2. For the purposes of the General Principles hearing which commences on 26 April 1978 the Commission has decided that the rules for giving evidence and undertaking cross-examination will be in accordance with the established practice of the Commission.

3. The Commission has also decided because of the developmental and consultative aspects of its General Textile Industry Reference, the procedures normally adopted by the Commission for public hearings will be varied for the series of 12 sector hearings being conducted between 16 May and 13 July 1978. The "normal" refers to the present site of the instruments. Standard period for normals is 1941-1970. No normals are available for stations with only short records.

*Indicates that the sunshine recorder is not located at the station but is in the near vicinity.

A rain day is a day with rainfall equal to or greater than 0.1 mm.

Where the extremes of temperature and rainfall have occurred more than once during the month, the date of the first occurrence is given.

NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR FEBRUARY 1978

General—During February pressures were higher than normal over the whole of New Zealand, with a predominance of winds from a westerly quarter over the South Island, and easterly to the north of the country. The only areas with rainfall totals appreciably above normal were parts of Poverty Bay and Hawke's Bay, the rest of the country experiencing dry conditions for the second successive month. Some areas had substantial rainfalls during the month, but these were mainly of very short duration and did little to relieve the drought conditions. Over the major part of the country this was a warm, dry, sunny month. Farmers throughout most of New Zealand reported that grass growth had been poor during the month and hay was being fed to stock in many areas. Stock had started to lose condition by the end of the month and dairy production in some places was about 60 percent of normal. On the 17th water spouts estimated to be 100 metres high were observed in the Awanui Harbour, Northland.

Rainfall—The only areas with rainfall above normal for the month were parts of Northland, Poverty Bay, and Hawke's Bay. Some stations had totals of between 50 and 100 percent above normal and Gisborne recorded more than 200 percent above. Some parts of Taranaki, Manawatu, Marlborough, and Canterbury had less than 10 percent of their normal rainfall for the month. Severe flooding occurred in Gisborne on the 5th when an exceptionally heavy thunderstorm passed over the area. Between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. more than 140 mm of rain was recorded at Gisborne Aerodrome. At Taupo on the morning of the 5th, hail 13 mm in diameter was reported to have completely destroyed many gardens in the area.

During the evening of the 16th many suburbs of Auckland were flooded when more than 10 mm was recorded in a period of 2 hours. The southern motorway was littered with stranded cars and many homes were flooded.

At Cromwell, the 14 months from January 1977 to February 1978 inclusive were the driest since records began in 1950. In each of these months the rainfall totals were below normal. For the year 1977 only 67 percent of normal was recorded and for the 14-month period 64 percent.

Temperatures—Apart from some areas in Northland, Southland, and coastal Otago temperatures were above normal by at least 1°C throughout the majority of New Zealand. In parts of Waikato, Bay of Plenty, Central Districts, Manawatu, and Canterbury mean temperatures were above normal by more than 2°C. The warmest days were the 10th and 13th, with cold spells on the 5th, 16th/17th, and 25th/27th.

Sunshine—Sunshine was above normal throughout the country, the largest departures being in Westland and Canterbury. Many stations had 30 percent more sunshine than normal. At Christchurch and Hokitika the highest February totals since the stations began in 1949 and 1964 respectively, were recorded. The total sunshine recorded at Wellington in January and February this year is the highest since records began in 1907.

WEATHER SEQUENCE

The anticyclone that had moved onto the country at the end of January persisted until 3 February. Pressures were low to the north of New Zealand and a trough of low pressure brought isolated rain to many areas as it crossed the country on the 4th and 5th. Some heavy falls were recorded in Taranaki, Hawke's Bay, Wellington, Poverty Bay, and on the Kaikoura coast. Temperatures were very warm in Wairarapa, Wellington, and on the east coast of the South Island at the beginning of the month. A small depression of tropical origin had started to move south, and by the 4th was lying off the Queensland coast. An anticyclone moved onto New Zealand later on the 5th with pressures falling near Tasmania.

The weather continued fine over the whole country, apart from a few isolated showers, until the morning of the 9th, when a cold front associated with a depression to the south of New Zealand moved onto the South Island. Showers were recorded in the lower half of the North Island and many parts of the South Island, as this front crossed the country, the heaviest falls being in Fiordland. A strong westerly flow became established over the South Island early on the 10th, and disturbances in this flow brought heavy rain to the West Coast, and isolated showers to other parts of New Zealand. Temperatures were very warm in most areas east of the main ranges, especially in Canterbury and Otago.

An anticyclone had become established over the whole country late on the 13th and this brought fine weather to most of the country until early on the 15th. A trough of low pressure moved onto the South Island, and the anticyclone moved east away from the country. As this trough of low pressure moved northwards heavy rain was reported in Buller and Nelson, and later in many areas in the North Island. Serious flooding occurred in the Auckland area on the 16th/17th. On the 18th a ridge of high pressure extended from the Tasman Sea onto the North Island, with pressures low to the south of the country. Small disturbances in a westerly flow over New Zealand brought isolated showers to many areas on the West Coast and Southland, but most of the country had dry fine weather.

On the 20th a depression to the south of Tasmania was moving south-east, and the cold front associated with this depression moved onto the South Island on the 21st, and became almost stationary over Fiordland and Southland. Twenty-four hour rainfalls of more than 100 mm were recorded in parts of Fiordland. Most of Southland, Otago, Westland, and South Canterbury had substantial falls on the 22nd and 23rd. From the 23rd to the 24th small disturbances in a westerly flow over New Zealand brought isolated showers to many areas. On the 24th an anticyclone had moved onto the country bringing fine dry weather to most areas.

A cold front associated with a depression to the east of New Zealand brought rain to some areas east of the main ranges in the North Island on the 26th. The heaviest falls were recorded in Hawke's Bay and Bay of Plenty with isolated showers in Poverty Bay. The anticyclone over the country began to move slowly east on the 27th, but a ridge of high pressure extended from the anticyclone over New Zealand until the end of the month. A depression which had formed near Tasmania, and associated cold front, had moved eastwards and by the 28th was lying in the central Tasman Sea.

GENERAL PUBLICATIONS

MAORI

By Witi Ihimaera

45 p. 1975. $1.20

A colourful booklet describing the coming of the Maori to New Zealand, his history, heritage, folklore, beliefs, and cultural unity.

Each chapter has a quotation from a Maori proverb, phrase, saying, or canoe chant and these concepts are presented in words and pictures.

Continues with the arrival of the pakeha and the pattern of events which followed, the Treaty of Waitangi and the Land Wars. Moves on to the Maori today, finishing with the theme, one country, two heritages in unity.

Well illustrated with 64 coloured photos, of interest to all New Zealanders and tourists. (Tourist and Publicity Department.)

MAORI AGRICULTURE

By Elsdon Best

NATIONAL MUSEUM BULLETIN No. 9

315 p. 1976. $13.50

The only comprehensive study of Maori agriculture available, this bulletin adds a further volume to the series of Elsdon Best's works which the Government Printer undertook to reprint preserving the original text and bulletin numbers. I recommend this book and the series as a whole; to collectors, archaeologists, and to those studying the prehistoric economy of the Maori people. (Government Printer.)

THE MAORI AS HE WAS

By Elsdon Best

295 p. 1974 reprint. $6.50

Fifty years of public demand since this book was first published resulted in the need for reprints in 1934 and 1952. The text has been reproduced unchanged but the originals of some of the figures could not be traced and these have been replaced with similar illustrations. There have been many advances in our knowledge of Maori life since this book first appeared. The work of numerous ethnologists, and more recently archaeologists, has critically examined many of the earlier concepts, confirming some, disproving others, and altering others to varying degrees. No one has yet produced a synthesis of the results of all this scholarship and there is still nothing as comprehensive as this book of Best's to give a general account of the Maori. This book was first published when Best was 68 and thus represents the accumulated knowledge of a lifetime. It has now become a classic introduction to Maori life. Its continued availability should help the reader to obtain a basic background to old time Maori life which can be extended by further reading.

THE MAORI CANOE

By Elsdon Best

NATIONAL MUSEUM BULLETIN No. 7

451 p. 1976. $17.50

A reprinted edition without textual alterations and retaining the old Dominion Museum number. Another example of Elsdon Best's dedicated effort to preserve Maori culture. The material presented on canoes, their materials, types, methods of construction, and associated artifacts make interesting reading for the layman as well as for scholars of the Maori. (Government Printer.)

Price 70c

BY AUTHORITY: E. C. KEATING, GOVERNMENT PRINTER, WELLINGTON, NEW ZEALAND—1978

MAORI RELIGION AND MYTHOLOGY PART 1

By Elsdon Best

NATIONAL MUSEUM BULLETIN No. 10

424 p. 1976. $18

An account of the theory of the universe and its creation, study of the origin of man, religious beliefs, rites, magic, and folklore of the Maori people of New Zealand. First published in 1924, reprinted without textual alteration and retaining the original bulletin numbers. (Government Printer.)

MAORI STOREHOUSES AND KINDRED STRUCTURES

By Elsdon Best

116 p., illustrated. 1974 reprint. $6.50

As an authority on Maori culture, the author has compiled in this publication a comprehensive record on the use of the different storage structures, etc., used by the Maori in former times. By studying items pertaining to Maori technology it is hoped this will throw light upon many phases of the social life and customs hitherto unknown. This bulletin is No. 5 in the Dominion Museum Series.

MATERIALS FOR THE NEW ZEALAND POTTER

by J. C. Schofield (N.Z. Geological Survey)

D.S.I.R. INFORMATION SERIES No. 118

1977. $3.75

Describes the sources of clays in the local countryside and how to understand their suitability for ceramic purposes. Summarises the minimum geological knowledge necessary and the use of geological maps. Examines the main types of clay minerals and their properties, the types of clays available in New Zealand and the available natural glazes, frits, and oxides. Contains an index and references.

Well illustrated with photographs, maps, diagrams, and tables.
