Before the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for decisions in respect of the following publications: Frauleins, Vol. 2, No. 1, published by Publisher's Surplus Inc., California. Cupcakes, Vol. 1, No. 1, published by Red Lion Publishing Co., California.

Chairman: Judge W. M. Willis.

Members: Mesdames H. B. Dick, L. P. Nikera; Messrs J. V. B. McLinden, I. M. Malcolm.

Hearing: 2 December 1980.

Decision: 5 January 1982.

Appearances: Written submissions on behalf of Shop Six, the importer. Mr P. E. F. M. Leloir for Comptroller of Customs.

DECISION

WE were informed that these publications were sample copies imported by Shop Six and seized at Auckland in September 1980. As the importer has disputed forfeiture the Customs Department has referred these publications to the Tribunal for classification prior to commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1966.

Frauleins, Vol. 2, No. 1—This is a picture magazine measuring 210 mm × 275 mm. It is 34 pages long. The publication contains different colour photographs of 6 or 7 female models in various positions of undress. There are many instances of photographs of full frontal nudity, and some photographs are directed at the genital area. There is also a set of 4 photographs depicting 2 young female nudes in scenes that have homosexual connotations.

At the start of the portfolio of photographs of each model is a short and presumably introductory passage in German text. This is unusual (unless the publications were intended to be marketed in the Federal Republic of Germany) because the magazine is published and printed in the United States of America.

Mr Shirley, on behalf of the importer Shop Six, submitted that although Frauleins had full frontal nudity, that nudity was presented in a restrained and tasteful manner. Mr Shirley referred the Tribunal to the recent High Court decision in Waverley Publishing Co. v Customs [1980] 1 NZLR 631, and submitted both the magazines. The subject of this decision fell within the High Court guidelines for an age restriction classification because the publications did not present sex and nudity in lewd, prurient or patently offensive manner. The classification Mr Shirley submitted as appropriate was that the publication should be indecent in the hands of any person under the age of 18.

For the Comptroller of Customs, Mr Leloir accepted that the manner of presentation of the models in this publication was not patently offensive and there was little emphasis on the female genitalia, and that an age restriction would be appropriate.

We have had difficulty with a decision in respect of this publication.

With respect we endorse the dicta of Jeffries J. in the Waverley case concerning the problems of classifying pictorial magazines of this type:

"I recognise that representational photography, for those entrusted with the perplexing task of deciding between the acceptable and non-acceptable, is one of the nicest problems of line drawing which must be faced." (p. 646 11.16-19)

Our original assessment has also been complicated by our attempt, in fairness to the importer, (who relied heavily on the High Court guidelines in the 1980 Waverley decision) to identify real differences in the two classifications of the magazines which were the subject of the Waverley decision. This was not the easiest of tasks, but was attempted by the Tribunal in order to maintain a degree of uniformity in the current classification of magazines of this kind.

Bearing in mind the provision of s. 11 and the criteria set out by Jeffries J. in Waverley at 646 L24-33 we find:

1. Frauleins has no literary or artistic merit and the dominant effect of the publication is to expose the female form in a prurient and salacious manner. We refer here specifically to the photographs which may be found on pages 2, 3, 4, 8 to 10, 24 to 30.
2. There is no attempt by the publisher to camouflage or dilute the dominant theme of the magazine by articles or material of a non sexual nature.
3. Although some of the models are not photographed in patently offensive poses (which does not automatically mean that the publication is not indecent) many of the photographs we have referred to, we feel, are contrived (within the meaning of that expression as held by Jeffries J. in Waverley at p. 647, L3) to achieve a prurient purpose.
4. Persons are unlikely to benefit from reading the magazine although as a corollary the possibility of corruption is not really serious as this magazine is not as committed to the publication of deviant or offensive sexual material as many we have seen.

Having regard to the above matters we feel that whichever test of indecency is adopted this publication falls marginally beyond that for which we could apply an age restriction. For that reason, notwithstanding the submissions to the contrary, we classify Frauleins, Vol. 2, No. 1 as indecent.

Cupcakes, Vol. 1, No. 1—This is a magazine 63 pages long, measuring 215 mm × 280 mm. Its content contains colour and black and white photographs of female models although there are a couple of inconsequential short stories with sexual themes and some non-fiction articles. Only one such article, on Janice Joplin, has any degree of merit.

Mr Shirley submitted Cupcakes had an unexceptional text and again stated that while he conceded there was frontal nudity, it was not presented in a lewd, prurient, blatant manner. He submitted that the publication would be acceptable for an R18 classification.

The Comptroller's view was that Cupcakes was of more concern than Frauleins.

Mr Leloir submitted that many of the photographs were of females in contrived and provocative poses, with some emphasis on the genital area. Against that background he submitted that the publication should be classified as indecent.

We agree with Mr Leloir's submission and we find:

1. The dominant effect of the publication is to portray the female form in a manner to excite prurient interest, e.g., opening feature on "the small busted gang".
2. That the publication in text and photographs has no literary or social merit.
3. That although the element of corruption is not a real threat, the publication is unlikely to benefit its readers and overall its publication and sale in New Zealand would be injurious to the public good.

For all the above reasons we find Cupcakes, Vol. 1, No. 1, to be indecent.

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the following publications: Bedtime Story, by Laura Duchamp and The Softest Skin, by Ludwell Hughs; published by Free Associations Press Pty. Ltd., of New South Wales, Australia.

Chairman: Judge W. M. Willis.

Members: Mesdames H. B. Dick, L. P. Nikera; Messrs J. V. B. McLinden, I. M. Malcolm.

Hearing: 2 December 1980.

Decision: 24 December 1981.

Appearances: Mr P. E. F. M. Leloir for Comptroller of Customs.
No appearance by importer.

DECISION

THIS book was commercially imported at Auckland in July 1981. The importer has disputed forfeiture so that it has been referred to the Tribunal for classification.

The book is divided into 2 stories. Bedtime Story by Laura Duchamp and The Softest Skin by Ludwell Hughs. Both stories describe the lesbian relationships of unhappily married women. There is little literary merit in either story and the Tribunal would agree with the Comptroller that the stories are merely vehicles for describing various sexual episodes. The book has insufficient weight to make a profound impression for good or ill but the sexual episodes inclines the Tribunal to impose an age restriction.

The Tribunal finds the book indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18.

Before the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for decisions in respect of the following publication: Beyond Sexual Harmony, published by Bens' Books Ltd. London.

Chairman: Judge W. M. Willis.

Members: Mesdames H. B. Dick, L. P. Nikera; Messrs J. V. B. McLinden, I. W. Malcolm.

Hearing: 2 December 1980.

Decision: 18 February 1981.

Appearances: Mr P. E. F. M. Leloir for Comptroller of Customs.
Written submissions by Waverley Publishing Company Ltd., the importer.

DECISION

THIS is a soft covered publication measuring 240 mm × 170 mm and 74 pages in length. The book was apparently first published in Great Britain in 1973 and copyright (as with other sex manuals which we have considered at the same time and which are subject at Decision No. 1011) vested in Ben's Books Ltd. in that year.

We agree with the submissions of the Comptroller of Customs that the text is serious and informative, but the photographs are generally of poor quality with little relevance to the text.

We have expressed our misgivings about the use of photographs in the sex manuals published by Ben's Books Ltd. which are the subject of Decision No. 1011. The view we formed in respect of those publications is a similar one to the present. Although the text in the majority of the publications was unexceptionable, the accompanying photographs gave us concern. It appears to the Tribunal that in the present publication a "cut and paste" job has been done with the illustrations. From our examination of the manuals, we are able to say that numerous pictures in Beyond Sexual Harmony appear in The Joy of Sexual Ecstasy and Sex in Marriage No. 12. Mr Leloir submitted that the only purpose for having photographs was to arouse "salacious interest for commercial exploitation". We are inclined to agree with him.

Perhaps one clue that a "cut and paste" job has been done on the illustrations accompanying the original text of Beyond Sexual Harmony is to be found at page 55 where the text, referring to intercourse during pregnancy, states:

"We will go into greater detail in the text accompanying the illustrations of this book."

In fact, there is no such further text, nor any illustrations guiding persons as to sexual positions to use during the course of pregnancy. That leads us to suspect that the original illustrations may have been cut out of the book to be replaced by more lascivious and irrelevant material. We suspect that the publisher, having copyright of the publication, may have been in a position to change its pictorial content, and may well have done so. As we have stated in Decision No. 1011 where we have found a sex manual lacks honesty of purpose by a publisher sprinkling serious text with explicit photographs, we will not be inclined to reach a compromise by ruling that the text saves the photographs. Sex manuals are different from other types of publications in that they are meant to convey educative material to persons wishing to develop their sex lives. Where a publisher taints this type of publication in the manner we have described we are prepared to rule the entire publication injurious to the public good and indecent.

There are plenty of other sex manuals available on the market for those wishing to pursue this area of study, and as we have already said in Decision No. 1011, to allow magazines of this type and nature to compete with bona fide sex manuals is unfair to publishers and readers alike. For all the above reasons we declare Beyond Sexual Harmony to be indecent.

Written submissions by Waverley Publishing Co. Ltd., the importer.

DECISION

WE were informed by Mr Leloir that these 4 publications are sample copies imported by a commercial importer and seized at Auckland in September 1980. As the importer has disputed forfeiture, the Customs Department has referred these books to the Tribunal for classification prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1956.

Although each of the books are discussed individually, we should say at the outset of this decision that we have been concerned at what we regard as a lack of honesty of purpose by the publisher in relation to all these publications and to a further sex manual published also by Ben's Books Limited in London entitled Beyond Sexual Harmony, the subject of Decision No. 1010, before this Tribunal.

Sex in Marriage No. 14—This is a reissued paperback previously printed under the name Love Three Ways. It is 160 pages in length and its contents deal with a hotch potch of sexual matters, many of which concern deviant sex.

To call the publication part of a series about sex in marriage must surely be a misnomer because the publication bears little or no relevance to the normal relationships that one might expect to find with married couples.

As well as the misgivings the Tribunal has about the written content of the publication, we are also of the opinion that the 2 blocks of photographs collected in the text are additional evidence of its lack of honesty of purpose. There are some pictures we recognise there from magazines we have declared indecent on previous occasions and it could be said of all the illustrations that there has been no attempt to relate them to any part of the text. Many of the pictures are concerned with deviant aspects of sex and are completely unnecessary (unless there was a lack of honesty of purpose) to the content of the publication.

As Mr Leloir pointed out to us, this publication was originally published under the title Love Three Ways. There is only one way to deal with it and that is by classifying it indecent, as being injurious and likely to be corruptive to public good, so we therefore rule it to be indecent.

Woman's View of Sex in Marriage—This is a soft covered book measuring 210 mm × 150 mm and a little over 111 pages in length. Its content deal with general issues relating to intercourse, and so far as the text is concerned the Tribunal would agree with Mr Leloir who submitted that the publication had "a generally restrained and informative text . . .".

If this publication were limited to its text, there would be no question of the Tribunal considering it as indecent, although there might be an age restriction imposed because of the matters discussed in the publication. However, in addition to the text there are a large number of black and white photographs. These show different couples engaging in sexual play and in intercourse positions. The photographs are not related or "keyed" into the text. The Tribunal is left with considerable doubt as to the honesty of purpose of the publisher of the books because many of the same photographs appear in other sex manuals published by Ben's Books Ltd., and further because of the number of photographs. The different models used and the lack of relevance of many of the photographs to the text. This latter aspect of the publication has also caused the Comptroller some concern because he submitted that when one considered the publication overall, although there could be doubts as to the motive of the publisher, any difficulty could be overcome by an age restriction.

The Tribunal is not happy with such a compromise. Either this publication is what it purports to be, namely a sex manual to give couples and especially women assistance with their sexual relationships, or it is a vehicle for the publisher to print a series of photographs of a frank and explicit kind. It is this which leads us to doubt the honesty of purpose of the publisher. We would be very reluctant to reach a compromise by holding that although we doubted the publisher's honesty of purpose, nevertheless the publication was saved by the text. We do not think that would be a proper attitude to adopt especially regarding the position of other more responsible publishers of sex manuals.

There are many publications available for sale in New Zealand in which advice on sexual matters can be fairly obtained. We think it is undesirable and injurious to the public good if we let half honest publications compete in the sex manual field against other publications which present their message in a proper and informative way. For all these reasons we declare A Woman's View of Sex in Marriage to be indecent.

The Joy of Sexual Ecstasy—This is a soft covered publication 147 pages in length written by Gilbert Oakleigh, but we note not the subject of copyright by him. The publication refers to copyright vesting in Ben's Books Ltd. in 1975. As in the other sex manuals considered in this decision, the text could be called unexceptionable. As well as the text there are sketch drawings of many of the matters and positions discussed in the text. The real problem lies in the 49 colour plates which accompany the publication. Many different models have been used in the pictures, and as already stated in reference to the other publications, some of the photographs reappear in the other sex manuals, the subject of this decision.

We also note that this book has been previously published under the name Making Love in Colour. We think that many of the photographs that are published are unnecessary and irrelevant, and that because of their number and of the different models used, that there is a similar lack of honesty of purpose in the book as with the other manuals published by Ben's Books Ltd.

We are often required to assess sex manuals that have accompanying pictorial illustrations. In many cases there is little difficulty in detecting honesty of purpose even where the accompanying photographs are frank and explicit. In appropriate cases the Tribunal does not even impose age restrictions in respect of the sex manual publications (see Decision No. 948).

However it is largely a matter of fact whether such illustrations are there for the purpose of assisting the reader or for another less laudable reason. In this publication we find that the purpose of the publisher lacks honesty and that the photographs have been included in this manual probably only as a feature to help sell the publication to persons who, had the photographs been omitted, would have had little interest in the publication.

For all these reasons we also classify The Joy of Sexual Ecstasy as being indecent.

Sex in Marriage No. 12—This is yet another paperback sex manual published by Ben's Books Ltd. It is 126 pages in length and has both text and accompanying photographs. The publication has an introduction to it by Gilbert Oakleigh in which he praises the effectiveness and the honesty of the publication. We place little weight on this introduction for Mr Oakleigh appears to have a close connection with Ben's Books Ltd., as he wrote a similar introduction to Sex in Marriage No. 14, (we note his name in that publication was spelt Oakley) which we have classified indecent. As well, he was the author of The Joy of Sexual Ecstasy which we have already considered. His publisher was Ben's Books Ltd.

We have considered this publication along with the previous 4. We find it impossible to distinguish the contents of this book from that of the others. It is the presence of the same type of photographs which appear to the Tribunal to contaminate the text. They are likely to attract the prurient without leading to the text. In the circumstances we have come to the conclusion that there is a lack of honesty of purpose and that the public good requires a classification of indecent.

DECISION

THIS publication was imported commercially and seized at Auckland by the Customs Department in September 1980. As the importer has disputed forfeiture the Customs Department has referred the publication to the Tribunal for classification, prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings, pursuant to the Customs Act 1966, with the recommendation that the book should be considered to be injurious to the public good and declared indecent.

Merry Muses is a paperback publication 110 pages in length, date of publication unknown. It is a collection of bawdy ballads, supported by a series of black and white photographs, supposedly attributed to Robert Burns, the Scottish poet. After a careful scrutiny of both Merry Muses, and a complete edition of The Poetical Works of Robert Burns, there is no evidence to support this contention. It is the opinion of the Tribunal that Merry Muses is a cheap imitation of the works of Burns, primarily concerned with the prurient and lewd aspects of sex, with a series of photographs which have no relationship to the text. Accordingly, the Tribunal classifies the publication as indecent.

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for decisions in respect of the following publications: Forum Adviser, Spring, 1980 edition; The Best of Forum, Winter, 1980 edition; Forum Lifestyles, Summer, 1980 edition; all published by Forum International Ltd., U.S.A.:

Chairman: Judge W. M. Willis.

Members: Mesdames H. B. Dick, L. P. Nikera; Messrs J. V. B. McLinden, I. M. Malcolm.

Hearing: 3 December 1981.

Decision: 18 February 1982.

Appearances: Mr P. E. F. M. Leloir for Comptroller of Customs. Mr Christie for importer, Gordon & Gotch (N.Z.) Ltd.

DECISION

THESE 3 publications were commercially imported and seized at Auckland in May 1981. Forfeiture is disputed by the importer so that they are referred to the Tribunal for classification prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings under the Customs Act. Forum Adviser consists of letters and replies giving advice on sexual problems from "A" to "Z". Forum Lifestyles and The Best of Forum consist of various articles including correspondence dealing with various aspects of sex. It was the submission of Mr Leloir that an age restriction should be imposed because the explicit sexual material makes it unsuitable for the younger reader. Mr Leloir referred to Decision No. 877 when the Tribunal had for consideration Forum (New Zealand Edition) Volume 3, Nos. 10, 11, and 12 and Volume 4, No. 10. It is evident from the decision that a considerable volume of evidence was heard from a number of qualified witnesses. The publication which the Tribunal now has to consider has articles and correspondence of a similar nature to those in the volumes considered in Decision No. 877. From time to time the Tribunal has had to consider other publications not dissimilar to those under consideration. On this occasion no evidence was called nor was it necessary because in the view of the Tribunal it has sufficient knowledge of publications of this type to be able to make a decision bearing in mind first of all the fact that an age restriction was imposed on Forum in 1977 and secondly the more liberal attitude adopted by society at large in the present day. This Tribunal is of the opinion that an age restriction should be imposed. Mr Christie who appeared for the importer accepted that an age restriction would be appropriate.

In the circumstances therefore, these 3 publications will be classified as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18.

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the following publication: Furniture Frolics, published by Howard Productions Pty. Ltd.:

Chairman: Judge W. M. Willis.

Members: Mesdames H. B. Dick, L. P. Nikera; Messrs J. V. B. McLinden, I. M. Malcolm.

Hearing: 5 February 1981.

Decision: 18 February 1982.

Appearances: Mr P. E. F. M. Leloir for Comptroller of Customs. Written submissions by importer, Waverley Publishing Co. Ltd.

DECISION

A sample copy of the above publication was imported by Waverley Publishing Co. Ltd. and seized at Auckland in September 1980. As Waverley has disputed forfeiture of these books, the Customs Department referred the publications to the Indecent Publications Tribunal for classification prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1966.

Furniture Frolics is a soft covered publication measuring approximately 200 mm x 250 mm. There are some 10 pages of introductory text and some further 98 pages of black and white photographs featuring a man and woman in various sexual positions. As the title of the publication suggests, the sexual positions depicted make frequent use of furniture as props or aids.

The dominant effect of the publication—Mr Leloir, for the Comptroller, submitted that the bulk of the publication was given to photographs of sexual activities, predominantly concerned with the prurient aspects of sex. He submitted that there was negligible literary or other merit to offset the overwhelming sexual theme and that for those reasons the publication was injurious to the public good and indecent.

We understand that Mr Leloir was inviting us to find pursuant to section 11 (1) (f) that the books did not display an honest purpose because although a book purported to be a guide to couples in respect of positions of intercourse, it was really a publication designed to present lewd acts to those readers who had a prurient interest.

The Tribunal has had a close look at the publication to see if there are features of it that would support Mr Leloir's submissions.

Many of the positions depicted are highly contrived and impracticable. Because of this we gain the distinct impression that the book is directed to lewd and prurient readers without any serious attempt to assist persons wishing to vary their love making positions.

In this case we feel we must accept Mr Leloir's submission that the book should be classified as indecent.

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the following publication: The Girls of Playboy 4, published by Playboy Press of Chicago:

Chairman: Judge W. M. Willis.

Members: Mesdames H. B. Dick, L. P. Nikera; Messrs J. V. B. McLinden, I. M. Malcolm.

Hearing: 3 December 1981.

Decision: 18 February 1982.

Appearances: Mr P. E. F. M. Leloir for Comptroller of Customs. Mr Christie for importer, Gordon & Gotch (N.Z.) Ltd.

DECISION

THIS book was submitted in terms of section 14 of the Indecent Publications Act 1963 for classification. It is a well-produced series of coloured photographs said by the publishers to be "Playmates, bunnies, actresses, models, covergirls, as portrayed by some of the world's leading photographers". As stated by Mr Leloir the major portion consists of photographs of nude or partly-clad females with a small amount of text relating either to the photographers or to the models. Most of the photos highlight breasts and are otherwise comparatively restrained in presentation with only a few photographs highlighting the genitalia. It was submitted by Mr Leloir that the publication is not predominantly concerned with the prurient and lewd aspects of sex nor is the manner of presentation patently offensive. He suggests an age restriction.

The Tribunal gains the impression from the name that these are a series of photographs of models taken by photographers used by the Playboy Press and whose photographs have appeared in that publication. In view of the fact that Playboy is freely available the Tribunal would find it difficult to classify this publication as indecent.

Mr Christie who appeared for the importer accepted the submissions of Mr Leloir and suggested that an age restriction would be justified. The publication is therefore classified as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18.

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the following publication: Adult Video Cassette Catalogue, published anonymously:

Chairman: Judge W. M. Willis.

Members: Mesdames H. B. Dick, L. P. Nikera; Messrs J. V. B. McLinden, I. M. Malcolm.

Hearing: 1 April 1982.

Decision: 1 June 1982.

Appearances: Mr P. E. F. M. Leloir for Comptroller of Customs. No submissions from importer.

DECISION

WE are informed by Mr Leloir on behalf of the Comptroller of Customs that the above publication was privately imported by Mr N. Park through the Auckland parcels post and was seized in January 1982. As Mr Park has disputed forfeiture of this publication, the Customs Department has referred it to the Tribunal for classification prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1966.

This publication is a colour catalogue of what seem to be hard core pornographic video movies. The catalogue measures approximately 205 mm x 275 mm and is 11 pages long. It has a 4 page inset which brings the total length of the publication to 15 pages.

The Tribunal has no doubt that the dominant effect of the publication is to advertise video cassettes concerned with the deviant aspects of sex or the portrayal of hard core pornography.

The publication has no literary or artistic merit and it is likely to corrupt persons reading or seeing it. As the publication has accompanying explicit photographs, it is likely that it could affect persons of a tender age.

Mr Leloir submitted that the publication should be classified as indecent, and we accept his submission.

For all the above reasons we find the Adult Video Cassette Catalogue is injurious to the public good and is classified as indecent.

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the following publication: The Love Habit, by Anne Cumming, published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company Inc., Indianapolis/New York:

Chairman: Judge W. M. Willis.

Members: Mesdames H. B. Dick, L. P. Nikera; Messrs J. V. B. McLinden, I. M. Malcolm.

Hearing: 25 May 1982.

Decision: 16 June 1982.

Appearances: Mr J. M. McNiece for Comptroller of Customs. No appearance of the Importer, London Bookshops Ltd.

DECISION

THIS book is part of a commercial shipment of 50 copies. The importer has disputed forfeiture so that the Tribunal has been asked to classify the book prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings. It is a hard-back of 317 pages. It purports to be a true account of the love affairs of the author over a period of 10 years. In his submissions, counsel for the Comptroller remarked that although the author concentrated mainly on the physical aspects of her relationships with various men she also gave some insight into their characters and to a greater degree reveals her own character by relating her feeling and attitudes. The book was first published in 1977 and the Tribunal is aware that at least 1 book shop had a copy on its shelves for sale at a reduced price. The content of the book must be considered as light-weight but, as mentioned by the Comptroller, it is not without literary merit. The sexual narrative is not significant in content and in the main reasonably restrained. In the Tribunal's opinion this book is not indecent and it is so classified.

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the following publication: Hunky No. 5:

Chairman: Judge W. M. Willis.

Members: Mesdames H. B. Dick, L. P. Nikera; Messrs J. V. B. McLinden, I. M. Malcolm.

Hearing: 15 September 1982.

Decision: 14 October 1982.

Appearances: Mr McNiece for Comptroller of Customs. Written submissions from importer, Mr D. R. Crosbie.

DECISION

THIS publication was privately imported on 14 June 1982 in Christchurch and seized on that date. Forfeiture has been disputed so that the publication comes before the Tribunal for classification.

Hunky is described on the title page as "the man's magazine". The contents comprise pictures and text. The pictures are largely of male nudes with genitals exposed in many cases. The text is a story of a homosexual relationship and the pictures appear to bear some relationship to the text. It was the Comptroller's submission that the publication should be classified as indecent. Mr Crosbie made the point that the magazine was purchased for his own consumption to cater for his own personal needs. He appeared to liken it to the contents of Playboy and suggested that "as a member of the illegal minority of homosexuals" any right he may have to enjoy the contents of magazines such as Hunky No. 5 in the privacy of his own home is denied. Unfortunately, it is the Tribunal's function to classify these works with regard to the total population. It is not possible for it to classify a book as indecent in the hands of all except a particular importer. Homosexual relationships between men are still illegal in this country so that the Tribunal has little option but to classify the work as indecent. It is classified accordingly.

W. M. WILLIS, D.J., Chairman.

SCHEDULE III
APPROVALS REVOKED

New Zealand Gazette, 1982, page 1657 "LPG Fuel System Approvals"

—Those cylinders manufactured prior to 1 March 1980 and identified in that portion of the Schedule entitled "LPG Fuel Cylinders" and referenced by the MOT Reference numbers AF LO3 062 to AF LO3 072 inclusive.

NOTES: This approval notice upgrades, consolidates and replaces the previous concessional approval issued to certain designs of LPG fuel cylinders imported into New Zealand prior to March 1980.

The effect of this notice is to allow the continued use of LPG fuel cylinders which are known to have been imported into New Zealand prior to the introduction of the Dangerous Goods (Class 2-Gases) Regulations 1980 and which were acceptable under the previous dangerous goods requirements, but whose working pressure rating would disqualify them for approval for general use under the Traffic Regulations 1976. They are approved subject to the additional proviso that they must not be exposed to direct sunlight (to reduce the possibility that solar radiation would raise the temperature of the contents of the cylinder such that the developed pressure of the cylinder contents exceeded the working pressure rating of the cylinder).

The terms of this approval do not allow the continued importation of such LPG fuel cylinders.

Dated at Wellington this 26th day of January 1983.

NOTES TO THE ACCOUNTS

1. Bases of Accounting—These accounts have been prepared in accordance with historical cost concepts.

The following significant accounting principles have been applied.

(a) Amortisation of premiums and discounts on investments—Premiums and discounts on New Zealand Government and local authority securities are amortised from the date of purchase to maturity on a straight line basis.

(b) Profits and losses on sale of investments—As the majority of redeemable quoted investments are normally held to or near to maturity, no provision is considered necessary for any differences between the book values and the market values of such individual stocks quoted below book values at the balance date, neither have any transfers been made from reserves or out of the current year's profit to write them down apart from the amortisation of the premium on stocks bought above par referred to in (a).

Realised profits and losses on sales of New Zealand Government and local authority securities are taken to profit and loss account in equal instalments over 5 years commencing with the year of sale.

(c) Taxation—Tax effect accounting procedures have been applied under the liability method on timing differences for which the tax liabilities are expected to crystallise within the foreseeable future.

(d) Provisions for losses and doubtful debts—

MOA-HUNTER PERIOD OF MAORI CULTURE

Roger Duff—Canterbury Museum Bulletin No. 1

436 p. 3rd edition, 1977. $17.50 plus $1.50 p & p

This book deals with the most important site yet investigated and in its discussions it traverses most of the New Zealand archaeological field.

A chance discovery in 1939 by a 13-year-old boy revealed the grave of a chief in the gravels of the Wairau boulder bank. The gravel, goods, and bones of the ancient chief, prone in his gravel grave, with skull directed towards the setting sun, spoke with more authority regarding his race than the distorted memories of Maori tradition.

Although scholarly and technical, the book sustains throughout the drama of this archaeological discovery, and recreates from the evidence of bone and stone the life of our first Polynesians in the Moa-hunter period of Maori culture.

DOMINION MUSEUM MONOGRAPHS

Elsdon Best (1856-1931), who was a member of the staff of the then Dominion Museum from 1911 to 1931, made a notable contribution to the study of Maori ethnology. After a lifetime of experience, including many years in close contact with the Maoris of the Urewera, he spent the last 20 years of his life writing particularly of the social customs and beliefs of the Maori people. There is still a demand for the many monographs written by Elsdon Best and the following titles have been reprinted without alteration to the original text. (National Museum):
