DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

THIS is a translation of a modern French erotic novel. In spite of the claims of the publishers, it has little literary merit and is a tedious account of the sexual obsessions of a young French wife who flies to Bangkok to join her husband in the diplomatic community there. Her life is given up to an unending search for sexual gratification in every way except within the bonds of matrimony. It is unsavoury and obscene, and the explicit descriptions of sexual encounters which comprise the major part of the book offend against the Act.

The Tribunal classifies this book as indecent.

No. 699-702

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for the decisions in respect of the magazines Oz, No. 29, 38, 41, and 43, published by Oz Publications Ink, London.

Mr Fligg appeared on behalf of the applicant and made submissions. Mr Taylor, the importer of the magazines, appeared and made submissions.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

It was stated by the Customs Department that these four issues of Oz had been referred to the Tribunal in order to establish a guideline for its treatment in New Zealand. A lengthy submission was made by Mr A. Taylor, who had brought the four copies in question into the country when returning from an overseas visit.

In Mr Taylor's view, Oz appeals "primarily to young people who are politically motivated, intelligent, with a sense of humour, an eye for good graphics, generally interested in a high literary standard and a thirst for the investigative journalism and harsh social comment Oz so often provides."

Oz may be taken as a fair representative of the alternative press of the counter-culture. The four issues before the Tribunal deal in a highly critical way with a number of important social issues, including ecology, women's liberation, violence, and drugs. While there is a certain sexual content—particularly in some of the cartoons—we do not find it to be blatantly intrusive on the main, satirical purpose of the magazine. Treating each issue as a whole, it is clear that Oz is a magazine of some social and political significance in the contemporary world, particularly to that part of the younger generation who are highly critical of accepted mores. The explicitness of some of the sexual contents leads us, however, to consider an age restriction justified to prevent its circulation to immature children.

The Tribunal classifies Oz No. 29, 38, 41, and 43 to be indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 16 years.

No. 703-704

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Secretary for Justice for decisions in respect of the magazines Continental Film Review, Vol. 20, No. 1 and 2, published by Europ Publishing Co., London.

There was no appearance of the applicant nor of the publisher's representative in New Zealand. Accordingly no submissions were made.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

THIS is a long-established British magazine which appears to deal with current European film production. It includes news of film-making activities and reviews of new films, and it is liberally illustrated with stills from the films dealt with. The pictures are generally in context but have a heavy emphasis on nudity, and occasionally violence. Because of this we consider some restriction on their circulation is justified.

The Tribunal classifies Continental Film Review, Vol. 20, No. 1 and 2 as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

R. S. V. SIMPSON, Chairman.

No. 705

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of a reference to the Tribunal, under section 12 (1) of the said Act, by the Magistrate's Court at Wellington for a decision and report in terms of the said section in respect of the book The Modern Eveline.

Mr Riske, a party to the Court proceedings, appeared and made submissions.

DECISION AND REPORT

THIS book is introduced by an anonymous editor as his adaptation, to the Edwardian period, of a book written some 200 years earlier of which he had many extracts and notes, his copy of the original having been sold by his publisher before it could be given a new edition. Whatever the circumstances of the composition of the text before the Tribunal, its claims as a period work are slight. There is no substantial or convincing social context created, nor any literary merit to offset the preoccupation with the sexual exploits of the indefatigable heroine which are told in tones of profuse and approving candour.

The dominant effect of the book is to portray sexual behaviour in a way and with an emphasis that offend against the provisions of the Act.

The Tribunal classifies this book as indecent.

Tariff and Development Board Notice No. 374—Inquiries Concerning Tariff Protection for Various Goods—Public Hearings

1. In a letter of 22 June 1973, the Minister of Customs asked the Board to undertake inquiries into the goods listed in the attached Schedules with the objective of providing Government with a basis for restructuring and updating the Tariff to establish, where possible, adequate rates of duty protection on the goods involved.

2. For the purpose of taking evidence the Board will hold public hearings commencing at the times and on the dates shown below in the Hearing Room, Eighth Floor, Cumberland House, Upper Willis Street, Wellington.

Goods	Time and Date of Public Hearing	Closing Date for Receipt of Representations	Tariff Provisions Items Under Reference
Matches of Tariff heading 36.06	10.30 a.m., Tuesday, 13 November 1973	23 October 1973	Schedule A
Saccharin tablets etc. of Tariff item 21.07.022	10.30 a.m., Tuesday, 20 November 1973	30 October 1973	Schedule B
Post-mix beverage carbonating machines, vibratory feeders of Tariff item Ex 84.59.129	10.30 a.m., Tuesday, 4 December 1973	13 November 1973	Schedule C

3. Parties intending to make representations or requests about appropriate rates of customs duty are asked to take into account the statements of 7 May 1973 by the Minister of Overseas Trade about the phasing out of British preferences from the New Zealand Tariff, and by the Minister of Trade and Industry about the interim New Zealand - Australia Trade Agreement 1973. Copies of these statements can be obtained from the undersigned. In a letter dated 6 April 1973, the Minister of Trade and Industry indicated that, while Government has asked the Board to consider the question of a single tariff rate, for trade policy reasons the Board's recommendations on this aspect will not necessarily be made public for the time being.

4. The attention of interested parties is drawn to the fact that the Board may find it appropriate to comment upon and compare the relative merits of protection by means of tariff rates and import licensing when used jointly or separately.

5. Any person who intends to tender evidence should lodge, in typewritten form, 14 copies of public evidence and 12 copies of confidential evidence, to be presented under oath at the public hearing at the Board's office no later than the dates shown above. In preparing this evidence the "Notes for Information and Guidance of Interested Parties" prepared by the Board may be of assistance. Copies of these notes may be obtained from the Board's office.

6. In any instance where no evidence is received in respect of any goods classified within a particular Tariff item, the Board may recommend that no protective rates of duty be applied to those goods.

Dated at Wellington this 31st day of July 1973.

F. E. BEAUFORT, Secretary, Tariff and Development Board.

Where the extremes of temperature and rainfall have occurred more than once during the month, the date of the first occurrence is given.

NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR JUNE 1973

General—June was a mild month. There was an unusually high frequency of north-easterly winds in the North Island and of northerly winds in the South Island, causing wet conditions in Northland, Gisborne, and Hawke's Bay but dry, relatively sunny conditions in Canterbury, Otago, and Southland. The mildness was appreciated by farmers, who reported good growth still over the greater part of the North Island. However, in parts of Nelson, Marlborough, and Canterbury conditions were too dry, as in previous months.

Rainfall—Rainfall was mainly below normal by 25-50 percent. Most of South Canterbury and Otago with parts of eastern Southland and also considerable areas of Marlborough and Nelson received less than half the normal value. It was particularly dry around Dunedin, in North Otago, and South Canterbury, and also just west of Nelson City.

On the other hand, rainfall was above normal in most northern and eastern districts of the North Island, and in parts of the Southern Alps.

Temperatures—Temperatures were above normal, mainly by 1°C. Highest departures were recorded in the North Island. The mildest periods were from the 2nd to the 9th and from the 24th to the 26th.

The lack of snow on the ranges was very noticeable, especially in the South Island.

Sunshine—Southland, Otago, Canterbury, and the greater part of the West Coast were favoured with 20-50 hours more sunshine than normal. Invercargill's total of 97 hours was the second highest recorded there in June in over 40 years of observation.

Over the remainder of the country sunshine was mainly about normal.

Weather Sequence—At the beginning of June an anticyclone was centred to the east of the North Island, extending over New Zealand and the eastern Tasman Sea, with fine weather. On the 2nd a small depression west of Northland caused some rain there and in Auckland. During the following 3 days a trough extending from north to south, associated with a depression far to the south of Campbell Island, moved slowly eastward over the country, becoming stationary near Auckland. There was general rain with the passage of this trough, including some considerable falls on the West Coast, and in Taranaki, Bay of Plenty and Northland. Temperatures remained mild. As the trough moved off eastward on the 6th and another one was approaching the South Island from the west, rain persisted over most of the North Island and also on the West Coast.

On the 7th and 8th this trough commenced to cross New Zealand. It was associated with a depression just west of Southland and a second centre soon developed over the north Tasman Sea. Rain persisted in the west of both Islands while temperatures remained mild. During the following 2 days this northern centre moved on to Northland from the west, causing considerable rain over the North Island, especially in northern districts, while a south-westerly change with cooler temperatures affected the South Island. On the 11th, with the depression off the coast of Hawke's Bay, colder south-westerly conditions spread to the North Island with showers, except in a few eastern districts. Some western and southern districts of the South Island were also still having showery periods, as in the previous 2 days. On the 12th an anticyclone centred east of the North Island brought generally fine weather.

During the 13th and 14th a large depression over the north Tasman Sea moved south-eastward across the North Island, causing considerable rain, mainly over the North Island. The rain was particularly heavy in Gisborne and northern Hawke's Bay; in the ranges falls of 200 mm were reported over the 2 days. By the following day the depression had departed well to the east, and cold south-easterlies covered the country with showers from Christchurch to East Cape. On the 16th and 17th pressures remained low to the east, while another depression was moving eastward to the north of Northland. Showers persisted on the east coast of the North Island and rain was now reported in Northland.

From the 18th to the 22nd an anticyclone over the south Tasman Sea moved slowly across New Zealand to the east. This provided a welcome spell of fine weather, particularly in the North Island, but conditions were rather frosty.

During the next 2 days a trough of low pressure associated with a depression far to the south moved eastward over the country, bringing rain to the West Coast, besides Northland, Bay of Plenty, and Auckland, which were affected by a depression to the north. On the 25th a complex trough associated with another depression far to the south moved on to the country with fairly general rain except in eastern districts from Balclutha to East Cape. Temperatures had become mild once again. On the 26th a small wave formed on this depression near Cook Strait and rain became general with considerable falls about Wellington. As the trough moved away during the following 3 days colder south-westerlies prevailed, with showers in Fiordland, Southland, and Otago, and also at first in many parts of the North Island. On the last day of the month an anticyclone over the south Tasman Sea moved on to the South Island. The increased southerly flow caused cold, showery conditions in Southland, the Christchurch area, the east coast of the North Island, and about Cook Strait.
