Remembrance Day 1967

CITIZENS and traffic control authorities throughout New Zealand are requested to observe Remembrance Day on Sunday, 12 November 1967.

The observance of this day should be similar to that of Remembrance Day last year. Two minutes' silence should be observed from 11 a.m., and all vehicular traffic should halt during that period.

The Government trusts that churches will agree to arrange, as far as practicable, for a morning service on this day to commence at such time as to enable two minutes' silence to be observed at 11 o'clock.

Where a citizens' memorial service is held, it is suggested that it should be at the local cenotaph or war memorial.

Dated at Wellington this 12th day of October 1967.

KEITH HOLYOAKE, Prime Minister.

(I.A. 158/55/1)

Officer Authorised to Take and Receive Statutory Declarations

PURSUANT to section 9 of the Oaths and Declarations Act 1957, His Excellency the Governor-General has been pleased to authorise the officer in the service of the Crown being the holder for the time being of the office of Postmaster, Te Atatu South, to take and receive statutory declarations under the said Act.

The Indecent Publications Act 1963

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963 and in the matter of an application by Robert White, sales director, on behalf of Panther Books Ltd., of London, regarding a book The Psychopathia Sexualis, by R. V. Krafft-Ebbing, submitted to the Tribunal with the leave of the Minister of Justice.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

LEAVE to submit this book to the Tribunal was granted by the Minister of Justice. We have considered it accordingly.

It is very different in character from books the Tribunal has had hitherto to consider. It is a scientific treatise, largely the case book of an eminent Viennese psychiatrist dealing in particular with sexual aberrations. It was first published in 1886, and this, the seventeenth edition, has been brought up to date by the inclusion of fresh material. The particular book we have to consider is a "paper back" priced at one dollar 25 cents.

The book is not suitable reading for adolescents but because of its specialist value, and having regard to the provisions of subsection (b) of section 11 of the Statute we do not classify it as indecent. Mr Heron had appeared on behalf of the publisher and argued that the book was produced as a serious study of the topics it dealt with. The Justice Department was represented and submitted that, because of the special character of the book there should be some restriction on sale.

Although we do not classify the book as indecent we make an order restricting its sale to persons concerned either professionally or as students, with sexual abnormalities.

K. M. GRESSON, Chairman.
