(I. and C.)

Provided that if a wholesaler cuts portions from a whole export or a whole medium cheese for sale by way of wholesale he may add to the appropriate maximum price (computed in accordance with the foregoing table) that may be charged or received for such whole cheese the sum of ¼d. per pound.

Provided further that for the purposes of this order the cutting of a cheese does not alter the classification of such cheese as set out in clause 3 (1) of this order.

(2) For the purposes of this clause the weight of any cheeses, other than those sold in crates and cartons, shall be deemed to be their actual weight when delivered to the purchaser, and the weight of cheeses sold in crates or cartons shall be deemed to be their weight as at the time of placing in crates or cartons.

7. Notwithstanding anything in clause 6 of this order, the maximum prices that may be charged or received for any cheese to which this order applies by any manufacturing dairy upon any sale to a wholesaler shall be ¼d. per pound less than the prices computed in accordance with the said clause.

RETAILERS' PRICES

8. (1) The maximum price that may be charged or received by any retailer for any cheese to which this order applies shall be determined in accordance with the following provisions, namely:

- (a) In the case of cheese sold by a retailer to whom supplies of Cheddar cheese are available, free of freight charges, for delivery at his store from any source whatever, the maximum retail prices shall be: (i) Loaf size 2s. 2d. per pound, and (ii) All other sizes 2s. 0d. per pound.
- (b) In cases to which the last preceding paragraph does not apply, the maximum retail prices shall be:
  - (i) Loaf size 2s. 2d. per pound, and
  - (ii) All other sizes 2s. 0d. per pound increased to the next upward halfpenny by the appropriate proportion of the freight charges incurred by the retailer in obtaining delivery at his store:

Provided that where any cheese to which this paragraph applies is obtained by the retailer from a source of supply that is not the most convenient of access to the retailer's store, the increase of the price per pound authorised by this paragraph shall not exceed the appropriate proportion of the freight charges that would have been incurred by the retailer if the cheese had been obtained from the source of supply most convenient of access to his store, and if delivery had been effected by a common carrier at current freight rates.

(2) Where the quantity of cheese sold by a retailer in any one transaction is not an exact number of pounds, the maximum price shall be computed at the rate per pound fixed in accordance with the last preceding subclause.

(3) If in respect of any cheese the retail price charged in accordance with the provisions of this clause is not an exact number of pence or halfpence, the maximum price shall be computed to the next upward halfpenny.

FREIGHT CHARGES

9. Any cheese, sold in pursuance of clause 6 of this order by a manufacturing dairy to a wholesaler, shall be delivered freight free to the nearest railway station to the purchaser's premises, or to the point of delivery to which it is customarily given.

SPECIAL PRICES WHERE EXTRAORDINARY CHARGES INCURRED

10. Subject to such conditions, if any, as it thinks fit, the Tribunal, on application by any retailer, may authorise special prices in respect of any cheese to which this order applies where special circumstances exist or for any reason extraordinary charges (freight or otherwise) are incurred by the retailer. Any authority given by the Tribunal under this clause may apply with respect to a specified lot or consignment of cheese or may relate generally to all cheese to which this order applies sold by the retailer while the approval remains in force.

NOTE—At stations where departures from normal have an asterisk, the temperature record has been maintained for less than 10 years, the rainfall record for less than 20 years. Rainfall normals have been revised and now refer to the standard period 1921–50. ## NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR JUNE 1962

General: June, like May, was unusually mild, especially in the South Island. There was still some growth in pastures, even in the south. However, in parts of the North Island the ground was becoming too wet, as is usually the case in the winter months.

Rainfall: Rainfall was mainly close to normal. However, it was only two-thirds of the average value in Nelson and Marlborough (excluding the Sounds), also in central Hawke's Bay, coastal Bay of Plenty, and eastern Northland. It was 50 per cent above average in western Waikato and Waitomo and in some inland areas south of Christchurch.

Widespread, steady rain over the catchment of the Waikato River on the 21st and 22nd caused some flooding.

Temperatures: Temperatures were above normal by 2 to 3 degrees in the North Island and by 3 to 4 degrees in the South Island. Wellington had its warmest June for nearly a century.

In most districts north of Christchurch the first week was exceptionally mild, temperatures being above the normal value for the month by 6 to 9 degrees.

Snow fell on the ranges of both islands from the 12th to the 14th and it was also reported in the hill country of West Otago from the 23rd to the 25th.

Sunshine: Sunshine was mainly close to or somewhat below normal. It was unusually cloudy in South Canterbury, Timaru recording only 76 hours of sunshine, the lowest in 36 years of observation.

The only areas favoured with more than 20 hours sunshine above average were Northland and Auckland and central Marlborough.

Weather Sequence: The first eight days were marked by exceptionally mild temperatures. During the first two days a complex depression covered New Zealand. There was general rain over the North Island, heaviest in the Taranaki-Waitomo area, and scattered light falls over the South Island. The depression moved away to the south-east and pressure had also become low to the south and south-west of the country, so that on the 3rd and 4th winds were mainly from a westerly quarter, with further rain in western districts of the North Island and some rain also on the west coast of the South Island. A depression developed to the north-east on the 5th, and another depression advanced over the north Tasman Sea, crossing Northland on the 6th, and moving past East Cape on the 7th. This was a particularly wet period in the Auckland Province, with flooding on the Rangitaiki Plains and in parts of the Gisborne district. The West Coast and most remaining areas of the North Island also received some rain. Conditions improved in the south-westerlies on the 8th, but it was still showery on the West Coast and in western districts of the Auckland Province.

A ridge of high pressure brought fair weather for the next two days, except in Southland and Otago, which were affected by a cold front on the 10th. This cold front crossed the remainder of the country during the next two days, while at the same time a shallow depression moved down the east coast of the Auckland Province. Some rain was reported in most districts. The depression moved away only slowly and remained active, while a southerly change occurred in the south. Showers were reported in western districts north of Egmont and also on southern and eastern coasts from Invercargill to Gisborne. Temperatures became colder, with snow on the ranges.

A small anticyclone covered the country on the 15th and 16th, with fair weather, apart from some showers in South Westland and Fiordland. By the 17th a very deep depression was centred far to the south-west, and strong north-westerly winds brought heavy rain to the West Coast, with some rain also in Taranaki and Southland. On the following day rain became fairly general with the passage of a trough of low pressure. The 19th was for the most part fair, but on the 20th another trough crossed the country. This was associated mainly with winds from a westerly quarter, and most of the rain fell in and west of the Alps.

During the next two days a depression formed on a trough and crossed the North Island with fairly general rain, heaviest about the catchment of the Waikato River, with some flooding. The depression moved away to the south-east but remained active, and from the 23rd to the 25th winds were mainly south-westerly, with showers in most districts. Gales buffeted Hawke's Bay and Wairarapa. Another trough of low pressure crossed the country during the next three days and shallow depressions formed on it. Considerable rain was reported, except in Otago and Southland. The weather improved in many districts on the 29th as the trough moved away and winds turned to cold southerlies, but showers persisted from Dunedin to East Cape. However, on the last day of the month a ridge of high pressure brought mainly fair weather.
