Decision No. 875

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of a reference by the Magistrates Court, Wellington, for a decision in respect of the following publications: The Collected Adventures of Harold Hedd, No. 1, and Adventure with Harold Hedd, No. 2—both published by Last Gasp Eco-Funnies, Berkeley, California.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), D. M. Wylie, I. R. Cross, and Miss W. M. Rolleston.

Hearing: 19 July 1976.

Appearances: Mr P. E. Leloir for Comptroller of Customs, Mr L. M. Hupert for Hupert Book Distributors Ltd.

DECISION

These two comics are intended for an audience well beyond the normal juvenile one; their obvious appeal is to what Americans call the college generation. Although there is some degree of emphasis on sex and violence this really takes second place to satirical comment on contemporary society. We can see no harm in their circulation to adults and to the mature teenager. This is following fairly closely a previously established conclusion of the Tribunal. In its decisions numbers 767-786 given on 14 December 1973 (New Zealand Gazette 1974, Vol. 1, p. 19-20) the Tribunal in dealing with a large group of comics was able to divide them into three groups, of the third of which it was noted: "The sexual contact is minimal and lacks the blatancy of other comics in this set. Indeed there is little which could be considered harmful to the more mature reader." The Tribunal stated that this group "could, if it were possible be allowed restricted circulation". The Harold Hedd comics generally belong with the third group so identified on that occasion.

Their form, however, does present us with a problem. The provisions of s. 11 (3) of the Act refer to "any picture story-book likely to be read by children", and in effect require us either to give a complete clearance or to impose a complete ban—the middle ground of an age restriction is not available to us for this type of publication. The two now before us clearly fall within the intention of the legislature in placing this subclause in the Act of bringing comics under closer scrutiny. It may be questioned whether such publications as the Harold Hedd comics would be likely to be read by children, but their whole appearance is outwardly similar to the ordinary comic produced specifically for children and therefore likely to be picked up and read by them.

This type of comic publication—the so-called "underground comic"—was little known even in its home, the United States, when the Act was passed 13 years ago, and the Tribunal regrets that it is now restricted in its dealing with comics clearly intended for an adult market, and a sophisticated one at that. The Tribunal accordingly finds Collected Adventures of Harold Hedd, No. 1, and Adventure with Harold Hedd, No. 2, to be indecent.

Dated this 30th day of November 1976.

Decision No. 876

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the following publications: Men Only, Vol. 40, No. 11 and 12 and Vol. 41, No. 1, and Club International, U.K. Vol. 4, No. 12, all published by Paul Raymond Publications Ltd. of London.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), D. M. Wylie, Mrs L. Edmond, and Miss W. M. Rolleston.

Hearing: 2 November 1976.

Appearances: Mr P. E. Leloir for Comptroller of Customs.

DECISION

In March 1974, the Tribunal declared indecent Vol. 8, No. 10 of the magazine, Mayfair (Decision 798). In May 1974, four issues of the magazine New Exclusive were declared indecent (Decision 816).

In reaching the latter decision, the Tribunal said... "The text, photographs, and advertisements in the magazines concentrate on presenting sex in a crude and prurient way...

There is nothing in the magazines to complicate the simple, direct appeal they make to vicarious indulgence in their parade of poses and possibilities. The overall effect is to debase sex in a way which the Tribunal judges to be harmful."

Having re-examined the magazines to which decisions 798 and 816 refer and having compared them with the four magazines now before the Tribunal, we can find little difference in balance of content and tone between the two sets of magazines. The comment made in decision 816 applies equally to these four magazines.

The Tribunal classifies these four magazines as indecent.

Decision No. 877

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Secretary for Justice for a decision in respect of the following publications: Forum (New Zealand Edition) Vol. 3, No. 10, 11, and 12, and Vol. 4, No. 1, published by Seven Seas Publishing Pty. Ltd., Wellington.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), D. M. Wylie, I. R. Cross, Mrs L. Edmond, and Miss W. M. Rolleston.

Hearing: On the 12th and 19th days of October 1976.

Appearances: Mr D. P. Neazor and Mr P. J. Cullen for Secretary for Justice, Mr P. J. Downey for Seven Seas Publishing Pty. Ltd.

DECISION

These 4 magazines are consecutive issues of the New Zealand edition. Forum is published in England, America, Australia, France, and Belgium/Holland on a basis which allows a free interchange or republishing of articles appearing in any edition. The New Zealand edition is nearly all republished from English, American, and Australian editions. There is therefore very little editing in the accepted sense. The issue may be said to reflect rather the policies and ideas of the overseas editions than the New Zealand edition. The magazine has been distributed in New Zealand for about 5 years and in its present format, as a New Zealand edition, for over 4 years. It was previously considered by the Tribunal in 1972 (Decisions 518 and 519) when 2 issues of the English edition were classified as indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years.

These 4 issues have been submitted to us by the Secretary for Justice and in a lengthy hearing we have heard evidence from New Zealand and United Kingdom witnesses and have received full submissions from the parties and from the Society for the Promotion of Community Standards Inc. and the Concerned Parents Association.

While we have heard and given careful consideration to the evidence presented to us we express our reservations as to the usefulness or relevance of a great deal of that evidence in making our decision. No doubt evidence can be useful and relevant in considering some of the matters listed in section 11 (1). In this case expert medical and psychological witnesses can guide us in matters of medical, social, or scientific character or importance and general evidence may be of some use in assessing the purpose and motives of the persons associated with the publication and distribution of the magazine. In the end however it is the Tribunal which must exercise its own judgment and experience in determining the character and classifying the magazines or books before it. Evidence by others as to the desirability of censorship, the standards of the community here or elsewhere and the witnesses views as to indecency generally or in relation to the book in question are unacceptable and indeed impertinent if considered as an endeavour to replace the function of the Tribunal.

In the end evidence given by Doctors Bremner, Sparrow, and Miss Colgan is of some assistance though limited to a small part of our considerations. On the other hand the evidence of Mr. Hodson and the Rev. Mr. Varah given as it was with little New Zealand experience is of very little value and even if the honesty of purpose of those men is not in doubt, it is the honesty of purpose of the book or magazine, which is referred to in section 11 (1) (f). This is to be gathered from the magazine itself, read as a whole, rather than from what may be unexceptionable honesty of purpose in the writers or publishers.

We have of course considered each magazine separately and have been guided by the prescriptions of the Act in our consideration. In the end we have made our decision on indecency in accordance with our view of the standards of contemporary society believing that in this case there is no ground to suggest that the magazines deal with sex in a manner that is "injurious to the public good". Indeed counsel for the Secretary did not, in his submissions, rely on that particular definition in section 2 of the Act.

Each of the magazines deals, almost exclusively, with sex in a manner which is explicit and with freedom of language and subject matter. We were told that Forum is dedicated to honesty about sex. There is a didactic purpose behind the magazine but a necessity to make it entertaining and thus commercial. There is an apparent conflict between these aims and purposes which permits the insertion of light-hearted and trivial material such as the "Molly Parkin" articles, which on their own are indecent, beside restrained simple articles in a popular style which could be informative and helpful. Some of the subjects and the manner in which they are presented have given the Tribunal cause for concern.

Again, as in 1972, we have had most difficulty with "The Forum" which republishes letters said to be sent from readers describing real or fantastic sexual experiences. We remain unconvinced that all these letters are "expression of genuine opinions, experiences, criticisms, or interests" as the magazine alleges. We were impressed however by the evidence of Dr Sparrow and Miss Colgan which indicated that even such fantasising can be helpful to those with sexual problems. We have no doubt that any reader of reasonable maturity would distinguish the genuine from the spurious and would not suffer harm in the process.

Some of the articles and "The Forum" in each issue are in themselves on the border line or on the indecent side of acceptability but taking account of the whole of each magazine in light of the matters in section 11 (1) and our view of present-day standards of the community we do not think that these magazines are indecent. We feel however that parts of each of them are unsuitable for reading by younger people who could easily buy this magazine and who might have only a prurient interest in the contents. We believe that a restriction to 18 is appropriate for these magazines.

We were requested to make a restriction order under section 15A of the Act. We refuse to do this on the basis of these 4 issues. We are entitled to make such a restriction order but we believe that this is inappropriate in this case. One of the reasons for making such an order is that a magazine has come under notice of the Tribunal on a number of occasions and perhaps because of a deteriorating standard or because it is undesirable to avoid repeated applications to the Tribunal a restriction order is suitable to provide a standard for the future. Such a reason does not apply here. Our reason for not making a restriction order is that the magazines should be kept under review by the appropriate authorities in case there is a decline in the standards of the magazine which could lead the Tribunal to reconsider the view it presently takes on these issues.

The Tribunal accordingly finds each of these issues of Forum to be indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years of age.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by Patrick Campbell, acting on behalf of Waverley Publishing Co. Ltd., for a decision in respect of the publication Catalog of Sexual Consciousness by Saul Braun published by Grove Press of New York.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), D. M. Wylie, Mrs L. Edmond, and Miss W. M. Rolleston.

Hearing: 2 November 1976.

Appearances: No appearances but written submissions received from the applicant were considered.

DECISION

As is indicated in the title, this is a systematic list or collection of material or references to material relating in the main to sexual matters. It bears some similarity to the History of Underground Comics (Decision No. 872) in that it includes some reprinted matter which is on its own indecent.

Having regard to the whole of the publication and its general effect and intention we think it can be sold and distributed without harm subject to an age restriction.

The Tribunal finds this publication indecent in the hands of persons under 16 years of age.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), D. M. Wylie, I. R. Cross, Mrs L. Edmond, and Miss W. M. Rolleston.

Hearing on the 12th and 19th days of October 1976.

Counsel: Mr P. E. Leloir for Comptroller of Customs; Mr G. Robertson for Penthouse International Ltd.; Mr R. A. Heron, and Mr N. Miller for Gordon and Gotch N.Z. Ltd.

DECISION

These two magazines were submitted to the tribunal by the Customs Department. They are the issues of February and July 1976 in the American edition of the magazine. Submissions and evidence were presented to the tribunal at hearings on 12 and 19 October. Since then the members of the tribunal have read and re-read the magazines and have deliberated on the determination and classification of the magazines on a number of occasions.

Penthouse magazine has been before the tribunal on six occasions, namely in 1966, 1969, March and October 1972, 1974, and June 1975. A distinction has been noted between the English and American editions. The English editions have, generally, fallen within the classification of indecent while the American editions have been held to be suitable for those over 18. At the same time there has been a clearly discernible change in the sexual content of both editions but the American editions have had the redeeming feature of a substantial section of more serious articles and features.

What we have to decide, in light of today's standards in New Zealand, is whether the present two magazines fall within the classifications previously imposed, or whether their style and content show a deterioration or change which would lead us to find them indecent simpliciter. In our view there can be no question of finding them not indecent.

The Customs Department in their submissions claimed that there was a marked deterioration in standard compared with issues previously before the tribunal. Comparison was made with Oui (Decision No. 854) which was held indecent and reference was made to certain articles and photographic sequences in the two Penthouse magazines. We note at once that the type of article to which Customs referred us have been included in previous issues submitted to us and we do not find any particular change in its style or content when compared with the more recent issues of the magazine submitted to us in 1974 and 1975.

The publishers and distributors of Penthouse made lengthy submissions and called evidence both on affidavit and viva voce. As with the recent Forum case a substantial part of the evidence we set aside as irrelevant to New Zealand conditions and as purporting to usurp our own functions. There remains however some evidence which we find helpful as to question of literary merit of some part of each magazine and as to the possibility of some general benefit, in the evidence of sociologists and psychologists, being gained by some readers in the presentation of the sexual material.

The essence of the submissions and evidence on behalf of the magazines is that they provide entertainment, information, and advice for adults with sex taking a significant part but without harm to the reader.

Clearly in both text and photographs there is a predominant emphasis, in each magazine, on sexual matters. This is always frank, sometimes fantastic and sometimes, in particular items, objectionable and indecent. The editors, in the July 1976 issue, say "To Penthouse sexual freedom is a way of life" and this is plainly both the policy and dominant effect of the magazine. There is in addition a quantity of non-sexual, serious, and informative material in each magazine. The balance of these sexual and non-sexual parts remain substantially the same as in past issues of the American editions which have been before the tribunal. What has changed, in our view, is the emphasis in photographs which increasingly concentrate attention on the female genitalia. In addition in the February 1976 issue there is a sequence of photographs which depict, albeit fantastically, a sadistic and lesbian episode.

It is this change which has caused us concern and which indicates a deterioration in the magazine because there has not been any discernible change in other parts of the magazine which would balance or redeem this. In our view this brings the magazines very close to crossing the borderline between the acceptable and unacceptable. At the same time two general observations may be made. The presentation of nudity is not indecent if it is not prurient or salacious. Fantasy or fantastic presentation can lessen the indecency of sadistic or other sexual matters which, in other ways of presentation, are obscene and pornographic.

We think that these magazines are at the limit of acceptance but having regard to the whole of each magazine and to the matters which under the Act we are required to consider, we hold that today in New Zealand they may be distributed subject to the same age restriction as applied before.

The tribunal accordingly finds each of these issues of Penthouse to be indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years of age.

Dated this 23rd day of December 1976.

By J. A. Kininmonth and D. H. Williams

N.Z. FOREST SERVICE INFORMATION SERIES No. 69

16 p. 1974. 50c

The inter-relationships of the variables involved in drying timber are set out, along with the requirements to be taken into consideration, such as grade, thickness, width, and end use of a particular species. Both low- and high-temperature drying are discussed and also special kiln treatments such as preliminary steaming, intermediate high-humidity treatment, equalising, and final conditioning. The kiln schedules are presented in tabular form giving wet and dry bulb temperatures and final conditioning times for various species and moisture contents. MACHINE STRESS GRADING

(An alternative to visual grading of timber for strength)

NEW ZEALAND FOREST SERVICE INFORMATION SERIES No. 66, 1974

By I. D. Whiteside

36 p.

$1.50

This book outlines the need for commercial machine stress grading in New Zealand. Stress grading studies carried out by the writer in 1967 on radiata pine from Kaingaroa Forest showed that machine stress grading gave better grade recoveries over visual grading hence raised the value of a considerable proportion of the sawn output in framing sizes. The writer firmly believes that the introduction of machine grading will help overcome the present lack of stress grades in New Zealand. This lack of availability is thought to have been a major cause of timber not being much more widely used as a structural material in competition with concrete and steel. An informative book for builders, building inspectors, and specifiers to prepare them for the introduction of machine stress graded timber.

THE MAORI AS HE WAS

By Elsdon Best

295 p. 1974 reprint.

$6.50

Fifty years of public demand since this book was first published resulted in the need for reprints in 1934 and 1952. The text has been reproduced unchanged but the originals of some of the figures could not be traced and these have been replaced with similar illustrations. There have been many advances in our knowledge of Maori life since this book first appeared. The work of numerous ethnologists, and more recently archaeologists, has critically examined many of the earlier concepts, confirming some, disproving others, and altering others to varying degrees. No one has yet produced a synthesis of the results of all this scholarship and there is still nothing as comprehensive as this book of Best's to give a general account of the Maori. This book was first published when Best was 68 and thus represents the accumulated knowledge of a lifetime. It has now become a classic introduction to Maori life. Its continued availability should help the reader to obtain a basic background to old time Maori life which can be extended by further reading.
