Notice to Mariners No. 1 of 1955 (Repeating Admiralty Notice to Mariners No. 1 of 1955)

CAUTION WHEN APPROACHING BRITISH AND COMMONWEALTH PORTS

PART I

Closing of Ports; Stopping of Movement in Ports

Former Notice 1/54 cancelled.

(1) My Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, in conjunction with the Commonwealth Naval Authorities, having taken into consideration the fact that it may be necessary to forbid all entrance to certain ports under their control, this is to give notice that on approaching the shores of the British Isles, or any ports or localities in the Commonwealth, a sharp look-out should be kept for the signals described in the following paragraph, and for the vessels mentioned in paragraph (5), Part II, of this notice, and the distinguishing and other signals made by them. In the event of such signals being displayed, the port or locality should be approached with great caution, as it may be apprehended that obstructions may exist.

(2) If entrance to a port is prohibited, three red lights vertically disposed by night, or three red balls vertically disposed by day, will be exhibited in some conspicuous position, in or near its approach, which signals will also be shown by the vessels indicated in paragraph (5), Part II, of this Notice. If these signals are displayed, vessels must approach the port with the greatest caution and implicitly obey all orders or signals given them by the Examination Vessel, Traffic Control Vessel, or signal station.

If movement of shipping in a port or anchorage under naval control is prohibited, three lights red—green—red vertically disposed by night, or a blue flag by day, will be exhibited. Signals affecting movement of shipping in parts of a port will be found in the Public Traffic Regulations for that port.

(3) At some ports or localities at home or abroad, searchlights are occasionally exhibited for exercise.

Instructions have been given to avoid directing movable searchlights during practice on to vessels under way, but mariners are warned that great care should be taken to keep a sharp look-out for the signals indicated in paragraph (2) above, when searchlights are observed to be working.

Vessels are particularly warned not to enter a declared "Dangerous Area" or approach boom defences without permission, nor to anchor or remain stopped in a dangerous area or prohibited anchorage unless specially instructed so to do.

PART II

Examination Service

(4) In certain circumstances it is also necessary to take special measures to examine individual vessels desiring to enter ports and localities at home and abroad and to control entry generally. This is the function of the Examination Service. Where Traffic Control Vessels take the place of Examination Vessels their authority is the same.

(5) In such cases, vessels carrying the distinguished flags or lights mentioned in paragraph (7) will be charged with the duty of examining ships which desire to enter the port and of allotting positions in which they shall anchor. If Government vessels, or vessels belonging to the local port authority, are found patrolling in the offing, merchant vessels are advised to communicate with such vessels with a view to obtaining information as to the course on which they should approach the port. Such communication will not be necessary in cases where the pilot on board has already received this information from the local authorities.

(6) As the institution of the Examination Service will probably be unknown to vessels desiring to enter the port, especial care should be taken in approaching the ports, by day and night, to keep a sharp look-out for any vessel carrying the flags or lights mentioned in paragraph (7), and to be ready to "bring to" at once when hailed by her or warned by the firing of a gun or sound rocket.

In approaching by night any port in the British Isles and the Commonwealth, serious delay and risk will be avoided if four efficient all round lanterns, two red and two white, are kept available for use.

(7) By day the distinguishing flag of the Examination Vessel or Traffic Control Vessel will be a special flag (white and red horizontal surrounded by a blue border).

Also, three red balls vertically disposed if entrance is prohibited.

Special Flag

Three Red Balls

Red

Blue

Usually the Examination Vessels or Traffic Control Vessels will fly the Blue Ensign, but in certain circumstances they may fly the White Ensign and in the ports of some Commonwealth countries they may fly the national flag or an ensign authorized by that Commonwealth country.

By night the steamer will carry:

- Three red lights vertically disposed if entrance is prohibited.
- Three white lights vertically disposed if entrance is permitted.

The above lights will be carried in addition to the ordinary navigation lights, and will show an unbroken light around the horizon.

(8) Merchant vessels approaching a British or Commonwealth Port at which the Examination Service is in force must hoist their signal letters on arriving within visual signal distance of the port, and are not to wait for the signal "What is the name of your vessel?" to be made from the Examination Vessel.

(9) Masters are warned that before attempting to enter any port when the Examination Service is in force they must in their own interests strictly obey all instructions given to them by the Examination Vessel or Traffic Control Vessel.

Whilst at anchor in the Examination Anchorage, masters are warned that it is forbidden, except for the purpose of avoiding accident to do any of the following things without permission from the Examining Officer:

- To lower any boat.
- To communicate with the shore or with other ships.
- To move the ship.
- To work cables.
- To allow any person or thing to leave the ship.

The permission of the Home Office Immigration Officer must be obtained before any passenger or member of the crew who has embarked outside the United Kingdom is allowed to land.

(10) In the case of fog, masters are enjoined to use the utmost care, and the port should be approached with caution.

Notice to Mariners No. 2 of 1955

OFFICIAL MESSAGES TO BRITISH MERCHANT SHIPS AND FISHING VESSELS

THIS organization provides for the transmission of important messages from naval authorities to small ships, trawlers, etc., fitted with radiotelephony, on occasions when such messages may be of vital importance to their safety and welfare. Tests of the organization, lasting for one week, may be held at irregular intervals without prior notice, and all small craft fitted with R/T apparatus are earnestly requested to listen for the messages broadcast during these tests and to forward particulars of those received.

NOTE.—This notice will be issued annually as New Zealand Notice to Mariners.

2. When the organization described in this Notice to Mariners is ordered to be brought into force—

- (a) Ships are to continue to read the traffic from the coast station serving the waters in which they are sailing. Official messages will be broadcast as shown in the table below.
- (b) T.R.s are to be discontinued.
- (c) Messages are not to be acknowledged unless ships are specially directed to do so in the text of the message.
- (d) Ships are to conform to any restrictions regarding the use of radio which may be issued by the naval authorities.

New Zealand Coastal Waters

These messages are to be broadcast at definite times from the radio stations given in the following table. Normal R/T procedure to which small ships are accustomed is employed as far as possible. A preliminary call will be made on 2,182 kc/s and the messages will then be broadcast on the coast station's working frequency of 2,162 kc/s; this frequency will be referred to in the preliminary call. The text of each message indicates the Naval Authority who has originated it and contains, if necessary, details of the locality to which it refers.

Example.—The shore station calls on 2,182 kc/s "Hullo, all British merchant ships, this is Wellington Radio. I have a message from the New Zealand Naval Board. Please listen on 2,162 kc/s."

The shore station then changes frequency and proceeds: "Hullo, all British merchant ships, this is Wellington Radio. Here is a message from the New Zealand Naval Board. Begins. The organization for broadcasting official messages for ships fitted with radiotelephony given in N. to M. No. 2 is now in force for test for one week ending . . . (repetition of text) . . . (date time group) . . . ends."

All ships hearing these messages, when transmitted for test purposes only, are particularly requested to forward brief reports through their owners to the Navy Department and the Marine Department, Wellington, stating the times and their approximate position when these test messages were heard.

NEW ZEALAND—RADIOTELEPHONY DISTRESS FREQUENCY
2182 Kc/s—SILENCE PERIODS

THE attention of mariners is drawn to regulation 123 of the Radio Regulations 1953, which reads as follows:

"All stations licensed to use radiotelephone installations in the authorized maritime mobile service frequency bands between 1,605 kc/s and 2,850 kc/s shall, during their hours of service, observe a listening watch on the distress frequency of 2,182 kc/s twice each hour for three minutes commencing on the hour and half hour, New Zealand time. During these periods all transmissions between the frequencies of 2,167 kc/s and 2,197 kc/s; except for distress, urgency, or safety transmissions, shall cease."

It is important that all ships refrain from transmitting between 2,167 kc/s and 2,197 kc/s during the periods indicated.

Notice to Mariners No. 4 of 1955

WARNING SIGNALS TO DENOTE THE PRESENCE OF SUBMARINES

(1) Attention is drawn to the following warning signal which is in use to denote the presence of submarines:

British vessels fly one of the two International Code Groups HP or OIY to denote that submarines, which may be submerged, are in the vicinity. Vessels are cautioned to steer so as to give a wide berth to any vessel flying either of these signals. If from any cause it is necessary to approach her, vessels should proceed at slow speed until warning is given of the danger zone by flags, semaphore, or megaphone, etc., a good look-out being kept meanwhile for submarines whose presence may be only indicated by their periscopes showing above water.

A submarine submerged at a depth too great to show her periscope, may sometimes indicate her position by releasing a smoke-candle, which gives off a considerable volume of smoke on first reaching the surface. Her position may sometimes be indicated by red-and-white or red-and-yellow buoys or floats, which tow on the surface close astern.

(2) It must not be inferred from the above that submarines exercise only when in company with escorting vessels.

(3) Under certain circumstances warnings that submarines are exercising in specified areas may be broadcast by a General Post Office W/T Station.

(4) Submarines may be met on the surface by night, particularly in the vicinity of the following ports:

Thames Estuary, Portsmouth, Portland, Plymouth, Barrow, Liverpool, Londonderry, and Clyde areas.

(5) Hitherto the navigational lights of submarines have been exhibited from the conning tower, which is near the centre of the vessel. The steaming light, bow lights, and overtaking light have been necessarily low down and closely spaced with the result that they give no indication of the submarine's length nor of her exact course or change of course. Consequently, they may be mistaken for the lights of a very much smaller vessel of the coastal type.

(6) Special arrangements have now been made to fit H.M. submarines with a second steaming light. The forward steaming light will be fitted on a special jack staff in the forepart of the vessel about 6 ft. above the casing, while the after light will continue to be fitted on the conning tower. The vertical separation in some cases will be less than 15 ft.

The overtaking light will be fitted on a special ensign staff in the stern of the submarine.

(7) Until all submarines have been modified, mariners are cautioned that they may expect to see some submarines with the arrangement of lights described in paragraph (5) above.

The position of the rescuing vessel, the wind speed and direction, and the time when the survivor was picked up should also be given. If practicable communication should be maintained with the shore station until released.

2. Where were you bound?
3. Did you bale out or was the aircraft ditched?
4. How many others did you see leave the aircraft by parachute?
5. How many ditched with the aircraft?

4. Mariners are advised to obtain copies of the Navigational Warnings appropriate to their voyage from convenient ports of call. After sailing they should ensure that their series are kept up to date.

5. The attention of Masters is called to the necessity for making arrangements to ensure that all radio messages received concerning navigational warnings or other matters relating to safety of life at sea are brought to his notice immediately on receipt, or to that of the navigating officer on watch at the time.

The provisions relating to the official log provide for a certificate to the effect that the Master's attention has been called to all signals of importance or interest and observance of this requirement should secure that this important matter is not overlooked.

AGRICULTURAL BOTANY

By J. S. YEATES and ELLA O. CAMPBELL

This book supplies a long-felt want in this country by providing a simple explanation of the manner in which plants function and the conditions necessary for their growth. Wherever possible technical terms have been avoided, and those essential to a proper understanding of the subject have been fully explained. Over one hundred illustrations contribute to a clear exposition of the subject. As a result, although the book is primarily intended for use in schools and colleges, it is also suitable for farmers, orchardists, horticulturists, and home gardeners.

236 pages.

Price, 25s.
