Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Acting Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the following publications: Players, Vol. 4, No. 11 and 12, Vol 5, No. 1, published by Players International Publications (Los Angeles).

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), D. M. Wylie, Mrs L. Edmond, H. B. Dick.

Hearing: 25 May 1978 at Wellington.

Appearances: Mr P. E. Leloir for Acting Comptroller of Customs. Written submissions from Marketing Services (1974) Limited.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

These magazines published in America are similar to issues of Playboy and Penthouse magazines which have come before the Tribunal, except that the emphasis in both photography and text is on the coloured rather than white race. In both text and photographs there is a predominant emphasis in each magazine, on sexual matters. There is in addition a quantity of non-sexual, serious and informative material in each magazine. The question, as with all such magazines, is the balance between the sexual and non-sexual material. It is noted that in respect of these magazines, the photographs do not go so far as others in their concentration on the female genitalia.

The Tribunal has carefully read each magazine and considers that the balance between the sexual and non-sexual material puts each of them within the border line of acceptability. It is considered however, that they are not so acceptable as to be freely distributed. An age restriction is necessary. Further, it is appropriate that there should be a restriction order under section 15A of the Act.

The Tribunal accordingly classifies these three issues of Players as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years, and makes a restriction order under section 15A of the Act in similar terms for a period of 2 years.

Dated at Wellington this 25th day of August 1978.

Decision No. 902

Reference No. IND-6/78

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of a reference from the Magistrate's Court, Wellington, for a decision in respect of the following publications: Kings Cross Whisper, No 234, 235, and 238; Ribald, No. 218 and 224; Game Extra, No. 2; Wow, No. 2; Dirty, No. 10; Dari Queen, Vol. 2, No. 2; Climax, No. 2; Playbird, Vol. 1, No. 8; Bawdy, No. 12.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), D. M. Wylie, Mrs H. B. Dick.

Hearing: 22 June 1978.

Appearances: Mr A. Downes, importer.

DECISION

These Australian publications were seized from a returning traveller who appeared before the Tribunal and stated that he had brought them back for his own personal use. The Tribunal, however, has to consider them as documents in general.

Each of these publications is devoted to the blatant exploitation of sex, and entirely lacks any literary, artistic, social or other merit. We find them all indecent.

Dated at Wellington this 7th day of September 1978.

LAURENCE M. GREIG, Chairman.

Decision No. 900

Reference No. IND-15/77

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by Bruce Albert Armstrong, of Hamilton, for a decision in respect of the following publication: Inside Linda Lovelace, published by Ocean Press, Australia.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), D. M. Wylie, L. Edmond,
Mrs H. B. Dick.

Hearing: 25 May 1978 at Wellington.

Appearances: Written submissions from the applicant.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

This book is objectionable in its crude language and content. It has been written in a manner in which the repetitive passages of explicit descriptions of sexual behaviour become repellent and tiresome. The book is devoid of any literary or artistic merit, and because it is openly accepted in other countries, gives it no reason for acceptance here. This book has already been termed indecent by the Tribunal in a previous decision; and there appears to be no reason for change.

The Tribunal therefore classifies this book as indecent.

Dated at Wellington this 30th day of August 1978.

LAURENCE M. GREIG, Chairman.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by Bruce Albert Armstrong, of Hamilton, for a decision in respect of the following publication: The Joys of Oral Love, published by Brolga Books Pty. Ltd.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), D. M. Wylie, Mrs L. Edmond, Mrs H. B. Dick.

Hearing: 25 May 1978 at Wellington.

Appearances: No appearance of applicant. Written submissions considered.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

At first sight this book may appear to be a seriously intended sex manual on the techniques used in forms of love making involving oral contact. Its text consists of three parts—an historical survey of literature and art, the transcript of a group discussion on the subject involving 12 people, and a final section on ways and means. While this text on its own might merit a restricted classification, between a third and a half of the book consists of full-page, very detailed and intimate illustrations which bear no relation to the adjacent text. In many cases by their frankness they seem designed to appeal to prurient tastes. The emphasis given to them calls into question the honesty of purpose of the whole publication, and the Tribunal finds it to be indecent.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by Collins Publishers for a decision in respect of the following publication: More Joy of Sex, published by Rigby Ltd., Adelaide.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), D. M. Wylie, Mrs H. B. Dick, Miss W. M. Rolleston.

Hearing: 10 August 1978.

Appearances: No appearance.

DECISION

In decision 852, the Tribunal declared the hard-back version of this book, to be indecent in the hands of persons under 16 years. Because the material in this version is exactly the same as that considered in the earlier decision, the Tribunal sees no reason to change its view of the book.

The Tribunal classifies this book as indecent in the hands of persons under 16 years.

The "normal" refers to the present site of the instruments. Standard period for normals is 1941-1970. No normals are available for stations with only short records.

*Indicates that the sunshine recorder is not located at the station but is in the near vicinity.

A rain day is a day with rainfall equal to or greater than 0.1 mm.

Where the extremes of temperature and rainfall have occurred more than once during the month, the date of the first occurrence is given.

NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR JULY 1978

General—Over most of New Zealand July was a wet and relatively mild month. Pressures were exceptionally low over the whole country and high to the south. There was a predominance of easterly winds over most of the country, stronger in the south, with lighter westerly winds to the north of New Zealand.

Gale force winds affected many areas in the North Island, and parts of the South Island on the 18/19th, when a deep depression moved slowly southwards over the country. Winds were gusting to 95 knots at Cape Reinga on the 18th and 61 knots in Auckland city on the 19th. The worst affected areas were the Coromandel Peninsula and Hauraki Plains. At Mount Te Aroha a gust of 120 knots was measured on the morning of the 19th, and more than 100 buildings were damaged in the area. Widespread power cuts occurred, and a goods train was blown off the tracks crossing a bridge across the Waitoa River. There was extensive beach front erosion in coastal areas and flood waters and slips disrupted many transport services.

Most farmers throughout New Zealand reported that conditions were very wet with grass growth poor. Stock was in fair to good condition in most areas, but more sun will be needed to dry paddocks before the main lambing begins.

Rainfall—Rainfall was above normal over the whole country apart from some areas on the West Coast, Southland, and Central Otago. In the central North Island and on the east coast of the South Island the monthly totals were more than double the normal July value. In an area along the Canterbury and Otago coast from Geraldine to Palmerston many stations were above normal by 150 to 300 percent. The rainfall station at Hunter (near Waimate) was more than 365 percent above normal.

Canterbury and North Otago recorded heavy rain in many areas on the 8/9th. At Christchurch 32 mm was measured in 12 hours on the 9th, and over a period of 72 hours more than 75 mm. Surface flooding closed the state highway north of Oamaru, and the Picton/Christchurch railway line was closed because the track had been undermined north of Christchurch.

During the period of gale force winds that affected the North Island on the 18/19th, Te Aroha recorded more than 110 mm in 12 hours, and at Paeroa 122 mm was measured in 24 hours.

Temperatures—Temperatures were above normal over most of New Zealand apart from some parts of Northland and Bay of Plenty which were slightly below. In some areas of Nelson, Canterbury, Otago and Southland they were above normal by as much as 14°C. Night time temperatures were about 1°C above normal and daytime maximum temperatures about ½°C above. There was one cold spell from the 14th to 18th when maximum temperatures were below normal by as much as 3° to 4°C.

Sunshine—Most of the country had below normal sunshine hours for the month. In some areas of Taranaki, Canterbury, and coastal Otago between 20 and 40 hours less sunshine than normal was recorded. The only areas that were slightly above normal were parts of Bay of Plenty, the Wellington area and inland Southland.

WEATHER SEQUENCE JULY 1978

The anticyclone that had been moving onto New Zealand at the end of June moved across the country on the 1st and 2nd and by the 3rd was lying to the northeast of the North Island. Most areas had fine weather at the beginning of the month, apart from some places on the West Coast, where a cold front brought isolated showers. A depression had formed to the south of Australia early on the 1st, and by the 3rd was lying just to the east of Tasmania and moving southeast towards New Zealand. By the 4th the depression was to the west of the South Island and had deepened considerably. Many areas of Fiordland and Westland recorded moderate to heavy rain as a warm front associated with this depression moved across the country.

Late on the 4th the depression had begun to move southwards and two cold fronts started to move across New Zealand to the east. Heavy rain was reported in many areas west of the main ranges, the heaviest falls being in Westland and Fiordland where some stations had 24 hour falls of more than 100 mm. Temperatures were warmer than usual on the east coast of both Islands. By the 6th the cold fronts had crossed New Zealand and a ridge of high pressure extended onto the country from an anticyclone situated over Australia. Another depression had formed to the south of Tasmania and had started to move eastwards towards New Zealand.

Early on the 7th the ridge of high pressure weakened and moved to the north, and the depression continued to move to the south of the South Island. A cold front ahead of the depression crossed onto the country on the 7th, and by the morning of the 8th another centre had developed in the depression, just to the west of the North Island. This complex depression crossed the country on the 8th and 9th bringing heavy rain to parts of the North and South Islands. Some of the heaviest falls were recorded in Hawke's Bay, Wairarapa, Canterbury and coastal Otago. More than 75 mm was recorded in Christchurch over a 3-day period. Temperatures were about normal over the whole of New Zealand, but slightly above on the West Coast.

A ridge of high pressure extended onto the country from an anticyclone to the southeast of the country on the 10th and 11th. A strong southerly airflow covered New Zealand as pressures began to fall with the development of a depression in the south Tasman Sea. A trough of low pressure had become established to the west of New Zealand late on the 11th, and as the ridge moved east the trough moved over the country on the 11th and 12th. Heavy rain was recorded in Northland, Bay of Plenty, Taranaki, Wellington,

Nelson, parts of Marlborough, and Westland during the passage of this trough. More than 80 mm was reported in Taranaki and parts of Buller and Nelson in 24 hours. Most of the country, apart from the east coast, had moderate falls. Temperatures were above, or near to normal over the whole country.

A westerly airstream covered the country from the 12th to the 14th and disturbances in this flow brought isolated showers to many districts. Pressures remained low to the east of New Zealand and to the south of the country. An anticyclone on the Australian continent extended a ridge of high pressure onto New Zealand from the 14th, and by the 16th the anticyclone had become centred over the country, and this persisted until the 18th. A depression that had formed near New Caledonia on the 17th was moving southwards towards the North Island, and by the 18th was lying just to the north of Northland. As this depression and associated cold front moved south over the North Island, most areas from Northland to Manawatu experienced gale force winds and moderate to heavy rain. Damage was caused by high winds and flooding in many areas, and coastal erosion by unusually heavy seas. Some parts of Northland recorded more than 100 mm of rain in 24 hours, and in Bay of Plenty, Poverty Bay, and Hawke's Bay in excess of this was reported over a period of 2 days. Temperatures were slightly cooler than normal throughout New Zealand, especially on the east coast of the North Island.

By the 22nd the depression had filled and was lying to the south of the South Island. Pressures were high to the north of New Zealand, and a strong westerly airflow covered the North Island, and later on the 22nd, the whole country. Disturbances in this flow brought showers to most areas west of the main ranges. Late on the 23rd a depression which had formed in the Tasman Sea began to move rapidly towards New Zealand, and early on the 24th the cold front associated with the depression had moved onto the South Island. Heavy rain was reported in parts of Fiordland, Westland, Buller, and central districts of the North Island as this front crossed the country. Some parts of Westland had more than 100 mm of rain in 48 hours.

The depression had moved to the east of the South Island by the 25th, and a further depression was approaching Northland early on the 26th. As the latter depression crossed the country heavy rain fell in Northland, Auckland, and parts of Bay of Plenty and Poverty Bay. Most areas in the northern half of the North Island recorded moderate falls. Pressures were high in the Tasman Sea for a short period on the 27th until a low pressure trough formed near Tasmania and began to move eastwards. A series of low pressure centres developed within this trough and as they crossed New Zealand on the 28th and 29th many areas in both Islands recorded light to moderate rain, the heaviest falls occurring in Manawatu and Taranaki, also parts of Fiordland.

A ridge of high pressure extended onto New Zealand from an anticyclone centred over Australia which persisted until the end of the month. Most of the country had fine weather, but slightly cooler temperatures.

Notes to the Accounts

STATEMENT OF ACCOUNTING POLICIES

1. Accounting Principles—The general accounting principles as recommended by the New Zealand Society of Accountants for the measurement and reporting of profit on an historical cost basis have been followed by the Bank.

The following particular accounting principles which materially affect the measurement of profit and of the financial position have been consistently applied.

(a) Revenue—Interest has been accrued to 31 March 1978. Personal loans interest excludes unearned interest and has been apportioned by the Rule of 78.

(b) Depreciation—Fixed assets are being depreciated using the straight-line method based on the economic life of the assets. The principal write-off periods are:

Buildings—40–50 years.

Furniture fittings and office equipment—7–10 years.

Motor vehicles—3 years estimated residual value.

(c) Taxation Allocation—

(i) The taxation provided in the Revenue Account is based on the pre-tax accounting profit for the year.

(ii) Taxation depreciation rates have been used and accrued interest on investments deducted from the accounting profit in arriving at the assessable income for the year.

(iii) The difference between the taxation provided and the actual charge for the year is accounted for as provision for deferred taxation.

(d) Stationery Stock on Hand—The figure shown in the balance sheet represents bulk stationery stocks valued at cost less a provision for wastage.

(e) Investments—Investments are shown in the balance sheet at cost, except for Government stock, where it is the Bank's policy to amortise the discounts, premiums, and variations in exchange rates over the term of the investment on a straight-line basis and to show the value of the securities in the balance sheet at cost price adjusted by the amortised amounts to date. In accordance with this policy a net sum of $18,828 has been debited to the revenue account for this financial year.

2. Mortgages—Mortgages approved but not yet uplifted total $3,448,512.

3. Fixed Assets—

Cost price	$1,602,084
Depreciation to date	$379,601
Book value	$1,222,483

4. Capital Commitments—Premises Development .. $6,600

AUDITOR'S REPORT

We have examined the balance sheet of the Eastern and Central Savings Bank as at 31 March 1978, and the related revenue account for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying balance sheet with notes attached, and revenue account, present fairly the financial position of the Eastern and Central Savings Bank at 31 March 1978, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on the basis consistent with that of the preceding year.
