NOTE—At stations where departures from normal have an asterisk, the temperature record has been maintained for less than 10 years, the rainfall record for less than 20 years. Rainfall normals have been revised and now refer to the standard period 1921–50. Where observations are not available for the whole period, or where the site of the rain gauge has been changed, the normals are partly interpolated.

NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR JULY 1959

General: Like the previous month, July was comparatively mild and sunny over most of the South Island. In the North Island it was a fairly typical July.

Most of the country enjoyed a spell of settled, sunny weather from the 10th to the 21st. By contrast a spell of south-easterly weather from the 23rd to the 26th was particularly cold and wet, with snow to low levels in the South Island and well down on the hills of the North Island. During this latter period some lambing losses were reported in Hawke's Bay and Wairarapa. In general, however, conditions have been very favourable for stock and pastures have shown a little growth even in the South Island.

Rainfall: Over the greater part of the country rainfall was close to or somewhat below normal. On the West Coast and in Otago it was mainly half the average value, and in western and southern districts of the North Island about two-thirds.

The only considerable area with rainfall well above normal consisted of North Canterbury and Marlborough (excluding the Sounds). In parts of this area rainfall was more than double the average value.

Temperatures: Temperatures were mainly close to average in the North Island, and 1–2 degrees above average in the South Island.

Sunshine: Most eastern districts, areas about Cook Strait, and South Westland were favoured with 10–40 hours more sunshine than usual. In the Christchurch–Ashburton area it was one of the sunniest Julys on record, with totals ranging from 150 to 170 hours.

In western districts north of Greymouth and from New Plymouth to Auckland sunshine was below normal by about 20 hours.

Weather Sequence: On the first two days of the month a depression crossed the North Island, with rain. On the 3rd and 4th a weak trough brought rain to southern and western districts of the South Island. On the next day the trough intensified as it moved over the North Island, and rain became general. With rising pressures on the 6th the weather cleared in most districts, but a depression developing east of the North Island caused conditions to remain unsettled in Gisborne and parts of Hawke's Bay. From the 7th to the 9th a depression from the Tasman Sea crossed the central districts with general rain.

From the 10th to the 21st pressures remained high as an anti-cyclone originally centred over New South Wales moved slowly eastward, to become centred over New Zealand. It was a period of settled and predominantly mild weather over most of the country. However, except on the 18th and the 21st, conditions were unsettled in western and far southern districts of the South Island owing to the passage of depressions to the south. Some showers were also reported in Northland, mainly during the early part of the period; and weak troughs brought light rain to Taranaki and south-western districts of the Auckland Province on the 14th and 16th.

Conditions from the 22nd to the 29th were in marked contrast to those prevailing in the previous 12 days. Since winds were mainly from an easterly quarter, the weather remained fair or fine on the West Coast and on the Southland coast. Elsewhere there was frequent rain, heavy at times, with some very cold temperatures. An anticyclone was centred to the south, later south-east, of the South Island, while a very deep depression initially east of Tasmania drifted slowly towards the North Island. Coldest temperatures occurred in the south-easterlies from the 23rd to the 26th, with snow temporarily to low levels in parts of the South Island and well down on the hills in the North Island. The 26th was also a day of heavy rain for eastern and some northern districts of the North Island as winds became more north-easterly. By the 27th the depression was losing intensity, and another centre developed. As the two shallow centres moved over the country during the next two days temperatures became much milder and rain was confined to the North Island and some northern districts of the South Island.

On the last two days of the month pressures were high to the north and low to the south. Rain was reported on the western and southern coasts of the South Island.

Price Order No. 1783 (Woolpacks)

PURSUANT to the Control of Prices Act 1947, the Price Tribunal hereby makes the following price order:

1. This order may be cited as Price Order No. 1783, and shall come into force on the 28th day of August 1959.
2. (1) Price Order No. 1749* is hereby revoked.
- (2) The revocation of the said price order shall not affect the liability of any person for any offence in relation thereto committed before the coming into force of this order.

APPLICATION OF THIS ORDER

3. This order applies only with respect to sales by way of retail of 42 in. woolpacks.

FIXING MAXIMUM RETAIL PRICE OF WOOLPACKS TO WHICH THIS ORDER APPLIES

4. (1) Subject to the following provisions of this clause, the maximum price that may be charged or received by any retailer for any woolpacks to which this order applies shall be:

- (a) For woolpacks sold by a retailer carrying on business at one of the ports of Auckland, Wellington, Lyttelton, or Dunedin: 11s. 10d. each.
- (b) For woolpacks sold by a retailer carrying on business elsewhere than at one of the ports mentioned in paragraph (a) hereof: 11s. 10d. each, increased by the appropriate proportion of the freight charges incurred by the retailer in obtaining delivery from such one of the said ports as is most convenient of access to his store:

Provided that, where any woolpacks to which this paragraph applies are obtained by the retailer elsewhere than from such one of the said ports as is most convenient of access to his store, the increase authorised by this paragraph shall not exceed the appropriate proportion of the freight charges that would have been incurred by the retailer if the woolpacks had been obtained from that port and if delivery had been effected at current freight rates.

(2) The maximum prices fixed by the last preceding sub-clause are fixed as for delivery f.o.r. or f.o.b. as the case may require.

(3) Where any woolpacks are delivered by a retailer otherwise than f.o.r. or f.o.b., the price that may be charged by the retailer shall be the appropriate price in terms of the foregoing provisions of this clause increased by the amount of the freight charges incurred by him in effecting delivery and then reduced by the amount of those charges that would have been incurred by him if he had delivered the woolpacks f.o.r. or f.o.b. as aforesaid.

(4) Any freight charges imposed by a retailer pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this clause shall be shown separately on the appropriate invoice.

5. Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing provisions of this order, and subject to such conditions, if any, as it thinks fit, the Tribunal, on application by any retailer, may authorise special maximum retail prices in respect of any woolpacks to which this order applies where special circumstances exist, or for any reason extraordinary charges (freight or otherwise) are incurred by the retailer. Any authority given by the Tribunal under this clause may apply with respect to a specified lot or consignment of woolpacks or may relate generally to all woolpacks to which this order applies sold by the retailer while the approval remains in force.
