NOTE.—At stations where departures from normal have an asterisk, the temperature record has been maintained for less than ten years, the rainfall record for less than twenty years. Rainfall normals have been revised and now refer to the standard period 1921–50. Where observations are not available for the whole period, or where the site of the rain gauge has been changed, the normals are partly interpolated.

NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR AUGUST 1956

General: For most of the North Island August was the fifth successive month of unsettled weather, and in parts of the Auckland Province the wetness of the ground was adversely affecting the health of stock. In the South Island conditions were much drier and mainly favourable. In most districts of both Islands the weather proved reasonably good for lambing.

In the North Island the longest spell of fine sunny weather for four months occurred from the 18th to the 23rd.

Three small local tornadoes were reported, all from Taranaki. The first two occurred on the 24th and the third on the 26th.

Rainfall: Rainfall was below normal over almost the whole of the South Island and also from Wairarapa to central Hawke's Bay. In Marlborough it was only about a third of the average value. It was wetter than usual from Waikato and Hauraki northwards. A few places, including Auckland, had double the average.

It has been an unusually wet winter for western and northern districts of the North Island. For the three months, June to August, the total rainfall at Auckland was 26.56 in., which is the highest in 100 years of record. The previous wettest winter there was in 1916, with a rainfall of 24.13 in.

For most of this portion of the North Island the annual average rainfall was exceeded before the end of August; in parts of Northland it had already been exceeded before the end of July.

Many thunderstorms were reported on the 25th and 26th, especially in the Auckland Province.

Temperatures: Over most of the Auckland Province mean temperatures were more than one degree above normal. Elsewhere the month was also mainly warmer than usual, but only by about half a degree.

There were two rather well defined cold spells. During the first, from the 4th to the 8th, the winds were southerly. This spell affected mainly the North Island, with snow on the high country. The second spell lasted from the 25th to the 29th, with south-westerly winds and snow on the high country of both Islands.

Sunshine: Sunshine was mainly about normal. Marlborough and most of Southland were favoured with 20 to 30 hours more than usual, while Gisborne fell below normal by the same amount.

Weather Sequence: On the first two days of the month a trough of low pressure moved eastward over the country and a depression formed to the north-west of Northland. Rain affected the North Island and coastal districts of the South Island. As the depression deepened and moved down the east coast on the 3rd and 4th, there was heavy rain over the Auckland Province, with some flooding. At the same time pressure rose in the south, and from the 4th to the 8th a cold south-easterly airstream covered the North Island. Cold, showery weather prevailed in eastern districts, with snow at times on the high country of the North Island. On the 8th rain extended to most of the Auckland and Taranaki Provinces and snow came down to unusually low levels as a small depression moved eastwards across the centre of the North Island.

On the 9th a depression crossed Northland, with further rain over the Auckland Province. For the next four days this depression moved slowly eastward, while another extensive depression remained stationary over the Central Tasman Sea; rain extended as far south as Canterbury. From the 14th to the 16th westerly conditions prevailed over most of the country, with pressure low to the south. However, yet another depression crossed Northland on the 16th and was still affecting the Auckland Province on the following day, although elsewhere the weather had cleared with the development of an anticyclone over the South Island.

From the 18th to the 23rd pressure remained high over the country as the anticyclone moved slowly eastward. The weather was sunny and mild apart from light rain at times in Northland, Gisborne, and the West Coast. In many districts, especially in the North Island, this was the longest spell of fine weather for four months.

A rapid deterioration occurred early on the 24th as a very deep depression passed to the south. The associated trough of low pressure crossed the country, bringing strong westerly to north-westerly winds and heavy rain in western and northern districts. Pressure remained very low to the south, and similar weather continued for another two days, with thunderstorms in western districts of the North Island and heavy snow on the high country of both Islands. A change to south-westerlies occurred on the 26th and showery conditions persisted over most of the North Island. On the 28th there was rain as far south as Canterbury with the passage of a small depression from Taranaki to Gisborne. On the following day the weather began to clear from the south-west as an anticyclone moved on to the country from the west. For the last two days of the month this anticyclone covered the North Island and fair weather prevailed, apart from some rain at times on the West Coast.

PURSUANT to the Control of Prices Act 1947, the Price Tribunal hereby makes the following price order:

1. This order may be cited as Price Order No. 1671, and shall come into force on the 21st day of September 1956.

2. (1) Price Orders Nos. 1452* and 1550† are hereby revoked.

(2) The revocation of the said orders shall not affect the liability of any person for any offence in relation thereto committed before the coming into force of this order.

3. In this order unless the context otherwise requires—

"Accommodation" means the provision of lodging or meals at hotels, and includes the provision of services of the kind normally rendered to guests in hotels of the grade concerned:

"Guest" means a person who, pursuant to an agreement with the proprietor to accept and pay for lodging at an hotel, is occupying a bedroom in that hotel, but does not include any person who occupies a room in an hotel in accordance with a contract of service with the proprietor. Until a bedroom is vacated it shall be deemed to be occupied, and a bedroom shall not be deemed to be vacated until the proprietor or his agent is notified by the guest to that effect:

* Gazette, 12 March 1953, Vol. I, p. 453

† Gazette, 6 May 1954, Vol. II, p. 711

"Hotel" means premises customarily known as private hotels, and includes guesthouses and accommodation-houses, but does not include any premises in respect of which a licence under the Licensing Act 1908 has been granted or any premises not for the time being referred to in the Schedule hereto.

(4) Unless an agreement to the contrary is made between the proprietor of an hotel and a guest at the hotel the charges specified in subclause (2) hereof may be made for each of the items of accommodation prescribed in that subclause that are available to the guest, notwithstanding that he may not have availed himself of any such accommodation.

(5) Where a guest occupies a bedroom after 10 a.m. on any day but vacates the bedroom before 7 p.m. on that day, he may be charged half the amount prescribed in subclause (2) hereof as the daily charge for a bedroom if he vacates the room before 2.30 p.m. on that day, and three-quarters of the amount so prescribed if he vacates the room before 7 p.m. on that day. A bedroom occupied at any time after 7 p.m. on one day and before 10 a.m. on the following day may be charged for at full daily rate so prescribed.

(iii) In no other case shall an additional charge be made with respect to a bathroom or toilet.

(b) Shower Room:

(i) Where a shower room and toilet are provided for the exclusive use of the occupant or occupants of one bedroom or for the exclusive use of the occupants of two bedrooms, a charge not exceeding 2s. 6d. per day or part thereof (to be equally apportioned among the persons to whom the shower room and toilet are available) may be made therefor.

(ii) In no other case shall an additional charge be made with respect to a shower room or toilet and in no case may any person be charged for both a bathroom and a shower room.

(c) Meals Served in Bedroom—Where any meal, other than early morning tea, is served in a bedroom a charge not exceeding 1s. may be made for each such meal.

(d) One-night Surcharge—Where a bedroom is occupied for only one night a charge not exceeding 2s. per guest may be made.

(e) One Person in Double Room—Where at the request of a guest that guest is the sole occupant of a double bedroom the charge for that room may be twice the appropriate charge for a bedroom authorised by subclause (2) of clause 6 hereof.

(2) Except as provided in this order no charge for any services rendered or accommodation supplied at an hotel shall be made unless the Tribunal has previously approved of the charge or unless an agreement is made between the proprietor of the hotel and the person to be charged for payment of special charges for services additional to those customarily rendered at the hotel.

8. The charges fixed by the foregoing provisions of this order are fixed with respect to adults and children not less than six years of age. The maximum charges that may be made with respect to children under six years of age shall be half of the charge fixed for adults.

GENERAL

9. Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing provisions of this order, the Tribunal, on application by the proprietor of any hotel in the Towns of Queenstown or Rotorua or on its own initiative, may regrade any hotel to a higher or lower grade or may assign a grade to any hotel that has not been graded and, upon the grade of any hotel being altered pursuant to this clause, this order shall be read and construed as if the name of the hotel were included in the Schedule hereto and the altered grade specified therein in respect of the hotel.

10. Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing provisions of this order and subject to such conditions, if any, as it thinks fit, the Tribunal, on application by any proprietor, may authorise special maximum prices in respect of any services to which this order applies where special circumstances exist or for any reason extraordinary charges are incurred by the proprietor.
