(2) WARRANT HOLDER: Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand—1ZH (Com. 13/79).

(3) WARRANT HOLDER: Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand—TV1 and TV2 (Com. 14/79).

(4) WARRANT HOLDER: Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand—1ZH.

BEFORE THE BROADCASTING TRIBUNAL

B. H. Slane, Chairman; Lionel R. Sceats, member; Janet C. Somerville, member; S. H. Gardiner, co-opted member; Robert Boyd-Bell, co-opted member.

Hearing: 25 March 1980.

Council—Fisher for Independent Broadcasting Co. Ltd. Darby for Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand.

DECISIONS

Mr C. R. Turner lodged complaints in respect of one television advertisement and three radio advertisements. It is appropriate that the general rules and regulations relating to liquor advertising should be set out in this decision and some general comments made on interpretation.

The radio and television standards are couched in almost identical terms. The Radio Standards and Rules at present read—

"1.11 Advertisements Associated with the Sale of Alcohol—

Regulation 14 of the Broadcasting Regulations 1977, made pursuant to the Broadcasting Act 1976, states inter alia:

"(3) It shall be a condition of every warrant issued under the Act, whether inserted therein or not and whether the warrant was issued before or after the commencement of this subclause, that the holder of the warrant shall not broadcast any programme that promotes the consumption of liquor, being a programme for which payment is made for that purpose to the holder of the warrant, whether in money or otherwise.

(4) In subclause (3) of this regulation the term 'liquor' means any spirits, wine, ale, beer, porter, stout, cider, or perry, or any other fermented, distilled, or spirituous liquor, which on analysis is found to contain more than two parts percent of proof spirit."

To meet the requirements of this regulation the warrant holders must ensure that all advertisements associated with the sale of alcohol meet the following conditions:

- (1) Advertisements may be made only on behalf of a wholesale or retail point of sale, such as a vineyard, a wholesale store, a wine shop, or licensed premises.
- (2) Advertisements must not use brand names as such. A brand name is one which is the name of a particular wine, spirit, or beer, etc., such as "Blue Nun", "Gordon's Gin", "Leopard Beer", or one which refers to a range of wines, spirits, beers, etc., from a particular vintner, manufacturer, or distributor, such as "Corbans" wines, "Lion" beers, "Gilbeys" spirits.

NOTE: There are some sale outlets which incorporate brand names in their title, e.g., Corbans Wine Shop, Montana Weinkeller, etc. These titles may be used in advertisements only in such a way that they refer clearly and consistently to the point of sale, and not to the brand of wine, etc.

- (3) No descriptions of the qualities of any wine, beer, or spirit, etc., are allowed in any advertisement.
- (4) Advertisements may refer to:
- (a) Details of the points of sale and the service, e.g., location, hours of sale, details of parking, delivery, and type of sale (wholesale or retail).
 - (b) Description of the general range of merchandise, e.g., "A full stock of New Zealand and overseas wines, New Zealand and imported spirits and cordials, and a wide range of beer in cans, bottles, and flagons."
 - (c) Details of any associated service, such as entertainers, dancing, etc.
- (5) Advertisements for alcohol must not be presented from licensed premises, whether wholesale or retail.
- (6) Advertisements associated with alcohol must not be presented in association with or during programmes directed specifically at children.

Until June 1978, rule 1.11 did not refer to regulation 14, Broadcasting Regulations 1977, because the relevant amendment was not passed until then. Subsections (1) and (2) of regulation 14 have no relevance to the matters before the Tribunal. Subsections (3) and (4) were added by the Broadcasting Regulations 1977, Amendment No. 3 (S.R. 1978/171). The opening statement of the rule used to read:

"No station shall broadcast any advertisement which directly or by implication . . . is designed to promote the general consumption of alcoholic beverages. Advertisements may only be made in accordance with the following conditions."

In the new rule the general statement is replaced by a direct quotation of regulation 14 (3) and (4) and the rule then goes on to state:

"To meet the requirements of this regulation the warrant holder must ensure that all advertisements associated with the sale of alcohol meet the following conditions."

The same specific conditions (1) to (6) were repeated.

It seems clear that the Broadcasting Rules Committee has interpreted the regulation as merely restating the conditions that previously existed.

However, there are important differences—(1) The condition implied in warrants by regulation 14 stands on its own and is not subject to the detailed rules which applied to the previous general statement in rule 1.11. In interpreting that general statement the broadcaster would until June 1978 have seen specific types of advertising then listed which were clearly contemplated as suitable for broadcast under the rules. They were an extension of, rather than an interpretation of, the opening statement.

That is not the case with the condition now imposed in all warrants. The Tribunal considers it must therefore take regulation 14 (3) on its own, quite separately from the rules, when endeavouring to determine whether there has been a breach of that condition. The rules cannot modify the condition imposed by regulation 14 (3).

(2) The previous rule referred to an advertisement which "is designed to promote . . ." Regulation 14 (3) does not refer to the design or purpose of the advertisement. (It does refer to the purpose of payment.)

(3) The previous rule 1.11 referred to an advertisement which ". . . is designed to promote the general consumption of alcoholic beverages." (Emphasis added.) Regulation 14 (3) now says that the advertisement that should not be broadcast is one that promotes the consumption of liquor.

So there are two fundamental differences in the rules. The purpose of the advertisement is no longer relevant, just the effect. The previous intent was to avoid the promotion of the general consumption of liquor by advertisements designed for that purpose.

The rules remain in force and we have in each complaint determined whether or not we consider the advertisement complied with the rules which purport to permit specific types of advertising. In doing so we do not necessarily accept that those rules can modify the prohibition in regulation 14 (3).

At the request of the Tribunal, Mr Darby, for the corporation, made helpful submissions on both the background and the legal interpretation and application of the regulation and rules. Similarly, submissions were also made by Mr Turner. It is appropriate that we should discuss those matters before turning to the individual complaints.

Mr Darby outlined the history which led to the passing of the amendment to regulation 14. It arose out of a decision of the Special Rules Committee, on which the Chairman of the Tribunal sat which approved new radio liquor advertisement rules for a limited period of 1 year based on the rules permitted by the Independent Broadcasting Authority, United Kingdom. The Minister sought voluntary agreement from private radio stations that the new rules should not be applied.

When this was not achieved, the Government brought down the Order in Council which amended the existing Broadcasting Regulations to impose a new condition in warrants of all stations, both radio and television—Regulation 14 (3) and (4).

Mr Darby submitted the intention of Government was to restore the status quo. The Tribunal considers that, in a matter of interpretation of a regulation which imposes a condition, it may not take account of public statements made by the Minister. To do so would leave the interpretation of the law in the hands of the Executive and that is obviously not the intention of the Broadcasting Act 1976.

It is well established that in these circumstances a Tribunal should not look to the Executive for interpretative guidance. We do not find the Tribunal's obligation to have regard to the general policy of the Government in relation to broadcasting should be applied to the interpretation of a statutory regulation. Furthermore, the Tribunal is required to act judicially in relation to each complaint.

Mr Darby referred to a previous decision (No. 8/78) in which the Tribunal found that an advertisement, which featured a Leopard can, constituted an advertisement for Leopard brand beer and found that the programme promoted the consumption of liquor. The corporation had assumed that this was because of the brand name which was also a breach of the rules.

Mr Darby conceded regulation 14 (3) was short but not simple. He urged upon us an interpretation in which three elements would have to be established to constitute a breach of the condition:

- (a) That the advertisement promotes the consumption of liquor; and
- (b) That it is a programme for which payment is made for that purpose; and
- (c) That payment is made to the holder of the warrant.

He said it was significant that the regulation referred to the consumption of liquor, not to the sale of liquor, so that what is purported to be prohibited is a programme that promotes the consumption of liquor.

He put it to us thus—

The Shorter Oxford Dictionary (1959 reprint) at page 1597 gives the definition.

"2. To further the growth, development, progress or establishment of anything; to further, advance, encourage".

Because of the faintly American ring of the word "promote", reference to the definition in Websters Third New Dictionary may be appropriate. At page 1918 the relevant definitions appear as:

- "4 (a) To contribute to the growth, encouragement or prosperity of; further encourage.
- (c) To present (merchandise) for public acceptance through advertising and publicity".

Mr Darby submitted:

- (1) Some element of furtherance, encouragement, advancement, or an endeavour to gain acceptability for the consumption of alcohol was a necessary ingredient of a programme before it fell to be considered within the prohibition set out in the condition imposed by the regulation.
- (2) Reference to the availability of liquor for sale (not specified by brand name), which is what the rules allow, is not a furthering, or advancing, or encouraging the consumption of liquor, and such advertisements are not in breach of the condition imposed by regulation 14.

In his submission, such advertisements were directed at consumers and say to consumers, in effect, "your supplies are available from X rather than Y or Z".

They do not promote, or encourage, or advance, or endeavour to gain acceptance for the consumption of liquor as such. In contrast, he said one could cite advertisements for products such as those relating to personal hygiene which positively extol the virtues of the product and clearly imply one is in danger of being a social outcast if one does not use it.

As to elements B and C, payment has to be made to the holder of the "warrant for the purpose"—the purpose being the promotion of the consumption of alcohol.

In light of the definitions referred to above, Mr Darby submitted that when payment is made by an advertiser to the corporation for an advertisement drawn in accordance with the present rules, payment is not being made for the purpose of the promotion of the consumption of alcohol. The purpose of the advertisement is to identify a legitimate trading service available to the community.

Further, it was submitted that, on the wording of the regulation before an advertisement can be said to breach the regulation it is necessary to demonstrate that payment was made specifically for the purpose of promoting the consumption of liquor.

The Tribunal does not accept his interpretation which requires that payment be made for the purpose of promoting the consumption of liquor. The reference to the purpose in the words "being a programme for which a payment is made for that purpose to the holder of the warrant" refers to the broadcast of any programme. It is not necessary, therefore, that the purpose of the payment be to promote the consumption of liquor but merely that the purpose of the payment was to broadcast the programme. This is consistent with the approach taken in the definition of an advertisement (an advertising programme) in the Act.

The Tribunal does not accept that reference to the availability of liquor for sale is not a furthering, or advancing, or encouraging of the consumption of liquor and finds that such advertisements must be in breach of the condition imposed by regulation 14 (3). We accept that such an advertisement does not necessarily have to promote the general consumption of liquor. Indeed many advertisements, to a greater or lesser degree, promote the sale of the type of product being advertised, some pressing upon the viewer the need for this type of product, others emphasising merely that when the purchase is made a particular brand should be chosen. We do find that even the latter type of advertisement in the liquor field must, if broadcast, constitute a breach of the regulation.

Mr Darby put an interesting proposition to the Tribunal arising from regulation 14 (3) imposing a condition on all warrants. He suggested a breach of warrant condition should be determined in the case of complaints against corporation stations only in accordance with the procedures set out in sections 83 (3) and (4). Section 83 reads:

"83. Infringements of requirements—(1) Where it appears to the Tribunal that any broadcasting station is being operated in a manner contrary to the programme rules made under this Act and notified to the holder of the warrant issued in respect of that station, the Tribunal, notwithstanding any action taken by the Committee of Private Broadcasters in respect of private broadcasting stations, may give to the holder such directions in writing as the Tribunal thinks necessary to ensure that the rules are complied with.

(2) If the holder of the warrant fails, within such time as may be specified in the directions, to comply with any directions under this section, or if any matter is broadcast from a broadcasting station contrary to the provisions of any such directions, he shall be deemed to have committed a breach of the conditions of the warrant.

(3) The Tribunal may at any time notify the holder of a warrant that it proposes to impose a monetary penalty on him or to revoke or suspend the warrant on the ground that the broadcasting station to which the warrant relates has not been carried on in conformity with the terms and conditions of the warrant.

(4) If the Tribunal is of the opinion that the broadcasting station has not been carried on in conformity with the warrant, it may, after consideration in accordance with Part X and this Part of this Act, revoke or suspend the warrant for such period as it thinks fit or reduce the term of the warrant, or may impose on the holder a monetary penalty not exceeding $500.

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, no warrant held by the Corporation in respect of any broadcasting station shall be suspended or revoked except on the request of the Corporation or with the approval of the Minister.

(6) The amount of any monetary penalty imposed on any holder of a warrant pursuant to this section shall constitute a debt owing by him to the Crown, and shall be recoverable accordingly in any Court of competent jurisdiction."

He then suggested that if the Tribunal was unable to accept his interpretation of regulation 14 and considered the advertisements were in breach of the regulation, all advertisements associated with the sale of liquor were prohibited.

In that case, he submitted, the Tribunal in exercising its discretion to invoke section 83 (3) could, and probably should, take into account the intentions of the Government in passing the regulation because of the provisions of section 68 in which the Tribunal must have regard to the general policy of the Government in relation to broadcasting.

It was further submitted that the intention of the Government is clear from the Minister's press statements and from a letter to the Corporation dated 16 May which reads:

"Mr. I. R. Cross

CHAIRMAN OF THE BROADCASTING CORPORATION

Dear Mr. Cross:

ALCOHOL ADVERTISING

This letter will serve to confirm my concern, expressed to you orally, about the decision of the Special Broadcasting Rules Committee to permit extensive liquor advertising on radio.

This decision has been correctly interpreted by the Corporation as contrary to Government policy, and I am pleased to note the responsible attitude it is taking in not changing its present policy on liquor advertising on radio or television.

I should be grateful if you would arrange as a matter of urgency to take what steps may be available to you to have the matter re-opened with the Broadcasting Rules Committee on the basis that the decision is contrary to Government policy.

Yours sincerely,
Hugh Templeton,
Minister of Broadcasting"

However, the Tribunal is reluctant to accept these as indicating the general policy of the Government on liquor advertising. Mr Darby considered that these matters could be taken into account in considering whether any disciplinary measure need be taken under sections 83 (3) and (4).

We do not consider we should take into account either the Government's view of regulation 14 (3), or of the Radio Standards and Rules, or its general policy on broadcasting when possible action under section 83 (3) is contemplated, but rather what the warrant holders thought the regulation and rules meant.

We have no intention of invoking what could be described as the penal provisions of the Act in view of the difficulties of interpretation.

Finally, Mr Darby suggested that it was not open to a person to advance an allegation of a breach of the condition in the warrant because the complaints procedure under which the corporation dealt with Mr Turner's complaint (section 25) does not specifically permit a complaint in respect of a breach of condition of a warrant. (In this respect the position is different in the case of a private station where the Tribunal can receive complaints which were dealt with first by the Committee of Private Broadcasters—under section 90—which clearly has jurisdiction to consider breach of warrant complaints.)

However, the Tribunal considers that the insertion in the rules of the text of regulation 14 (3) effectively incorporates that regulation into the Rules and Standards. In arriving at this decision it has regard to the fact that a previous general statement was removed. It must, therefore, be accepted that this condition (now in all warrants) forms part of the rules. It is only sensible that it should do so.

As Mr Turner points out, the effect of the Rules Committee having removed the previous provision and inserted the new one would otherwise be to deprive him of the right to complain to the Tribunal. (And we observe that Mr Turner has had to exercise considerable persistence to get to the Tribunal. It would be unfortunate if the corporation were to give the impression that a technical procedural point would be taken against him.)

The alternative, on the other hand, may not be particularly acceptable to the corporation since, if the information is made available to the Tribunal by a complainant who does not have to go through the procedures for complaints to be referred first to the corporation, the Tribunal could itself initiate penal action under sections 83 (3) and (4). It is considered unlikely that this was the real intention of the Broadcasting Rules Committee.

Finally, the Tribunal expresses its concern that the interpretation of the conditions, regulations, and rules, imposed in relation to liquor advertising has become burdensome to broadcasters. It was made no easier by the regulation. The Tribunal has not found it easy to arrive at a correct and practical interpretation.

It appears to us, however, that the policy stated in the regulation is to ban from television and radio any advertisements that promote the consumption of liquor. We have had to take these plain words and interpret them in a straightforward way. If our interpretation is wrong, no doubt it will be put right elsewhere.

We now turn to the individual complaints.

Com. 12/79—Radio Waikato. Advertiser: Lion Breweries Limited.

Mr Turner complained to the Committee of Private Broadcasters under section 91, Broadcasting Act 1976, that Radio Waikato had broadcast a commercial for Lion Breweries involving a competition in which the underside of the caps from bottles of Lion beer are inspected so that the contestants can collect those printed with letters which make up the word Lion.

The Committee of Private Broadcasters did not, in accordance with the Act, give a date for hearing within 14 days so Mr Turner brought his complaint to the Tribunal.

In passing, we should note that Mr Turner did not receive a satisfactory response from Radio Waikato to his complaint and that company continued broadcasting the advertisement after he had telephoned the then manager and pointed out that it was in breach of the rules and the condition of the warrant. It is also noted that the company did not respond to a letter from the Registrar of the Tribunal sent on 10 December 1979, other than to write saying the advertisement had been taken off the air. It appears that the Committee of Private Broadcasters decided, since the offending commercial had been taken off the air, no recommendation would be made. Before Mr Turner could be advised the complaint had been referred to this Tribunal.

The Tribunal was told by the present manager of Radio Waikato that the company had relied on the approval of the advertisement by Radio New Zealand, a division of the Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand. Mr Fisher, for the warrant holder, submitted the matter was not straight forward and was at least a matter of great doubt as was shown by the acceptance of the script by Radio New Zealand. The advertisement did not mention liquor or its consumption. If it was promoted, it was only promoted in an indirect sense. It was an attempt, perhaps, to divert the market in different directions rather than to promote an increase in the consumption of liquor.

If the Tribunal found that the company was in breach then he submitted it was understandable in a difficult technical area, that the BCNZ had also made the same error and that the advertisement was broadcast only for a limited period.

In endeavouring to encourage people to enter the competition, the purpose of which was to promote the sale of Lion beer, the advertisement promoted the consumption of liquor.

The Tribunal finds that the advertisement promotes the consumption of liquor and is therefore in breach of the condition imposed in the warrant by regulation 14.

The complaint is upheld.

The Tribunal does not intend to initiate proceedings for a penalty under section 83 (3).

However, a private radio station must make its own decisions. If that involves employing a person on its staff competent to vet copy to ensure that it complies with advertising rules, then the company must be prepared to do so. It cannot rely on interpretations made by other stations.

Under section 83 (1) the warrant holder is directed to appoint a person or persons to be responsible for vetting advertising copy and recorded commercials to ensure compliance with the advertising rules and standards.

13/79 1ZH—BCNZ Advertiser: Hamilton Wines and Spirits Limited.

This radio commercial was an invitation to a wine tasting by Hamilton Wines and Spirits Limited in which the name Penfolds was used, according to Mr Turner's complaint.

The Tribunal finds that this advertisement clearly breaches the condition in the warrant imposed by regulation 14 (3). It is obvious that to invite people to come to an occasion where they can drink for no charge is an advertisement which promotes the consumption of liquor.

Furthermore, the use of the words Penfolds Wines Limited is mentioned in the advertisement of a brand name and in breach of the prohibition in that respect in the Radio Standards and Rules.

The complaint is upheld.

Under section 83 (1) the Tribunal directs warrant holders to notify staff responsible for accepting advertisements of the limitations imposed by regulation 14 (3) and of the Radio Rules and Standards as interpreted by this decision.

Com. 14/79—Television Advertiser: Montana Wines Limited.

The complaint was about a 30-second commercial broadcast during 1979 for Ormond Estate Vineyard.

A story board is attached as a Schedule to this decision.

We considered it appropriate to hear any submissions that might be thought appropriate by the advertiser. A representative came to the Tribunal and made submissions with the assistance of a representative of the advertising agency.

We were also supplied with an alleged script for the advertisement but it appears that this was not the current version and it was certainly not the script for the tape we viewed.

Montana Wines Limited submitted that the advertisement fell within the provisions for advertising on behalf of a retail point of sale such as a vineyard. It will be noted, however, that nowhere in the advertisement was the location of the point of sale indicated other than in a general way which might lead the viewer to suspect that it was on the east coast of the North Island.

Protection was also sought under the provisions of the rule which permits sale outlets which incorporate brand names in their title. The advertisement did not mention the Ormond brand of wines such as Hassendean or Chandos.

No description of the quality of the wine is allowed in an advertisement, and it was claimed that none was given. The mention was of fine grapes.

The Tribunal finds that the purpose of the advertisement was to indicate the quality and it would be impossible to view the advertisement and come to any other decision.

The fourth point made by Montana Wines was that the advertisement could refer to the general merchandise description which was not breached in this case. It was said that the rule stating that advertisements for alcohol must not be presented from licensed premises was not broken. However, the filmed commercial was all about the licensed premises and it is difficult to see the point in a rule which would forbid a live broadcast but permits a film made showing the sale outlet.

The advertiser said the advertisement was not associated with or during programmes directed specifically at children. The commercials were shown between 6 p.m. and 10 p.m.. We suggest that the wine company must be naive to believe that children would not be watching at 6 p.m. No evidence, however, was given that the advertisement was presented in association with, or during programmes directed specifically at children.

This commercial was a clear invitation to attend at the premises and consume wine there. Furthermore the advertisement obviously intended to promote the Ormond brand name and associate quality with the wine produced at the vineyard.

A glass of wine was prominent. The commercial was an invitation for that wine to be drunk.

This was not an advertisement presenting the name of the company in relation to some community service it has performed, but presented the name and brand in association with the producing of wine for sale.

The Tribunal considers the advertisement promotes the consumption of liquor and is clearly in breach of the specific rule relating to brand names.

The Tribunal considers the advertisement was an attempt to get around the existing advertising rules and is not exempted as an advertisement for an outlet.

The complaint is upheld.

In view of the difficulty of interpretation, no action under section 83 (3) will be initiated on this occasion.

A direction under section 83 (1) is given that the corporation notify staff responsible for accepting advertising that the spirit of the rules ought to be observed. Advertisements of the kind dealt with in this decision are clearly in breach of the spirit of the rules and this one has now been found to be in breach of the letter of the rules as well.

Com. 15/79—BCNZ—Advertiser: Lion Breweries Limited

Mr Turner complained about the broadcast from Station 1ZH and from other Radio New Zealand stations of the words "Lion Breweries" associated with horse racing information and results.

We were assisted by a brief statement of evidence from Mr D. J. Fitzgerald, a public relations executive for Lion Breweries Limited, who indicated the intention of the company to combine its radio advertising with print advertisements showing the activities of the company in a number of fields.

Mr Fitzgerald had to admit that although the objective was not to promote the sale of liquor, that might be the consequence. It was primarily an effort to clarify its marketing and to promote corporate image. He conceded that the advertisement would promote the sale of the company's products and about 30 percent of that was liquor sales.

While conceding there is a difficulty of interpretation in relation to the application of the rules to this type of advertising, the Tribunal notes a number of factors:

(1) That the company has changed its name to identify itself with its product. It seems clear to us that one of the purposes of this is that whenever the company's name is mentioned, at least some of its products are identified in the public mind.

(2) It can be seen from the information we have from the Lion bottle top advertisement that the name Lion is being promoted as an advertising brand name. If the company had retained its former name, New Zealand Breweries, there would have been a stronger argument that the repetition of the name frequently in association with race results was merely to improve a corporate image, and had nothing to do with the promotion of the sale of its products.

- (3) If some of the products of a company are banned from television and radio, then the use there of the company name (incorporating the brand) in advertisements unlinked to the other products, must be, at the least, a breach of the spirit of the rules and the condition of warrants.
- (4) We leave open the situation where a company has other products which it advertises using the same brand name as liquor or cigarettes. The fact that this possibility exists is not an excuse to interpret the regulation in a permissive way.

This complaint is also upheld. No action will be initiated under section 83 (3).

General Comments—

The present position is unsatisfactory. Consideration should be given to preparing a comprehensive regulation that applies a condition to all warrants or to revoke the existing regulation and impose comprehensive rules which deal with the situations in a consistent fashion.

Nor was the rule that existed before the passing of the regulation 14, in our opinion, a satisfactory one.

To give an example, an advertisement which clearly discouraged the use of alcohol but then went on to suggest that if the listener or viewer must use alcohol he or she should use a particular brand, could be said to have been within the spirit of the former opening statement and the rules, but for the restriction on brand names. But if that restriction on brand names did not succeed in eliminating the advertising of a company name, strongly identified with a product, which was repeatedly named every Saturday afternoon, then the listener could have been excused for considering those restrictions to have been meaningless.

It may be that the Tribunal has, in an attempt to provide an easier method of interpretation of the rules, pushed the restrictions further than the respective legislators might have intended. If that is the case, no doubt it will be put right in an appropriate manner.

Membership

The Tribunal co-opted Messrs S. H. Gardiner and R. Boyd-Bell as persons whose qualifications or experience were likely, in the opinion of the Tribunal, to be of assistance to the Tribunal in dealing with the complaints. They took part in the hearing and the deliberations of the Tribunal but the decision, in accordance with the Act, is that of the permanent members.

Dated the 16th day of May 1980.

For the Tribunal:

B. H. SLANE, Chairman.

SHADOW OF THE LAND

By Ian Wards

422 p. 1968. $9

The title for this book was provided by Nopera Panakarero, a Kaitia chief of much influence, who, in May 1840, believed that only the "shadow of the land" had gone to Queen Victoria whilst the substance remained with the Maoris. Less than a year later he revised this opinion convinced that only the "shadow" would be the Maori portion.

The author examines the British acquisition of New Zealand, the Maoris trust in the Treaty of Waitangi and their confidence that its terms would be honoured and explains it was only by accident that the Maoris were guaranteed the possession of their lands and ancient privileges.

It is under these circumstances that the book considers the use of military force in New Zealand, analyses the arguments surrounding the provision of troops and concludes that, beyond any reasonable doubt there was never an attempt to govern by "moral suasion".

New Zealand followed the normal nineteenth century British pattern of territorial acquisition.

The book is an essential introduction to the Maori wars of a later date.
