The charges have been based on the recovery of 65 percent of: the investigation costs, the estimated headworks and off-orchard costs plus interest, plus the full costs of operation, maintenance and the demand for water, as stated under sections 209 and 211 of the Act. As currently required an interest rate of 13.5 percent increasing to 15 percent in 3 years has been used. 12. The minimum aggregate area of land occupied by any occupier that is to be included in the proposed irrigation district shall be one hectare (1.0 hectare).

Decision No. 1/87
Reference No. IND 9/86

Before the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963 and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for decisions in respect of the following publications:

- (1) Fancy Annual No. 1 published by Undercounter Publications,
- (2) Fancy Annual No. 2 published by Undercounter Publications:

Chairman: Judge R. R. Kearney,

Members: Mrs H. B. Dick, Mrs R. Barrington, A. J. Graham and Ms K. Hulme.

Hearing: at Wellington on 24 October 1986.

Appearances: No appearance of Importers O. D. & J. E. Williamson. P. J. Eggleton for Comptroller of Customs.

DECISION

THESE publications were privately imported through the port of Dunedin in April 1986. They were seized by the Collector of Customs, Dunedin and the importer has subsequently disputed forfeiture. The publications were accordingly referred to the Tribunal for classification prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1966.

The two publications are presented in magazine form and the principal content of each are catalogues advertising and displaying various types of clothing, harnesses and accessories available for those persons with an interest in bondage and discipline (with sexual connotations) as well as rubber and leather clothing.

Each publication also contains a short story spread over some four pages, each of which deals with bondage and discipline situations of the kind indicated in the advertising material. The Tribunal has on a number of previous occasions classified books of a similar nature as indecent and two of those decisions were referred to the Tribunal by the Comptroller of Customs in the submission made by Mr Eggleton, they being decisions 1039 and 6/84 dated 7 October 1982 and 14 February 1984 respectively.

The publications clearly pander to a select group who have a fetish interest in the bizarre and sexually deviant behaviour depicted by the models and by the clothing and equipment which they are using as shown in the photographs. The Tribunal is unanimous that such displays of bondage and violence against both male and female represent a real and patent danger to the public of a kind that is clearly injurious to the public good. Both publications are accordingly classified as unconditionally indecent.

Dated at Wellington this 6th day of January 1987.

R. R. KEARNEY, Chairman,
Indecent Publications Tribunal.

Before the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by David William Hewitt for the Tribunal to reconsider its previous decision classification and determination in respect of the following publication: Xaviera Supersex by Xaviera Hollander, published by Horwitz Publications, Hong Kong:

Chairman: Judge R. R. Kearney.

Members: Mrs H. B. Dick, Mrs R. Barrington, Mr A. J. Graham and Ms K. Hulme.

Hearing: At Wellington on 24 October 1986.

No Appearances.

DECISION

THIS publication was first submitted to the Tribunal for determination and classification in 1980 and on 11 March 1980 in a short decision which we set out hereunder in full, the Tribunal classified the book as indecent:

"This publication was imported commercially at Auckland in August 1979. Forfeiture is disputed by the importer Shop Six which has made written submissions.

The publication is reputed to be a book of sexual techniques designed to result in greater pleasure in sexual relationships. As well as advice on normal straight forward sexual techniques, this book describes and encourages matters of deviate sex, such as lesbianism, bondage and wife swapping.

Considerable doubt is raised with regard to the honesty of purpose of the authoress. The work, looked at as a whole, has little or no literary or artistic merit and is not redeemed by other characteristics. Whilst it is not as explicit as many books of similar type it is concerned solely with sex and with the more extreme sexual activities. There is little in the book to recommend it to the public good.

The Tribunal classifies this book as indecent."

There have been a number of books on the subject of sexual intercourse and sexual techniques which have been classified as indecent except in the hands of particular classes of persons or as indecent in the hands of persons under a certain age. These classifications are granted to such publications because the Tribunal is satisfied in terms of section 11 of the Indecent Publications Act 1963 that they are serious productions produced with an honest purpose and in particular that they are books which although they display couples staged in acts of intercourse are carefully presented in a way that affords the least amount of offence and with little if any concentration on the genitalia of males and females. The Tribunal is unanimous as was the Tribunal which was required to consider the same publication in 1980 that this book has little if any honesty of purpose and certainly little if any literary or artistic merit nor do we find that the book is redeemed by any other characteristics. The multiplicity of models even though they are in caricature form, the activities depicted by those models and the whole theme of the book clearly places it well within the Tribunal's previously set guidelines of the tripartite test. For those reasons the Tribunal is satisfied that the book is indeed injurious to the public good and the application for reclassification is rejected. The classification of unconditionally indecent is an appropriate one for this publication.

DECISION

THIS magazine was a sample copy imported by parcel post through the port of Auckland in July 1986. The magazine was seized by the Collector of Customs in Auckland and the importer has subsequently disputed forfeiture. Although the record does not disclose this, our understanding is that this magazine like others imported by Gordon and Gotch (NZ) Ltd., would have been a sample copy for the purpose of having it placed before the Tribunal for determination and classification. The publication is accordingly now before the Tribunal prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1966. Mr Ellis, counsel for the importer, submitted to the Tribunal that the classification appropriate for this publication would be an age restriction of 18 years. With that submission Mr Eggleton, on behalf of the Comptroller of Customs, concurs. The Tribunal has found that the magazine although not as explicit as many others which the Tribunal has had to consider nevertheless presents female nude models in contrived poses in a way which accentuates the genitalia region. The Tribunal is satisfied that unrestricted availability of the magazine would be injurious to younger persons and accordingly it classifies the magazine as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

DECISION

THIS publication was a sample copy imported by parcel post through Auckland in May 1986. The magazine was seized by the Collector of Customs and the importer has disputed forfeiture. The magazine has accordingly been referred to the Tribunal prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1966. In his submission to the Tribunal Mr Eggleton on behalf of the Comptroller of Customs indicated that the Comptroller saw this publication as on the borderline between requiring an age restriction and being declared not indecent. The magazine consists entirely of photographs of female models, the great majority of these photographs are, we accept as submitted by the Comptroller, quite innocuous. In a written submission Waverley International Ltd. thought that a limited classification would be appropriate in respect of this publication. In his submission to the Tribunal Mr Ellis asked the Tribunal to consider finding the publication not indecent and not requiring an age restriction. Mr Ellis submitted that the material in the magazine was quite innocuous and in the nature of this type of publication much more restrained than the great majority of them. Because of the nature of some of the poses depicting as they do with some emphasis the genitalia region the Tribunal is concerned that publication should not be available to younger children and accordingly classifies this publication as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 16 years.

DECISION

THESE three publications were privately imported through the port of Auckland in May 1986. The publications were seized by the Comptroller of Customs and the importer has now disputed forfeiture. The publications have accordingly been referred to the Tribunal by the Comptroller of Customs for determination and classification prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1966. These three publications are of a kind which only infrequently come before the Tribunal because in the majority of cases such material, having been seized by the Comptroller of Customs, does not get referred to us as the owner or importer accepts the Comptroller's determination that the material is unconditionally indecent. On this occasion, as indicated, the importer challenges the Comptroller's evaluation.

The Tribunal finds that there is nothing in the way of any redeeming features in respect of any of these magazines which are plainly hard core pornography. The publications are comprised chiefly of photographs featuring depictions of sexual intercourse, sodomy and group, oral and lesbian sex accompanied by text that is coarse and offensive in the extreme.

The Tribunal is satisfied that each of the publications is clearly injurious to the public good in the manner contemplated by the Indecent Publications Act and classifies each of them as unconditionally indecent.

DECISION

THESE publications were imported by airmail through the port of Auckland in June 1986. The publications were seized by the Collector of Customs in Auckland and the importer has subsequently disputed forfeiture. The books have been referred to the Tribunal for classification prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1966. The publication Busen is a collection of photographs of portfolios of single female models with an emphasis on large breasts. The Tribunal has on previous occasions found similar publications to be indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years but on this occasion the Comptroller of Customs invites the Tribunal to consider this particular publication as being unconditionally indecent because of "a large proportion of photographs that feature crude displays of female genitalia". In decision No. 6/84, dated 13 December 1983, similar publications Busen Exclusive, No. 11, 13 and 19, were given an age restriction classification of 18 but the Tribunal agrees with the Comptroller that in this publication there is a significant proportion of photographs that feature crude displays of female genitalia. These displays go well past the explicit displays portrayed in the magazines Fiesta and Naive, Tribunal decision 10/86, of 29 March 1986, and the Tribunal is unanimous that many of the photographs depict matters of sex in a manner that is injurious to the public good. In the Tribunal's finding those photographs are clearly intended to show and do show the model having just completed either masturbation or sexual activity with another person and the Tribunal accordingly classifies that publication as unconditionally indecent.

The Comptroller in his submission in respect of the Parade Publications submits that they are comparable to issues 3, 4 and 5 of "Adult Fantasy" which were considered unconditionally indecent by the Tribunal in its decision No. 2/86 of 29 April 1986. With that submission Mrs Barrington for the same reasons as set out in the minority decision in respect of the publications Fiesta and Naive Tribunal decision 10/86, of 24 October 1986, would classify the publications as unconditionally indecent. The remaining four members of the Tribunal accept that the magazines contain written material that is coarse and offensive and that there is really little to commend the magazines but they agree with the submission made by Mr Ellis that in no case is the tripartite test previously formulated and followed by the Tribunal infringed and there is nothing in the way of evidence before the Tribunal which could satisfy it that the material contained in these magazines is harmful to or likely to cause injury to the public good. The majority are satisfied however that the magazines contain a considerable amount of material which would be injurious to young persons and accordingly classifies each of those publications of the Parade Publications as being indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

Members: Mrs H. B. Dick, Mrs R. Barrington, Mr A. J. Graham, Ms K. Hulme.

Hearing: At Wellington on 24 October 1986.

Appearances: No appearance of importer Out Magazine, Auckland; Mr P. J. Eggleton for Comptroller of Customs.

DECISION

THIS magazine was commercially imported through the port of Auckland in March 1986. The magazine was seized by the Collector of Customs in Auckland and the importer has subsequently disputed forfeiture. The magazine was therefore submitted to the Tribunal for determination and classification prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1966. The magazine which is written in French and produced in France appears to the Tribunal, as is suggested by the Comptroller of Customs, to be a current affairs type magazine "aimed quite squarely at the male homosexual market". A large number of the advertisements and drawings contained in the magazine depict males who are either in contrived or exaggerated poses or who are indulging in homosexual activity. The principal concern of the Comptroller of Customs and mentioned to the Tribunal by Mr Eggleton in his submission was in respect of advertisements appearing on pages 32, 34, 35 and 37 of the publication and to 2 drawings which appear on pages 24 and 25 of the publication.

Although there was no appearance on behalf of the importer, Out Magazine, the Tribunal had before it a submission made by an officer of Lawrence Publishing Company NZ Ltd. which produces Out Magazine and we set out that submission in full hereunder:

"We object in the most strongest term to the suggestion that the above title could remotely be considered indecent. The Chairman has elected to ignore the decision of the Minister of Justice that he does not consider the publication indecent. However, as the Tribunal only acts as a 'rubber stamp' (proof can be provided as to the actual number of publications submitted and those declared indecent to be out of proportion) for the Customs Department, it is running true to form by declaring this publication indecent.

The whole exercise is a waste of our time and money as also the taxpayer. The Tribunal is not representative of New Zealand and as we shall prove in a court of law has acted outside the law on previous decisions. We currently have 3 appeals before the High Court and as we are assured by the best available legal counsel that Court will find in our favour.

The Tribunal has a history of declaring indecent any and all publications that have as a possible readership the 'gay market', under section 19 of the Act this is now being challenged in the High Court.

For us to make a submission could be construed to mean that we accept the bias of the Tribunal towards gays. The Tribunal has no gay person on it. It has based decisions on the Crimes Act despite a High Court decision that the Tribunal cannot rely on other Acts to make decisions.

Any average person looking at the list of titles being considered 24 October 1986 would think they were looking at Oliver Cromwell times. Such purile publications makes a sham of the Tribunal.

Have you not heard that it is immoral to decide for others what they shall read and not read. The Tribunal function is to classify not ban, however recent history of the Tribunal is against the intention of the Act.

We are welcoming the opportunity of defending an action brought against us by the previous chairman to prove our allegations beyond doubt in a Court of Law.

History will prove us right."

It is correct that over the years many of the Tribunal's decisions relating to male homosexual publications have found such publications unconditionally indecent and so classified them on the principal ground that they depicted, advocated and supported homosexual activity of a kind which was clearly illegal in terms of the then criminal law in New Zealand. In many such decisions there was no need to make any further determination or classification in respect of the material although a perusal of some of those earlier decisions reveals references to the objectionable display of multiple models engaged in sexual activities. The Tribunal will no doubt in the very near future have to consider the question whether there is any distinction to be drawn in terms of the Indecent Publications Act between the display of homosexual activity and the display of heterosexual activity. The need for the Tribunal to consider that question on this occasion does not arise. The reason why that question does not arise (or perhaps more correctly need to be dealt with) on this occasion is that the Tribunal is unanimous that some of the photographs contained in the advertising material on pages 32, 34, 35 and 37 and the drawings on pages 24 and 25 when all considered together require a classification of unconditionally indecent. Many of those show the models in the act of masturbation while some show two male persons engaged in oral and other sexual activity. Some of these depictions are of a kind which if translated into heterosexual activities would; firstly because of the nature of their coarse and crude presentation, and secondly because they are totally lacking in any suggestion of their being serious depictions of sexual activity of a sexually therapeutic or educative kind, warrant the classification of unconditionally indecent. In our finding the publication is injurious to the public good in the manner contemplated by the Indecent Publications Act. We classify this publication as unconditionally indecent.

DECISION

THIS publication was part of a commercial shipment imported by sea freight through the port of Auckland in April 1986. Copies of the publication were seized by the Collector of Customs at Auckland and the importer subsequently disputed forfeiture. The publication was referred to the Tribunal for determination and classification prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1966. The publication contains 130 pages of material and the great bulk of this represents a series of articles (some of which are quite well written) and deal with a variety of matters of a sexual nature. The publication does contain some of the objectionable features such as multiplicity of models which have on many occasions resulted in a classification of indecent. The Comptroller of Customs in his submission through Mr Eggleton points out that the publication is not dissimilar to the publications Forum Adviser Spring 1980 and Forum Lifestyles Summer 1980 both of which were considered by the Tribunal to be indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 in its decision No. 1013 as was the publication Sexology, Volume 45, No. 8, 9 and 10 recorded in the Tribunal's decision 946 of May 1980.

The Tribunal finds that there are a number of elements of the publication which would be harmful to younger readers and thus injurious to the public good and accordingly it classifies the publication as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

LPG Fuel System Approvals—Concessional Fuel Cylinder Approvals

PURSUANT to regulation 90B of the Traffic Regulations 1976* (as inserted by the Traffic Regulations 1976, Amendment No. 7) and pursuant to the powers delegated to me by the Secretary for Transport, I, Robert Norman Abram, Chief Automotive Engineer, hereby approve the components listed in the Schedule hereto for inclusion in any LPG automotive fuel system installed and operated in accordance with the requirements of New Zealand Standard NZS 5422, Part 1, 1980 (and any standard made in amendment thereto or in substitution thereof) subject to the conditions of approval set out in respect of any component in the said Schedule.

SCHEDULE
LPG FUEL CYLINDERS

MOT Reference	Manufacturer	Country of Origin	Specification	Material	Inspection Authority	Working Pressure Rating (MPa) (312 psi)	Test Pressure (MPa) (375 psi)	Nominal Water Capacity (litres) (19.3 U.S. Gals)
AF LO3C 028	Manchester Tank Co.	U.S.A.	ASME 8/1	Steel	ASME	2.15 (312 psi)	2.58 (375 psi)	73 (19.3 U.S. Gals)

CONDITIONS OF APPROVAL

LPG fuel cylinders are approved subject to the following conditions—

1. That they be permanently and clearly marked, on a suitably attached metal plate, with characters not less than 6 mm high if space permits but in any case not less than 3 mm high, displaying the following information:
 - (a) The specification to which the cylinder was manufactured.
 - (b) The manufacturer's name or mark and the serial number of the cylinder.
 - (c) The date of the original cylinder inspection and the identification mark of the inspection authority who made the inspection.
 - (d) The date of any periodic cylinder test and the identification mark of the cylinder testing station who made each test.
 - (e) The cylinder test pressure.
 - (f) The nominal water capacity of the cylinder.
 - (g) The tare weight of the cylinder.
2. That they be clearly marked or labelled to indicate that the cylinder is suitable for use with LPG.
3. That they be provided with valve threads and fittings which provide the following functions:
 - (a) Filling connection incorporating a non return valve.
 - (b) Service valve incorporating an excess flow valve.
 - (c) Contents gauge.
 - (d) Pressure relief valve.
 - (e) A fixed liquid level indicator and an automatic fill shut off device which prevents the cylinder being filled beyond 85 percent of the total cylinder capacity.

Valves and fittings shall have a service pressure rating of at least that of the cylinder to which they are fitted and shall be dimensioned, threaded and marked in accordance with the requirements of section 2.3 of New Zealand Standard NZS 5422 "The use of LPG and CNG Fuels in Internal Combustion Engines—Part 1 LPG Fuel".

4. That they be tested at periods not exceeding 5 years in accordance with the requirements of Australian Standard AS 2337-1980 or in accordance with the periodic test requirements laid down in the specification to which the cylinder was manufactured.
5. That they be fitted to a motor vehicle in such a position that they will not be subject to the direct rays of the sun, either by fitting them within a suitable vehicle compartment, or by providing a suitable shield if the cylinders are fitted to the exterior of the vehicle.
6. The terms of this approval do not allow the continued importation of such LPG fuel cylinders and it does not apply to cylinders which have not been installed in a motor vehicle by 31 December 1985.

NOTES: The effect of this notice is to allow the continued use of LPG fuel cylinders which are known to have been imported into New Zealand prior to the introduction of the Dangerous Goods (Class 2—Gases) Regulations 1980 and which were acceptable under the previous dangerous goods requirements, but whose working pressure rating would disqualify them for approval for general use under the Traffic Regulations 1976. They are approved subject to the additional proviso that they must not be exposed to direct sunlight (to reduce the possibility that solar radiation would raise the temperature of the contents of the cylinder such that the developed pressure of the cylinder contents exceeded the working pressure rating of the cylinder).

Dated at Wellington this 5th day of January 1987.

R. N. ABRAM, Chief Automotive Engineer.
