Tariff and Development Board Notice No. 68—New Zealand - Australia Free Trade Agreement

1. In accordance with the intention to take the necessary action, expressed in letters of 31 August 1965, exchanged between the Minister of Overseas Trade and the High Commissioner for Australia in New Zealand in association with the New Zealand - Australia Free Trade Agreement, the Minister has requested the Tariff and Development Board to consider and to report to him on any questions arising from the undertaking to eliminate the margins by which the rates of duty at present applicable to goods imported into New Zealand from Australia exceed those applicable to such goods when imported into New Zealand from any third country or territory other than the Cook Islands and Western Samoa or countries eligible for any concessional Tariff treatment accorded to less developed countries.

2. Notice to this effect was given in the New Zealand Gazette on 25 January 1968, by Tariff and Development Board Notice No. 61, wherein the Board listed the items to be considered initially and invited interested parties to make representations on any item or items affected.

3. The Board has received representations regarding a number of the items listed in notice No. 61, and accordingly proposes to conduct public inquiries on the questions referred to it by the Minister in respect of the goods listed in Schedules A and B of this notice.

4. In the course of such inquiries the Board will have regard to representations made about any of the existing rates of duty on the goods concerned and about import licensing as affecting such goods.

5. For the purpose of taking evidence on these matters, the Board will hold public inquiries in the Boardroom, First Floor, New Zealand Law Society Building, 26 Waring Taylor Street, Wellington, commencing at 10.30 a.m. on the dates shown in the following schedules.

6. Any person who intends to tender evidence should comply with the "Notes for Guidance of Witnesses", which have been prepared by the Board. A copy of these notes may be obtained from the under-named.

7. Twelve copies of typewritten statements of evidence to be tendered, compiled in accordance with these notes, should be lodged with the under-named not later than the dates shown in the Schedules. Each statement will need to be presented, under oath, at the public inquiry by the person tendering it.

Dated at Wellington this 29th day of August 1968.

P. A. T. ABRAHAM, Secretary,
Tariff and Development Board.

The "normal" refers to the present site of the instruments. The standard periods for normals are: for temperature 1931-60, for rainfall 1921-50, and for sunshine 1935-60. No normals are available for stations with only short records.

*Sunshine recorder is not located at the station but is in the near vicinity.

NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR JULY 1968

General—July was marked by an unusually high frequency of winds from an easterly quarter. Excessive rain in eastern districts was not welcome. In Gisborne and Hawke's Bay after two very wet months the ground was waterlogged in some areas, adversely affecting the health of stock. On the other hand, many western North Island districts found the comparatively low rainfall favourable for growth and for stock.

There was an excessive accumulation of snow in parts of Southland, Otago, and South Canterbury, especially the high country. This was followed by heavy frosts in the same areas, isolating stock and necessitating the use of helicopters to keep them fed.

Rainfall—East of the main ranges and in the Waimea Plains of Nelson, also in Coromandel and parts of Northland, rainfall was mainly 50 percent above average. The greatest excesses were recorded just inland from Gisborne and around Kaikoura, where totals were more than double the normal value. West of the main ranges, in the Southern Lakes district and in parts of Southland, Otago, and inland Canterbury, it was below average, mainly by about 30 percent. In North Taranaki, Waitomo, and parts of Waikato it was less than half the average and some stations in this area enjoyed their driest July for many years. In the Southern Lakes district rainfall was also less than half the average value.

Temperatures—In Southland, Otago, and inland South Canterbury temperatures were mainly 2-5 degrees below average, with greatest departures in the high country, where this was the coldest month since July 1938. Elsewhere temperatures were mainly close to average.

The snowfalls on the last four days of June on the high country of both islands and to low levels in the South Island persisted for the first four days of July, and there were further falls about 10-12 July and on the 25th. Frosty conditions, especially during the first half of the month, allowed little opportunity for the snow to melt over the greater part of the South Island. On the hills to the southwest of Mossburn at an altitude of about 2,000 ft the depth was reported as 2 ft, and 10 ft in the drifts, and it remained frozen there for 3 weeks.

Very severe conditions were experienced, even at quite low altitudes where a continuous snow cover persisted. For example, Tara Hills, Omarama (altitude 1,600 ft) had snow lying on the ground the whole month, never less than 5½ in. in depth. The mean temperature was 23°F the lowest ever recorded in New Zealand for a month below an altitude of 3,000 ft. On 8 days the maximum temperature failed to reach 32°F, the lowest maximum being 20°F on the 14th. The air temperature fell just below 0°F on the 6th, 7th, and 14th.

Sunshine—The West Coast and inland Canterbury were especially favoured, with 30-80 hours more sunshine than usual. Haast received 182 hours, the highest for July in 26 years of observation. Other areas with sunshine somewhat above average were western North Island districts, most of Marlborough and Nelson, and parts of Otago and Southland.

The only areas which received appreciably less sun than usual were northern Northland and parts of northern Hawke's Bay.

Weather Sequence—The month began with 4 days of cold south-westerly weather, a continuation of that experienced on the last 4 days of June. Pressures remained very low to the south-east and a small depression crossed Northland, while an anticyclone moved eastward across the South Tasman Sea. There were further falls of snow on the high country of both islands and down to low levels in the south; and many other districts received some rain. By the 5th the anticyclone had moved on to the South Island and the weather was mainly fine, though still very cold.

The anticyclone soon moved to the east of the South Island, and a depression from the North Tasman Sea moved close to Northland. In the moist north-easterlies rain was reported on the 6th and 7th in Northland, and in all eastern districts as far south as Christchurch, including Coromandel and Bay of Plenty. Conditions remained rather similar during the next 2 days as the depression crossed the North Island, but there was scattered rain in some other districts. As the depression moved away to the Chatham Islands on the 10th it was mainly western districts which were affected. However, a southerly change on the 11th and 12th brought further rain to districts east of the main ranges, with snow on the high country of both islands and down to quite low levels in parts of Southland, Otago, and Canterbury. For the next two days the weather was mainly fine, under the influence of a ridge of high pressure. However, Northland, South Westland, Fiordland, and Southland received rain at times.

During the 15th and 16th fairly general rain was reported with the passage of a depression to the south, while the associated trough of low pressure crossed the country. An anticyclone soon moved on to the South Island, while a depression near Raoul Island moved slowly southward. For the next 3 days cold south-easterlies brought rain to Gisborne, Hawke's Bay, Wairarapa, and Wellington. However, on the 20th the weather was fine.

By the 21st a complex depression covered the eastern Tasman Sea, with centres near Norfolk Island and west of Cook Strait. In the moist northerlies heavy rain set in over Nelson, Westland, and parts of Marlborough. Rain became general during the next 3 days as the two centres crossed the country. With increasing pressures the weather improved in the south on the 25th and became generally fine on the following day, when an anticyclone was centred over the North Island.

The centre of the anticyclone moved to the south-east near the Chatham Islands. The weather deteriorated in Northland, Fiordland, and South Westland on the 27th with the approach of a trough of low pressure over the Tasman Sea. On the following day a depression was centred to the north-east of Auckland, and during the remaining days of the month it moved past East Cape with a second centre forming. Easterlies set in again over the North Island, bringing considerable rain to Gisborne, Hawke's Bay, and Wairarapa.
