Decision of Films Censorship Board of Review

PURSUANT to section 82 of the Cinematograph Films Act 1976, Columbia Warner Distributors applied for a review of the film The Exterminator. Having viewed the film in Wellington on 17 July 1981, the Film Board of Review unanimously decided to refuse to approve the film for exhibition.

The film, a dramatic thriller, follows the actions of its hero John Eastland in his one-man battle against crime in New York City. The opening of the film set its tone. Eastland and other members of his unit have been captured by the Viet Cong in Vietnam. In an endeavour to elicit information from their captives the Viet Cong decapitate one of the Americans. Another American, Jefferson, succeeds in garotting one of his captors. Eastland and Jefferson escape. The decapitation and garotting are explicitly shown on screen.

Eastland's campaign against crime in New York City is provoked by a gang attack on his friend Jefferson, whose neck is deliberately broken leaving him paralysed. Initially Eastland's revenge is limited to the gang but he subsequently extends it to other criminal elements including a Mafia boss and the proprietor of a homosexual brothel. Eastland ultimately ends his friend's life by switching off his hospital life support machine. Although his activities attract the attention of both the New York Police and the CIA, he evades death in a final shootout at the Brooklyn Naval Yard and, in the last scene is shown swimming to the shore of the East River.

The Exterminator is a good quality film, well produced, well photographed and reasonably well edited. Violence, however, is central to its theme and was the dominant effect of the film. Some but not all of the scenes in the film were explicit. Other acts of violence occurred offscreen but with no doubt left as to what had occurred. Violent acts included a decapitation; a garotting; a gang attack with knives and chains; the torturing of a young prostitute with a soldering iron; killing a guard dog with an electric knife, lowering a Mafia boss into a meat mincer; burning a brothel proprietor to death; a number of gunshot wounds.

Although any one of these events in isolation is no worse than a number of scenes of violence in other films which have been approved for exhibition in New Zealand, in this film such scenes are numerous and central to the film's theme. The cumulative effect is a film of sustained violence. The moral justification for Eastland's actions is, at best, dubious.

Having regard to the type of audience likely to view this film the Board considered that the variety of weaponry and the detailed portrayal of various methods of violence could well provide material for imitation in this country.

Having regard to the dominant effect of the film as a whole; its likely effect on the audience likely to view it; and the extent and degree to which the film depicted the violence, the Board determined that The Exterminator was likely to be injurious to the public good.

J. M. PRIESTLEY, Chairman.

STATEMENT OF THE ACCOUNTS

Statement of accounting policies—The general accounting principles as recommended by the New Zealand Society of Accountants for the measurement and reporting of results and financial position on an historical cost basis have been followed in the preparation of these financial statements.

The following particular accounting policies which significantly affect the measurement of the bank's profit and financial position have been applied on a basis consistent with the previous years.

Depreciation—Depreciable fixed assets are depreciated on a straight line basis at rates estimated to write off the cost, less residual value, over the useful life of each class of asset. The principle rates in use are:

- Buildings 1 percent and 2½ percent.
- Office equipment, fixtures and fittings 10 percent and 20 percent.
- Computer equipment 12½ percent.

Investment accounts and term deposits—

	1981	1980
Under and including—	$	$
1 year	26,227,200	14,663,939
1-2 years	5,309,928	6,079,393
2-3 years	7,063,308	8,828,364
3-5 years	1,483,280	1,516,870
	$40,083,716	$31,088,566

Taxation—The charge for income tax is the amount of tax liability in respect of the accounting profit for the year.

The liability for deferred taxation arises from items of income and expenditure being included in taxation calculations in periods different from those in which they are dealt with in the financial accounts. The significant timing differences relate to depreciation and accrued income.

	1981	1980
Net profit before tax	$ 791,647	$ 714,800
Less permanent differences	33,870	65,912
	757,777 @ 45c 341,000	648,888 @ 45c 292,000
Plus share of tax of associate company	33,690
Total tax provided in accounts	$374,690
Less timing differences—transferred to deferred tax	199,467	170,920
Tax liability for year	141,533	121,080
Less provisional tax paid	138,489	295,476
Tax payable (receivable)	$3,044	$174,396
Deferred tax 1 April 1980	565,033	394,113
Plus movement	199,467	170,920
Deferred tax 31 March 1981	$764,500	$565,033

Fixed deposits—Coupon maturity dates cover the period 9 April, 1981, to 9 January, 1982. As these investments can be realised as liquidity conditions dictate they have been treated as Current Assets.

New Zealand Government stock and transferable certificates of deposit—New Zealand Government stock and transferable certificates of deposit are recorded at par value less discount which is amortised over the term of the investment on a straight line basis. The cost price as at 31st March was as follows:

	1981	1980
Transferable certificate of deposit	$ 536,996	$ 830,123
New Zealand Government stock	32,130,679	25,860,831

New Zealand Government stock is held pursuant to the ratio requirements of the Trustee Savings Bank Act 1948, and subsequent amendments and under normal circumstances is held to the coupon maturity date. As at 31 March 1981, the estimated market value of the N.Z. Government stock portfolio was $28,236,499 and the transferable certificates of deposit portfolio was $574,982 (1980 $20,658,200 $892,400).

Personal loans—Interest on loans is added to the principal sum at the date of the advance. The interest revenue is recognised on the basis of the 'Rule of 78' method. Unearned interest as at 31st March was $173,504 (1980 $172,915).

In our opinion proper accounting records have been kept by the company so far as appears from our examination of those records. In our opinion, according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us and as shown by the said records, the balance sheet and the profit and loss statement, together with the notes thereto, are properly drawn up so as to give respectively a true and fair view of the state of the company's affairs as at 31 March 1981, and of the results of its business for the year ended on that date.

According to such information and explanations, the accounts, the balance sheet, the profit and loss statement and the notes give the information required by the Companies Act 1955, in the manner so required.

GENERAL PUBLICATIONS

THE MAORI AS HE WAS

By Elsdon Best

295 p. 1974 reprint. $6.50 plus 70c p & p
Fifty years of public demand since this book was first published resulted in the need for reprints in 1934 and 1952. The text has been reproduced unchanged but the originals of some of the figures could not be traced and these have been replaced with similar illustrations. There have been many advances in our knowledge of Maori life since this book first appeared. The work of numerous ethnologists, and more recently archaeologists, has critically examined many of the earlier concepts, confirming some, disproving others, and altering others to varying degrees. No one has yet produced a synthesis of the results of all this scholarship and there is still nothing as comprehensive as this book of Best's to give a general account of the Maori. This book was first published when Best was 68 and thus represents the accumulated knowledge of a lifetime. It has now become a classic introduction to Maori life. Its continued availability should help the reader to obtain a basic background to old time Maori life which can be extended by further reading.

This report is the first one of a series. Later it is the intention to microzone other areas in the same way.

NATIONAL PARKS OF NEW ZEALAND

178 p. Revised third edition. 1974. $10.50

NATIONAL MUSEUM MONOGRAPHS

Elsdon Best (1856-1931), who was a member of the staff of the then Dominion Museum from 1911 to 1931, made a notable contribution to the study of Maori ethnology. After a lifetime of experience, including many years in close contact with the Maoris of the Urewera, he spent the last 20 years of his life writing particularly of the social customs and beliefs of the Maori people. There is still a demand for the many monographs written by Elsdon Best and the following titles have been reprinted without alteration to the original text (National Museum):
