Retailers' Prices

7. (1) Subject to the following provisions of this order, the maximum price that may be charged or received by any retailer carrying on business at one of the places specified in the Second Schedule hereto for any standard mash to which this order applies shall be the appropriate price specified in the said Schedule, and with respect to any other mash shall be the appropriate price fixed for No. 1 laying mash or No. 1 chick mash (as the case may be) reduced at the rate of £7 per ton, unless a price order or a special approved price is in force with respect to such mash.
(2) Subject to the following provisions of this order, the maximum price that may be charged or received by any retailer carrying on business elsewhere than at one of the places specified in the Second Schedule hereto for any mash to which this order applies shall be the lesser of (a) the price that may be charged by a retailer carrying on business at the nearest specified place increased by the appropriate proportion of any freight charges actually incurred between that place and the retailer's store, or (b) the price that may be charged by a retailer carrying on business in the specified place from which the mash was purchased, increased by the appropriate proportion of any freight charges actually incurred between that place and the retailer's store.

GENERAL

8. (1) The prices fixed by the foregoing provisions of this order are fixed with respect to mash packed in sacks of the following sizes: 48 in. by 23 in., 46 in. by 23 in., and 41 in. by 23 in.
(2) Where any mash is packed in sacks or bags of any other size the said prices shall be reduced by 12s. 6d. per ton unless a different price is specially authorised under the provisions of clause 9 of this order.
(3) The prices fixed by this order are net and include the cost of the sacks or bags.

PROVISION FOR SPECIAL PRICES

9. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the foregoing provisions of this order, and subject to such conditions, if any, as it thinks fit, the Tribunal, on application by any manufacturer, merchant, or retailer, may authorise special maximum prices in respect of any mash to which this order applies where special circumstances exist or for any reason extraordinary charges (freight or otherwise) are incurred by the manufacturer, merchant, or retailer. Any authority given by the Tribunal under this clause may apply with respect to a specified lot or consignment of mash, or may relate generally to all mash to which this order applies sold by the manufacturer, merchant, or retailer while the approval remains in force.
10. Where the price computed in accordance with the provisions of this order is, in the case of a manufacturer or merchant, not an exact number of pence, it may be computed to the next upward penny, and where, in the case of a retailer, it is not an exact number of pence or halfpence, it may be computed to the next upward halfpenny.

DUTY IMPOSED ON VENDORS OF MASH

11. Every vendor of mash to which this order applies shall state, in the appropriate invoice relating to the sale, the kind of mash to which the sale relates, that is to say, whether it is No. 1 or No. 2 laying mash, No. 1 or No. 2 chick mash, or mash that is other than standard mash.

NOTE—At stations where departures from normal have an asterisk, the temperature record has been maintained for less than ten years, the rainfall record for less than twenty years. Rainfall normals have been revised and now refer to the standard period 1921-50. Where observations are not available for the whole period, or where the site of the rain gauge has been changed, the normals are partly interpolated.

NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR DECEMBER 1958

General: Warm, unsettled weather predominated throughout December. Over most of the North Island it was very dull and wet, but it was much sunnier in eastern and southern districts of the South Island. In Canterbury more rain would have been welcomed in order to offset the effects of the very dry spring. It was a good month for dairy production, and cattle were reported to be in good condition. In some parts of the North Island conditions were too wet for sheep, and lambs have not fattened well; blowfly strike was also causing some trouble. Heavy rains in the Taupo catchment area brought to an end a long period of electric-power restrictions.

A north-westerly gale caused some damage in Christchurch and other parts of Canterbury on the 12th.

Rainfall: It was a very wet month over the North Island (except the Gisborne district) and in Nelson, few places having less than double the normal rainfall. From Taranaki across to Rotorua and Taupo, with rainfall three or four times the average, it was the wettest December on record. The only serious flooding occurred on Christmas Eve, when slips and washouts disrupted road and rail traffic in the centre of the Island.

Over most of the South Island and in the Gisborne district rainfall was a little above average, but in mid-Canterbury and near the south-east coast it did not quite reach the average.

In a thunderstorm on the 16th in the Levin-Otaki area hailstones as large as half an inch in diameter caused serious damage to fruit crops.

Temperatures: Temperatures were about 3° above normal in the North Island and in the northern part of the South Island. From there the departure from average gradually decreased southwards and was only about ½° F. on the Southland coast.

Sunshine: Sunshine totals were very low except in eastern and southern districts of the South Island, where they were close to average. In central and northern districts of the North Island the deficiency amounted to about 2½ hours a day, making it one of the cloudiest Decembers on record in that area. New Plymouth, Rotorua, and Tauranga have not previously recorded such low December totals.

Weather Sequence: For the first few days an active trough of low pressure moved slowly over the South Island causing widespread rain. It became quite weak by the time it reached the North Island on the 4th. Next day there was some further brief rain in the South Island during the passage of a cold front.

After an anticyclone had brought temporary improvement on the 6th, another very active trough accompanied by a broad belt of rain began to pass slowly across the country. A low pressure centre formed within the trough to the west of the North Island on the 8th and, though it did not deepen to any great extent, it caused widespread prolonged rainfall over most of the North Island for several days.

With the approach of a deep and extensive disturbance across the Tasman Sea rain again developed on the West Coast on the 10th and later spread for a time to other districts of the South Island. The main centre of this disturbance passed to the south on the 13th but another soon developed over the Cook Strait area and moved slowly southwards to pass off the South Island on the 19th. During this very unsettled period from the 11th to the 19th heavy and persistent rains affected the greater part of the North Island, especially the central plateau. East of the South Island ranges falls were relatively light.

On the 20th a trough which still retained considerable activity lay stationary across Northland and the Bay of Plenty, while a ridge of high pressure brought a temporary clearance to the South Island. With the southward movement of the trough rain became general over the North Island and the northern part of the South Island and continued for several days. A low pressure centre developed and moved across the middle of the North Island giving exceptionally heavy rainfalls there which resulted in considerable disruption to holiday traffic by road and rail on the 24th.

A cool southerly change with rain had advanced over the South Island on the 22nd and 23rd when an anticyclone was centred near Tasmania. The latter moved north-eastwards to pass across Northland on the 27th. The weather improved on the 25th although occasional showers were reported from many parts of the country. Pressures remained relatively high to the north for the rest of the month while a series of depressions passed in the far south bringing rain at times to districts in and west of the main ranges. One of these depressions was centred close to Southland on the morning of the 29th and during the day north-westerly gales were reported about and south of Cook Strait. The associated cold front gave brief rain also in western and northern districts of the North Island as it moved north-eastwards, but fair weather then prevailed generally with the approach of an anticyclone from the Tasman Sea.
