Com. 3/80 Decision.

Before the Broadcasting Tribunal

In the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1976, and in the matter of a complaint by Clifford Reginald Turner:

WARRANT Holder—Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand (Television One).

B. H. Slane, Chairman
Lionel R. Sceats, Member
Janet C. Somerville, Member
S. H. Gardiner, Co-opted member
Robert Boyd-Bell, Co-opted member

Hearing: 25 March 1980.

Counsel: B. L. Darby for the Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand.

DECISION

Mr Turner complained to Television One about the telecast of the Benson & Hedges Fashion Design Awards on Television One, 9 November 1979. He considered that the prominence given to the words Benson & Hedges amounted to an advertisement of that brand of cigarettes.

In his reply, the Director-General of Television One referred to the dilemma faced by broadcasting organisations internationally, especially in coverage of sport on television. He distinguished a previous complaint by Mr Turner and went on to say a company name may be referred to in a broadcast where it is part of the recognised title of sporting or other public events which are sponsored. This was a qualification (Rule 4.2) to the main Rule 4.1 Television Rules and Standards, which reads:

Sponsored material may be broadcast by a television service provided that it does not relinquish editorial rights or control over the extent and presentation of such material, and provided that the association of a sponsor with a programme is acknowledged in the programme credits.

Television One contended the decision to cover the awards was a normal programming judgment made in the public interest.

If the complainant's views were upheld the Director-General considered there would be no coverage of many events of major public interest.

Rule 1.1 reads:

Advertisements shall be clearly distinguishable from other programme material.

Mr Turner took his complaint to the Corporation which noted that the event had been staged for a number of years but had been televised in full only in 1978 and 1979. The company name, in the view of the Corporation, had become a recognised part of the title of the event. The two signs shown in the television programme were not Benson & Hedges, but Benson & Hedges Fashion Design Awards.

No part of the programme constituted an advertisement in terms of the definition of the Broadcasting Act because no money was paid to the Corporation for its broadcast. The board concluded that the programme was not a paid advertisement, and that no breach of the Broadcasting Rules had occurred.

Mr Turner then brought the complaint to the Tribunal, which viewed sufficient of the programme to establish the extent of the content which featured the company and brand name.

The event was staged publicly in Auckland. There was an apron stage with a cat walk into the auditorium. Across the back drop to the stage was a sign "Benson & Hedges Fashion Design Awards 1979", but the words Benson & Hedges were in a type face that was very much bolder than the remaining part of the sign. The "coat of arms" associated with Benson & Hedges was also displayed.

At the back of the centre entrance was another sign, the logo of Benson & Hedges, and below that the words "Fashion Design Awards, 1979".

In viewing the programme we found there was a visual dominance of the words "Benson & Hedges". The placing of the logo at the stage entrance meant that it was shown prominently whenever there was a central stage entry and at times when events were about to occur on that part of the stage. Admittedly, the lower sign was obscured from time to time by the mannequins but no viewer could have watched the programme without knowing that Benson & Hedges were the sponsors. In fact the degree of prominence of the Benson & Hedges signs was to be contrasted with the less prominent signs given to three co-sponsors whose logos and names were not obtrusive.

We were assured by Mr Darby for the Corporation that no payment or any consideration in money or otherwise was given directly or indirectly or by way of contra by Benson & Hedges for the showing of this event on television.

We find therefore that it was not an advertising programme, which, under the Act, must be a programme or part of a programme intended to promote the interests of any person, or to promote any product or service for the commercial advantage of any person, for which, in either case, payment is made whether in money or otherwise (emphasis added).

If the programme does not amount to an advertising programme the advertising rules which prohibit cigarette advertising would not apply. The relevant rule is:

1.8 Advertisements must not specifically refer to cigarettes, cigarette paper or cigarette tobacco or mention the brand name of any product. However, a retailer may indicate that he stocks such products provided that there is no elaboration of the statement or reference to brand names.

The complaint cannot therefore be upheld.

It is appropriate, nevertheless, that the Tribunal should make some general comments. The Tribunal is sympathetic to the complaint made by Mr Turner since the programme we find, does heavily promote Benson & Hedges, a cigarette manufacturing company, with a brand of cigarettes named Benson & Hedges.

The awards were dominated by the Benson & Hedges signs and logo. That would not concern us if the event was not televised.

We have referred to Rule 4.1 governing the broadcast of sponsored material.

While it is clear that adequate editorial control was not exercised on this occasion to reduce to a reasonable level the name and brand of the sponsor, there is no evidence that the Corporation relinquished "editorial rights or control over the extent and presentation of such material".

It would be an internal matter if the sponsor was not a company whose cigarettes are banned from television advertising for health reasons. The voluntary ban self-imposed by broadcasters carries with it an implied obligation to abide by the spirit of the advertising rules in other programmes. On page 2 of the Television Standards and Rules there is reference to self-regulation as follows:

The quality of broadcasting in New Zealand is very much in the hands of the broadcasters themselves: the standards they aim at, the degree of self-discipline they impose on themselves, will more than anything else dictate the nature of the end product. One way in which the self-discipline can express itself is by the manner of their approach to rules, and in particular by their willingness to carry out the spirit as well as the letter of any rule. The rules and standards themselves have not been plucked out of the air, so to speak, but could be said to be the current expression of the tradition of acceptable broadcasting conduct that has been gradually developed over several decades.

It would be unfortunate if the Broadcasting Corporation lent itself to providing a platform for the promotion of a brand of cigarettes, in respect of which it refuses to accept paid advertising. The Corporation should endeavour, as far as it can, to thwart any endeavour by the cigarette industry to gain indirectly the equivalent of television advertising by sponsoring public events which are televised.

While acknowledging the difficulties and complexities of this area of television administration, and the world-wide problem, the Tribunal has no doubt that in the case of the Benson & Hedges Fashion Design Awards, the Corporation allowed undue prominence to be given to the name in the broadcast. It should have exercised control of the stage setting for the awards to eliminate the continual undue prominence of the name Benson & Hedges.

Instructions and guidelines should be given to producers to enable them to determine such matters before agreeing to televise such events.

Only if the Corporation is known to take a firm position will production staff be able to deal properly with individual cases.

Membership

The Tribunal co-opted Messrs S. H. Gardiner and R. Boyd-Bell as persons whose qualifications or experience were likely, in the opinion of the Tribunal, to be of assistance to the Tribunal in dealing with the complaint. They took part in the hearing and the deliberations of the Tribunal but the decision, in accordance with the Act, is that of the permanent members.

Dated the 9th day of May 1980.

For the Tribunal.

B. H. SLANE, Chairman.

Exchange Rates

IN terms of section 25 (2) of the Reserve Bank of New Zealand Act 1964, the Reserve Bank today released outer limits for rates of exchange to be used in transactions involving the conversion of New Zealand currency into foreign currencies and foreign currencies into New Zealand currency when delivery of the foreign currency dealt in will be effected by telegraphic transfer. The following range of rates, for the main currencies used by New Zealand traders in settling foreign exchange transactions, will remain in force until replaced by a new schedule issued by the Reserve Bank. These rates do not apply to transactions for settlement after the expiration of 2 business days (forward transactions) or to transactions in which instruments are purchased which do not entitle the buyer to foreign currency balances in the foreign centre until the instruments have been delivered at the foreign centre. In the latter case interest at foreign centre rates may be deducted from the telegraphic transfer rate to compensate the purchaser for his loss during the transit period.

NATIONAL MUSEUM MONOGRAPHS

Elsdon Best (1856–1931), who was a member of the staff of the then Dominion Museum from 1911 to 1931, made a notable contribution to the study of Maori ethnology. After a lifetime of experience, including many years in close contact with the Maoris of the Urewera, he spent the last 20 years of his life writing particularly of the social customs and beliefs of the Maori people. There is still a demand for the many monographs written by Elsdon Best and the following titles

MOA-HUNTER PERIOD OF MAORI CULTURE

ROGER DUFF—CANTERBURY MUSEUM BULLETIN No. 1

436 p. Third edition. 1977. $17.50

This book deals with the most important site yet investigated and in its discussions it traverses most of the New Zealand archaeological field.

A chance discovery in 1939 by a 13-year-old boy revealed the grave of a chief in the gravels of the Wairau boulder bank. The grave, goods, and bones of the ancient chief, prone in his gravel grave, with skull directed towards the setting sun, spoke with more authority regarding his race than the distorted memories of Maori tradition.

Although scholarly and technical, the book sustains throughout the drama of this archaeological discovery, and recreates from the evidence of bone and stone the life of our first Polynesians in the Moa-hunter period of Maori culture.
