who will act in his stead. Except in case of war, when the Chief Fire Service Officer or his appointee will control, the local Chief Fire Officer will be in charge of the operations unless he decides to delegate his responsibilities for the time being to a more experienced fire officer.

PART IV—CO-ORDINATION WITH INDUSTRIAL FIRE BRIGADES AND WITH RURAL FIRE SERVICES ESTABLISHED UNDER THE FOREST AND RURAL FIRES ACT 1947

11. The Council will, on the application of or by agreement with the employer of any industrial brigade whose organization and equipment it deems satisfactory for that purpose, authorize the inclusion of the brigade under and for all or any of the purposes of the scheme as set out, and in such case the employer will function as if he were an Urban Fire Authority and the brigade as if it were a volunteer brigade operating pursuant to an agreement with an Urban Fire Authority under sections 42 and 43 of the Act. The financial conditions under which such service is to be given will be determined by the agreement between the employer and either the Council or the rural local authority or rural Fire Authority (under the Forest and Rural Fires Act 1947) in whose district the service is to be given.

12. The Chief Fire Service Officer or an officer authorized by him will discuss with every Chief Fire Officer or the officer in charge of every registered industrial brigade whose fire station is located within ten miles from a State forest or a rural fire district the probable requirements of such district in the event of the occurrence of an emergency fire as defined in the Fire Services Regulations 1954, with the object of ensuring that an effective system of liaison is arranged between such brigade or industrial brigade and any rural fire-fighting organization developed by the responsible Fire Authority or by any Conservator of Forests for the purpose of that section.

Issued by authority of the Fire Service Council.

Wellington, April 1954.

H. R. BROWN, Secretary.

Fire Service Council—Code of Practices

FOREWORD

As a guide to Urban Fire Authorities in determining the measures suggested as necessary to provide an efficient fire service, the Fire Service Council has adopted as a means of promulgating its decisions to Urban Fire Authorities and other interested organizations the issue of memoranda which will be referred to generally as a Code of Practices. These memoranda are issued as a guide for the assistance of Urban Fire Authorities in planning the organization that should be aimed at for the purpose of establishing an efficient service in accordance with the fire risk classification of the district. They may also be accepted as a guide to Authorities of the standard of brigade organization under the respective classifications of districts that may be used by the Council should it be necessary for it to issue (pursuant to section 11) a requisition on an Urban Fire Authority to improve its fire-protection service so as to conform with the duty imposed on the Authority under section 32 (1), and on the Council under section 8 (a) of the Act.

The memoranda will cover eventually all aspects of fire brigade administration both operational and domestic and will be issued as parts of a Code of Practices. The parts of this Code are arranged as follows:

- Part I—Classification of District.
- Part II—Time Factors and Attendance of Appliances on Receipt of Fire Calls.
- Part III—Out-district Service.
- Part IV—Brigade Establishment.
- Part V—Brigade Organization.
- Part VI—Duty Requirements for Permanent Staff.
- Part VII—Examination and Inter-brigade Promotion Procedure.
- Part VIII—Brigade Accommodation.
- Part IX—Communications.
- Part X—Water Supplies.
- Part XI—Standardization of Equipment.
- Part XII—Small Urban Areas.
- Part XIII—Fire Statistics.

PART I—CLASSIFICATION OF DISTRICT

1. The classification of fire districts is the factor on which all requirements for the service are based and is as follows:—

(a) Class A Risk (The highest possible category).—This applies only to those areas of the largest cities in which the property, by reason of its construction, contents, and density, presents a serious risk of a major conflagration and includes the following types of property:

- (i) Large wharf areas in the major ports and their ranges of warehouses, shipping, etc.
- (ii) Large oil and petrol installations and their processing plants situated in commercial areas.
- (iii) Highly concentrated commercial and business areas where narrow streets and high buildings predominate and the construction and contents of the buildings create a serious risk of spread of fire.

(b) Class B Risk.—This applies to the congested industrial and commercial areas in the cities having large departmental stores, factories, commercial and office property, theatres and cinemas, and similar congested areas, and includes the following particular types of property.

- (i) Concentrations of factories and medium sized warehouses within the towns.
- (ii) The main shopping and business areas in the metropolitan cities.
- (iii) Wharf areas (other than those in Class A), oil and petrol depots where there is congestion, also block risk areas including timber and sawmilling yards, or densely grouped buildings where there is likelihood of spread of fire from one building to another.

(c) Class C Risk.—This is normally applicable to the concentrated built-up areas of the secondary cities and larger towns not falling within Class A or Class B and to any other areas in which there are a number of major industrial risks, and includes the following types of property:

- (i) Extensive shopping centres predominantly of two or more stories in height without effective fire separation.
- (ii) Smaller industrial centres and factory areas.
- (iii) The older congested timber property in the cities and larger towns.

(NOTE.—A belt or belts of property falling into Category C are usually found adjacent to any A or B risk area, but it may be convenient to regard the A or B risk as extending to the point at which residential property and other small buildings falling into either Class D or E begins.)

(d) Class D Risk.—This is normally applicable to the business and commercial areas of towns of medium size not falling within Classes A, B, or C, and comprises the following types of property:

- (i) Continuous ranges of commercial buildings as in the centre of towns which are the principal marketing centres for rural areas.
- (ii) Shopping areas of the suburban areas of large cities.

(e) Class E Risk.—This is normally applicable to towns without risks which would place them in a higher category and includes:

- (i) The business and commercial areas of towns devoid of serious commercial and industrial risks.
- (ii) Detached or semi-detached housing property in suburban areas.
- (iii) All property in rural areas situated within the effective cover distance as indicated in clause 4 of this code.

(f) Class F Risk.—Comprises the business and residential areas of small towns in which a brigade is established and also all risks, including both small urban areas and individual premises, situated in the more remote rural areas but within the effective cover distance of the brigade as indicated in clause 4 of this Code, and in which some arrangements have been made for first-aid fire fighting operation pending the arrival of the brigade.

2. The fire risk classification is not effective to determine the fire protection requirements with mathematical accuracy and the larger towns will in any case have more than one classification within the fire district. To provide further discrimination it may also be necessary to subdivide the respective classifications, and this will be indicated by a plus or minus sign.

PART II—TIME FACTORS AND ATTENDANCE OF APPLIANCES ON RECEIPT OF FIRE CALLS

3. The Fire Service must be organized so as to provide for service to be available twenty-four hours of the day every day of the year. The following table, based on the minimum attendance of appliances that should respond in the first instance on receipt of a fire call, sets out what in the Council's opinion should be the objective of Fire Authorities in providing that service. An exception would be made where the nature of the call indicates more exactly the response required.

FIRST ATTENDANCE APPLIANCES

Risk Category	Number of Appliances for First Attendance	Approximate Time for Attendance of Appliances
		First	Second	Third
A .. ..	3	5 minutes	5 minutes	8 minutes
B .. ..	2	6 minutes	6 minutes	..
C .. ..	2	8 minutes	10 minutes	..
D .. ..	1	10 minutes	..	..
E .. ..	1	15 minutes	..	..
F .. ..	1	25 minutes	..	..

4. As a rough guide, the effective radius which could be served from one station on the above time attendance basis would be:

Risk Category	Brigade Turn-out in	Cover Effective Within
A .. ..	1 minute	1½ miles
B .. ..	1 minute	2 miles
C .. ..	1 minute	3½ miles
D .. ..	3 minutes	3½ miles
E .. ..	5 minutes	5 miles
F .. ..	5 minutes	10 miles

SUPPORTING APPLIANCES

5. In addition to providing for the first attendance of one or more appliances as above, it will be necessary to provide also for the attendance of additional appliances in support, if necessary, from adjacent brigades, to be summoned by the officer in charge of the fire in case of need. In the case of the larger towns and any major fire risks the first supporting appliance should be able to reach the fire within ten minutes, and in not more than fifteen minutes elsewhere in the areas above the E category.

Risk Category	First Attendance Appliances	Total Appliances Required	Supporting Appliances Required	Approximate Maximum Time Limit for Supporting Appliance
A .. ..	3	12	9	20 minutes
B .. ..	2	6	4	20 minutes
C .. ..	2	5	3	20 minutes
D .. ..	1	4	3	30 minutes
E .. ..	1	3	2	30 minutes
F .. ..	1	3	2	45 minutes

SECOND CALL APPLIANCES

6. In all areas provision should be made to some extent against the contingency of two fire calls being received simultaneously or of a second fire call being received while appliances are already in attendance at a fire. In A and B risk areas the provision should consist of one appliance capable of providing an attendance at any point within approximately six minutes. In the more scattered and extensive C, D, and E risk areas the possibility of a second call is more remote, and where it is not possible to provide another appliance from an adjoining area in sufficient time, steps should be taken to ensure that some arrangements exist for immediate attendance of men and equipment, if necessary, on an improvised basis and that the brigade already at the fire can be informed so that if possible an appliance not immediately required at the fire can be redirected to the second call. This can be done by ensuring that telephone communication is maintained between the scene of the fire and the fire station. Those brigades equipped with radio on their appliances should be in constant communication for this purpose.

PART III—OUT-DISTRICT SERVICE

REINFORCEMENT AT SERIOUS FIRES

7. It is in almost all cases uneconomic and unnecessary for provision to be made for the maintenance within the district of sufficient men and appliances for dealing with the most severe outbreak of fire which might occur. The Council, therefore, directs that every Urban Fire Authority shall, where practicable, make agreements with the Urban

Fire Authorities of adjacent districts for the reinforcement between the brigades at serious fires at least up to the standard set out in clause 5 of Part II of this Code. The Council recommends that, since this service is likely to be reciprocal and required only infrequently, no charge should be made between Authorities for reinforcement services, except where assistance is required in excess of that laid down in the Code. In this case no agreements for mutual assistance will exist with respect to the more distant brigades, and the Council recommends the payment of the appropriate attendance charges prescribed by the Fire Services Regulations 1954.

OPERATIONS AT EMERGENCY FIRES

8. The emergency contemplated by the Act is the existence or threat of one or more fires arising from enemy attack, earthquake, major explosion, or forest fire which cannot be controlled by the local service even when reinforced under the supporting arrangements as defined in clause 7 of this Code. Long continued operation or standby duty in a threatened area may be necessary. The officers responsible for the control of operations at the scene may be so heavily engaged that the assembly of further reinforcements may be impracticable from within the emergency area, particularly as the normal system of communications may break down in emergency or become overloaded. The whole of New Zealand is divided into 16 regions each with a Regional Officer based on the following centres and individual Authorities will be advised of the region to which they are attached.

Region No. 1	Whangarei.	Region No. 9	Wellington.
Region No. 2	Auckland.	Region No. 10	Masterton.
Region No. 3	Hamilton.	Region No. 11	Nelson.
Region No. 4	Rotorua.	Region No. 12	Greymouth.
Region No. 5	Gisborne.	Region No. 13	Christchurch.
Region No. 6	New Plymouth.	Region No. 14	Timaru.
Region No. 7	Palmerston North.	Region No. 15	Dunedin.
Region No. 8	Napier.	Region No. 16	Invercargill.

A limited number of cities and large towns will also be established as reinforcement or mobilization centres. The officer in charge in the emergency area will notify the nearest mobilization centre with which communication can be established of the nature of the emergency, the number of appliances and any special equipment or personnel required, and the place at which reinforcements are to report. It will be the responsibility of the officer in charge at the mobilization centre to arrange with the brigades conveniently located to send forward the plant, equipment, and men required at the scene of emergency and to replace appliances in towns denuded. He will detail a suitable officer to proceed with all despatch to the reporting point in the emergency area and to act for liaison purposes between the local controlling officer and the reinforcements. He will, at the same time, report the existence of the emergency to the Chief Fire Service Officer, who will either himself proceed to the emergency area and take control of the reinforcement units, or appoint a senior officer to do so. In the event of the Chief Fire Service Officer or his deputy not being available, the Regional Officer will act in his stead. Except in case of war, when the Chief Fire Service Officer or his appointee will control, the local officer holding responsibility under the Act will be in charge of the operation, unless he decides to delegate his responsibilities for the time being to a more experienced fire officer.

OUT-DISTRICT FIRE PROTECTION

9. The above arrangements will apply so as to provide protection to all rural areas adjacent to the fire district which are situated within the limits of brigade attendance defined for Class E and Class F risks.

CO-ORDINATION WITH INDUSTRIAL FIRE BRIGADES AND WITH RURAL FIRE SERVICES ESTABLISHED UNDER THE FOREST AND RURAL FIRES ACT 1947

10. The Council will, on the application of or by agreement with the employer of any industrial fire brigade whose organization and equipment it deems satisfactory for that purpose, authorize the inclusion of the brigade under and for all or any of the purposes of the co-ordination schemes and in every such case the employer will function as if he were an Urban Fire Authority and the brigade as if it were a volunteer brigade operating pursuant to an agreement with an Urban Fire Authority under section 42 of the Act. The financial conditions under which any such service is to be given will be determined by the agreement between the employer and either the Council or the rural local authority or rural Fire Authority in whose district the service is to be given.

PART IV—BRIGADE ESTABLISHMENT

11. The strength of each brigade, exclusive of executive and specialist officers, should be based on the normal turnout of one officer or sub-officer and four men on each appliance. This turnout standard cannot be applied with mathematical accuracy, particularly in the case of the permanent staff brigades, but should be regarded rather as a guide to establishment. In the metropolitan cities a number of suburban stations are located closer to adjacent stations than will be called for by the classification of the area. Some of them have not the necessary accommodation for the minimum staff of nine men required under the present industrial conditions to provide the turnout crew of five. Unless and until relocation and rebuilding of stations is practicable it will be necessary to keep running some of the existing appliances surplus to the strict classification requirements and to regard the manpower turnout from two or more out-stations as one first attendance crew for classification purposes. Topographical features also present special difficulties. Adjustment of the turnout from individual stations may be necessary to meet these conditions. In the secondary cities and in the large towns it is not economically practicable to maintain on duty sufficient permanent staff to man the appliances required under the classification for first attendance and auxiliary or volunteer staff must be relied on. The slower turnout of appliances manned partly or wholly by non-permanent or off-duty men is, however, relevant to the number and type of difficult property risks found in these centres. The volunteer-brigade system provides satisfactory protection for the lower category districts. The establishment normally required should in every case have regard to holiday arrangements and the percentage of a brigade available for daytime turnout.

STRENGTH OF OFFICERS AND MEN (PERMANENT STAFF)

12. (1) Firemen and Sub-officers.—All brigades employing permanent personnel operate on the 48 hours on - 24 hours off duty system, with extended leave of 56 days per annum for both officers and men. In order to maintain a constant availability of 5 men per first attendance appliance (excluding executive officers) after making appropriate allowance for day leave, extended leave, sickness, outside duties, watch-room duties, etc., at least 9 men are necessary. As each individual man is on duty 206 days per year, 1,825 man days are required. In the case of those stations required to maintain 2 or more pump appliances as first attendance and which requires appropriate crews, it is possible to reduce the total strength from 9 men per appliance, as outside, watch-room, and other extraneous duties can be spread over a larger number of personnel. The following table, therefore, sets out the strength of men that appears to be required in those brigades relying solely on permanent men such as those in the A, B, and some of the C classification brigades:

- 1 pump attendance ..... 9 men including 1 Sub-officer.
- 2 pump attendance ..... 17 men including 2 Sub-officers.
- 3 pump attendance ..... 24 men including 3 Sub-officers.

These numbers can be reduced where auxiliary or volunteer personnel are available to make up the first turn-out crews within the time limits of attendance shown in clause 7 of this Code.

In regard to special appliances such as turntable ladders and emergency and salvage tenders which are maintained in the larger brigades and which it is considered necessary to keep fully manned to supplement the first attendance for hazardous fire risks, etc., an extra allowance of permanent men is required. For this purpose a minimum crew should be two men for each such appliance, and to maintain two men constantly available 4 men would be the maximum strength required for each such appliance.

In the case of auxiliaries or volunteers who can be utilized to make up the first attendance appliances, a basis of 2½ men should be provided for each permanent man, allowing for the non-availability leave, etc., of such personnel who obviously have their normal occupations, generally amounting to at least 40 hours per week.

(2) Officers.—Based on the 48/24 hour duty system and with the same annual leave as the firemen, the numbers required would be in accordance with the following table:

Risk Category	Chief Officer	Deputy Chief Officer	Third Officer	Fourth Officer	Senior Station Officer	Station Officer
A .. ..	1	1	1	1	1	1 Headquarters. 1 each substation.
B .. ..	1	1	1	..	1	1 Headquarters. 1 each substation.
C .. ..	1	1	1	..	..	1 Headquarters. 1 each substation.
		(Volunteer) (where possible)

Whilst the number of officers in the above table are shown as being whole time it is considered there may be cases where suitable volunteer officers might be employed provided they can be available not only to attend immediately all calls, but can be sufficiently available to supervise the normal routine duties and training of the permanent men employed, as well as relieve permanent officers during leave periods. In the larger brigades in the A and B categories specialist officers for fire-prevention duties, etc., may be considered necessary above the normal establishment of permanent officers, and those cases should be dealt with specially and approval of the Fire Service Council should be obtained before employing such officers, who in any case should be counted as available to ride to fires on first turn-out appliances when at their stations or available for relieving duties. In all other cases fire-prevention duties should be undertaken by one of the existing officers as part of his duties.

(3) Auxiliaries.—The attention of Fire Authorities is drawn to the value of residential auxiliary firemen who, being accommodated with quarters on station premises, are a valuable source of extra trained men, particularly at night when the incidence and seriousness of fire is the greatest.

STRENGTH OF OFFICERS AND MEN (VOLUNTEERS)

13. As a guidance to Fire Authorities with volunteer brigades the following table sets out the numbers of officers and men required to maintain a minimum turn-out in five minutes of a crew of 5 having made allowance for the nature of work or profession of the personnel.

—	Chief Officer	Deputy Chief Officer	Station Officer	Sub-Officer	Firemen	Messengers	Total
1 Appliance Station ..	1	1	..	1	10	1	14
2 Appliance Station ..	1	1	1	1	14	2	20
3 Appliance Station ..	1	1	1	2	18	2	25

GRADING OF PERMANENT OFFICER POSITIONS

14. Under section 8 (h) of the Fire Services Act the Council sets out below its grading of officer positions in the brigades employing permanent officers.

GRADING OF OFFICER POSTS IN PERMANENT BRIGADES

TITLES OF OFFICER RANKS

15. In accordance with section 8 (h) of the Act the Council has given consideration to the adoption of more appropriate nomenclature for officers of the service in order that their duties can be more closely defined and the responsibility of each co-related. The alteration to the first three officer titles has been covered by amending legislation and it is desired that the following titles be introduced forthwith.

New Title

Chief Fire Service Officer (in place of Council's Chief Officer).
 Chief Fire Officer (in place of Superintendent).
 Deputy Chief Fire Officer (in place of Deputy Superintendent).
 Third Officer.
 Fourth Officer.
 Senior Station Officer.
 Station Officer.
 Sub-officer.

The numbers of the above ranks, of course, would only be required in accordance with the Schedule outlined in clause 12 above. The nomenclature will apply throughout the Service to both permanent and volunteer officers and appropriate rank badges and insignia as outlined in the Council's Uniform and Equipment Specifications and Badges of Rank brochure are concurrently introduced.

It will be noted that this provides for a new rank, that of Sub-officer. It is necessary to ensure that an officer (or Sub-officer) is available to ride on each fully manned appliance at all times. Further, the Council has had regard to making the service more attractive to the younger potential officer by providing facilities for his earlier promotion to what amounts to a non-commissioned rank.

PART VI—DUTY REQUIREMENTS FOR THE PERMANENT STAFF

16. (1) The Council has based the requirements of officers and men on the continuous-duty system at present in operation and the following are the basic duty requirements of such a system. The station duty requirements for firemen will vary according to the classification of the area, depending on whether this involves the employment of a station-keeper only for the smaller Class D districts, a nucleus permanent staff in Class C and D areas, or a wholly or mainly permanent staff in Class A and B stations.

- (2) The following are the basic obligations of all permanent firemen:
- (a) To attend all fire calls during duty periods.
  - (b) To carry out maintenance and other requisite work during routine hours.
  - (c) To remain on call within the station precincts for the remainder of each duty period.
  - (d) To carry out brigade drills and watch-room duties as required during on-call periods.
  - (e) To carry out urgent maintenance and reconditioning work on plant and equipment and out-station duties during on-call periods.
  - (f) To perform salvage and watching duties as required.
  - (g) To respond to fire calls while on leave under the arrangements applying at the particular station with the limited obligations set out in the introduction to this part of the Code and the acceptance by Fire Authorities of some suitable recompense.

OFFICERS

17. Whilst officers should be required to make the same response to fire calls as the men, their special responsibility will vary and will be required to be defined in accordance with their rank and with the classification of district or area in which they serve. It would appear desirable that the particular duties of officers in relation to the management and organization of brigades should be defined in addition to the primary duties devolving on them under section 37 of the Act, and whilst there will be some variations depending upon the number of officers employed in a brigade, the following is a broad outline of what might be considered the peculiar responsibility of each grade of officer.

CHIEF FIRE OFFICER

18. The Chief Fire Officer of the large brigades in the A, B, and C categories is required to devote the major part of his time and attention to the general administration of the brigade. As Chief Officer, he should be available during normal office hours to the public or local authority departments, and for this purpose he should arrange his leave of absence accordingly. He should normally be available for attendance at fires in the absence of his deputy or other executive officer, except that it need not be necessary for him to attend all fires on the first attendance unless the nature of the call would appear to justify his immediate attendance and he should make suitable arrangements to be notified of any unusual occurrence or major fire justifying his presence.

DEPUTY CHIEF FIRE OFFICER

19. In the larger brigades the Deputy Chief Fire Officer should have delegated to him by the Chief Fire Officer the direct responsibility for supervising the maintenance of stores and supplies; training of the brigade, including lectures; maintenance of fire service buildings; the testing and maintenance of fire appliances; the provision and regular testing of means of communication, fire alarms, telephones, radio; the compilation of records of water supplies; inspection and testing of hydrants; maintenance of fire statistics; supervision of routine duties of personnel; compilation of leave rosters, sickness records, personal records, inspections of sub-stations, etc.

In the absence of the Chief Fire Officer, he would automatically take charge of the brigade and is then invested with the same powers. His availability should be arranged so that he is on duty in the absence of the Chief Fire Officer.

THIRD AND FOURTH OFFICERS

20. In those large brigades where such officer ranks are employed, the amount of administrative work and supervision of the brigade would necessitate some of the responsibilities devolving on the Deputy Chief Fire Officer being allocated to each as particular references placed in their charge. These officers, according to their respective status, would deputize for their seniors and their leave of absence should be arranged so that one is constantly available for that purpose. Such officers should be attached to headquarters station to enable them to be fully employed on administrative duties in addition to their operational responsibilities.

SENIOR STATION OFFICER

21. It is considered that officers of this rank are only justifiable in large stations where more than one station officer is employed or for specific duties such as fire prevention where the responsibilities and duties are considered in excess of a Station Officer's normal responsibility and duties. A Senior Station Officer in the chain of command would take charge over all ranks subordinate to him and should normally supervise the day to day routine management of the station and personnel as well as the drill and training in those brigades not employing a Third or Fourth Officer. The Senior Station Officer would deputize in command of the brigade in the absence of a senior officer.

STATION OFFICER

22. The Station Officer would normally have direct charge of the day to day work of the station, and only in headquarters stations or substations with more than one first attendance appliance should more than one Station Officer be employed. He should ride in charge of the first attendance appliance to all calls, arrange and supervise the manning of the watch-room, order the necessary response of appliances to calls as received, supervise the routine work of the personnel, and be directly responsible to his senior officers for the maintenance and cleanliness of all appliances at his station. The rank of Station Officer might also be considered the appropriate rank for officers in charge of specific departments as, for example, brigade stores or workshops in a brigade of the A and B categories or for fire-prevention duties in the brigades of B and C categories.

SUB-OFFICERS

23. The number of Sub-officers should be related to the number of first attendance appliances to ensure that one is available to ride on all such appliances and, in particular, to deputize for the Station Officer or a Senior Officer who normally rides on a first attendance appliance. He would also deputize in charge of the station and carry out the Station Officer's duties in his absence. He should assist the Station Officer in the supervision of routine duties of the personnel and act as duty officer outside normal working routine hours in conjunction with the available station officers. In the larger brigades the Sub-officers should, for experience, be given supervisory duties in the various departments of the brigade, for example, hose maintenance and repair, stores, workshops, communication section, fire prevention and the brigade office, as part of their training for senior rank.

GENERAL

24. It is considered that all Station Officers and Sub-officers should at some part of their service, serve in the brigade office or take over portions of the administrative work such as the maintenance of records, compilation of pay sheets, preparation of reports, routine correspondence, and general administrative duties to fit themselves for senior rank, so that when appointed to such ranks, they are fully experienced and capable of controlling and managing a brigade.

FIRE BRIGADESMEN

25. It is considered that not more than twenty-five hours in any working week is the maximum routine hours required in brigades from each fireman to enable the routine duties other than fire-fighting to be satisfactorily carried out. For this purpose it would appear convenient to arrange these hours so that routine work can cease at a convenient time in the afternoon except for any special work such as would be required in recommissioning the appliances and station as a result of fires occurring outside routine working hours. Normally this should not be required except after a fire or break-down of any essential brigade equipment. Where any such duty is performed outside routine working hours, which would necessitate personnel being engaged for any inordinate length of time, consideration should be given to suitable recompense or an adjustment made of the routine hours of the personnel concerned.

Where night drills or joint exercises are necessary as, for example, in conjunction with auxiliaries or volunteers, who are only available at night or week-ends for this purpose, regard should be paid to the routine working hours of the personnel affected and adjustments made accordingly. It is considered that no duties other than those of testing of appliances and necessary station cleaning should be undertaken on Sundays or public holidays, or after 12 noon on Saturdays. Regard should also be paid to the provision of some relief from routine duty for such personnel who are detailed to perform watchroom or any special duty directly following the termination of routine working hours. Arrangements should be made for watchroom personnel covering the night hours to be provided with facilities to rest providing that they are immediately available to carry out their duties. In brigades of the C category and below employing full time personnel, it is not considered necessary to man the watchroom during the day when personnel are working in or about the station as the provision of a loud ringing bell would suffice.

In order that the work of the station can be equitably shared and properly conducted, it should be planned and thoroughly understood so that each aspect can in turn receive its necessary attention. Other than the work occasioned by fires necessitating the repair and extra cleaning of equipment used, the routine should be arranged progressively.

Normal fire service drills and training should be undertaken for at least one hour of the routine duty period of each working day. In inclement weather this should be replaced by indoor drills or lectures. Where personnel are required to perform outside duties, such as hydrant inspection or testing of fire alarms, this should be arranged during routine hours and for such duties as salvage work, standing by after fires, or watching duties, adequate compensation should be given from routine hours or time off given instead.

PART VII—EXAMINATION AND INTER-BRIGADE PROMOTION PROCEDURE

26. The Fire Service Council in accordance with section 8 (h) of the Act is required to facilitate inter-brigade promotion. The classification and grading of officers referred to in clause 3 of this Code outlines a chain of officer responsibilities and the Council has already adopted a procedure in connection with the appointment of executive officers, having regard to its responsibility to approve of the executive officer appointments pursuant to section 40 (2) of the Act. In some brigades examinations exist for firemen advancing to second and first class grades, and these should continue to be conducted within brigades. It will be necessary, however, to introduce, concurrent with a training scheme, promotion examinations of a standard character for sub-officer and station officer rank in order that all officers and potential officers shall be equally qualified. Those promotion examinations would require to be set on a national basis by Fire Service Council officers in conjunction with a panel of Chief Fire Officers. The examinations should be held locally at fixed periods say twice a year, and members of the service who qualify would, subject to satisfactory practical tests and appropriate length of service, be eligible for officer appointment in any brigade. The appropriate examination of either the Institution of Fire Engineers or the New Zealand Officers' and Members' Institute should be regarded as equivalent qualifications for exemption from the written section of the examination. The marking and adjudication of such examinations would be conducted by a selected panel of Chief Officers in conjunction with the Council's staff.

PART VIII—BRIGADE ACCOMMODATION

27. In A, B, and C Class districts the principal station will provide accommodation for three or more appliances according to the class of district and the number of special appliances to be provided for. In the secondary stations the accommodation will depend on the character and classification of the area served and the provision required for reserve appliances and equipment. In all cases the stations should include provision for married firemen. The number of dwellings will depend on the land available and other circumstances at each station, but as an objective not less than two-thirds of the permanent brigade establishment should be provided for. In Class D districts, stations will provide accommodation for either one or two appliances according to local requirements, and in most Class E districts a single-bay station will suffice. In the larger secondary centres where the growth of the town is tending to separate the commercial centre by any considerable distance from the housing area in which the volunteer firemen live, consideration should be given to the provision of dwelling accommodation on the station property for married volunteer firemen. In most of the stations providing for volunteer brigades in districts of Class E or above, consideration should be given to the provision of accommodation on the station for a limited number of single volunteer firemen. Reasonable facilities for recreation should be provided on all stations. A descriptive memorandum and type plans of fire stations suitable for each class of district are available from the Council on request. When new stations are under consideration, proposals should not be advanced beyond the sketch-plan stage before submission to the Council. If the building is to be financed from loan, proposals should also be submitted to the Local Government Loans Board at the sketch-plan stage.

PART IX—COMMUNICATIONS

28. Suitable arrangements for calling the brigade as quickly as possible when a fire occurs will require to be made in each district. Agreement has been reached with the Post and Telegraph Department with a view to improving the existing arrangements for initiating fire calls on the telephone system, by the introduction of a simple method having priority on both the automatic and manually operated exchanges. This envisages the abolition of prescribed telephone numbers on the manual system, and the subscriber would merely call the operator, who, on being requested for the fire brigade, would connect the caller direct to the fire brigade or the receiving point for calls. On the automatic telephone system it is proposed that the caller would dial a pre-determined number 111 which will connect the caller to the appropriate fire station or receiving point. These improvements will have the effect of speeding up the receipt of telephoned fire calls to the brigade and of reinforcement calls to brigades in other districts.

PART X—WATER SUPPLIES

29. Under section 32 (2) Fire Authorities are required through their officers to advise as to the adequacy or otherwise of water supplies for fire fighting purposes and must ensure that necessary steps are taken to make the fullest use of available supplies. For the present, the Fire Service Council, through its officers, concerns itself with the examination of new water-supply and reticulation schemes requiring loan sanction and steps are taken to ensure that adequate provision is made for fire fighting requirements in all new schemes. So far the Council has been unable to advise Fire Authorities and their officers on the implications of such new schemes, or how they in turn should ensure that proper advice is given to the Water Authority on the situation and number of hydrants that should be installed. It is also essential that fire officers should have guidance as to the steps to be taken in cases of failure or temporary disruption of mains reticulation as, for example, the use of static water supplies, the steps necessary to make them available, and the use to which they can be put. It is also desirable that existing water-reticulation schemes should be surveyed to ensure that they are being utilized to the fullest extent consistent with any increased fire hazards. Fire brigades should keep proper records and become familiar with the location and condition of all fire hydrants. The utmost co-operation is also required by Brigade Officers with Water Authorities and other water undertakings to ensure that hydrants are suitably indicated and kept in good working order.

This is a vital part of fire service operation which requires to be put on a nationally organized basis.

PART XI—STANDARDIZATION OF EQUIPMENT

30. The Council is required under section 8 (f) to standardize fire service plant and equipment, and the following specifications have been adopted by the Council and are available upon application:

Specification
Code Numbers
FSC	1/51	Unlined delivery hose.
"	2/51	Rubber lined or rubber impregnated hose.
"	3/51	35 ft. extension ladder.
"	4/51	Hook ladder.
"	5/51	Firemen's helmets.
"	6/51	400-500 G.P.M. pump fire appliance.
"	7/51	Heavy duty pump escape appliance.
"	8/51	Wheeled escape.
"	9/51	Hose reel tubing.
"	10/51	Water tender appliance.
"	11A/51	Rural fire appliance (main pump).
"	11B/51	Rural fire appliance.
"	11c/52	Light rural fire appliance.
"	12/51	Turntable ladder.
"	13/51	400 G.P.M. pump.
"	14/52	Service uniforms.
"	15/52	Fire service radio.
"	16/52	Rural fire party appliance.
"	17/52	Light trailer pump.
"	18/52 Types A & B	Standard hose drying towers.
"	18/52 Type C	Standard drill and hose tower.
"	19/53	Breathing apparatus.
"	20/53	Suction hose.
"	23/53	Salvage sheets.

PART XII—SMALL URBAN AREAS

31. Under section 8 (m) of the Act the Council is required to develop the Fire Service particularly in the smaller urban areas, and since the inception of the Act many applications have been received from local authorities for the constitution of secondary urban fire districts. Before acting on these the Council has examined how far existing fire brigades could provide cover over a larger territory. To this end the out-district scheme provides for:

- (a) A protected area to a radius of five miles from existing fire stations and up to ten miles where service can be rendered, and
- (b) For agreements under the existing registration facilities for protection of any isolated properties.

Outside the limits of those extended areas are many rural centres not provided with protection for which the Council has introduced a lower category of fire risk classification and has outlined the minimum brigade organization and equipment required for such districts. It is envisaged that such of these small urban districts as are situated sufficiently near to an existing fire brigade will be brought under the control of an established urban fire authority and will be assisted in the training and organization of auxiliary units by established brigades. The objective is to provide fire protection service on as wide a basis as is practicable, having regard to the life and property risks existing.

PART XIII—FIRE STATISTICS

32. Under section 8 (c) and (d) of the Act the Council is required to collate information on the activities of fire brigades in relation to fire and other operations attended, not only for statistical purposes but also to enable it to initiate research into fire service methods, equipment, and organization, and to publish reports, information, and advice on fire service matters. To do this, it requires amongst other things, statistical information in regard to fires and other occurrences attended, the methods used for extinguishment, the materials involved, loss of life and casualties. A fire report form designed to assist the Council in the compilation of fire statistics is now available and brigades are required to complete this form in respect of each call received and to forward it immediately to the Council.

Issued by authority of the Fire Service Council.

H. R. BROWN, Secretary.

Wellington, April 1954.

THE GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT OF SOCIAL SECURITY IN NEW ZEALAND

A survey of social security in New Zealand from 1898 to 1949, and the most comprehensive work on the subject yet published in this country.

Of 180 pages, the book is divided into three parts—cash benefits, health benefits, and finance. Each subject is dealt with in detail and there is a comprehensive index.

The book will undoubtedly be of considerable interest to those interested in social security and social services, and will be especially valuable to University students.
