Decision No. 7/78

Decision of the Broadcasting Tribunal

IN the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1976, and in the matter of a complaint by Christopher Traugott Hermann Rudolph Ehrhardt under section 67 (1) (b)

WARRANT HOLDER BROADCASTING CORPORATION OF NEW ZEALAND

BEFORE THE BROADCASTING TRIBUNAL

B. H. Slane, Chairman, Lionel R. Scats, member, Murray J. Henshall, deputy member, G. R. Black, co-opted member, G. C. Ell, co-opted member.

Hearing: 28 August 1978.

DECISION

The Complaint

Dr C. T. H. R. Ehrhardt's complaint concerned 54 separate news items or current affairs programmes from 18 August to 26 December 1977. All the matters complained of, in one way or another, were connected with or involved reports which touched on the abortion controversy or arose out of legislation on the subject.

Dr Ehrhardt filed with the Tribunal 44 pages of correspondence he had from August 1977 to April 1978 with the Director-General of Radio New Zealand, the Chairman of the Standing Committee for Radio New Zealand, the Minister of Broadcasting, and the Editor of the New Zealand Listener, and the Secretary of the Corporation.

Because it is important to some aspects of the complaint, and some remarks that the Tribunal will make in this decision, Dr Ehrhardt's relationship with the Corporation during this period should be outlined. His first letter of complaint concerned a Checkpoint programme broadcast by 4YA (as were all the other broadcasts complained of) on 19 August 1977. His complaint resulted by the end of August in a letter from Mr G. Whitehead, the Director-General of Radio New Zealand, which conceded, "that there is some ground for your complaint." Mr Whitehead acknowledged that the producer was at fault and "... we must accept your criticism of the impression the programme gave about medical opinion generally." He did not accept all the criticisms made by Dr Ehrhardt.

From that time on Dr Ehrhardt kept up a steady stream of correspondence both in relation to previous letters and complaining of later broadcasts.

By letter dated 7 October 1977 the Minister of Broadcasting informed Dr Ehrhardt that he could not interfere in programmes and said, "... your proper course, if you are not satisfied, is to place a formal complaint before the Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand." Dr Ehrhardt did not do that but continued his correspondence with the Director-General until on 13 December he asked for full details of how he could make an official complaint "(I suppose to the Broadcasting Tribunal, but you no doubt know the details and I don't)" by return post. By letter dated 16 December he was informed that he should lodge a complaint with the Secretary of the Corporation whose address was given.

He continued his correspondence with the Director-General but was finally informed, by letter dated 22 December 1977, that the Director-General believed there was nothing further to add to previous comments and there was no point in protracting correspondence.

By letter dated 23 December he lodged a formal complaint with the Secretary of the Corporation which was acknowledged immediately after the New Year on 6 January. The complaint was in general terms but asked what further steps would be taken to pursue it. There was no reply to the request for details and on 9 February Dr Ehrhardt wrote again to the Secretary and to the Director-General of Radio New Zealand.

On 22 February the Secretary of the Corporation wrote to the complainant and, in effect, adopted the statements made by Mr Whitehead earlier.

The Corporation said that it could not analyse every locally produced news and current affairs programme on Radio New Zealand from mid-August until the end of the year as this would be impracticable and would be unlikely to produce any finding more acceptable than the letters already had from Mr Whitehead. Dr Ehrhardt was referred to the Broadcasting Tribunal. On 1 March Dr Ehrhardt asked how he should approach the Tribunal and what its requirements were. By letter dated 21 March he was informed of the Tribunal's address and on 31 March he acknowledged that letter.

On 6 May Dr Ehrhardt wrote to the Tribunal forwarding his file of correspondence. He was given a copy of the Broadcasting Act with a reference to the relevant sections. He was asked to complete the formal complaint form and the declaration required by the Act.

The complaint was formally lodged on 31 May. The Tribunal referred the complaint and the correspondence to the Corporation which initially took the view that it did not wish to make any representations. It was then requested to supply the Tribunal with copies of the transcripts or recordings by the end of July.

As soon as these were received a date was tentatively fixed for a hearing on 28 August and Dr Ehrhardt was invited to attend. He indicated that he would be involved in his work as a university teacher on that day and had an important academic visitor from overseas at the university. He was then offered 25 August which was in the university vacation; he declined this as he would be holidaying at Lake Ohau with his family. An endeavour was made to find a date convenient to Dr Ehrhardt on which all five members of the Tribunal would be available. The Tribunal was reluctant to allow the matter to be delayed as Dr Ehrhardt wished until mid-October or November, although he stated there was no urgency to deal with it.

In any event his full letters and the submissions he made in writing to the Tribunal have enabled us adequately to understand the points he was making and, as he was not personally involved in any of the broadcasts, the Tribunal did not consider his personal attendance at the hearing necessary.

As a result of his request the hearing was held in public.

The complaint made can be summarized as follows:

1. That his complaint was sent to the Corporation on 23 December 1977 but the correct procedure was not followed thereafter.

2. That the programmes complained of infringed section 24 (1) (d) of the Broadcasting Act.

3. That the programmes infringed section 24 (1) (e) Broadcasting Act.

4. That some of the programmes infringed section 24 (1) (f) Broadcasting Act.

The complaint listed 54 programmes or news items to which objection was taken and in respect of complaints 2 and 3 considered the effect produced by the sum total of the programmes breached the provisions of the Act.

The relevant portions of section 24 (1) are as follows:

The Corporation shall be responsible for maintaining, in its programmes and their presentation, standards which will be generally acceptable in the community, and in particular it shall have regard to:

(d) The accurate and impartial gathering and presentation of news, according to recognised standards of objective journalism;

(e) The principle that when controversial issues of public importance are discussed, reasonable efforts are made to present significant points of view either in the same programme or in other programmes within the period of current interest;

(f) The maintenance of law and order.

Section 25 provides that the Corporation shall receive and consider formal complaints about programmes broadcast contrary to section 24 and shall establish procedures for investigating any such complaint. Complaints are to be lodged in writing with the Secretary. If a complaint is found to be justified in whole or in part, the Corporation is to take appropriate action and inform the complainant in writing of the action taken. If the complaint is found not to be justified, in whole or in part, the complainant shall be notified of the decision.

If the complainant is dissatisfied with the decision, or with the action taken by the Corporation, or if the Corporation has not within 14 days after receiving the complaint, notified the complainant in writing of the date on which the complaint will be considered (being within a reasonable time after the lodging of the complaint), the complainant may refer the complaint to the Broadcasting Tribunal to be dealt with under section 67 of the Act.

Section 67 of the Act empowers the Tribunal to receive and determine complaints from persons who are dissatisfied with the outcome of complaints to the Corporation under section 25 and permits the Tribunal, if it thinks fit, to consider and determine any complaint without a formal hearing. In that case the Tribunal shall have regard to all relevant submissions made to it in writing in relation to the complaint. The Tribunal may not hear or determine any complaint until the complainant signs and lodges with the Registrar a declaration that legal action will not be taken in respect of the subject matter of the complaint or the investigation of the complaint by the Corporation or the Tribunal. The Tribunal may determine its own procedure except to the extent that it is prescribed by regulations.

The Broadcasting Corporation did not within 14 days of the receipt of the complaint, notify the complainant in writing of the date on which the complaint would be considered. Indeed, the Corporation did not respond, apart from an acknowledgement of the complaint, until after Dr Ehrhardt wrote again to the Secretary on the 9th of February. Dr Ehrhardt's complaint in this respect is upheld.

In doing so the Tribunal must point out that the complainant himself impaired the likelihood of justice being done through his taking so long to lodge a formal complaint. His letters of objection began on 18 August 1977, and on 7 October he was advised that if he was not satisfied he should lodge a formal complaint with the Broadcasting Corporation. He chose not to do so until 13 December when he wrote requesting full details of how to do that. It is surprising, in view of his opposition to the news and current affairs programmes involving abortion, that he did not see fit to formalise his complaint months earlier.

Regardless of this we might be forgiven for wondering whether Dr Ehrhardt was as ignorant of procedure as he makes out. He was aware of the existence of the Broadcasting Tribunal, having appeared before it in Dunedin as a witness called by a complainant in November 1977. He had access then to the acting Registrar who was with the Tribunal at its sitting in Dunedin.

Furthermore the complainant in that case was a Dunedin solicitor, who was fully conversant with the procedure. It is difficult to imagine Dr Ehrhardt as his witness not discussing with the solicitor how a complaint could be lodged.

The Tribunal was disappointed in the inability of Radio New Zealand to produce any recordings and its failure to find in its filing systems a number of the news bulletins and scripts complained about.

In the absence of a complete record of the abortion material broadcast during the period, it is difficult to judge the merit of the allegations of bias and of failure to make reasonable efforts to present significant points of view within the period of current interest.

The complainant usually wrote letters of complaint promptly after hearing broadcasts, which he considered biased or unbalanced, yet Radio New Zealand was unable to produce any sound recordings or transcripts of current affairs programmes and other programmes which, because of the extent of comment broadcast, might have been expected to generate complaints. The head of news and current affairs Mr G. W. Harte, said that written copies of a number of the items were missing; that a new computerised system made them harder to locate and that an office shift resulted in some being lost. At the hearing Mr Harte supplied the bulk of the abortion news items broadcast on December 14, 15, 16, 19, 20, and 22, 1977. These were an overwhelming number of items about which Dr Ehrhardt had not complained.

Nevertheless the complainant's case has suffered seriously because of the unavailability of confirmed details of many of the broadcasts he complained of.

Mr Harte took the attitude that there was no need to keep items in question until a formal complaint had been lodged and pointed out the difficulty of keeping a large number of tape recordings for any considerable length of time in case they were needed.

The rules of broadcasting, in force at the time of the programmes complained about, provided that television stations should hold for 14 days sound recordings of current affairs and news programmes and all other local programmes of the magazine interview and commentary type which involved free expression of opinion on matters of public interest and controversy. For radio, the requirement was to hold for 14 days after broadcast, a recording of all talk-back and open-line programmes only.

Mr Harte was in the position of having to assert that Radio New Zealand considered it had provided a proper balance of programmes over a period, but he was unable to produce specific evidence to support the assertion.

The rules approved in May 1978 repeat this latter requirement for radio and provide:

"When a formal or serious complaint is made about a programme, stations must ensure that all relevant recordings, scripts or other programme information are held until the complaint has been finally dealt with."

Under the rules an obligation is placed on warrant holders to give the Tribunal such information as it shall require from time to time on any particular programme or on programmes generally.

Consideration should be given by the Rules Committee to a provision in respect of news and current affairs programmes that some minimum period of retention should apply and that retention should continue in circumstances such as the one under present consideration.

Dr Ehrhardt's second complaint related to section 24 (1) (d). The Tribunal has come to the following conclusions:

1. It is impossible to determine the complaint because of the lack of information.

2. We are not satisfied that Dr Ehrhardt's information makes out a prima facie case or that it can be elevated above the level of an allegation. Dr Ehrhardt himself admits to a subjective attitude and indeed has sought in his correspondence a bias from broadcasters in favour of his point of view.

3. We accept Mr Harte's contention that while Dr Ehrhardt is concerned with abortion, as an issue, some of the complaints related to the reporting of events. Those programmes must be judged on a basis of news reporting of events concerning the issue.

4. On the December days above-mentioned the news items broadcast included a large number of abortion related items about which there was no complaint from Dr Ehrhardt. For example on 14 December at least 24 items on abortion were broadcast and only one from that day figured in the complainant's case.

5. Thus his sample was a selective one on which to generalise an allegation of bias.

With regard to the complaint under section 24 (1) (e) Dr Ehrhardt pressed the view that following a Checkpoint programme (in respect of which the Director-General of Radio New Zealand has admitted that there were some grounds for his complaint) no subsequent programme was unbalanced the other way. We do not accept this contention as desirable or valid. The Act does not require it.

In respect of a later programme about which we have no detail he did accept that there was a balanced treatment. Radio New Zealand has demonstrated that the items complained of are a somewhat small selection of those actually broadcast on the general topic. It was not possible to accept that any bias which might appear in the sample could be extrapolated to apply to the coverage overall.

Radio New Zealand makes no attempt to present a balance of views on the issue on a daily basis or in the reporting of parliamentary debates to present summaries of the argument at predictable times. The Tribunal accepts the principle of reporting news as it is made and achieving a balance of the views in the community over a longer period. To achieve balance within a news bulletin would be largely impracticable given the exigencies of radio news and undesirable in that the non-availability of contrary opinions could result in the suppression of news or comment.

However, the Tribunal would expect those holding editorial responsibility to keep the overall impact of news and current affairs broadcasts on controversial issues under review with a concern to ensure an adequate reflection of community attitudes.

The Tribunal had the assertion of Radio New Zealand that such a balance was maintained and some evidence in the form of subsequently submitted transcripts, that at least following Dr Ehrhardt's stated intention to complain, anti-abortion arguments were put quite often in a full day's news rather than selected bulletins was followed.

Again the absence of transcripts of the recorded news interviews and current affairs programmes was particularly frustrating. The Tribunal had a copy of a letter from the Director-General of Radio New Zealand to Dr Ehrhardt of 31 August 1977 admitting there was some grounds for his complaint with regard to Checkpoint of 19 August. However, the Tribunal cannot make a decision on the overall charge of bias because of insufficient evidence from the complainant and from Radio New Zealand.

In the case of the alleged breaches of section 24 (1) (f) the bulk of items concerned were available for our perusal. In most cases these were reports of events in the community and the Tribunal does not feel that the items quoted were an incitement against law and order. Mr Harte has admitted that he was "not enamoured" of an unsourced report that "six women in the Waikato are undergoing a month's training to become illegal abortionists, and they say when they've learnt the skill they will pass it on to others." He did not believe that stories of this kind could generally be broadcast but claimed that his organisation must find perfection just beyond reach. As no specific details were given on which a listener might take action the item, as broadcast, cannot be held to disregard "the maintenance of law and order".

General

It should not be thought that this Tribunal will, in every case where a person decides to complain about every programme on a topic over a long period, embark on a detailed examination of every broadcast under complaint, nor that it will require the Corporation to retrieve every piece of information and broadcast on that topic.

However, in the present case where complaints had been steadily lodged during the period in question, and the Director-General made aware of the details of the complaints, it appeared justified to us to require Radio New Zealand to submit to us the items complained about and if they wished to produce others to show that the Act had been complied with.

We accept Mr Harte's statement that Dr Ehrhardt was the only person to complain regularly on this topic and can understand an annoyance with the consumption of time and effort in dealing with a persistent letter-writer who appeared to be enjoying his jousts with Radio New Zealand.

Co-opted Members

In accordance with the Act the Tribunal co-opted Mr G. R. Black and Mr G. C. Ell, two persons whose qualifications and experience were likely, in the opinion of the Tribunal, to be of assistance to the Tribunal in dealing with that complaint. They took part in the hearing and in the deliberations of the Tribunal. The decision, however, in accordance with the Act is that of Messrs Slane, Sceats, and Henshall.

Summary

The Tribunal upholds the complaint in respect of the failure of the Corporation to comply with the requirements of the Act when a complaint had been made to the Secretary of the Corporation. In all other respects the Tribunal is unable to uphold the complaint for the reasons stated.

Dated the 6th day of September 1978.

For the Tribunal:

B. H. SLANE, Chairman.

COMMERCE COMMISSION

PUBLIC NOTICE—INQUIRY INTO THE ADVISABILITY OF REMOVING INDIGENOUS TIMBER FROM THE POSITIVE LIST OF CONTROLLED GOODS AND SERVICES

1. In terms of section 82 (7) of the Commerce Act 1975, the Minister of Trade and Industry has, in a letter dated 14 September 1978, requested the Commerce Commission to inquire into and, after hearing all parties wishing to present submissions, report to him on the advisability of removing indigenous timber from the Positive List of Controlled Goods.

2. The full text of the Minister's letter is set out below:

"In terms of its policy for the conservation and better utilisation of indigenous timber, the Government is giving consideration to the removal of all forms of statutory price control from indigenous timber.

Indigenous timber is presently included in the item,

Timber (New Zealand grown), contained in the Positive List of Controlled Goods and Services specified in terms of section 82 (1) of the Commerce Act 1975.

To assist the Government in its consideration of this matter, I hereby require the Commerce Commission, in terms of subsection 7 of section 82 of the Commerce Act 1975, to inquire into and report to me as soon as practicable on the advisability of removing indigenous timber from the Positive List of Controlled Goods and Services. In conducting its inquiry, the Commission (and parties to the inquiry) should take account of the general policy stated in the first paragraph. This means that, following the inquiry concerning removal of indigenous timber from the Positive List, the eventual action by the Government could be the exemption of indigenous timber from all forms of statutory price control or surveillance.

A list of indigenous timber species commercially available in New Zealand is attached. I have also listed the main commercial species of New Zealand grown exotic timber that will not be affected by your inquiry.

A. INDIGENOUS TIMBERS (Commercially Milled)

Beech
Kahikatea (White Pine)

Tawa
Totara

B. EXOTIC TIMBERS (Commercially Milled)

Larch
Macrocarpa
New Zealand Oregon (Douglas Fir)
Radiata Pine (including other pines, e.g., Pondcrosa)

3. Parties wishing to make submissions to the Commission in connection with this inquiry are invited to notify the Executive Officer of the Commission of that wish no later than Friday, 27 October 1978. Where possible such parties should also indicate briefly the general or specific nature of their interest. The Commission will then determine the admission of parties in terms of section 14 (1) of the Act.

4. In any case where two or more separate parties wish to be heard and/or represented jointly in the inquiry, they should so inform the Commission so that the Commission can consider giving leave for this to be done in terms of section 14 (4) of the Act.

5. All parties notifying the Commission in accordance with paragraph 3 of this notice will be informed later of the granting of leave, of the procedure to be followed, of the dates of the public hearings and of the date for the lodging of submissions. Such information will also be publicly advertised.

6. All parties notifying the Commission in terms of paragraph 5 of this notice will be advised in due course of the Commission's intentions as to any necessary consultation and as to the granting of leave.

1. The authorised share capital of the Company is $2,500,000 comprising:

- (a) 2,400,000 Ordinary shares of $1 each
 - (b) 10,000 6% "A" Preference shares of $1 each
 - (c) 90,000 5½% "B" Preference shares of $1 each
- The issued share capital is $1,949,804 comprising:
- (a) 1,849,804 Ordinary shares of $1 each all fully paid up
 - (b) 10,000 6% "A" Preference shares of $1 each all fully paid up
 - (c) 90,000 5½% "B" Preference shares of $1 each all fully paid up.

2. By virtue of the terms of issue thereof the holders of the said Preference shares are entitled to receive out of the profits of the Company available for dividend before any dividends are paid to the holders of any other shares in the Company a fixed cumulative preferential dividend at the rate of Six Dollars ($6.00) per centum per annum on "A" Preference shares and Five Dollars Fifty Cents ($5.50) per centum per annum on "B" Preference shares but to no further share in the profits of the Company and are also entitled on a winding up of the Company to rank as regards return of capital and as to dividend in priority to the other shares in the capital of the Company but are not entitled to participate further in the assets of the Company. By the combined provisions of Articles 88 to 90 inclusive of the Articles of Association of the Company the holders of the said Preference shares are not entitled to vote at any meeting of the Company except:

- (i) When the dividend whether declared or not on such Preference shares is in arrear for more than 6 months after the close of the Company's financial year,

B. THE SCHEME OF ARRANGEMENT

1. Cancellation of Preference Shares—Each of the existing 10,000 6% "A" Preference shares of $1 each and each of the 90,000 5½% "B" Preference shares of $1 each all of which have been issued and are fully paid up will be cancelled. Consequently the nominal capital of the Company will be reduced by $100,000.

2. Reduction of Capital—The sum of $100,000 being the share capital paid up on the issued 6% "A" Preference shares and the 5½% "B" Preference shares thus cancelled will be carried to the credit of an account in the books of the Company to be called "Preference Share Redemption Account."

3. Entitlement to Ordinary Shares—Each holder of the issued 6% "A" Preference shares and each holder of the issued 5½% "B" Preference shares at the time of cancellation will be allotted and issued Ordinary shares of $1 each fully paid up in the capital of the Company in the ratio of 1 Ordinary share for each 2 Preference shares of whichever class held. In the case of fractions the Ordinary shares so to be allotted shall be calculated to the next higher number.

4. Such Ordinary Shares to be Issued as Fully Paid—The sum of $50,000 or such other sum as shall equal the nominal amount of the Ordinary shares to be allotted to the holders of cancelled Preference shares shall be withdrawn from the Preference Share Redemption Account and applied in paying up in full such Ordinary shares. The balance of the Preference Share Redemption Account shall remain in such account as if it were a share premium account established under Section 64 of the Companies Act 1955, and shall be paid out only in the circumstances set out in the said Section 64, and shall be held subject to the conditions therein set out.

5. Dividends—

- (a) The holders of the 6% "A" Preference shares and the holders of the 5½% "B" Preference shares cancelled as aforesaid shall remain entitled to the final payment of dividend thereon for the year ending 31st July 1978.
- (b) The new Ordinary shares to be issued as aforesaid shall in all respects rank pari passu with the existing Ordinary shares of the Company except that they will not participate in any final dividend to be declared and paid on Ordinary shares in respect of the financial year of the Company ending on 31 July 1978 but they will participate in all dividends and distributions in lieu of dividends declared or made in respect of Ordinary shares thereafter in lieu and in full satisfaction of all further preferential dividends that would otherwise have been payable upon the Preference shares to be cancelled pursuant to this arrangement.

6. Replacement of Reduced Capital—The authorised capital of the Company having been reduced by $100,000 will be increased by $100,000 by the creation of a further 100,000 Ordinary shares of $1 each.

7. Effective Date of Scheme—Subject to the separate approval of each class of shareholders and of the Company in General Meeting and to the sanction of the Supreme Court the Scheme of Arrangement will come into force with effect from the date it is sanctioned by the Supreme Court and registered with the Registrar of Companies or the 13th day of September 1978 whichever is the later. The Directors of the Company may assent to any modification of the Scheme or to any conditions which the Court may think fit to approve or impose.
