Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), Mrs L. Edmond, and Mrs H. B. Dick.

Hearing: 4 September 1979.

Appearances: Mr P. E. LeLoir for Comptroller of Customs.

Decision

The Tribunal considered this magazine last in May 1978 when it declared 2 issues of 1977 indecent. The issue now in question is that of February 1979 published in the U.S.A. It was privately imported.

The Tribunal can see little if any change in the form, content, or balance of this issue when compared with those last before it. For the reasons which have been expressed before this issue remains unacceptable.

The Tribunal classifies this publication as indecent.

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), Mrs L. Edmond, and Mrs H. B. Dick.

Hearing: 4 September 1979.

Appearances: Mr P. E. LeLoir for Comptroller of Customs.

Decision

These two magazines published in the U.S.A. are dated, respectively, August and September 1974.

They define themselves as "celebrating gay awareness".

They each comprise articles of general interest and of particular interest to homosexuals. There are included some photographs of naked male figures.

The magazine is aimed at adult homosexuals. The content of each magazine is restrained without explicit sexual descriptions. The Tribunal does not find any overt encouragement of illegal homosexuality.

These magazines are to be distinguished from In Touch for Men (Decision 919) and do not in the Tribunal's view depict or deal with matters of sex or crime in a manner that is injurious to the public good or that is offensive to current community standards in this area.

The Tribunal classifies each issue as not indecent.

Decision

The first eight publications listed above (Reference No. Ind. 28/79 - 35/79 inclusive) are all picture books and are considered to be distasteful and ugly appealing only to prurience. They are entirely without literary merit and have no redeeming features among their collection of sexual photographs, captions, and text.

The Tribunal classifies each of these eight publications as indecent.

Private Collection, Vol. 4, No. 1, Jermoss Ltd., London: While this magazine leans heavily towards the sexual, there is a balance with general—though somewhat lightweight—articles.

The Tribunal classifies this magazine as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs in respect of the publications:

First and Second John Willie Bondage Photo Book, published by London Enterprises Ltd., Ind. 24/79;

Bizarre Comix, Vol. 9 and Vol. 10, published by Belier Press Inc., Ind. 22/79;

Sweeter Gwen and the Return of Gwendoline, published by Belier Press Inc., Ind. 23/79.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), Mrs L. Edmond, and Mrs H. B. Dick.

Hearing: 4 September 1979.

Appearances: Mr P. E. LeLoir for Comptroller of Customs.

Decision

All these collections of photographs and cartoon strips are in what the publishers call the bondage genre. That is, they depict women gagged and tied in a variety of helpless and humiliating positions. The purpose of the author, photographer, or cartoonist is, according to an afterword to The Second John Willie Bondage Book, to show women "completely unable to resist or act, even if they wanted to, which was not always the case". The subjects are naked or scantily and seductively dressed. The text in the collections of photographs is slight and is made up of eulogies of John Willie, the creator of the series, and letters, signed with initials, from men who share his fetish. The 2 volumes contain 160 and 175 photographs respectively.

The other three magazines show drawings based on Willie's photographs. Sweeter Gwen is a comic strip skit on his series Sweet Gwendoline and the two Bizarre Comix magazines are reproductions of comic strip series originally published in the Fifties by admirers of Willie. All names used, including Willie's are pseudonyms. The drawings are crudely distorted and clearly have only one purpose, to depict as wide a range as possible of acts of violence and opportunities for such acts. An introduction to Volume 9 of Bizarre Comix remarks that the greatest interest in one of the sequences is that it illustrates mechanically operated—as opposed to electrically driven—machinery for torture.

The motive for all these publications is to excite a perverse—and indeed perverted—sexual interest through fantasies of sexual violence. Although the editors and publishers write of "bondage literature" as though it is a serious genre, it is obvious that there is a particularly vicious kind of depravity in arousing fantasies that depend on the violation of human beings reduced to the level of objects. The Tribunal finds all five magazines indecent.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs in respect of the publications:

The Complete Guide to Growing Marijuana—The Culture and Management of Hemp, published by Wild and Woolley Pty. Ltd.;

High Time Encyclopaedia of Recreational Drugs, published by Stonehill Publishing Co.;

Stone Age Winter 78, No. 1, published by Stone Age Corporation.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), Mrs L. Edmond, and Mrs H. B. Dick.

Hearing: 28 August 1979.

Appearances: Mr P. E. LeLoir for Comptroller of Customs.

Decision

The first of these publications was commercially imported and comes before us on a disputed seizure. It is a republication of two monographs published in 1866 and 1893 for apparently serious purposes at that time.

The two other publications were privately imported and likewise come before us on a disputed seizure. The encyclopaedia is put forward as a collection of articles on many matters relating to the history, cultivation, manufacture, identification, and use of all kinds of drugs. Stone Age is a magazine similar in form and content to High Times which was previously considered in Decision 922.

All three of these publications have for present purposes the dominant effect when considered as a whole of approval and encouragement of the cultivation and use of drugs including cannabis, heroin, and other controlled drugs referred to in the Schedules to the Misuse of Drugs Act 1975. As a result the effect is to approve and encourage conduct which involves what is properly considered and defined in that Act as serious crime.

The Tribunal has previously considered that other publications of similar content and effect are or may be indecent because they offend against current community standards of propriety as they are expressed in legislation whether or not they may also describe or otherwise deal with matters of crime in a manner that is injurious to the public good. The same view has been expressed by the Tribunal about other matters in the sexual field which may encourage or approve activity treated as criminal by the community because of legislation on the subject. These matters include sodomy, homosexuality, and advice or information to those under 16 on contraception.

When we consider these three publications each as a whole with reference to the matters set out in section 11 we conclude that there is no, or no sufficient medical, legal, social, or scientific importance in any of them, and that on the other hand there must be some doubt as to the honesty or purpose displayed in each of them having regard to the underlying assumptions that the activities referred to are for the most part unlawful and the implicit but passing references to means of avoiding detection. There can be little doubt that among those who are likely to read these publications or any of them some may be led to engage in the purchase, supply or use of controlled drugs.

Overall the Tribunal considers that the public interest requires that these publications overall and having regard to all the matters which we have to consider, be characterised as indecent.

The Tribunal classifies each publication as indecent.

Reference No. Ind. 39/79

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs in respect of the publications:

Penthouse (U.S.), Vol. 10, No. 8, 9, and 10 (April, May, and June 1979), published by Penthouse International Ltd.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), Mrs L. Edmond, and Mrs H. B. Dick.

Hearing: 4 September 1979.

Appearances: Mr P. E. LeLoir for Comptroller of Customs.

Decision

The Comptroller of Customs submits these three issues of Penthouse to the Tribunal under section 14 (1) of the Act. The magazine was last considered in June 1977 (Decision 883) when those particular issues were classified as indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years of age. At the same time a restriction order was made pursuant to section 15A and that expired in June this year.

The Comptroller in his submissions sought a similar classification and restriction order for these issues. The publishers and New Zealand distributors in effect agreed with the comptroller.

Notwithstanding that common approach the Tribunal is not prepared to make any classification, in effect, by consent and has therefore considered these issues anew in accordance with the provisions of the Act.

It is apparent that there has been some change in the last 2 years in the photographic material and there is now a greater emphasis on the vaginal area than before. To some extent there is a greater explicitness in parts of the sexual text than before. There remains as before a quantity of non-sexual and indeed serious textual matter in each of these magazines.

There are two questions which merge into one which the Tribunal must decide. That is whether in light of any change in community standards the indecent material is balanced sufficiently. In other words do these issues now remain acceptable albeit in a restricted way.

Over the longer term there can be no doubt that community standards have changed. What was thought unacceptable by the Tribunal in its earlier years in a number of cases would not be unacceptable today especially in respect of magazines of similar general format. On television, in the cinema, and in the newspapers the nude figure in particular contexts is no longer generally offensive. We believe that even over the last 2 years there has been some change and while there may be some indication that the publishers of Penthouse are in some respects in advance of the threshold of offence against current community attitudes they have retained, without increasing the amount of it, a balance of non-sexual material.

The magazine is not one which is widely read or distributed. Although it has a large circulation its appeal is to the adult rather than to the younger teenager. An age classification provides the basis for a limited distribution.

We have concluded that while this magazine remains on the borderline it is not unacceptable and considering each issue as a whole ought not to be treated as indecent simpliciter whether in the ordinary meaning of that word or in its special meaning under the Act.

The Tribunal classifies each issue of this magazine before it as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years and makes a restriction order under section 15A for a period of 2 years.

Dated at Wellington this 21st day of December 1979.

Decision

These three issues are submitted to the Tribunal by the Secretary for Justice. The issues are for the months of March, April, and May 1979. They are copies of the U.S.A. editions imported direct by the New Zealand publishers. They retail at $2.40 each.

This magazine has been before the Tribunal on a number of occasions, the last being in March 1972. Except for one occasion in 1967 the magazine has been classified as not indecent.

At the hearing we received submissions from the applicant, the publishers, and the New Zealand distributor. We have also received a written submission from the Society for Promotion of Community Standards Inc.

The Secretary made no specific submissions in respect of these issues but having noted that during the last 2 or 3 years some complaints have been made to the Minister for Justice it was felt desirable that the Tribunal should reassess this publication.

Each of these issues contains photographs of nude or semi-nude women and a substantial amount of serious and semi-serious text of a more general nature. The magazine does not contain, to any extent, explicit sexual text by way of letters or advice to readers. The photographs do place emphasis on female genitalia.

In the past 7 years there has clearly been a change in community standards. Considered as a whole these issues do not offend against current community standards. Those parts which might be indecent in isolation are acceptable in the context of the magazine as a whole.

Having considered each of these issues and the submissions made and having regard to all the matters which the Tribunal has to take into account under the Act there is, in its view, no reason to alter the classification previously made.

The Tribunal classifies each issue as not indecent.

Dated at Wellington this 21st day of December 1979.

Decision No. 934

Reference No. 25/79, 26/79, 27/79, and 18/79

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs in respect of the publications:

Memoirs of a Married Man, published by Kensington Publishing Corporation, Ind. 25/79;

The French Kiss, author: J. J. Montague, published by Canyon Books, Ind. 26/79;

The Girl in the Plywood Box, author: William R. Bentley, published by Brandon Books, Ind. 27/79;

The Amazing Mary Millington, published by Futura Publications Ltd., Ind. 18/79.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs L. M. Greig (Chairman), Mrs L. Edmond, and Mrs H. B. Dick.

Hearing: 4 September 1979.

Appearances: Mr P. E. LeLoir for Comptroller of Customs.

Decision

These four books were commercially imported, seized by Customs, and came before the Tribunal as the importer disputes seizure. The last purports to be biographical in the first person. The other three are presented as fiction. All four are little more than collections of descriptions of sexual encounters in explicit detail. There is no literary or other merit in any of the books. Nothing therefore outweighs the dominant and prurient nature of each of the books. They are without any redeeming feature.

The Tribunal classifies each book as indecent.

Dated at Wellington this 21st day of December 1979.

LAURENCE M. GREIG.

GENERAL PUBLICATIONS

SHADOW OF THE LAND

By Ian Wards

422 p. 1968.

$9

The title for this book was provided by Nopera Panakarero, a Kaitaia chief of much influence, who, in May 1840, believed that only the "shadow of the land" had gone to Queen Victoria whilst the substance remained with the Maoris. Less than a year later he revised this opinion convinced that only the "shadow" would be the Maori portion.

The author examines the British acquisition of New Zealand, the Maoris trust in the Treaty of Waitangi and their confidence that its terms would be honoured and explains it was only by accident that the Maoris were guaranteed the possession of their lands and ancient privileges.

It is under these circumstances that the book considers the use of military force in New Zealand, analyses the arguments surrounding the provision of troops and concludes that, beyond any reasonable doubt there was never an attempt to govern by "moral suasion".

New Zealand followed the normal nineteenth century British pattern of territorial acquisition.

The book is an essential introduction to the Maori wars of a later date.
