Exchange Rates

IN terms of section 25 (2) of the Reserve Bank of New Zealand Act 1964, the Reserve Bank today released outer limits for rates of exchange to be used in transactions involving the conversion of New Zealand currency into foreign currencies and foreign currencies into New Zealand currency when delivery of the foreign currency dealt in will be effected by telegraphic transfer. The following range of rates, for the main currencies used by New Zealand traders in settling foreign exchange transactions, will remain in force until replaced by a new Schedule issued by the Reserve Bank. These rates do not apply to transactions for settlement after the expiration of 2 business days (forward transactions) or to transactions in which instruments are purchased which do not entitle the buyer to foreign currency balances in the foreign centre until the instruments have been delivered at the foreign centre. In the latter case interest at foreign centre rates may be deducted from the telegraphic transfer rate to compensate the purchaser for his loss during the transit period.

We do not know of any case where an alternative we can offer would not increase the return to shareholders by thousands of dollars. We will disclose this alternative to any genuine inquirer with a specific case to analyse but not otherwise.

NOTES TO THE ACCOUNTS

1. Statement of Accounting Policies—

- General Accounting Principles—The general accounting principles as recommended by the New Zealand Society of Accountants for the measurement and reporting of profit and financial position under the historical cost method has been followed in the preparation of these accounts, except for the revaluation of land.
- Particular Accounting Principles—The following particular accounting principles which materially affect the measurement of profit and financial position have been applied:
  - Interest Income—Interest is recognised on an accrual basis. Term and personal loan interest excludes unearned interest, and has been apportioned according to the rule of 78 method.
  - Fixed Assets—All fixed assets are valued at cost less accumulated depreciation with the exception of land which has been revalued in the 1979 year to the latest Government Valuations. For accounting purposes, depreciation is calculated using straight line rates based on the economic life of the assets. The following lives have been estimated:
    - Buildings—40–50 years.
    - Furniture and fittings—7–10 years.
    - Office equipment—7–10 years.
    - Motor vehicles—3 years to estimated residual value.
  - Taxation—The charge for income tax is the amount of the tax liability in respect of the accounting profit for the year and includes both current and deferred tax. Deferred taxation arises from timing differences between accounting and taxation recognition of income and expenditure. These differences relate to depreciation and investment income.
  - Current Assets—Debtors are valued at expected realisable value. Stock on hand as shown in the balance sheet represents bulk stationery supplies valued at cost less a provision for obsolescence.
