Decision of the Films Censorship Board of Review

Chairman: Dr. J. M. Priestley.

Members: Ms A. M. Dixon, Mrs J. B. Fish, N. C. Anderson, M. B. Menzies, C. B. Priestley.

Date of Review: 23 February 1984.

PURSUANT to section 82 of the Cinematograph Films Act 1976, an application for review was made by Amalgamated Film Distribution in respect of the film Joy.

Having conducted a review of the film, the Board, pursuant to its powers under section 84 (5) of the Act by a majority decision refused to approve the film for exhibition.

The majority of the Board (Dr Priestley, Mrs Fish, Ms Dixon, and Mr Menzies) considered that the film, as submitted, was likely to be injurious to the public good. The film was a UGC release of a 1983 joint Canadian-French production. The film was well produced and technically of a high quality. The French dialogue on the sound track submitted to the Chief Censor had been dubbed in somewhat stilted English. The standard of acting of the lead roles, was, at best, unremarkable.

The opening scene of the film features a naked couple having sexual intercourse (in a stylised and somewhat acrobatic fashion) on the floor in front of the fire. They are observed by a young child. The relevance of this scene is not apparent until the last few minutes of the film. The young child turns out to be Joy. The man she observed was apparently her father who subsequently left her mother, thus inflicting on his daughter guilt; a propensity in later life for affairs with middle aged men; and of course the desire to find and be reunited with her father.

The film, however, cannot be taken seriously as a psychological drama. Its plot is a vehicle for soft core sex. Between its opening and closing scenes the film revolves around Joy, a Parisian model in her 20's. Joy meets Marc, a middle aged man at an art exhibition.

Attracted by him, she accepts his invitation to dinner and abandons her young lover. Later in her apartment he manually brings her to orgasm. She attends an orgy with friends. She flies to the Caribbean on assignment to be photographed in numerous naked poses and as a result of an advertising campaign becomes a minor national celebrity. With another middle aged man in New York she observes a "tantric" yoga group involving themselves in stylised choreographed sexual intercourse. She returns to Paris and her lover. There is more sex including intercourse a tergo. In one scene, Joy takes her friend to a palatial home isolated in the country and, after an improbable encounter with voyeurs, allows her friend to make love with her on a raised couch resembling a dentist's chair in the middle of the room. As a quid pro quo her lover takes her to a sex club improbably situated in some abandoned petrol tanks where a number of orgies are taking place and (off-screen but probably cut from the version the Board viewed) Joy is compelled by her lover to have intercourse with 3 men. This destroys her relationship with Marc and the last scene shows Joy about to board an aircraft for New York to be reunited with her long lost father.

In the view of the majority of the Board, the dominant effect of Joy was to act as a vehicle for scenes of nudity, sexual intercourse, related sexual activity and stylised scenes pandering expressly to male fantasies. The extent and degree to which the film depicted sex was high and heavily outweighed the extent to which the film had artistic merit. Although the entire Board (both majority and minority) accepted that the film was borderline in terms of the criteria laid down in section 26 of the Act, in the view of the majority of the Board the film Joy was on balance likely to be injurious to the public good and for that reason should not be approved for exhibition in New Zealand.

The minority of the Board (Messrs N. C. Anderson and C. B. Priestley) having considered this film in accordance with section 26 of the Cinematograph Films Act 1976, took the view that the film could appropriately be approved for exhibition with the classification R20.

In the view of the minority the dominant effect of the film as a whole and its likely effect on an adult audience was one of indifference. It could hardly be considered of value or importance for social or cultural reasons although it may appeal to some people as casual entertainment. The photography was technically competent and some shots were of artistic merit.

Two short scenes of implied rather than explicit cruelty or violence were treated in a clearly disapproving manner, and of the remaining statutory criteria, only the sexual content could be a matter for detailed consideration.

The film contained several scenes of sexual activity involving total nudity. These scenes fairly related to the theme and plot of the principal character's oedipal interest in middle aged men. The treatment of the sexual activity was glossy, fantasised and carefully choreographed to avoid obscene exposure. It amounted to little more than nude bodies in close conjunction, of scant interest, prurient or otherwise, to an adult.

It could not sensibly be argued that this film was of any particular merit or even impact. In all the circumstances it was not, in the minority's view, likely to be injurious to the public good to display the film to adult persons and accordingly the minority would have approved it for exhibition with a classification of R20.

J. M. PRIESTLEY, Chairman.

Chairman: B. H. Slane.

Member: Lionel R. Sceats.

Member: Ann E. Wilson.

Hearing: At Christchurch, 28 October 1983.

ORAL DECISION—The 28th day of October 1983

THIS is the first renewal of the warrant issued for 3XG Christchurch 5 years ago.

Since then the station has had its hours extended and its frequency changed. Two relay stations have been added.

We have heard well presented evidence on the performance, both in programme and in engineering terms, of the station. We have been given information about its future plans.

D

The warrant holder has proved, both financially and in other respects, capable of carrying on the service as originally proposed.

It appears that in no respect has the warrant holder departed from its proposals—a refreshing trait.

There have been no objections to the renewal. There have been many letters of support.

The warrant will be renewed for a period of 5 years.

Signed for the Tribunal.

Before the Broadcasting Tribunal

IN the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1976, and in the matter of an application by Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand for a short-term broadcasting authorisation to broadcast television coverage, of the Summer Olympics:

Acting Chairman: Lionel R. Sceats.

Member: Ann E. Wilson.

REASONS FOR DECISION

SUMMER OLYMPICS 29 July-14 August 1984, Los Angeles, United States of America: Authorisation granted

The Tribunal has approved the inclusion of Sunday advertising as a special exemption from the existing rules regarding Sunday advertising because of the very high costs falling on the Corporation. It accepts that it is the biggest single venture which has yet been undertaken by Television New Zealand. It is a quadrennial event, of great public interest.

The granting of the authorisation including advertising on Sundays is not to be regarded as a precedent for advertising on Sundays.
