Decision No. 7/84
COM 2/83

Before the Broadcasting Tribunal

IN the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1976 and in the matter of a complaint by the TELEVISION PRODUCERS AND DIRECTORS ASSOCIATION:

Warrant Holder: BROADCASTING CORPORATION OF NEW ZEALAND (TELEVISION NEW ZEALAND):

Chairman: B. H. Slane.

Co-opted Members: S. H. Gardiner, W. K. Sellwood.

DECISION

ON behalf of the Television Producers and Directors Association (TVPDA), the President, George Andrews, lodged a complaint with the Broadcasting Corporation regarding an advertisement for "Freshup" presented by the New Zealand Cricket Captain Mr Howarth in the course of a satellite television transmission of the Benson & Hedges Cricket Series from Brisbane on the afternoon of Saturday 14 January 1983.

It was complained that the commercial was in breach of advertising rule 1.1 which reads:

"Advertisements shall be clearly distinguishable from other programme material."

Mr Andrews also lodged on behalf of the Association a further complaint relating to a separate commercial featuring another New Zealand cricketer, Richard Hadlee in an advertisement for Toyota.

A transcription of each commercial is appended to this decision.

The Broadcasting Corporation did not uphold the complaint finding that the advertisements were clearly distinguishable from the coverage of the cricket matches. It said there was an obvious difference between the live presentation and commentary of an actual event and the techniques of the filmed commercial insert during a natural break in the action of the game. Television was also entitled to assume that viewers of the game possessed at least an elementary grasp of the rules governing it and were familiar with the long established pattern of placement of advertising.

The complainant did not accept there was a clear distinction between the advertisements and the programme material and did not agree with the Corporation's conclusion about the assumption it said television was entitled to make.

In submissions to the Tribunal, Mr Andrews said that available figures suggested a substantial audience of women over 40 were watching those games at that time and that no assumption could be made that they were all established followers of cricket who were aware both of the game and of the pattern of television coverage.

The Corporation's view was that there was a difference in the visual quality of the opening of the commercial which was filmed. Mr Howarth was first seen at the crease and not in all-white cricket gear which clearly contrasted with the coloured clothing worn by the players in the one-day series.

"Freshup" Commercial

Members of the Tribunal had seen this commercial broadcast and had also an opportunity to view a tape of it. The Tribunal finds that the opening commercial content was of such a nature that a clear distinction in the viewer's mind between the end of the programme and the beginning of the commercial was unlikely for the first 10 seconds of the commercial.

It is unlikely that the commercial was produced with the intention of butting it to the programme content although any advertiser would welcome the result of such a link.

The Tribunal accepts the advertisements are packaged together in groups and that such groups are usually recognisable as separate from the programme material, usually because there is a natural break in the action to allow for the interruption of the programme and the commencement of the commercials or other material. However in the case of this cricket series the action was continuous and the programme material flowed into the commercials without any visual or oral indication that the commentary was ceasing and the commercials were starting. It is obvious that the advertiser benefited from the resulting viewer confusion.

Guidelines and practices are often established by precedents such as this. We consider it important that no further interpretations of the rules by the Corporation under commercial or other pressures should lead to similar types of commercial presentation.

The complaint is upheld in so far as it relates to the placement of the "Freshup" commercial at the beginning of a group of commercials and upon the immediate switching from the live commentary.

The complaint would not have been upheld but for its placement at the beginning of a group of commercials during the cricket broadcasts.

"Toyota" commercial

This commercial was far less likely to confuse the viewer, even though a cricket personality was featured. The opening shot was in slow motion and then there was a cut to the "Toyota" nameplate on the car with the jingle which mentioned the commercial product.

This advertisement did not confuse. The immediate commencement of music and the sight of the vehicle diminished any chance of confusion.

The complaint in respect of the "Toyota" commercial is therefore not upheld.

Co-opted members

Messrs Gardiner and Sellwood were co-opted as persons whose qualifications and experience would be of assistance to the Tribunal in dealing with the complaint. They participated in the hearing and the consideration of the complaint but the decision, in accordance with the Act, is that of the permanent members.

Dated the 30th day of March 1984.

Signed for the Tribunal:

B. H. SLANE, Chairman.

Decision No. 3/84
BRO 71-72/83

Before the Broadcasting Tribunal

IN the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1977 and in the matter of applications by the BROADCASTING CORPORATION OF NEW ZEALAND for amendments to warrants to AM-40, (3YZ) and AM-41 (3ZA):

Chairman: B. H. Slane.

Hearing: Wellington on the 15th day of February 1984.

Counsel: G. R. Rowe for applicant.

and substituting the following condition:

The warrant holder shall establish relay stations at Cape Foulwind NZMS 1, S23-24/968731 for Westport (0.4 kW, 1458 kHz) and Reefon NZMS 1, S38/350278 (0.1 kW, 1521 kHz).

2. An amendment to the terms of warrant AM-41 (3ZA) by deleting condition 4, viz:

The warrant holder shall establish relay stations at Cape Foulwind, NZMS 1, S23-24/968731 for Westport (2 kW, 1458 kHz) and Reefon NZMS 1, S38/350278 (0.1 kW, 1521 kHz) to broadcast a commercial programme during the hours when the relay stations are not relaying 3YZ.

and substituting the following conditions:

4. The warrant holder shall establish a relay station at Cape Foulwind, NZMS 1, S23-24/968731 for Westport (2 kW, 1287 kHz).

5. The warrant holder shall establish a relay station at Reefon NZMS 1, S32/350278 (0.1 kW, 1521 kHz) to broadcast a commercial programme during the hours when it is not relaying 3YZ.

Decision

Radio New Zealand broadcasts a mixed commercial and non-commercial programme to Westport from a transmitter at Cape Foulwind.

Between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. weekdays and from midday to midnight on Sundays that transmitter relays the National Programme. For the balance of the time the commercial community programme from 3AZ is relayed.

The amendments were sought in order to establish a second relay transmitter at Cape Foulwind which would enable a full time relay of the National Programme as well as full time relay of the 3ZA programme, for listeners in the Buller region.

For the Corporation H. W. Gough, Development Manager (Planning) in Radio New Zealand, explained that it was intended to add a new relay station of 400 watts which would broadcast on the existing frequency of 3YW (1458 kHz). It would carry the National Programme.

The existing transmitter would adopt a new frequency of 1287 kHz and would broadcast the 3ZA community commercial service.

The National Programme appeals to a minority audience (under 10 percent) and costs considerations have led the Corporation to use a lower power transmitter.

Evidence from M. F. King, Station Manager of 3ZA, emphasised the present loss to Westport listeners of community affairs and talkback programmes broadcast from 3ZA between 9 a.m. and midday which were popular with other listeners to the station. There was also a loss of 25 hours a week of potential advertising revenue during those programmes.

One objection was received, which pointed out that some people who were able to receive the transmission of the National Programme for 5 hours daily from the 2000 watt transmitter would now receive it from a 400 watt transmitter. However, coverage maps indicate that the number affected in this way would be small. The vast majority of potential listeners to the National Programme will, as a result of this change, be able to receive the National Programme for 24 hours every day instead of 5 hours on weekdays and 12 on Sundays.

The installation of the lower power transmitter enables the broadcast of 3 programmes to the area to start at an earlier date than if the Corporation had to wait for the larger capital commitment of a power powerful transmitter.

The tribunal considers the proposals reflect the needs of the people in the area and they are desirable in the public interest. They will bring a genuine programme choice 24 hours a day to the people of Westport and the surrounding areas.

If in the event there proved to be a significant number of National Programme listeners in the area who receive an inadequate signal from the 3YW 400 watt transmitter but receive a satisfactory signal from the 2000 watt transmitter of 3ZA programme, the Corporation will no doubt take this into account in planning future development.

The amendments will be granted as applied for effective from a date to be advised by the Corporation.

Dated at Wellington this 16th day of February 1984.

Decision No. 6/84
BRO 32/83

Before the Broadcasting Tribunal

IN the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1976 and in the matter of applications by RADIO AVON LIMITED for renewal of warrant AM-48/3XA:

Chairman: B. H. Slane.

Hearing: Christchurch, 27 October 1983.

Counsel: J. N. Burton for applicant.

Appearance: A. T. O'Brien for New Zealand Journalists Union.

THE warrant for this station expired on 13 June 1983. The warrant holder applied within the appropriate time for a renewal. Public notice of the application for renewal was advertised in the press and also announced on the station over a period of 1 week. Apart from the appearance of the New Zealand Journalists Union there were no appearances by any other persons nor any opposition to the renewal of the warrant.

We intend to deal with the matter of the news service separately later.

There has been no evidence produced to us of any breach of the warrant during the 5-year term. Therefore the applicant is entitled to have a renewal of warrant for a term of 5 years to 13 June 1988.

The warrant contains a condition requiring the warrant holder to comply with the decision of the authority and the conditions specified therein and otherwise with the proposals contained in the application. Condition 4 (c) reads:

"That the holder of the warrant shall comply with the conditions of this decision, shall be responsible at all times for matters broadcast from the station, and otherwise shall comply with the proposals contained in the application as amended at the hearing unless otherwise approved or directed by the authority in writing."

Evidence was given by P. L. Mortlock, chairman of the company, who produced copies of the original proposals and detailed the respects in which the programmes have departed from the original proposals. We are satisfied that none of these amount to a breach of the condition.

It was proposed to use that the condition should be reworded along the lines of conditions approved for other stations upon renewal.

As there have been some minor changes, we believe it appropriate to also add the proviso that applies in relation to other stations which in effect gives them the right to continue on the format and content existing at the date of renewal.

We see no point in continuing the reference to the responsibility of the warrant holder for the matter broadcast as this is adequately covered by the Act and regulations.

It has been suggested by the applicant that we should insert a provision permitting network advertising before and after news bulletins. We consider that this is not an appropriate occasion to make that sort of alteration and that a joint application would need to be made by the stations proposed to be affected by the network advertising. It is also a matter in which other warrant holders may wish to be heard.

The Tribunal therefore deletes Condition 4 (c) and substitutes a condition:

"The warrant holder shall not substantially depart from the basic format and content of its programmes or the type or extent of services intended to be provided at the time of the granting of the warrant without the prior consent of the Broadcasting Tribunal and subject to any conditions which the Tribunal might impose in the public interest. Provided however that the warrant holder may continue to provide the same services and basic format of its programmes as it was providing at 23 October 1983."

News Service

The president of the New Zealand Journalists Union, Mr O'Brien, made submissions which expressed concern in general terms about private radio news services. Mr O'Brien said that Radio Avon, of all the private stations covered by the Union, had the best record of commitment to news, and this had also been noted from time to time by the Tribunal. Mr O'Brien submitted that, despite the

Decision No. 2/84
BRO 117-118/83

Before the Broadcasting Tribunal

IN the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1976 and in the matter of an application by the BROADCASTING CORPORATION OF NEW ZEALAND to amend warrant AM-12 (1YX) and AM-20 (1ZN):

Chairman: B. H. Slane.

Hearing: Wellington on the 15th day of February 1984.

Counsel: G. R. Rowe for applicant.

DECISION

THE Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand applied for the amendments to enable Radio New Zealand to relocate the transmitter for Whangarei from Tikipunga to Otaika. The Corporation wished to replace its present transmitting equipment and to resite it in a less populated area.

In order to minimise the drop in field strength in the north brought about by moving the transmitters south and in order to increase the field strength in Dargaville, the Corporation also applied to increase the power of the station—in the case of 1YX from 2 kW to 2.5 kW and of 1ZN from 2 kW to 5 kW.

The change to 1ZN would also benefit the communities at Marsden Point, Ruakaka and Waipu and provide a much improved service in the Wellsford area.

The Corporation did not seek such a large increase in power in the case of the National Programme because of a wider coverage overlaps between the Northland National Programme repeater transmitters due to their lower frequencies.

Evidence was given confirming the reasons for the change by D. J. Gatland, a supervising engineer with the Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand.

Coverage maps were produced to the Tribunal. The Tribunal is satisfied that the proposals will bring improved coverage with no significant loss of service to listeners.

The proposals are desirable in the public interest and will serve the needs of people in areas who at present have not enjoyed completely satisfactory reception.

Tribunal having noted with regret that some stations in times of economy had reduced their news services, stations had reduced news staff and news services have declined.

He noted that the private stations' teleprinter network for national news had never been satisfactory, partly because locally competing stations were reluctant to disclose stories to each other and in some areas staffing deficiencies prevented the local station from providing a proper supply of news stories. The result was that many stations elected to cover stories from a distance by telephone which was a time consuming and potentially unprofessional practice.

During the hearing we heard a great deal of evidence both from Mr Mortlock and Mr Smith about the matters raised by the Journalists Union and in particular about local rosters, news staff employed and news staff available at weekends in other stations. We do not intend to traverse that evidence.

It is perhaps sufficient for use to say that Radio Avon has been commended on all sides for its initiative in developing a Parliamentary bureau and a network service for some stations. What concerns the Tribunal is the reluctance of some stations to maintain adequate staff, particularly at weekends. It is clear that networks will not operate satisfactorily unless there is a reciprocal input from local stations. If they are unmanned for news for substantial periods the network will suffer.

While networking will save subediting costs, we do not consider it should be used to reduce reportage of local news whether of local or national importance.

We accept many of the points made by the Journalists Union but also note they are made rather against those who subscribe to the Radio Avon news service than to Radio Avon Ltd., itself.

There is no evidence that Radio Avon has breached its conditions relating to news. Although 2 bulletins planned were not broadcast, the news service proposals in general have been adhered to by the station and the station's commitment is accepted.

Mr Mortlock made it clear that it is the intention of the company to continue its Parliamentary news service which at present involves 3 journalists, an on-link news service which it provides to Otago Radio Dunedin, Otago Radio Central, Foveaux Radio, 2XS, Radio Hauraki and a planned service for Radio Windy.

It intends to prepare a separate news service primarily for FM stations but which some AM stations may want to take. The copy for news bulletins would be sent by landline to subscribing stations. The news would be read at the recipient station without the use of voice tapes.

As previously commented in a number of decisions, we do not favour a provision that relates to the number of journalists to be employed as a condition of a warrant. The Tribunal is more concerned with the standard and extent of the news output of the station in terms of its news obligations.

We do not consider any condition is needed specifically in relation to news services.

DECISION

THE warrant is renewed for a period of 5 years expiring 13 June 1988.
