No. 255

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by Murdoch Riley of Wellington, company director, for decision in respect of the book Venus in India by Captain Charles Devereaux, with an introduction by Milton Van Sickle. Published by Holloway House Publishing Co., Los Angeles. Paperback $1.25.

Mr Downey appeared for the publishers and made submissions on 2 October 1970.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

THIS novel details the adventures of an army officer posted to India during the latter part of the nineteenth century. It consists of a tiresome recital of sexual intrigue and conquests, written in a style of prurient artificiality and coy gentility. It may have some interest for students of Victorian erotica and adult readers should have access to it. It is not, however, suitable for younger readers, for whom the experiences detailed could be disturbing, such is their emphasis in the narrative and their tone.

The Tribunal classifies it as indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years of age.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the book Erotic Fantasies by Drs P. and E. Kronhausen. Published by Grove Press. Hardback price $10U.S.

There was no appearance of the applicant nor of the publishers agent in New Zealand.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

THIS work is by two well-known practising psychotherapists and is said to be the result of a systematic review of erotic underground literature undertaken as part of their research into the role of fantasy in human sex psychology. As the dust jacket says, the book "consists primarily of excerpts from this literature" and the commentary provided is in places very slight and perfunctory. The dominant impression is not that suggested by the subtitle "A Study of the Sexual Imagination" (which would have required consideration of the finest classics of literature as well) but of a commercially conceived compilation of erotic episodes. These present an extensive repertoire of sexual activities, sometimes in gross and bizarre detail, and this makes it undesirable that the book should be taken up by young readers.

The Tribunal classifies it as indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years of age.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for decision in respect of the book Fetishisms by George Simon and Hans Freudel, PH.D. Published by Softcover Library, New York. Paperback U.K. 5s.

There was no appearance on behalf of the applicant nor of the publisher's representative in New Zealand.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

THIS book is similar in several respects to others considered by the Tribunal. There is a large number of case histories of sexual abnormalities, a provocative cover and excited preliminary insistence on the "dramatic" and "authentic" quality of the narrative.

But this book differs from most of the others in that there is substantial discussion of the behaviour recorded and the tone of this is not suggestive or flippant. Taking the book as a whole, however, we consider that restriction of its circulation is justified, the objectionable features of its presentation being calculated to attract impressionable and immature readers to perversion.

The Tribunal classifies it as indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years of age.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by John McGee Arthur, of Wellington, manager, for decision in respect of the book Commander Amanda Nightingale by George Revelli. Published by New English Library, London. Hardback U.K. 25s.

Mr Kerr appeared on behalf of J. M. Arthur, the publisher's agent, and made submissions.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

THIS book tells the story of a heroine of World War II described on the dustcover as "the beautiful—but inexperienced—English spy who left her sexpertise marked on the history of Occupied France". Flown into Occupied France she is quickly captured and imprisoned in an abandoned schoolhouse by two German Army officers and their female companion. At first she is terrified but soon she is an inseparable friend of the three Germans and a willing partner in sexual games that would have made her faint with horror a few weeks earlier. This novel is grossly sadistic and is a story of sexual brutality and torture which the heroine comes to crave making a kind of double perversion.

This emphasis on sadistic practices and perversion makes the book unsuitable for general reading by young people. The Tribunal therefore classifies the book indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years of age.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs in respect of the book More Walter being a further examination of My Secret Life by Drs E. and P. Kronhausen. Published by Morntide Ltd., London. 1 Volume paperback 15s.

There was no appearance on behalf of the Comptroller of Customs, nor of the publisher's representative in New Zealand. Accordingly no submissions were made to the Tribunal.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

VOLUMES I and II of this book were considered by the Tribunal on 9 September 1968 (Classification No. 107) and Volume III which we are now considering is very much in the pattern of Volumes I and II. The reasons given by the Tribunal for its decision at that hearing are valid in respect of Volume III.

The Tribunal in that decision stated that the subject matter of the book was perhaps sordid rather than disturbing but might well lead young persons into thinking the author's particular obsessions more usual and more tolerable than they are.

This also can be said of Volume III and the Tribunal therefore classifies the book indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years of age.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs in respect of the book 491 by Lars Gorling. Published by Sphere Books Ltd., London. Paperback price $1.25.

There was no appearance on behalf of the Comptroller of Customs, nor of the publisher's representative in New Zealand. Accordingly no submissions were made to the Tribunal.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

THIS book was originally published in Sweden in 1962 and in English translation in the United States in 1966. It was published in England in paperback by Sphere Books in 1970. It deals with a group of delinquent boys who instead of being sent to prison or borstal are placed in a welfare hostel. Here, in return for occasional interviews with psychologists and other social workers, they are largely left to their own devices with minimal supervision. Naturally enough, the group—all unattractive, even repulsive characters—get up to all kinds of pointless activity.

It is a realistic novel, and a quite serious social commentary on delinquency and society's treatment of the delinquent. Apart from certain episodes, the book taken as a whole, does not appear to be injurious to the public good. It is reasonable to place an age restriction on its circulation, particularly because of the age group it deals with.

The Tribunal classifies it as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs in respect of the book The Soft Machine by William Burroughs. Published by Corgi Books, Transworld Publications Ltd. Paperback price $1.

There was no appearance on behalf of the Comptroller of Customs, nor of the publisher's representative in New Zealand. Accordingly no submissions were made to the Tribunal.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

WILLIAM Burroughs' The Soft Machine is the third of his novels to be submitted to the Tribunal. In 1964 Dead Fingers Talk was held to be not indecent, but in November 1967 Naked Lunch was held to be indecent. Burroughs is a controversial example of the modern experimental novelist; in all his writings the major themes recur—drug addiction and homosexuality, with a strong admixture of science-fiction fantasy.

The situations and language alike are not for the squeamish, but the author's seriousness of purpose must be taken into account. The very episodic treatment and the turgid, involved and rather impenetrable style make it unlikely that many readers would persevere with it for long, unless they are students of literature, psychology, or sociology.

The Tribunal classifies it as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs in respect of the books There was a Fair Maid and There was a Young Lady by Hugh de Witt, There was a Young Wench by Seymour Legge, all published by Universal-Tandem Publishing Co., London. Paperback price 5s.

There was no appearance on behalf of the Comptroller of Customs, nor of the publisher's representative in New Zealand. Accordingly no submissions were made to the Tribunal.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

THESE collections of limericks and anecdotes are largely puerile and harmless and although the chestnut tree has been well shaken to assemble them they would, for the most part, pass muster in the smoking room. There is, however, a large enough quantum in each of material which we do not believe to be socially acceptable to lead us to declare the books to be indecent.

In this decision we follow the sense of our decision on Why was he Born so Beautiful and Other Rugby Songs, dated 15 July 1968, gazetted 25 July 1968, No. 46, p. 1254, subsequently numbered 75, where we said "The question for the Tribunal is not whether footballers should amuse themselves by bawling these songs off the field, but whether their text should be given a wider circulation in what may be called the decent licence of print; and the Tribunal decides that it should not". Similarly with these paperbacks we do not consider it to be in the public interest to extend the currency of the more objectionable material included.

The Tribunal classifies them as indecent.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Secretary for Justice for decisions in respect of the magazines Figure Photography Quarterly 1968, Vol. 55, Photographs the Figure No. 1, The Queens from King No. 1, Yearbook of Queens Vol. 817, Dapper Vol. 5, No. 3, Swank Vol. 16, No. 8, Flirt 'n Skirt Annual No. 2, Flirt No. 18, Girlie Fun No. 13, Skirt No. 13, My Love Story No. 8, 9, and 11, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for decisions in respect of the magazines Nude Love in Paradise, Nude Love for Two, Skirt No. 22.

We are required to classify under the Act the above magazines which we have listed in four groups:

Group (a) Figure Photography Quarterly 1968, Vol. 55.

Photographs the Figure No. 1.

Group (b) The Queens from King No. 1.

Yearbook of Queens Vol. 817.

Dapper Vol. 5, No. 3.

Nude Love in Paradise.

Nude Love for Two.

Group (c) Swank Vol. 16, No. 8.

Flirt 'n Skirt Annual No. 2.

Flirt No. 18.

Girlie Fun No. 13.

Skirt No. 13.

Skirt No. 22.

Group (d) My Love Story No. 8, 9, and 11.

There was no appearance by either applicant or by any of the publishers or their agents. Accordingly no submissions were made.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

THE magazines listed in the first three groups are either of the "girlie" or of the nudist type, comprising in the main nude or semi-nude illustrations of little artistic merit, but not all of them intended to be provocative. The illustrations are, in some cases, interspersed with short features and stories, mostly slender in content and occasionally frankly prurient, but sometimes more generally acceptable in tone and purpose.

The Tribunal has, on a number of occasions, adjudicated on similar publications, particularly in our decisions of 15 July 1968, commonly called the Waverley decisions and now numbered 93-103. These were published in the New Zealand Gazette of 25 July 1968. They classified publications of these types into three categories according to certain criteria. These criteria were also applied in Classifications No. 157 and 158 of 12 September 1969. We now apply these criteria to the publications before us, and assign classifications accordingly.

We classify the magazines listed in Group (a) above as falling within the first category and therefore not indecent. In respect of these two publications we repeat what the Tribunal said in the earlier judgment referred to, that we do not believe the Act requires that young people should be kept in ignorance of the adult form.

The magazines listed in Group (b) above we classify in the second category, and we declare them to be indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years of age. We consider that in the hands of mature persons publications of this kind are generally not unacceptable, but some restriction on their display will best give effect to the intention of the Act.

The magazines listed in Group (c) we place in the third category and we classify them as indecent.

Group (d) comprises three magazines of a different type. They are published for the stories they contain and the few illustrations of the text are generally quite unexceptionable. The stories are of no literary merit and are, in the main, flimsily contrived accounts of successions of sexual experiences. We do not consider them likely to corrupt mature persons but the apparent intention of the producers to present sex as something to be taken neither seriously nor naturally does appear to bring the magazines within the scope of the Act. It can scarcely be in the public interest that they should be published to impressionable young people.

The Tribunal classifies them as indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years of age.

No. 281

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by Calder and Boyars Ltd., London, by their duly authorised agents Swan, Davies, McKay and Co., for a decision in respect of the book Last Exit to Brooklyn by Hubert-Selby Jr. Published by Calder and Boyars Ltd. Distributed by Corgi Books. Paperback price $1.70.

Mr Heron appeared on behalf of the publishers, Calder and Boyars Ltd., of London.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

Last Exit to Brooklyn has already been considered by the Tribunal, in a hard-covered edition. On 1 November 1967 that edition was held to be indecent except in the hands of adults engaged in work or research in sociological and related fields. This classification, subsequently numbered 52, was gazetted on 9 November 1967, No. 7, p. 1938. The present application is in respect of a paperback edition emanating from the same publisher, Calder and Boyars Ltd., and described as the "Post-trial edition, complete and unexpurgated". There is an introduction by Anthony Burgess detailing the history of the original edition in the English Courts.

The book now before us was submitted by Messrs Swan, Davies, McKay and Co. on behalf of the publishers; Mr R. A. Heron appeared and made submissions in support of the application.

Mr Heron invited the Tribunal to take into account the passage of time since the decision on the hard-cover edition, and to consider whether public standards might not have changed sufficiently for a less restrictive classification to be appropriate in this case. He directed our attention also to the circumstances of the prosecution of the publishers of the book in England.

Under the relevant legislation it was not open to the English Court to apply a restrictive classification of the kind contemplated under the in rem procedure provided by our Indecent Publications Act 1963. In England the proceedings were criminal proceedings under section 2 of the Obscene Publications Act 1959. Section 2 is the section under which defendants may claim a jury trial, and it was by a jury that these defendants were found guilty. The decision, however, was reversed by the Court of Criminal Appeal—not on grounds of being wrong in substance, but because of inadequacies in the trial judge's summing-up and direction to the jury. In the event, as Mr Heron very fairly pointed out, the book has been neither condemned nor exonerated by the English Courts, and the decision is of little persuasive force in New Zealand.

We are, however, inclined to accept Mr Heron's contention that in terms of our Act and at the present time the book, even in paperback form, should not be classified as restrictively as we classified it in 1967. At that time the Tribunal said:

Last Exit to Brooklyn describes life in a district of New York where an underprivileged and frustrated population is reduced to the extremes of lawlessness and vice. The dominant effect of the book may well be one of revulsion which could nevertheless evoke salutary compassion and concern; it has the stamp of honesty and anger; such a document should not be ignored.

Its proper use however is not as casual reading for the general public because it deals almost exclusively and in sickening detail with the grossest forms of evil. We therefore classify this book as indecent except in the hands of adults engaged in work or research in sociological and related fields.

We attach weight to the view expressed by counsel that the importance this work has assumed in contemporary literature is such that adults should now be able to read it.

The Tribunal classifies it as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

R. S. V. SIMPSON, Chairman.
