Decisions of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

No. 188 and 189

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for decisions in respect of—

- Sons of the Sun*, the authors being A. Baeye, Hannelore Mehner, Reinhard Thomas, and Klaus Uhse; published by Book Horizons, Harrow, Middlesex, England.
- Sons of Sun and Health*. The authors are Spencer Martindale and Doris Milward. Published by Sun and Health Ltd., Harrow, Middlesex, England.

DECISIONS OF THE TRIBUNAL

BOTH these books were imported by the Waverley Publishing Co. Ltd. with the consent of the Comptroller, so that they could be submitted to the Tribunal for classification.

The first book is a colour photo album of nude males. Apart from two possible exceptions, there is nothing harmfully suggestive in the work. We classify it as not indecent.

The second book differs from the first only in that the photographs of nude males are accompanied by some text, dealing with the history of nudism and the approach over the years to the unclad human form. The text is well written, factual, and quite dispassionate. We classify this book as not indecent.

F. McCARTHY, Deputy Chairman.

Decisions of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

No. 184-187

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application to the Tribunal for decisions in respect of the following books, all published by Lancer Books Incorporated, New York—

The Secret Diary of Ho Chi Minh's Daughter.

Bestseller.

Mistress of Bayou Labelle.

My Secret Life with Older Women.

DECISIONS OF THE TRIBUNAL

THESE books have been considered by the Tribunal upon the application of the Comptroller of Customs. In respect of each book the Tribunal decides as follows:

The Secret Diary of Ho Chi Minh's Daughter, by Lanh Ba.

This paper-back book, the true authorship of which is described as a literary mystery, purports to tell the story of a young Vietnamese girl who, after seduction by a priest, becomes a prostitute in Saigon. Finally, by blackmail, she induces a U.S. serviceman to marry her and take her to New York. After her marriage has broken up she resumes her former way of life.

The emphasis throughout is on sex, perversion, and homosexual practices and the narrative is so presented as to be calculated to excite prurient interest. The title is misleading, for the basis of the young woman's relationship with Ho Chi Minh is clearly a fabrication.

The Tribunal is of the opinion that the book is indecent within the meaning of the Act, and classifies it accordingly.

Bestseller, by Toni Freedman.

This paper-back book is described on its suggestive cover as "The electrifying, sensational novel of a genuine, 24 carat, all-American bitch".

It certainly measures up to this description in its detailed account of the sexual adventures of a young lady who wrote a best seller. The emphasis is on sex, presented in a false and debased light. Drug-taking and various perversions are added for good measure, to complete a sordid picture which is quite meretricious and could very well be harmful.

We classify it as indecent.

Mistress of Bayou Labelle, by Lou Cameron.

This paper-back tells the story of a New Orleans prostitute who, by deceit and murder, gains title to a plantation. It is highly coloured, but not entirely without merit, set as it is against a background which provides a picture of plantation life at the time. The author has, however, thought fit to include descriptions of sexual torture and other features which we consider are presented in a manner calculated to exploit prurient interest. It offends against almost every provision of the Act which we are obliged to take into account.

We classify it as indecent.

My Secret Life with Older Women, by James Blaine.

This paper-back tells of the sexual adventures of a young "spiv" in the field of gerontophilia. It portrays in crude terms how this hero, by his sexual progress with older and thwarted women, extracts from them extensive wealth. It ends with a gloating description of a shockingly violent murder in the midst of a sexual orgy. Its whole tone is antisocial.

It is clearly indecent and we classify it as such.

F. McCARTHY, Deputy Chairman.

Decisions of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

No. 179-183

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by Murdock Riley, of Wellington, company director, as agent for the publishers, for decisions in respect of the following books—

A Courtesan's Caresses.

Coupled.

Sexualis '69.

Between Two Women.

My Bed is Not for Sleeping.

DECISIONS OF THE TRIBUNAL

THE application is made by leave of the Acting Minister of Justice. Mr Downey appeared in support of the application.

In respect of each book the Tribunal decides as follows:

A Courtesan's Caresses; a paper-back book, written by Anne Zorine and published by Brandon House, of California.

The price of the book in New Zealand is $2.20. Despite a psychological and semi-philosophical introduction, entitled

"Notes on the Erotic" by Dr Rudolph Conway, PH.D., in which he purports to deal with the modern approach to sex and sexual behaviour, this translation of a fictional account of the sexual life of a young refugee whilst making her way from Russia to France to escape from the Russian Revolution has little to commend it.

The theme of the whole work is sex. The approach is prurient, with undue emphasis in crudely expressed detail on sexual experiences, and deviationism of both heterosexual and homosexual kinds.

As we are firmly of the view that it comes within the definition of indecency in section 2 of the Act, the Tribunal classifies it as indecent.

Coupled; written by Gill Porter and published by Essex House, of California.

The price of this paper-back in New Zealand is $2.20. This work purports to be the story of the sexual aberrations of a group of young married couples who happen to live in an allegedly "exclusive" new housing estate in California. It portrays in detail "wife swapping", adultery, and sexual deviationism, with some homosexuality.

There is no plot, no theme, no message or thesis. Take out the sexual machinations and intrigues, all told with lubricious detail, and there is just nothing left.

The Tribunal determines it is indecent.

Sexualis '69; written by Aaron J. Abelard and published by Barclay House, California.

The New Zealand price of this paper-back book is $2.20. Although this book is described by the publishers as a psycho-sex study and contains a bibliography plus a glossary, none of these trappings in our view takes it beyond what we feel is its true purpose; namely, an expositional emphasis on sexual practices in various forms. We adopt the publisher's own description of the "case histories", viz., "Vivid and no-holds-barred" as being apt.

The true nature of the work is perhaps shown by the advertisements for similar literature, plus an order form. Although the Tribunal has considered several books of this type, we feel the true objective of this book is indecent within the meaning of the Act.

We classify it as indecent.

Between Two Women; written by Peter Keyes and published by Brandon House, California.

The New Zealand price of this paper-back book is $1.50. This "happy ending" story deals with the sexual affairs of a young architect, shared between his client, her mother, and her mother's companion.

The plot is a tangled skein, although it unravels in the end. There is little architecture in it but a great measure of sexual activity all round, lesbianism and other sexual deviations, and blackmail by means of a "blue" film depicting erotic practices between the mother and her companion.

By way of makeweight the book contains the same erotic advertisements as those in Sexualis '69, with which we have also dealt.

The emphasis on sex is of such a kind as to bring it within those provisions of the Act which would make it indecent.

We accordingly classify it as indecent.

My Bed is Not for Sleeping; written by Gerty Agoston and published by Universal Publishing and Distributing Corporation, New York, and Universal-Tandem Publishing Co. Ltd., London.

The New Zealand price is $1.05. This quite well-written novel is, to quote the publishers, "The love chronicle of a high-spirited young woman who after many ill-fated affairs and one disastrous marriage (all of which she recounts with unflinching honesty and frequent strokes of bold almost grotesque humour) discovers the fulfilment of complete physical and emotional abandon with her ultimate lover."

Parts of the tale are quite amusing and are told in language which is in no way crude or offensive. Were it not for its lack of morality and the intimate detail with which the author describes some of her aberrant sexual experiences, we should perhaps declare it not indecent; but we feel that in the hands of young impressionable readers of either sex it could be harmful.

We take into account those matters which we are required to take into account under sections 10 and 11 of the Act, and determine it is indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 17 years.

We are obliged to Mr Downey for his assistance in dealing with these five books.

24 November 1969.

F. McCARTHY, Deputy Chairman.
