Decision No. 7/82 BRO 22/82
Before the Broadcasting Tribunal

IN THE MATTER of the Broadcasting Act and IN THE MATTER of an application by the BROADCASTING CORPORATION OF NEW ZEALAND for a short-term broadcasting authorisation for a series of broadcasts on warrants BRO 1, 2, 3, and 4 (Television One):

B. H. Slane, Chairman; Lionel R. Sceats, Member; Murray J. Henshall, Deputy Member.

Appearances: B. Hudson for the Applicant, B. H. Giles and B. G. Impey for Alternative Television Network Ltd., J. G. Miles for Northern Television Ltd., J. de Bres for the New Zealand Public Service Association Inc.

DECISION

Application—The Corporation applied for an authorisation to permit the broadcast of advertisements on an otherwise non-commercial day during a 1 hour programme supplied to it by Northern Television Ltd. for transmission by the applicant over Network One on weekdays. As Friday is a day on which advertising is not permitted in respect of the warrants for Network One, application was made to broadcast commercials between 1100 and 1200 hours on Fridays commencing on 25 June and concluding on 17 December 1982.

Parties—Alternative Television Network Ltd. (ATN), Northern Television Ltd. (Northern Television) and the New Zealand Public Service Association Inc. (PSA) claimed an interest in the proceedings.

The Broadcasting Corporation (BCNZ) objected to standing being given to ATN and the PSA.

The Tribunal had the benefit of full submissions from Mr Hudson and Mr Giles. We concluded that it was in each case in the public interest that in this hearing standing should be given to each of the parties who sought it.

Northern Television is the proposed contractor for the programme in which the advertisements would appear and would, in fact, supply the advertisements for transmission.

ATN had been an applicant for leasing television time and had an interest in commencing television broadcasting which was one of its objects.

The PSA represents the employees of the BCNZ who have a special interest in the arrangements for advertising on Television New Zealand.

Mr Hudson submitted that the Commissions of Inquiry Act was modified in its application to the Tribunal in this case by the provisions of section 76 of the Broadcasting Act which defined those who were entitled to be parties to the application.

In each case we decided that under section 4A Commissions of Inquiry Act 1908 it was appropriate that standing should be given to each of the parties. (The Tribunal is deemed to be a Commission of Inquiry under section 61 (5), Broadcasting Act 1976.)

We also accepted Mr Giles' argument that the Tribunal may regulate its own procedures and that at law his client was entitled to standing regardless of the Commissions of Inquiry Act.

The Tribunal considers that although regulation 15 (5), Broadcasting Regulations 1977 (S.R. 1977/4), does not apply to short-term authorisations, the public interest in this case requires that those who may be affected or who have a special interest in the subject matter of the hearing, should have the right to appear and be heard.

Production of Contract—ATN applied for an order under section 4C, Commissions of Inquiry Act 1908 (as inserted by section 4, Commissions of Inquiry Amendment Act 1980), for the production of the agreement entered into between the Corporation and Northern Television for the supply of the hour long programme.

It was submitted that the contract was relevant to the application by the Corporation, that the agreement constituted a right to participate in the benefit of a warrant and therefore the application was not in an appropriate form, that it would clarify the issues, that it was needed for the presentation of ATN's case, that it had a bearing on the applicability of section 76 and that ATN would be entitled to subpoena a copy.

The Tribunal was informed that there was no contract in existence although a draft contract has been prepared and submitted to Northern Television. Negotiations were contingent in part on the outcome of the application. If the application failed then the terms of the arrangements contemplated would have to be reconsidered and there was accordingly no final agreement between the parties which could be produced.

Mr Hudson emphasised that it was an application by the Corporation to broadcast commercials for one hour in what would otherwise be a non-commercial day and that the Tribunal must be satisfied that the production of the draft contract would assist in the determination of the issue—viz, whether advertising programmes can be included during the broadcast of 1 hour's duration each Friday morning for a period of 6 months.

The BCNZ submitted that in any event there was no foundation for the assertion that the arrangements constituted a sharing of the benefit of the warrant in terms of section 82 (1). That section provided that if a warrant holder acted in breach of the section he was deemed to have committed a breach of the conditions of his warrant. If that occurred then it was open to the Tribunal to institute the procedure set out in section 83 (3) and (4). That was a separate exercise in the submission of the Corporation, which would have to be undertaken in accordance with the procedures set out in section 78 and regulation 15, Broadcasting Regulations 1977. The Corporation also objected on the grounds of commercial confidentiality, that ATN was embarking on a fishing expedition, and that there would be difficulty in producing any agreement because the terms had not been settled between the parties.

The Tribunal accepted the force of the submissions made by the Corporation. It appeared clear to the Tribunal that there was a desire to enlarge the inquiry in respect of the application to one in which the merits of the arrangements for the production and supply of programmes to the BCNZ by Northern Television would be examined and considered in the public interest.

The Tribunal did not consider this application was the appropriate vehicle for that consideration.

It may well be that, if there was a concluded contract between the parties, parts of that contract would be relevant to the present application. But there was no such contract. The BCNZ had indicated, however, that it would impose the normal conditions requiring programme suppliers to comply with rules and legal requirements and retain the right of the Corporation to require deletions and alterations and to keep to an agreed programme format.

The Tribunal considered that all the arrangements between Northern Television and the BCNZ were not relevant to the sole question before us, namely, whether or not the Corporation should be permitted advertisements (or advertising programmes as they are known in the Act) during certain hours on Fridays between 25 June and 17 December 1982. If a concluded agreement had been entered into, one or two clauses, such as those regarding the advertising content, would have been relevant to the determination of the application. A draft of such provisions is not.

Sight must not be lost of the basis of the proceedings. The question that the Tribunal has to decide is not whether the internal arrangements between a programme supplier and the Corporation are adequate or suitable or desirable but whether the broadcast of commercials on Fridays is to be approved or not.

The Tribunal made it clear that it would not conduct an investigation into existing or future arrangements between these two organisations. If, as was suggested by ATN, the agreement entered into proved to be in breach of the Act or the warrant conditions there were remedies under the Act which could be pursued when an actual broadcast had taken place.

The Tribunal therefore declined to make an order for production of the contract or a draft copy thereof and confirmed that that would have been its decision in relation to a subpoena.

At the request of Mr Giles we have set out above the reasons for our decisions on these preliminary matters.

Hearing—The Tribunal indicated it would be prepared to hear argument as to whether the present application or an application for an amendment to the warrant was the appropriate procedure. It was not prepared to hear argument as to whether or not any different type of application or procedure was also required before broadcasting could legally be undertaken.

The Tribunal does not undertake supervision of proposed broadcasting activities but deals with applications that are made to it. While it can, in appropriate circumstances of its own motion, amend a warrant, it is not appropriate that an application for one sort of consent or approval should trigger off a general inquiry as to whether or not some proposed arrangements (which were not yet concluded) would constitute a breach of another section of the Act.

With one exception there is no power in the Act for the Tribunal to prevent the broadcast of any programme. In the view of the legislature, it is undesirable that the Tribunal should have the power to prevent broadcasting of any particular programmes except under one particular procedure which has to be invoked by the Minister of Broadcasting. It is therefore undesirable for the Tribunal to consider possible future breaches of the Act or to give interpretations in advance of events or before the factual position is established.

In evidence Mr A. W. Martin, Director-General of Television New Zealand, said that the purpose of the application was to enable the Corporation to enter into a contract for the supply of a series of hour-long magazine programmes which would be broadcast each weekday morning between 1100 hours and noon for an initial experimental period of 6 months. The particular time zone was not much sought after by advertisers. To generate sufficient revenue it would be necessary to have the advertising capability for every weekday morning.

As a result of an inquiry by the Tribunal in respect of an unrelated application, the Corporation indicated through Mr Martin in the present case that it could offer a quid pro quo on an advertising day. The Corporation did not schedule advertising during periods when children's programmes were broadcast, even on those days when advertising was permitted. Therefore, advertisements were not broadcast on Television One between 1030 hours and 1100 hours and between 1430 hours and 1600 hours on weekdays. He suggested that, if there was to be a compensating adjustment, it be that the network show no commercials between 1030 hours and 1100 hours on Wednesdays and Thursdays.

In cross-examination Mr Martin confirmed that there was no other similar arrangement with a contractor for the supply of programmes. He indicated that the programme could be taped beforehand but the present plan was to send it out live (or more correctly to send it direct from Northern Television for transmission as it may well contain some recorded material).

The Corporation would retain the right to refuse commercials although this would not generally be exercised before broadcast. It would have the same rights as it had with its own commercials which were pre-assessed. It expected that Northern Television would do the pre-assessment in respect of commercials shown on this programme. He said it would not be in the interests of Northern Television to allow breaches of the rules or standards to occur.

In answer to Mr de Bres, Mr Martin agreed that the existing rules (which imposed a maximum of 9 minutes per hour average advertising content over a day's programme and no more than 20 minutes in any period of 2 hours) would apply.

He said, however, that it was proposed to limit advertising to 11 minutes per hour for the 1 hour programme. The Corporation would be prepared to accept a condition to that effect. He thought there would be both recorded and live advertisements but he was not aware of any proposal for sponsorship of programmes.

He considered the proposed programmes would be of advantage to the Corporation which could not have provided a programme as costly as the type proposed to be broadcast by Northern Television, without employing more staff and re-organising to try to gain extra advertising revenue. He thought the proposal would be marginal financially.

Mr de Bres was concerned to maintain the non-commercial 2 days per week as sacrosanct. In the opinion of the PSA the BCNZ was already required to obtain more revenue from advertising than it should. There should be less commercial time on television rather than more. The quid pro quo proposed lost its effect because it occurs on another day. People would be left with the impression that there was advertising on Friday and thus the benefit of freedom from advertising on a particular day of the week was lost. Furthermore, the programme would adjoin children's programming with which the Corporation chooses not to associate advertising. Mr de Bres submitted that the days rather than the hours should be non-commercial.

The Tribunal is satisfied that the programme will provide an increase in local programming in substitution for imported programmes and that this is desirable in the public interest.

The Tribunal has decided that it will permit the advertising on condition that the Corporation desist from advertising continuously for 1 hour per week at a time during which it at present regularly broadcasts commercials. The time can be selected by the Corporation.

In doing so the Tribunal has taken into account such of the provisions of section 80 as are relevant to the application. Apart from the public interest, to which we shall refer again shortly, the needs of the audience have to be borne in mind. The proposal is a new one and is entitled to a trial for a reasonable period. The Corporation remains responsible for the quality of the output and compliance with the Act, the Regulations, and the Rules and Standards.

It should be clearly understood that if there is a failure to observe the legal requirements, the Corporation will not be able to avoid that responsibility because the advertising or programme material was supplied by a contractor. It will have to decide what measures it must take to ensure compliance with the rules and standards.

The desirability of an advertising outlet or the attractiveness of advertising charges, were not put forward as arguments for granting the application. The advertising limit of 11 minutes, having regard to the preceding and succeeding commercial free time, is not unreasonable. There will be practical limits of audience reaction if advertising gets out of balance with normal advertising scheduling of Television New Zealand.

The arguments as to the undesirability of regular exceptions to the non-advertising day, have some weight in respect of any long-term application.

The Tribunal has accepted in the past, particularly in relation to special occasions or sporting events, that there might be some intrusion on the non-commercial day (other than Sunday) for special reasons and, in some cases, if there is a consequent surrender of advertising time on another day.

We consider the latter is important from the point of view of the consumer, the television viewer. There should be no reduction by gradual erosion of the normal non-commercial content. That should be decided on a proper application in which the issues are dealt with.

We see the present proposals as experimental only and 6 months is the maximum period for which we would have been prepared to give approval on this application.

However, it is not necessarily impossible for such a series of programmes to be conducted on a long-term basis with one day a week being non-commercial, and it should not therefore be assumed that this application will be a fore-runner to an automatic approval by the Tribunal of an application for an amendment to the warrant on a permanent basis.

Mr Giles put a number of arguments in support of a submission that the section 76 procedure was not appropriate and that an application ought to have been made for an amendment to the warrant. Mr Hudson invited the Tribunal to use its powers to amend the warrant of its own motion if it thought the short-term authorisation procedure inappropriate. We have not accepted either submission.

The Tribunal has carefully considered the several reasons put forward by Mr Giles but has decided the Corporation has followed the appropriate course.

We do not consider it is intended in the Broadcasting Act that, for one-off or even a short series of broadcasts, there should be constant applications for amendments (which would not be of continuing effect) to the warrant.

It does seem appropriate that the Corporation should apply under section 75 for a short-term authorisation. All the same factors are taken into account by the Tribunal but the weight which individual factors may be given will vary according to whether it is a short-term application or a permanent change to the warrant. If it were to be a short-term amendment to the warrant we would see the considerations applying as identical.

There is, therefore, no advantage to the warrant amendment procedure if the changes are not to be permanent. The effect on appeal rights is not a sufficient basis for requiring an application for an amendment to the warrant.

Furthermore, there would be substantial expense in every year if applications for amendments to warrants had to be made whenever a broadcast was sought with advertising on an occasion when advertising was not normally permitted.

Mr Giles did not oppose the proposed broadcasts as such and largely confined himself to the argument as to the correct procedures. The Tribunal did not accept his submission that it should consider whether or not some different type of application for approval by the Tribunal should be made under another provision of the Act.

The Tribunal makes it clear that this application is what it is stated to be, namely, a short term one. It should not be assumed that some sort of automatic renewal would be available. If the Corporation wishes to seek a further period beyond December 1982 it will have to make another application either for a short-term broadcasting authorisation or for an amendment to the warrant. The granting of this application does not prejudice any future application.

The application is granted.

The Registrar will issue an authorisation on the usual conditions.

Two special conditions will be imposed.

- (1) The advertising programmes in each hour shall not exceed 11 minutes.
- (2) Each broadcast shall take place only if during the preceding period of one week the applicant has desisted from broadcasting advertising programmes for a period of 1 hour on Network One at a time when advertising programmes have normally been broadcast.

Dated the 14th day of June 1982.

For the Tribunal.

Decision of the Films Censorship Board of Review

PURSUANT to section 82 of the Cinematograph Films Act 1976, International Film Distributors applied for a review of the feature film The Scarecrow. The review was held in Wellington on 11 March 1982.

The film is a New Zealand production based on the New Zealand novel The Scarecrow, by R. H. Morrieson. It concerns the effect on a small town community, and in particular the Poindexter family, of the arrival and subsequent activities of a murderer. The film recounts events from the standpoint of a 13 year old boy.

In this review it was not the classification, but the Censor's note which was disputed. Written submissions were sought from the applicant and the Chief Censor. The board noted that the application for review under section 82 (3) of the Act cancelled the Chief Censor's decision, and it was its responsibility to approve or refuse to approve the film for exhibition and to classify it.

There was some discussion concerning the language used in the film. This was not considered by board members to be offensive in the context of the film, or to be injurious to the public good. The language used was the normal patois of New Zealand teenagers.

In terms of section 28 of the Cinematograph Films Act 1976, The Scarecrow was approved for exhibition with the classification GA.

J. M. PRIESTLEY, Chairman.

Decision of the Films Censorship Board of Review

PURSUANT to section 82 of the Cinematograph Films Act 1976, New Zealand Film Services applied for a review of the film Exhibition. The review was held in Wellington on 11 March, 1982.

The film is a documentary, much in dialogue form, about the life of Claudine Beccarie, an actress in French pornographic films. The film sets her work in the context of her life, her friends and her family and deals in some depth with her values and attitudes. It contains a number of scenes demonstrating techniques used by actors and actresses in pornographic films, and includes explicit scenes of cunnilingus, fellatio, lesbian love-making and masturbation.

It was noted that while the sex scenes were explicit, they were not linked with violence, and were relevant to the theme of the film and its context. The explicit scenes in question were erotic rather than pornographic. The film had overall artistic merit.

Members of the board were agreed that the film would be of social and cultural value in the context of a film festival as defined by the Act, and that in such a context it would not be injurious to the public good with an RFF20 classification. The board considered that this film could be shown without injury to the public good as part of a major Film Festival of the type which exhibited say 30 feature films covering a broad range of film, over the space of a fortnight. Such festivals in New Zealand conditions are usually confined to metropolitan centres.

In terms of section 28 of the Cinematograph Films Act 1976, Exhibition was approved for exhibition with the classification RFF20, Auckland, Wellington, Christchurch and Dunedin. The board noted that it was open to the distributor to seek, subject to section 31, a geographic extension of this classification from the Chief Censor should other appropriate film festivals warrant it.

J. M. PRIESTLEY, Chairman.

FOREST LORE OF THE MAORIBy Elsdon Best

DOMINION MUSEUM BULLETIN No. 14

421 p. 1977. $17.95 plus $1.50 p & p
 Printed without textual alteration, the work provides an important basis for any study of old-time Maori economics and perhaps more important of his attitude to what was a major part of his environment. It will be more of general interest today than when first written, since it stresses so fully the uses made by the Maori people of their natural resources, and supplies basic materials for further studies in ethnobotany and ethnozoology. The reverence which the old time Maori showed towards natural resources mirrors the modern concern for ecological principles.

LIVING LETTERS

STATE SERVICES COMMISSION

36 p. 1980 reprint. $1.75 plus 55c p & p

One of the aims in letter writing is to get ideas across to the reader clearly and briefly. But do letters always say what is meant? Even if they are clear to the writer, will the reader understand them easily? If you are still using the old clichés of "acknowledging receipt of", "according to our records", and "enclosed please find" it is almost certainly time to change your attitude to writing living letters.

MOA-HUNTER PERIOD OF MAORI CULTURE

ROGER DUFF—CANTERBURY MUSEUM BULLETIN No. 1

436 p. 3rd edition, 1977. $17.50 plus $1.50 p & p

This book deals with the most important site yet investigated and in its discussions it traverses most of the New Zealand archaeological field.

A chance discovery in 1939 by a 13-year-old boy revealed the grave of a chief in the gravels of the Wairau boulder bank. The grave, goods, and bones of the ancient chief, prone in his gravel grave, with skull directed towards the setting sun, spoke with more authority regarding his race than the distorted memories of Maori tradition.

Although scholarly and technical, the book sustains throughout the drama of this archaeological discovery, and recreates from the evidence of bone and stone the life of our first Polynesians in the Moa-hunter period of Maori culture.

NATIONAL PARKS OF NEW ZEALAND

178 p. Revised third edition. 1974. $10.50 plus $1.50 p & p

The revision of this popular publication has included numerous new colour plates and additional information on some of our parks. Because of the popularity of this book it is expected this edition will be in great demand. In addition to the book being an ideal souvenir for the overseas visitor it makes an ideal gift and also a valuable asset to anyone's home library.

THE MAORI AS HE WAS*By Elsdon Best*

295 p. 1974 reprint. $6.50 plus 85c p & p

Fifty years of public demand since this book was first published resulted in the need for reprints in 1934 and 1952. The text has been reproduced unchanged but the originals of some of the figures could not be traced and these have been replaced with similar illustrations. There have been many advances in our knowledge of Maori life since this book first appeared. The work of numerous ethnologists, and more recently archaeologists, has critically examined many of the earlier concepts, confirming some, disproving others, and altering others to varying degrees. No one has yet produced a synthesis of the results of all this scholarship and there is still nothing as comprehensive as this book of Best's to give a general account of the Maori. This book was first published when Best was 68 and thus represents the accumulated knowledge of a lifetime. It has now become a classic introduction to Maori life. Its continued availability should help the reader to obtain a basic background to old time Maori life which can be extended by further reading.
