The "normal" refers to the present site of the instruments. Standard period for normals is 1941-70. No normals are available for stations with only short records.

*Indicates that the sunshine recorder is not located at the station but is in the near vicinity.

A rain day is a day with rainfall equal to or greater than 0.1 mm.

Where the extremes of temperature and rainfall have occurred more than once during the month, the date of the first occurrence is given.

NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR MAY 1976

General—May was marked by an unusually high frequency of south-westerly winds, with sunny dry conditions in eastern districts of the North Island but rather cloudy wet conditions in the far south-west of the South Island. The rain in Southland and Otago was greatly appreciated after the very dry weather in April. Elsewhere stock were reported to be in good condition and growth was slowing up; but in Gisborne and Hawke's Bay some farmers found the weather too dry.

Rainfall—Rainfall was below normal over the North Island, except in South Taranaki and Manawatu. It was also below normal over the South Island, except in Southland, most of Otago, and most of the West Coast. It was less than half the normal value east of the ranges from East Cape to Kaikoura; also in eastern Northland, Coromandel, and parts of Bay of Plenty. Negligible amounts were recorded in the Ruatoria-Tolaga Bay area and about, and north of Napier, which received only 7 mm, its lowest May rainfall in 76 years of record. The only area with rainfall more than 50 percent above normal was Central Otago.

Temperatures—Mean temperatures were below normal in the North Island and the departure amounted to 1–2°C in most northern and eastern districts. They were mainly close to normal in the South Island, except for coastal districts from Dunedin to Invercargill, which were 1°C warmer than normal.

Sunshine—Sunshine was above normal by 25 to 55 hours in eastern districts north of Dunedin; also in Northland, most of Bay of Plenty and Taupo. Kaitiaki's total of 202 hours and Gisborne's 196 hours were record high values for May. The only areas with sunshine below normal, by 20–30 hours, were South Taranaki-Wanganui-Manawatu, parts of Buller, and Southland with parts of Central Otago.

WEATHER SEQUENCE

On the first two days of May a deepening depression near the Chatham Islands was moving southeastward, while an anticyclone was centred over south-east Australia. Rain was reported mainly in western and northern districts of the North Island but some showers were reported in Southland and parts of Otago. Temperatures were rather cool. During the next two days, as the depression moved away and the anticyclone moved across the Tasman Sea on to Northland, the weather was mainly fine with somewhat warmer temperatures, especially in the South Island. On the 5th and 6th a trough of low pressure near the South Tasman Sea, associated with a depression far to the south, crossed New Zealand, and a small secondary depression formed on it. Rain commenced on the West Coast and later spread to Nelson and to western and some northern districts of the North Island. On the following day another trough of low pressure crossed the South Island, bringing showers to most western districts and coastal Southland with colder temperatures in the far south.

During the 8th and 9th a trough of low pressure associated with a depression far to the south crossed New Zealand and a small depression formed near Cook Strait. Rain affected most of the country but it was very light in some eastern districts. Temperatures became colder in the south. On the following day an anticyclone was centred near South Australia, while pressures were still low to the east of the country. In the south-westerlies scattered showers were reported, mainly light. From the 11th to the 13th the anticyclone advanced only slowly on to the Tasman Sea, and another trough of low pressure brought fairly general rain and colder temperatures. On the following day cold south-westerlies once more predominated, with scattered showers, mainly in eastern and southern districts of both islands.

From the 15th to the 17th an anticyclone moved across the Tasman Sea and on to the North Island. Some scattered showers were reported in the south-westerlies, and on the 17th some rain was reported in south Westland. During the next three days a trough of low pressure crossed New Zealand and a depression developed on it over the South Island. Rain was fairly general except east of the ranges in the North Island. Temperatures were rather warm in eastern districts of the South Island on the 18th but soon became cooler again.

On the 21st and 22nd an anticyclone over the Tasman Sea moved slowly northeastward across the country. Scattered light showers were still reported. During the next two days the anticyclone moved slowly across the North Island while a deep depression was centred far to the south of Tasmania. The weather was mainly fine but rather cold. However, showers were reported at times on the West Coast, in Nelson, and around Auckland. During the 25th and 26th a complex trough of low pressure moved slowly eastward across New Zealand accompanied by fairly general rain, except in some eastern districts.

On the 27th and 28th a belt of high pressure extended across south-east Australia and the North Tasman Sea, later extending also to the east of the North Island; while a deep depression was passing far to the southwest. Rain affected Fiordland besides parts of Westland and western Southland, while temperatures became warmer. For the last three days of the month pressures still remained low to the south and a trough of low pressure crossed the South Island. In the westerlies rain persisted in Fiordland and spread at times to the remainder of the West Coast. On the 29th Southland and parts of Otago were also affected. Temperatures remained comparatively warm.

AUDITORS' REPORT

We have examined the balance sheet of the South Canterbury Savings Bank as at 31 March, 1976, and the related profit and loss account for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with the general principles of auditing and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In accordance with an accounting policy of the bank depreciation on fixed assets has been calculated to reduce each asset to its estimated residual value by the end of its probable useful life. The rates used are those approved by the Commissioner of Inland Revenue. It is considered that the amount charged in the profit and loss account does not differ materially from that which would result from calculating depreciation on the straight line method.

We have obtained all the information and explanations that we have required and, in our opinion, the accompanying balance sheet and profit and loss account together with the statement of accounting policy and notes, attached thereto, present fairly the financial position of the South Canterbury Savings Bank at 31 March 1976, and the results of its operations for the year then ended.

HUBBARD, CHURCHER & CO.,
Chartered Accountants.

Timaru, 17 May 1976.

Notes to the Annual Accounts 31 March 1976

STATEMENT OF ACCOUNTING POLICY

1. Accounting Principles—The accounts have been prepared in accordance with general accounting principles, consistent with previous years, based on historical cost, and there have been no changes to accounting policy during the year.

2. Depreciation—The fixed assets have been depreciated at ordinary depreciation rates as allowed by the Inland Revenue Department. All assets still in use are included in the bank's books and it is calculated that the depreciation rates being used will write off the items over the period of their useful lives. In accordance with the bank's established policy, no additional depreciation as provided for by the Inland Revenue Department as special exemptions on the purchase of plant have been claimed for taxation purposes.

3. Investments—New Zealand Government stock and local authority securities are shown at face value. The redemption due on maturity in regard to stock purchased under par is shown as a reserve to be brought into account upon either maturity or sale of the stock concerned.

4. Personal Loans—Advances by way of personal loans have been adjusted for interest yet to mature as shown in the balance sheet. The policy is to add interest to the full advance at the commencement of the loan. This amount is brought into revenue during the appropriate financial years by applying the "Rule of 78".

5. Mortgages—Mortgage applications approved but for which the funds have not been uplifted at 31 March 1976 amount to $514,100.

6. Property—The bank owns premises in Timaru, Temuka, and Waimate, and leases premises in Ashburton, Geraldine, Tinwald, and Timaru. The leases have been negotiated to provide long-term tenancy options.

7. Taxation—The amount provided for income tax is the amount of the calculated tax liability in respect of the accounting profit shown for the year by the profit and loss account.
