Decision of the Films Censorship Board of Review

Chairman: J. M. Priestley.

Members: N. C. Anderson, Mrs J. B. Fish, Mrs V. A. Forbes, Mrs J. Walker.

Date of Review: 11 November 1983.

PURSUANT to section 82 of the Cinematograph Films Act 1976, 20th Century Fox Distribution applied for a review of the feature film Class of 84. The film was directed by Mark Lester and was produced in 1981.

Class of 1984 fits into what has now become a common genre in an American film dealing with unchecked urban crime and the seeming impotence of authorities to counter it. The theme of this film involves a dedicated young music teacher who is assigned to Lincoln High School. The school is patrolled by security guards; movements of pupils are monitored by television surveillance; both the staff and pupils are intimidated by a small group of hoodlums (attired in the punk style) under the leadership of a young psychopath named Stegman.

The attempts of the teacher, Norris, to enthuse his classes and stand up to disruption in the school soon excites the attention of Stegman's gang. Harassment rapidly escalates from spraying graffiti on his car, through, the fire bombing of his car, physical violence, to the rape of his wife which leads to the film's climactic conclusion.

In terms of the criteria listed in section 26 (2) of the Act, the film concentrates to a marked extent on anti-social behaviour (amongst young high school pupils) and violence. The film is a well produced, intense and fastmoving drama with overall thematic integrity. The film has many deliberate echoes of more notable films over the past two decades, and is well produced. Up to the last reel of the film the majority of the Board were in agreement that there was no requirement to reject or cut and that, provided there was an R18 or R20 classification, the showing of this film in New Zealand would not be injurious to the public good. In the view of the majority both the theme and the violence portrayed was comparable to other films released by the Chief Censor over the last 3 years and that there was nothing in the material or the manner of its depiction that was injurious to the public good. Indeed, the violence portrayed (up to the last reel) was if anything understated and not particularly explicit. The minority of the Board, however, were for rejecting the film but for different reasons. In the view of Mrs Fish the film depicted violence to an unnecessary extent. In the view of Mrs Walker the film depicted anti-social behaviour to an unnecessary extent.

The last reel of the film during which an enraged Norris, with his own life in danger, succeeds in killing the members of Stegman's gang, was particularly gruesome although highly dramatic. One gang member meets his end on a circular saw bench (his arm having first been severed). Another member is incinerated in a petrol fire. Stegman himself (to the accompanying last bars of Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture being played in the school auditorium by Norris's orchestra) crashed through the roof with a rope around his neck and the closing shots of the film concentrate closely on his face and head.

Having regard to the matters contained in sections 26, 28 (4) and 29 of the Act, the majority of the Board (Dr Priestley, Mr Anderson and Mrs Forbes) were of the opinion that 3 specified parts of the film were injurious to the public good.

These were:

1. The explicit depiction of the killing on the circular saw bench;
2. The explicit killing of a gang member in a petrol fire with the subsequent shots of his dying face;
3. The final two close-up shots of the hanging Stegman.

In the decision of the majority of the Board, if these 3 scenes were to be cut then the film could be classified as R20 with a rider. The distributor agreed to the suggested excisions in terms of section 29 (3) of the Act. Accordingly, the majority of the Board, in terms of section 28 of the Cinematograph Films Act 1976, approved the feature film Class of 84 for exhibition in New Zealand with the classification R20 and displaying the warning notice: "this film contains violence and offensive language". With the 3 cuts and that classification, the majority of the Board was of the view that the film would not be injurious to the public good.

J. M. PRIESTLEY, Chairman.

Before the Broadcasting Tribunal

IN the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1976, and in the matter of applications for short-term broadcasting authorisations:

- (i) RADIO KAPITI LTD. BRO. 58/83;
- (ii) FIFESHIRE MUSIC COMPANY LTD. BRO. 57/83;

Chairman: B. H. Slane.

Members: Lionel R. Sceats, Ann E. Wilson.

DECISION

RADIO KAPITI LIMITED is owned by Coastal & Merchant Association, Coastal & Shopping Town Limited, Kapiti Promotional Council Inc. and Ceefor Communications Limited. Ceefor Communications Limited was to provide technical and marketing expertise.

The purpose of the station was to provide a local entertainment and information service for the 10-44 age group living in the Horowhenua region over the Christmas summer holiday period. Transmissions would commence on 10 November 1983 and continue until 29 January 1984.

The aims included a desire to provide a continuous 24-hour contemporary music programme, to provide community information to residents and holiday makers, to provide a comprehensive news and weather service, to provide a continual flow of entertainment and activities including on air and off air promotions and to provide national advertisers with an outlet to reach their targeted age group as well as to provide access at reasonable prices to local advertisers.

The station would broadcast 24 hours a day from 2 transmitters, 1 near Levin and 1 at Paraparaumu. The stations would link with Radio New Zealand stations in Wellington for evening and early morning transmission. The rest of the time there would be local origination from either of the 2 studios Paraparaumu and Levin.

The applicant made a similar application the previous year which and after a contested hearing the Tribunal had granted effective in Paraparaumu from 1 December 1982 but in the case of the Levin transmitter from mid-December. The reasons for this were the fact that the Levin area falls within an area serviced by Radio 2XS Palmerston North. The shorter period in Levin would limit the impact on the permanent stations revenue.

The Tribunal has to be concerned to some extent with the effect which temporary holiday stations have on the operation of permanent stations required to maintain services throughout the full year.

This year there was no formal opposition from Radio 2XS. However, the Tribunal considered that the basis of its previous decision had been reasonable and that if transmissions were to commence from 15 December in Levin there would be a limit on the amount of advertising which would be taken in the pre-Christmas season from normal commercial revenue of 2XS and 2ZA. The conditions will otherwise be similar to those approved last year. The networking proposed will be approved.

The applicant failed to file accounts as required in respect of its previous authorisation and was therefore in breach. The Tribunal had to ask for the information from the previous year before it could consider this application. The Tribunal does not consider it the responsibility of the Registrar to have to follow up each authorisation to see that the accounts are filed. When such applicants care to make a subsequent application they are likely to find that their application will not be dealt with until this information is supplied and it might well be taken into account in deciding what should be agreed to in the application before the Tribunal.

In the present case however, the Tribunal decided not to take that into account. Having regard to the evidence available to it from the previous year's return and the submissions, the Tribunal decided the application ought to be granted but for a shorter period than requested.

The Tribunal has previously made clear relevant factors when considering applications for authorisations in respect of an area where the applicant intended to make a permanent application.

The application will be granted but for transmissions to commence from the 1st day of December 1983 and in the case of the Levin transmitter to commence on 15 December 1983.

The Tribunal is satisfied that sufficient revenue will result to make the broadcast viable. Having considered the return last year when the station was in a competitive situation with a temporary FM Station the terms granted are reasonable.

Fifeshire Music Company Ltd. (Radio Fifeshire) applied to broadcast 28 November–30 January to Nelson City and surrounding areas from a transmitter at Richmond.

In the case of Radio Fifeshire the application was made to have effect from 28 November. The applicant had previously had an application for an authorisation for 1 month granted the previous year commencing from 1 January 1983.

Although there was no formal objection from Radio New Zealand the Tribunal was concerned to apply the same considerations. Indeed in this case the purpose of the application was to raise revenue for a warrant application and to provide a competitive situation in the pre-Christmas market selling period.

The Tribunal is concerned that stations can appear for short periods in these circumstances and then start to spread their broadcast time from the immediate holiday period which might be regarded as the week before Christmas and continuing through until the end of January and move into the more lucrative November/December pre-Christmas advertising.

The Tribunal has taken a generous view as to the activities of short-term stations over the holiday periods but it must have regard to the revenue of stations which are required to provide a year-round service.

While it has been accepted that the activities of the stations over the holiday period will have some impact on the local station this was much less if they broadcast only from just before Christmas through to a date in January.

The Radio Fifeshire application is granted but with transmissions to commence on 15 December. The terms will be otherwise similar to the conditions approved for last year.

Dated at Wellington this 16th day of November 1983.

Decision No. 21/83
BRO 58/830

Before the Broadcasting Tribunal

IN the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1976, and in the matter of an application for an amendment to a short-term broadcasting authorisation by RADIO KAPITI LTD.:

Chairman: B. H. Slane.

Members: Lionel R. Sceats, Ann E. Wilson.

DECISION

AFTER the Tribunal had made a decision on the authorisation, an application for an amendment of that authorisation was received from the applicant.

The applicant drew attention to the Levin Carnival and outlined a number of activities which it was proposed to promote during broadcasts if, as had originally been applied for, broadcasting had commenced from 10 November.

These activities, although noted by the Tribunal, had not been given particular prominence in the application. The emphasis was on the summertime activity.

The Tribunal is therefore prepared to vary the application to permit broadcasting to commence on 19 November in order to provide a coverage of activities during this period.

The difficulty still remains of interference with the Levin radio market in the pre-Christmas period.

The Tribunal has decided in the circumstances to impose a restriction on Levin retail advertising from 30 November to 14 December inclusive. This will enable broadcasting to continue from the Levin transmitter but not to permit Levin retail advertising which would normally be attracted during that period.

The applicant placed some emphasis on a number of other matters. It is appropriate that the Tribunal should refer to them.

The applicant felt disadvantaged by the late notification of the decision of the Tribunal. The Tribunal had not been prepared to make a decision until the accounts had been filed in respect of the previous authorisation. As soon as those accounts were received a decision was made.

The Tribunal would draw attention to the fact that the minimum period before broadcasting begins for filing the application is 2 months. This application was filed with only the minimum time allowed. In an application of this kind which is of a major nature, the applicant takes upon itself the risk of a decision not being available until very close to the time of the proposed broadcast. Applications can be filed much earlier. The 2-month period is required to enable circulation of the application to other parties and adequate time for their response. It is also necessary to fit in with meetings of the Tribunal.

Some reference was also made to the opportunity to have a hearing. The Tribunal does not normally consider an oral hearing is necessary for short-term broadcasting authorisations, but if one had been necessary, the applicant's timing would have made it difficult to fit in such a hearing before the period of broadcast occurred.

The Tribunal is reluctant to require parties to incur the expense (about which they often complain on other occasions) of a formal hearing when the main purpose of it would not be to produce basic evidence which is usually uncontested but to bring forth argument and to debate any objections.

The Tribunal expects that a full case in support will be filed. Any letters in response are normally sent to the applicant. It is left to the applicant to respond to them if it thinks necessary. A formal response is normally requested to any formal objections.

It was also argued that the Tribunal had decided to take into account a letter received from the warrant holder for 2XS. As it happened the Tribunal did read the letter but decided that since it was not an objection it would not request any comment or response from the applicant as it did not intend to take any factual point made by the warrant holder into account in making its decision. It decided to follow the policy determined in the previous decision and permit the Levin broadcast to commence from 15 December.

The solicitors for the applicant have adopted the proper procedure in applying for an amendment to the authorisation and regard has been had to the inconvenience which might be caused to planned coverage. But we draw attention to the fact that this inconvenience is solely the responsibility of the applicant by its choosing of the date on which to lodge the application.

This application was referred to 2XS again and that station did not change its attitude. But no objection was filed. The Tribunal has therefore decided the matter on the basis of the application without taking into account any stated attitudes from 2XS.

The Tribunal reaffirms the principles of its previous decision in relation to the Radio Kapiti Ltd. application.

Dated the 21st day of November 1983.

Signed for the Tribunal:

B. H. SLANE, Chairman.

Decision No. 1085
(Reference No. IND. 23/83.)

Before the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for decision in respect of the following publications:

Sally Roberts in Bondage, Book One, London Enterprises Ltd., U.S.A.

Bondage Life Vol. 1, No. S.8, 10, and 12, Harmony Communications, California, U.S.A.

Chairman: District Court Judge Willis.

Members: H. B. Dick, L. P. Nikera, J. V. B. McLinden, I. W. Malcolm.

Hearing: At Wellington on the 13th day of December 1983.

Appearances: No appearance of Importer, T. S. Watson, Auckland. C. Hillman for Comptroller of Customs.

DECISION

THESE publications were privately imported through Auckland Parcel Post in June 1983 and were seized. Forfeiture was disputed by the importer prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings.

In Decision No. 1026 the Tribunal had to consider Bondage Life, Vol. 1, Nos. 5 and 7. A different importer disputes the forfeiture of Bondage Life, Vol. 1, Nos. 8, 10, and 12. We do not consider it necessary to say any more about these publications than was said in Decision 1026. Suffice to say that the contents are not significantly different and certainly not sufficiently different to justify any change of classification.

Sally Roberts in Bondage, Book One, is an illustrated publication showing Sally Roberts and her "co star" Susan Blair subjected to bondage of various degrees. There is no exposure of genitalia but the illustrations show the 2 'stars' bound in a variety of different ways. Just as bondage books can be extremely dangerous in the wrong hands so may this book be for the same reasons. Bondage type publications have been considered by the Tribunal several times so that its views should be well known. (See Decision 1036, 1039, 1061, and 1070).

Both publications are classified as indecent.

Dated at Wellington this 20th day of December 1983.

Decision No. 1086
(Ref. No. IND. 29/83)

Before the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for decision in respect of the following publications:

Rustler, Vol. 7, No. 9, Gold Star Publications, U.K.

Home Grown International, Vol. 1, No. 10, Alchemy Publications, U.K.

Chairman: District Court Judge Willis,

Members: H. B. Dick, L. P. Nikera, J. V. B. McLinden, I. W. Malcolm.

Hearing: at Wellington on the 13th day of December 1983.

Appearances: No appearances of Importer, D. Agnew, Wellington. C. Hillman for Comptroller of Customs.

DECISION

THESE publications were privately imported through Wellington and seized July 1983. The importer disputed forfeiture prior to the commencement of the condemnation proceedings.

Rustler is an English publication and can be called a fully illustrated catalogue of sex aids. There are a series of articles all of a sexual nature but having no literary merit. There are pages of advertisements for sex aids of all types.

The photos are largely of nude or nearly nude females mainly in positions to expose genitalia. There are some photos of males with genitals exposed and there are photos of genitalia exhibiting sexual aids. There is nothing in this publication to remove it from the classification of indecent. It is clearly concerned with the prurient and lewd aspects of sex. It is patently offensive because of the manner in which the subject-matter is depicted. It has no literary or artistic merit and because the likelihood of corruption far outweighs the possible benefit it is clearly injurious to the public good.

Home Grown, Vol. 1, No. 10, is an English publication clearly devoted to the promotion of the use of cannabis. In April 1980 we had to consider Home Grown, Vol. 1, No. 2, which appears to have come from the same publication house. (See Decision 951.) We have no difficulty in finding Vol. 1, No. 10, to be indecent for the same reasons as we found No. 2 to be indecent.

Both publications are classified as indecent.

Dated at Wellington this 20th day of December 1983.

Decision No. 1087
(Ref. No. IND. 30/83)

Before the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for decision in respect of the following publications:

Hot Black Hunks, Third World Studio.

Sex Scenes No. 2, Eagle Productions

Chairman: District Court Judge Willis.

Members: H. B. Dick, L. P. Nikera, J. V. B. McLinden, I. W. Malcolm.

Hearing at Wellington on the 13th day of December 1983.

Appearances: No appearance of Importer, B. D. Evans, Auckland. C. Hillman for Comptroller of Customs.

DECISION

THESE 2 publications were privately imported through Auckland Parcel Post and seized in July 1983. Forfeiture has been disputed by the importer prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings.

Hot Black Hunks is published in the United States and consists almost entirely of photographs of nude black males in nearly every case exposing the penis quiescent or in erection. In some photos the model is plainly masturbating and in others has clearly just finished masturbating. There is no text apart from 2 pages of advertisements for sexual aids.

Sex Scenes No. 2 is published by Eagle Publications and would seem to come from the United States. The text which is minimal commences in the middle of a sentence and it consists of 2 stories concerning homosexual behaviour in one case between 2 individuals and in the other between 3. The text is luridly illustrated with black and white photographs of nude or nearly nude males engaged in a series of homosexual encounters. Neither publication can claim any literary or artistic merit. They are predominantly concerned with prurient and lewd aspects of sex. The subject-matter is patently offensive and concerns behaviour which is criminal in New Zealand. The likelihood of corruption far outweighs possible benefit. They are clearly injurious to the public good.

They are classified as indecent.
