NOTE.—At stations where departures from normal are in parentheses, the temperature record has been maintained for less than ten years, the rainfall record for less than twenty years. Rainfall normals have been revised and now refer to the standard period 1921-50. Where observations are not available for the whole period, or where the site of the rain-gauge has been changed, the normals are partly interpolated.

NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR MAY 1954

General.—May was a mild month and, for most of the country, also rather dry. The combination proved beneficial to pastures, and growth was reported as being particularly good for May.

A vigorous storm which moved south-south-eastwards over the North Island gave four days of almost continuous rain over the Auckland Province from the 17th onwards and caused serious flooding in some districts. The Hauraki Plains suffered most damage, and at Paeroa it was one of the worst floods on record. As the centre passed Auckland on the 19th pressure fell to a new low record of 972.8 millibars.

Stock were reported to be doing well except in the areas affected by flooding, where a serious local shortage of feed for dairy cattle developed.

Rainfall.—The month was appreciably drier than usual for the greater part of the country. Rainfall was less than half the normal value over Hawke's Bay, Wellington, North Canterbury, and most of Southland. There was a moderate surplus over most of Nelson and Marlborough, in coastal districts of North Otago, and from Waikato and the Bay of Plenty northwards.

The total of 21.14 in. was the highest monthly rainfall at Te Aroha in over fifty years of recordings. Of this amount 18 in. fell between 9 a.m. on the 17th and 9 a.m. on the 20th. Several stations a little to the north of Te Aroha also received more than 20 in. of rain for the month.

On the 22nd several violent thunderstorms were reported from the central provinces, while a local whirlwind wrecked some farm buildings at Bell Block, New Plymouth.

Temperatures.—Temperatures were appreciably above normal for the whole country. The departure exceeded 2° F. from Timaru southwards and also over most of Westland and Wellington Provinces. For Gore and Invercargill it was the warmest May since 1938. In a few places, including Wellington City and Invercargill, May was just as warm as April.

Sunshine.—Sunshine was appreciably below normal in Taranaki and Westland, with a deficiency exceeding 20 hours. In most other districts there was little variation from the normal, but Wairarapa and some coastal districts of Canterbury and Otago were favoured with a moderate surplus.

Weather sequence.—For the first two days of the month the weather was mainly fair or fine under the influence of an anti-cyclone centred to the south-east of the South Island. There was a general deterioration on the 3rd with the approach of a depression across the Tasman Sea. The weather remained unsettled for several days as this disturbance moved across northern districts of the South Island and another depression close behind passed over Southland. With the departure of the second depression to the south-east on the 7th the weather cleared in eastern districts, and for the next two days it was generally fine again, with an anti-cyclone to the east.

A depression which had formed near Noumea moved southward into the North Tasman Sea, bringing widespread rain north of Dunedin during the 10th and 11th. Some considerable falls were reported from Nelson and Marlborough Provinces. Conditions improved on the 12th as the depression weakened and moved away to the north-east, but there was still some light rain in Auckland Province. For the next three days an anticyclone moved eastwards across the country, and fair or fine weather prevailed once again.

Rain began to fall in Northland on the 16th with the approach of a deepening depression from the north-west. Moving slowly south-south-eastwards this depression continued to deepen. When the centre passed Auckland on the 19th, barometers reached a new record low level in the city. Meanwhile rain became heavy and more or less continuous over the Auckland Province, and serious flooding occurred over the Hauraki Plains; high winds also caused some damage. Rain had spread throughout the country by the 18th, and conditions remained very unsettled due to the arrival of another complex disturbance from the west. Thunderstorms occurred about the central provinces early on the 22nd, a particularly violent one being reported from Nelson.

With a change to south-westerly winds on the 23rd there was a rapid improvement. An intense anticyclone near Tasmania then extended over New Zealand, and during its slow eastward movement in the last quarter there was a spell of fine, settled weather, apart from a few showers, mainly on the western and southern coasts of the South Island.

Grant to Ex-prisoners of War of the Japanese

THE Minister of External Affairs has announced that a grant of £25 would be made to those New Zealanders who were prisoners of war of the Japanese during the Second World War.

"It was not possible," the Minister said, "to make adequate provision in the Japanese Peace Treaty for the claims of those persons who suffered personal injury and maltreatment in Japanese prisoner-of-war or internment camps. Other allied Governments, including the United Kingdom, Canadian, and Australian Governments, have accordingly assumed the responsibility of compensating those of their nationals who suffered special hardship by reason of their imprisonment or internment in the Far East, and it seems only appropriate that the New Zealand Government should do likewise. As a result of representations made by the New Zealand Ex-prisoners of War Association and the New Zealand Returned Services Association, the Government has therefore decided that a grant of £25 per capita should be made to those New Zealand ex-servicemen and merchant seamen who were prisoners of war of the Japanese. The next-of-kin of deceased prisoners will also be eligible for the grant. Payment will be made on receipt of an application made to that branch of the armed forces in which the ex-prisoner served prior to his capture. In the case of merchant seaman, application should be made to the Marine Department."

The Minister of External Affairs has also announced that from the enemy assets at the Government's disposal a grant would be made to the New Zealand National Patriotic Fund Board for the welfare of ex-prisoners of war and their dependants, and a separate fund established for the welfare of New Zealand civilians interned by the Japanese who suffered special hardship, and who are now in need. This fund will be administered by the Social Security Department.

Dated at Wellington, this 23rd day of June 1954.

FOSS SHANAHAN,
For the Secretary of External Affairs.

Settlement of War Claims

THE Minister of External Affairs has announced that persons who, as a result of an act of war, suffered property loss or damage in Germany, in German occupied territories, or in Japanese occupied territories (but not in Japan itself) may file details of their claims with the Public Trustee, as Custodian of Enemy Property, P.O. Box 5024, Lambton Quay, Wellington. Claim forms may be obtained from the Public Trustee.

Receipt of a claim by the Public Trustee will not constitute any admission by the Government of the validity of the claim, or any guarantee that the claim will be met either in whole or in part.

Dated at Wellington, this 23rd day of June 1954.

FOSS SHANAHAN,
For the Secretary of External Affairs.
