Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Secretary for Justice in respect of the publication "Make It Happy—What Sex Is All About", author: Jane Cousins.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), D. M. Wylie, Mrs H. B. Dick, Mrs L. Edmond.

Hearing: 13 June 1979.

Appearances: Mr Tanner for Secretary for Justice.

Written submissions by Mr Boon for Penguin Books (N.Z.) Ltd.

Decision

This paperback book subtitled "What Sex Is All About" is, according to the author, written for teenagers, their parents and teachers and for anyone else who wants to know the basic facts about sex. In some 159 pages it provides basic information written in a simple and sensible style.

The book which sells for $2.95 appears to be an Australian edition of an English publication. It has been on sale in New Zealand since March 1979. The secretary's application was heard by the Tribunal on 13 June 1979 but there has been a delay as the Tribunal considered it appropriate to give the publisher an opportunity to make written submissions and the secretary to make a reply to them. The secretary did not submit that the book should be found to be indecent simpliciter but that there should be a restriction to persons of any age while receiving instruction from parents or professional advisers or persons of or over the age of 18 years. The publisher on the other hand submitted that the book should be found not indecent.

The Tribunal does not find in this book any prurient or dishonest purpose. In the main its treatment of the subject matter is unobjectionable and may indeed be useful and helpful to younger people and to adults. Having regard to all the considerations which it must take into account under the Act the Tribunal agrees with the secretary that this book is not indecent. There are, however, two matters which lead the Tribunal to the view that an age restriction is required.

The first of these, and the lesser, is that the tenor of the book is to emphasize the physical aspects of sexual activity to the virtual exclusion of the emotional aspects. While this is unlikely to affect older readers it does create a lack of balance which might affect the younger and less mature reader.

The other matter arises from the treatment of some topics which are illegal in New Zealand. This is particularly the case in the section on contraceptives which gives instruction and implicit encouragement as to their use. To the extent that this is made available to a person under 16 years it may be an offence under the Contraception, Sterilisation and Abortion Act 1977 and is certainly contrary to the spirit of that legislation.

The classification sought by the secretary was the same as that made by the Tribunal in the decision on "Down Under the Plum Trees" (Decision No. 882). While the basic purpose of that book and "Make It Happy" are similar the dominant effect of the two books is widely dissimilar. The Tribunal does not, therefore, feel that such a restriction is appropriate in this case.

The Tribunal classifies "Make It Happy" as indecent in the hands of persons under 16 years of age.

Dated at Wellington this 29th day of August 1979.

Exchange Rates

IN terms of section 25 (2) of the Reserve Bank of New Zealand Act 1964, the Reserve Bank today released outer limits for rates of exchange to be used in transactions involving the conversion of New Zealand currency into foreign currencies and foreign currencies into New Zealand currency when delivery of the foreign currency dealt in will be effected by telegraphic transfer. The following range of rates, for the main currencies used by New Zealand traders in settling foreign exchange transactions, will remain in force until replaced by a new schedule issued by the Reserve Bank. These rates do not apply to transactions for settlement after the expiration of two business days (forward transactions) or to transactions in which instruments are purchased which do not entitle the buyer to foreign currency balances in the foreign centre until the instruments have been delivered at the foreign centre. In the latter case interest at foreign centre rates may be deducted from the telegraphic transfer rate to compensate the purchaser for his loss during the transit period.

WEATHER NOTES FOR JULY 1979

General—July was the fourth consecutive month with pressures above normal over the whole of New Zealand. Easterly winds were more frequent than usual in the northern areas of the country, and north-westerly winds predominated in the south. There was a marked absence of days with very strong winds. Throughout most of the country July was a mild month, and much wetter than normal in districts to the north of Bay of Plenty, and in parts of Canterbury.

Although conditions were very wet in parts of the North Island, milder than usual temperatures produced fair to good grass growth in most districts. Over the country most farmers reported that stock were wintering well and in good condition.

Rainfall—Areas with rainfall totals below normal were Hawke's Bay, Wairarapa, Taranaki, Central Districts, Manawatu, and Westland. In Manawatu only 50 percent of the normal July total was recorded. The wettest areas were Auckland, Bay of Plenty, and parts of Canterbury where the totals ranged from 40 to 75 percent above normal.

Heavy rain that began to fall in Northland and Auckland at the end of June continued on the 1st of July. Widespread flooding was reported in many areas, and homes were evacuated in the Auckland district. Roads were blocked by landslips and floodwaters when streams burst their banks. More than 100 mm of rain were recorded at Albert Park, Auckland, between midnight and 9 a.m. on the 1st (40 mm from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m.), and almost 70 mm at Auckland Airport in the same period.

Further heavy rain began to fall in Northland during the afternoon of the 31st of July; 46 mm had been recorded at Kaitaia by midnight on that day.

Temperatures—Warmer night time temperatures were reflected in the higher than normal mean temperatures for the month. Most districts were above normal by at least $\frac{1}{2}$ °C, and in South Canterbury, Otago, and Southland by more than $1\frac{1}{2}$ °C.

The longest cold spell was from the 6th to 10th, and during this period temperatures were unusually cold in the Auckland area. The minimum air temperature at Whenuapai on the 8th was -2°C and at Albert Park -3°C.

Sunshine—Bay of Plenty was the only area with sunshine hours appreciably below the average for the month. Although Northland, Auckland, and Canterbury experienced a wetter month than usual, the sunshine in these districts was above normal by about 10 hours.

WEATHER SEQUENCE

The complex depression that brought heavy rain to Northland and Auckland at the end of June continued to move slowly across the country at the beginning of July. 24 hour rainfall totals of more than 100 mm were recorded in the Auckland district on the 1st.

Heavy rain was also reported in parts of Nelson, Marlborough, Waikato, and Poverty Bay as a front associated with the depression moved across New Zealand on the 1st and 2nd. A cold front moved onto the West Coast from the Tasman Sea late on the 2nd, and this brought heavy rain to parts of Fiordland and Westland, and moderate falls to areas west of the main ranges. Temperatures were warmer than normal throughout most of the country at the beginning of the month.

By the 3rd a ridge of high pressure extended onto the South Island from an anticyclone centred over Australia, and pressures were low to the north-west of the North Island. On the 4th a depression formed to the west of Northland and moved across the district, rain was reported in most areas north of the Waikato. The ridge of high pressure covered most of New Zealand by the evening of the 5th. Late on the 7th the anticyclone had moved eastwards, and this persisted until the 9th, bringing fine weather to most of the country apart from some isolated showers in Poverty Bay, Hawke's Bay, Wairarapa, Fiordland, and parts of Southland. During the morning of the 9th a cold front associated with a depression moving to the south of the country crossed onto the South Island and moved north-east. Heavy rain was reported in Fiordland, and moderate to light falls west of the main ranges in both Islands. Temperatures were cooler than usual over most of New Zealand until the 8th.

On the 10th a depression developed in the north Tasman Sea and began to move south-east towards Northland, and a ridge of high pressure extended onto the South Island from the west. The depression moved across Northland on the 11th/12th and moderate rain was reported over most areas in the North Island. Falls of 30 mm in 24 hours were recorded in Poverty Bay and parts of Bay of Plenty. By the morning of the 13th the ridge had weakened, and a cold front in the Tasman Sea had moved onto the South Island. As the front moved northwards moderate to heavy rain was reported in most districts, but lighter falls in some areas east of the ranges.

An anticyclone in the Tasman Sea moved eastwards, and by the 16th had extended a ridge of high pressure onto New Zealand. The ridge weakened on the 18th as a trough of low pressure moved onto the country from Tasmania. 24 hour rainfalls of more than 50 mm were recorded in Fiordland, Westland, and Buller with moderate falls in Southland, Waikato, and Auckland. The anticyclone in the Tasman Sea again moved east and was centred over New Zealand from the 20th until the 23rd. Most of the country had fine weather during this period apart from some northern districts. Temperatures were higher than normal especially on the east coasts of both Islands.

During the morning of the 24th the anticyclone had moved east away from New Zealand, and a trough of low pressure was moving from the Tasman Sea onto the country. A wave depression formed on a cold front and began to move towards New Zealand from the west late on the 24th. By the morning of the 25th the depression had moved onto the South Island. Heavy rain was reported in Fiordland, Westland, Buller, and parts of Bay of Plenty and Auckland. Many of these areas had 24 hour falls of more than 50 mm. The only areas with light rain were along the east coast of both Islands. A depression which had formed over Australia had moved east into the Tasman Sea on the 26th. On the 27th this depression, and associated cold front, were lying to the west of the South Island and still moving east, but changed direction to north-east on the 28th. As the whole system moved across central New Zealand heavy rain was recorded in Westland, Nelson, Wellington, and Taranaki with moderate falls throughout the North Island and northern half of the South Island. The only areas without rain were parts of Otago, Fiordland and Southland. 24 hour falls of more than 50 mm were reported in the Wellington area up to 9 a.m. on the 29th.

The depression was lying to the east of New Zealand by the morning of the 30th, and a ridge of high pressure extended into the Tasman Sea from an anticyclone centred over Australia. By the afternoon of the 30th the anticyclone was situated in the Tasman Sea, and pressures were low to the north-west of New Zealand as a depression developed off the Australian coast. There was some isolated rain throughout the North Island and along the east coast of the South Island. The depression in the north Tasman Sea had moved south-east towards New Zealand on the 31st, and the anticyclone had moved eastwards away from the country. Late on the 31st the cold front ahead of the depression moved onto the North Island bringing heavy rain to Northland. Temperatures were near normal at the end of the month.

THE CHARITABLE TRUSTS ACT 1957

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR APPROVAL OF A SCHEME UNDER PART III OF THE CHARITABLE TRUSTS ACT 1957

NOTICE is hereby given that the Presbyterian Church Property Trustees, a body corporate under the provisions of the Presbyterian Church Property Act 1885, have filed in the office of the Supreme Court at Napier an application for approval of a scheme in respect of a bequest paid to the said Presbyterian Church Property Trustees under the provisions of the last Will and Testament of the late James Anderson, deceased, which said Will was dated the 16th day of April 1898 of which the principal sum now amounts to $5,935.13 and the accumulated unexpended income as at the 30th June 1978 amounted to $16,398. The scheme provides for the said accumulated income and future income to be applied:

Price $1.20c

BY AUTHORITY: P. D. HASSELBERG, GOVERNMENT PRINTER, WELLINGTON, NEW ZEALAND—1979

- (a) For distribution to such person or persons residing within the parish of or belonging to the congregation of Saint Paul's Presbyterian Church, Napier, as the Kirk Session of Saint Paul's Presbyterian Church, Napier, may consider to be in need of charitable assistance;
- (b) To pay to the Presbyterian Social Service Association of Hawke's Bay and Poverty Bay Incorporated such sum or sums as the Kirk Session of Saint Paul's Presbyterian Church, Napier, may think fit to be expended by the said association for the general or any special purpose or purposes of such association; upon the grounds that the income which has accrued and which will accrue is more than is necessary for the purpose of the original bequest, and upon the further grounds that the carrying out of the trust could be facilitated by extending the powers of the trustees. The trustees believe that the extended purposes of the scheme would best give expression to the intention of the above-named James Anderson.

Copies of the scheme and the report of the Attorney-General thereon may be inspected free of charge at the office of the Registrar of the Supreme Court, Napier, and at the offices of the Presbyterian Church Property Trustees, Dalmuir House, 114 The Terrace, Wellington.

The date proposed for the hearing of the application is the 21st day of November 1979. Any person desiring to oppose the scheme is hereby required to give written notice of his intention to the Registrar of the Supreme Court at Napier and to the Presbyterian Church Property Trustees, and to the Attorney-General, not less than seven clear days before that date.

L. H. CHISHOLM,
Solicitor to the Presbyterian Church Property Trustees.
